conservation center holds open house for program

Little hands have obviously been at work this summer at the Sanibel-Captiva Conservation Foundation Center. Working with tempura, knowledge and imagination, the children who have been involved in the Center's morning program have absorbed diverse facts about the natural environment on Sanibel and put that learning to work.

Saturday morning, July 29, parents and friends of the participants were invited to an open house to share the results of the summer's effort. Kids were on hand to show off the large tempura paint mural that fills one wall at the Center. The mural depicts a mini-environment and is a colorful and interesting effort by the young Islanders. Teachers Mark Westall and Cheryl Weaver were also on hand. These young adults have shared the responsibility for the summer classes that total about 40 students. Hand blueprints shared wall space with photograms and an intricate food chain web of string and cardboard. Some youngsters were busy pointing out the exact spot where they live on the Island

Atrium proposal to be presented today

City Council today (August 1) will consider two proposals reviewed by the Atrium fact-finding team and designed to minimize the effects of a twenty four foot encroachment on the Coastal Construction Setback Line by the Atrium condominium. A lawsuit filed in June against the condominium's developers, Surety Construction, could be settled before the courtroom battle begins if Council decides to accept either of the proposals.

Wednesday, July 26, the three men who represent the City on the fact-finding team, Charles LeBuff, George Tenney and City Manager Bill Nungester, heard an offer by Surety Construction President Don Corcelli that Surety could pay the City $62,250 in cash, the equivalent of the cost to move the pool (which is in violation of the setback line), legal and engineering costs and the cost of erecting new markers on the line. The other proposal was the payment of $32,250 and the relocation of the offending swimming pool behind the setback line, which action would have an estimated value of $30,000.

The Fact-Finding team had turned down an original offer by Surety of city probe report due this week

State Attorney Joseph D'Alessandro has promised that he will release a statement later this week on the results of an investigation ordered by his office and carried out by the Lee County Sheriff's Office into alleged irregularities in the city of Sanibel's building department and city government. The charges were brought by two former city employees among others.

"I have gone through the report," D'Alessandro stated Friday, "and I know what the facts and allegations are. Now it is a matter of looking up the law. I directed the Sheriff's Office to go back and get more specific information in one case."

The required information did not involve talking to anyone, D'Alessandro added.

D'Alessandro would not comment on reports from county sources that the investigation has narrowed itself to looking at apparent conflicts of interest on the part of one or more elected or appointed city officials and whether or not building permits were signed by the proper authorities.

"This is different than normal cases," D'Alessandro admitted. "It appeared complex at first because I had to learn all about the building and construction industry but now the issues appear to have sorted themselves out."

$15,000 to reconstruct the setback line markers directly on the line, to avoid confusion in the future. The engineering mistake that caused the violation in the first place has been partially attributed to the fact that the markers were located in an offset line from the actual line, according to Ink Engineering, Inc., the firm which made the error.

The new proposal figures may prove attractive to City Council. Although the Fact-Finding Team did not make an official recommendation on either proposal, the $62,250 amount exceeds a profit figure that may have been made by the developer because of the violation.

Fact-Finding team member George Tenney indicated that he wanted to be able to report back to Sanibel Islanders that no money had been made by the developer because of the violation.

city hydrologist prepares preliminary report

by Gwen Stevenson

A draft report by Carl Nuzman, the city's consulting hydrologist was sent to city hall at the end of last week containing Nuzman's preliminary data. Nuzman was commissioned by the city council to review the work of other hydrology consultants and the plans of the Island Water Association with regard to potable water supplies on the island. Because "a continued deterioration of water quality will result in a shortage of water that can be processed by the electrodialysis plant," the report states that it is necessary for the City, which has the final authority for building permits, to work in harmony with the capacity of the Island Water Association's water treatment capabilities.

According to Nuzman, the I.W.A. has a count of 1,622 single family homes. I.W.A. now lists 3,639 multiple family units, including motels, condominiums and duplexes.

Nuzman calculates that the IWA's current six million gallons of storage, to be augmented by next season by two additional tanks making a total of 16 million gallons of storage, will increase the peak demand capacity to approximately 2.4 million gallons per day. This will allow an additional 530 dwelling units available to be built on Sanibel through 1979, according to Nuzman.

Sanibel Mayor Zee Butler emphasized that this report was only the first stage of Nuzman's work and that there are several other elements to be finished. Nuzman, contacted at the Mission, Kansas headquarters of Layne-Western Co., said that his additional work would involve looking at alternate water sources, reviewing Aquifer conditions and completing a recommendation to the city council about the possibility of a water management board, similar to the one in Cape Coral. Nuzman does not anticipate a change in his evaluation of the number of dwelling units he feels can be serviced by the IWA unless the IWA does not concur with his numbers. IWA general manager Larry Snell told the ISLANDER Friday that he agrees thus far with Nuzman's calculations.

Nuzman's final report has been scheduled for the September 13 city council meeting.

Sanibel prepares draft for IWA license

In accordance with recent city council direction, City Attorney Neal Bowen has prepared a draft ordinance granting the Island Water Association (IWA) the privilege of using the city rights-of-way in lieu of actually transferring the franchise from Lee County to the City of Sanibel. The ordinance was drafted because, according to Bowen, the "negotiation efforts (to change the franchise from the County to the City) have been continuing for over a year with no results."

The proposed ordinance gives the IWA the license to construct, maintain and operate on Sanibel's roads, bridges, easements. The ordinance also provides that any repair work that has to be done to city streets because of construction by the water company will be performed by the city and reimbursed by the IWA.

"This is precisely what we have been seeking," IWA general manager Larry Snell commented last week.

The IWA will consider the proposed ordinance at their next board meeting and act on it, according to IWA attorney John Schumacher.

IWA offers county a compromise in suit

Island Water Association (IWA) attorney John Fletcher has submitted a proposal to Lee County Attorney Jim Jaeger in an effort to solve the litigation involving the county's alleged violation of the IWA's franchise agreement. IWA filed suit June 22 against the county on the grounds that the county, by allowing the developers of Sunset-Captiva, Ltd., a housing development on Captiva, to operate their own reverse osmosis plant were violating the exclusive franchise the IWA has with Lee County. The developers contended that, because the plant was built to serve only a private subdivision of homeowners, it does not violate the IWA franchise.

In his compromise proposal Fletcher recommends that the county adopt an ordinance requiring properties within franchised water utility areas to connect with water supply systems within 90 days. The ordinance would apply to both incorporated and unincorporated areas of Lee County.

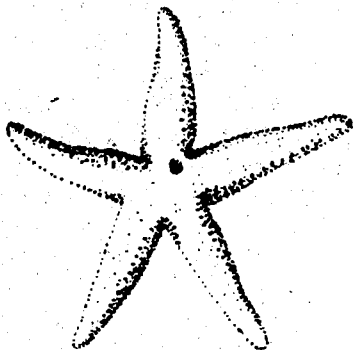

Fletcher has based his premise on the basis that the ordinance is necessary to protect the underlying Aquifers by the discontinuance of private water supply systems.

Within 90 days of the adoption of the ordinance, all private wells would be discontinued and all properties would connect to the franchised system. The proposed ordinance further recommends that all discontinued wells should be capped and sealed to ensure their discontinuance and to assure that the water system is protected from contamination. Capping the wells would also protect individuals from the dangers of open well systems, according to Fletcher.

Meanwhile, against the advice of county attorney Jim Jaeger, the Lee County Commission voted 4-1 last week to grant Sunset-Captiva the building permit they require for the plant to house their reverse osmosis equipment. Commissioner Betty Bowen Evans was the single negative vote. The Commissioners agreed to the action after imposing the condition that the developers agree to intervene in the IWA's suit against the county as a third party and they have also agreed to stipulate the issuance of the building permit does not constitute the county's approval of the private water system.

County Attorney Jim Jaeger is out of town for two weeks and therefore was not available to comment on the IWA's latest proposal.

planners complain to city council

In a workshop session Tuesday, July 25, Planning Commissioners complained again to City Council that the correct process of planning for the City was not being followed. While Councilman Goss reassured the Planning Commission that "there's nothing abnormal about this ... there may be something inefficient about it...but that's the way the government works," the Planners used the Donax Street intersection as the prime example of their confusion as to their role in City planning.

Commissioner Twink Underhill enumerated the steps taken by the City in the Donax case:

- that the Council had directed City Manager Bill Nungester to get engineering studies done on how to best improve the Donax intersection;

- that the Council then received the alternatives prepared by Howard Tammen and Bergendoff, (HNTB) the City Engineers in Cape Coral;

- that the Council then voted on their choice of an alternate improvement, based on a recommendation of the City Manager from the HNTB report;

- that the Planning Commission finally reviewed the alternates and voted on other alternative measures, involving a substantially less amount of money, based on the recommendations to them from the Streets and Roads Task Force, and their own view of the proposed plans.

Mrs. Underhill suggested to Council that the proper progression of authority should be that the Council should not vote on items of planning concern before the Planning Commission has reviewed them and made a recommendation.

The question of whether the Planning Commission is just a policy making group was addressed by Mrs. Underhill. She stated that, by virtue of the development permits and specific amendments that are reviewed by the Planning Commission, is "the function of the Planning Commission to look at the location, not just the policy."

Planning Director Bruce Rogers agreed that the "policy could be more orderly" and Councilman Goss added that the Commission wears "several hats"; that it is an advisory body concerned with broad policy as well as details.

The workshop discussion also indicated a need for a clearer definition of the zoning term "restricted commercial". The Vegetation Committee recently suggested to the Planning Commission that an amendment be added to the Comprehensive Land Use Plan which would require that clearing on a lot be limited to 30 percent of the existing vegetation, with the result that 70 percent of the lot would remain vegetated upon development. Currently, there is no specific requirement in the plan for vegetation on a restricted commercial lot; that requirement is judged to be included with other residential lots, and the 70 percent figure holds in that category.

According to Councilman Duane White, who initiated the discussion, that is only one of the vagaries of the "restricted commercial" status.

"There is no good word picture of the concept of restricted commercial," White said. He added that the term implies "no grocery store, and no filling station," but that the original concept of "restricted commercial" as a buffer between commercially zoned property and residential areas may have been lost.

Goode reaches "bottom line"

In session Tuesday afternoon, July 25, the fact-finding team dealing with John Goode's request for a change in zoning on a one-acre parcel of land along Periwinkle Way reached a "bottom line" in deliberation.

Goode has requested that the property, which is zoned "residential" by the City of Sanibel, be changed to a "restricted commercial" status. The piece of land was zoned "commercial" when Goode purchased it, before the City was incorporated, and was changed to "residential" under the provisions of the Comprehensive Land Use Plan. The Planning Commission recommended to the City Council that no specific amendment be granted to Goode for the property and Council voted accordingly in a first hearing on June 20.

Goode is currently seeking injunctive relief from the zoning and his suit against the City comes to trial on August 22.

Goode was accompanied to the fact-finding table by Attorney Steve Dalton and Cape Coral architect Roland Stout.

At Tuesday's discussion with fact-finding team members Zee Butler, Duane White and Twink Underhill, Goode presented his "bottom line" proposal for development of the property if the City would compromise on the zoning: a commercial building of 5,800 square feet with restricted retail use and four dwelling units totaling 2,000 square feet above the shops. Goode agreed to restrict the rent on the units to $200.00 a month or less, and to rent only to someone holding a job on Sanibel, in an effort to provide some moderate cost housing on the Island. Rental on the retail shops would be restricted also: no restaurants, convenience store or fast food service would be included in the complex.

Councilman Duane White was against the compromise. He indicated that the proposal was too drastic a change, and would "set a precedent to lots in that area." White added that he feels the city's position is "sustainable in court" and concluded that "if we're going to lose it," (the property to a commercial zoning) "I'd rather lose it in the courts than at the negotiating table."

Twink Underhill indicated that she had problems with the additional traffic problems that would be created in the area from the extra retail shops, and Zee Butler agreed with Mrs. Underhill in her concern for the impact on the whole of Periwinkle Way. "It's the commercial that bothers me," she said ... I'd be happier in some ways to go to low cost housing," and further indicated that she felt that if allowance were made in the Goode case, more allowances would have to be made all along Periwinkle.

The utilization of the property entirely as a residential area does not meet Goode's financial expectations. During the discussions, Goode declared, "If I can't meet my requirements financially, we've got nothing else to talk about."

When fact-finding team members voted to recommend that the Council not accept Goode's proposal, Goode said, "I've seen the zeros before, over the past two years."

Mayor Zee Butler summarized the feelings of the team, saying she just couldn't "swallow the impact" on Periwinkle Way.

Goode's second reading and public hearing is scheduled for City Council meeting on Tuesday, August 1.

Does the sunshine law work?
Members of the Florida press are fortunate. "Government in the sunshine" definitely makes our job both easier and more accurate. But is it fair?
The states -- and it is a law -- that two or more elected officials cannot meet where political policy may be formulated without adequate public notice.
Naturally, we are all in favor of that. But the wording of the law also makes it almost impossible for our elected officials not to break it. Think about it. Could you run a business or a shop or an office without periodical discussion with colleagues. Can you imagine not talking to your partners on a constant basis. It is just not practical.

We expect our policy makers to be well-informed and prepared: we expect them to take heed of public opinion. But it is simply unrealistic to think that Council or Planning Commission members do not discuss upcoming city business with each other in sessions that could be construed as "policy-making," without benefit of "public notice".

Probably the line could be drawn at the point where a policy-making group attempts to meet as a whole without public notice or "in the sunshine." But a law, any law, that is formulated so that conscientious public servants cannot help but break it does not seem to us to be a practical one. The intent of the sunshine law should by all means be preserved, but perhaps the letter should be altered more realistically.

I hope you will print this letter. It is really addressed to one of your contributors, Lorraine Ashford.
Her too infrequent Canada Candidly commentaries are priceless, especially the last one in the July 25 edition of the ISLANDER that was all about Queen Elizabeth and the cut-off supply of maple syrup to the Palace. She writes so well and with such a delicious sense of humor. I wish we could hear from her more often.
I used to live in Westmount many years ago, and I think I can safely speak for other ex-Montrealers and other Canadians who receive your excellent and enjoyable weekly.

reader views city developments with alarm

The following letter was submitted to the Islander for publication.

4689 Rue Belle Mer,
Sanibel, Fla. 33957
24 July, 1978

Members of the City Council, Sanibel, Fla.
Sanibel, Fla. 33957

Dear Sirs:

Now that we are in the third year as a City, I already see signs of alarm.

Before I discuss my concerns, let me congratulate all of you for the excellent work that you have done in stemming the untoward growth we were threatened by with the loose manner that the Lee County Commissioners treated our Islands.

Recent events and published reports of excessive budget plans have been most disturbing. Particularly do I view with alarm the proposed purchase of the 'Brown Boat and property' for a park, and more alarming is the proposed purchase of the property along the Causeway to build a City Hall Complex. You are rapidly approaching the same insensitivity in your spending programs as the Lee County Commissioners. Continue this headstrong program and you will soon find yourselves with a park and City Hall Complex and NO CITY. Tax payers can assume only so much and we have about come to our limit.

At this time we do not need a City Hall, much less a park. Try to run our present City efficiently and within a reasonable budget. After you have accomplished this task, then we can go on with the 'Day Dreams!' Our present Administration appears to be frustrated with the work load, pleading insufficient space, personnel and monies. It would be much better to replace the present Manager with a "can-do" man than to continue placating all his whims.

Another bothersome trend is that of the Council appointing to fact-finding boards, dedicated and competent local citizens, and when they report back with reasonable and thoughtful answers, you wave them on with nary a "thank you," and accept a much more costly approach proposed by a small time Engineering firm.

I have served on various boards in the past and have felt the same disregard to the efforts proposed by the various board members. It is extremely frustrating to waste your time when you know that the Council is merely "window dressing" when they appoint these various boards. Our City was founded because we felt that the County Commissioners did not listen to our pleadings. Now I find that our elected Council and appointed Planning Commission are following the same path. Before it is too late, get back to the basics of Democratic Government we elected.

Respectfully submitted,
E. G. Konrad

Two five million gallon storage tanks under construction by the Island Water Association (IWA) are on schedule, according to IWA engineer Ian Watson.

flood elevations limits postponed til October 14

In workshop session early last week, City Council and Planning Commissioners agreed that the adoption of the new federal flood elevations figures by City Council on July 14 may have been premature, and Councilman Duane White rescinded his motion of the 14th and Council decided to make use of the 90 day appeal time to reconsider the elevations.

The minimum height elevations are the result of the recent Flood Insurance Study, and the minimum proposed elevations for the island of Sanibel range from 10 to 12 feet in the interior and 13.5 feet within 500 feet of the Gulf or Bay waters. These levels would preclude any further block construction on the Island, and make the stilt house mandatory all over the Island, with resulting increased construction costs.

The City has until October 14, 1978 to appeal the proposed elevations. During that time, the elevations will be reviewed with the knowledge that any appeal can be made only if the elevations can be shown to be scientifically or technically incorrect.

Since private insurance companies are not willing to provide flood insurance because of the high risks involved, Congress of the United States created the National Flood Insurance Program to provide low-cost insurance to homeowners in flood prone areas, such as Sanibel. If the City does not accept the proposed elevations by October 14, it loses insurance against flood damage and is not eligible for long term reconstruction aid in the event of a national disaster.

The Planning Commission will review a general amendment to the Comprehensive Land Use Plan as soon as possible as the first step toward adopting the new regulations as soon as the appeal period is up. In the meantime, the maps which determine the elevations are being redone for the Island, to closer scale, so that the dividing lines for different areas may be more accurately determined. The original maps were scaled one inch equals 900 feet, and will be re-done to a scale of 1 equals 400 feet.

Council and Planning Commission members will meet with House and Urban Development members in Atlanta in late August to accomplish some further definitions of regulations. Particularly, there is question over the bottom space beneath the first inhabitable level and what it may be used for. Laundry and sanitary facilities, as well as recreational areas, are in question as to whether or not they are allowed on the bottom level and may be expected to be covered by insurance if flooding occurs. It is hoped that the August 22 workshop will cover these questions.

the oldest marina

Strangely enough, we hear that there are people who have never set foot on the docks of a marina. They have other vital interests. That fact seems to tie in with a certain number of navy men who have never learned to swim...

Ah so.

Fishing and boating are all important recreations around here, so all you have to do to get answers to questions you may not have dared ask is to read the local news media. You'll always find all possible details along with some great photos of these kings of sport.

We are concentrating on the Sanibel Marina this time because it is the oldest one connected with Sanibel and has a fascinating history. There are other marinas on our islands that you'll be hearing about another time. Even though similar in sight, sound, and smell -- when you've seen one you haven't seen 'em all, by any means. The Captains and their assistants all speak the same language, naturally, but the different accents can be intriguing.

Oldtime residents know a great deal about this story, but newer residents may not be aware of the dramatic beginning of the Sanibel Marina.

Back in the 1950's, Bill Way transferred his construction business from Minnesota to Florida, bringing his family with him, and at first settling on the mainland near Fort Myers. He was inspired to explore Sanibel and soon history was in the making. A Marina was born. Considering the labor pains is an awesome thought because at that time, obviously, everything had to be lugged across the water by boat; machinery, materials, the whole works.

According to people in the know, Bill practically built his marina and dredged all the surrounding canals pretty much by himself. His sons, Jerry and Chad, were too small in the beginning to be of any real help, but through the years their strong young hands, backbones that could take a beating, and willing spirits, were indispensable as far as the family project was concerned.

There are so many hairy tales in relation to the development of the Sanibel Marina that we can't even begin to tell them. Riding out several severe hurricanes is not the least of them. The details are mind-boggling, but they pulled through and continued to expand literally in the face of hell and high water. A book about their experiences would be of interest to even the most hardened landlubber.

Three years ago, Bill sold the marina to Fred Fuhrer, from Jamestown, N. Y. and moved to Texas, where he now owns and manages a Trailer Park in Arlington, right on the Mexican border.

Fred had a five year plan to improve existing facilities and was then going to retire and just "putter around," but he changed his mind and resold the property this year to Farley Winson, an investor from Rhodesia. The Winsons are now permanent residents of Sanibel, although they are not always in residence. Farley's many holdings make it necessary for him to travel extensively.

Captain Russ Mattson has been the manager of the marina for the last three years, assisted by Rick White, dockmaster, during the last year and a half. Russ, along with Cpt. Ted Cole, Cpt. Charles Creagh, and Cpt. Bill Gartrell, is available for charter fishing, shelling, sight seeing, sailing, and boat rentals. They each have their own boats and special gear.

A 27' Hunter sailboat is home for Cpt. Russ, who lives alone. He named her "Moonage Day Dream". Moored nearby, Rick White and his wife, "Bobby", as well as their eight year old crew, they don't have to do quite the same amount of hard work that smaller boat owners do - and enjoy.

Being an observer in an out-of-the-way corner in a marina store can be quite an education. Most of such stores are small and the contents so shipshape that you can't believe there's so much in such a limited space. The Sanibel Marina store has gas and diesel fuel, live bait, tackle and supplies, beer and wine, marine supplies, charts, ice, laundromat, electricity, a qualified mechanic on duty, showers and johns, (the restrooms are marked "Outboards" and "Inboards"). All kinds of men, women, and children come and go; happy and carefree. You can feel the friendly atmosphere the minute you step in the door. Everyone has so much in common, and boatmen and fishermen never seem to be in a hurry. They are not famous for their aversion to swapping yarns ...

The CH-CB radio is seldom quiet. Answering questions goes on all day, along with the selling of necessities. There's a wonderful smell, (the kind you sniff in an old hardware store in a small town except that the smell in a marina store is strongly enhanced by salt water.) The typical sounds make music of their own...

All of that is so familiar to so many people. It seems a pity that anyone has missed any part of it, and we haven't mentioned everything, not by a long shot.

The Management gave us permission to quote from a memo that is being sent out to their customers today, August 1. It says, in essence: "Effective September 1, 1978, the berths at Sanibel Marina will be available for lease on a twenty year contract. This concept will offer an excellent opportunity for a long term investment and security against further inflation. Our present slip holders will, of course, be given first option as to the slip of their choice. The costs for slip leases will be available to you by August 15, 1978."

Hopeful plans for future improvements, including a restaurant, are being made.

It is one more Sanibel thrill to meet and know some of the great guys who have settled for this kind of a life style.

son, Scotch, live in a 28' sailboat named "Valhalla". There are twelve other boats of various sizes permanently moored at the marina, whose owners use this as their official address.

This marina is the only one on Sanibel that has deep water and can accommodate sailboats up to 68', as well as large cruisers. (For the uninitiated, a cruiser becomes a yacht when it is over 60' long) and yachtsmen speak a little different language. Theirs is another ballgame. With the help of a

island libatians - 'specially for summer

Long summer months on the Islands demand special effort to keep cool and relaxed. It seems like we're weary of the heat by the first of August, and need a refresher to get us through the remaining two months of really warm days.

As the day wanes, and cool evening breezes comfort the Island, Sanibelites gather at their favorite watering hole. Their choice of coolers varies, according to bartender Tom Loughney, who mans the lounge at the Coconut Grove, but the present popular choice is a Pina Colada, with Margaritas and the traditional Tom Collins running a close second.

English Judy, who used to tend bar at Kenny's, and works at the Irish Look in Periwinkle Place has more recipes for summer drinks than imaginable, and shared some special Island favorites with us. Most aren't in the book, and we guess they might be the strength behind some of those great softball games, but we won't be giving away any trade secrets if we pass along the recipes to you. (see below)

Non-alcoholic drinks do appeal to some people on the Island, although they'd be hard to find among the younger set! For health food faddists, there's a non-alcoholic version of the Pina Colada. Pre-mixed pineapple and coconut juice is available at Woody's Health Food Store. Delicious served over ice!

Bobbi McLaughlin of Donax Village treated us to an exotic "Hola-Hola." Some of the ingredients may be hard to find, but we suggest you play around with this ... maybe add some rum if you're so inclined.

Two favorites here on the Island are listed below. Measurements are vague ... a splash here ... a dash there ... It's summer, and who's counting! Apply sparingly for pleasant Southwest Florida afternoons and moon-lit evenings.

Learn the ugly facts about wax.

A new wax job may look exciting. But then it starts getting dull, and dirty. Because wax grabs grime and pollutants like a magnet. And wax becomes imbedded with gritty particles that can actually damage auto paint.

Now learn the facts about Ming. Ming puts a shine on cars that even new cars can't — a shine that's brighter than any wax job available. Independent tests prove it. Ming smoothes your car's paint to a mirror-like shine without using polishes, paints or coatings. It never needs waxing. And the shine's so slick it actually resists dirt, grit and pollutants.

While wax gets duller by the day, Ming shines on, with just washing. And if you sell your car, you can sell Ming's full 3-year guarantee right along with it. Phone or drive in to your Ming Auto Beauty Center now for a fast, free demonstration. You'll see that underneath all that wax, there's a beautiful car.

Dear Friends,

Yes we will be holding cooking classes ... both during the summer and in the upcoming winter season. Some of the classes will be a "series" and others will be one timers. The majority will be participation type classes and therefore will be very small, however we will also be holding some demonstration type classes and will have more capacity for them.

We are available to hold these demonstration "I time" classes in various club facilities, so call early and find out about it. Some of the classes we will be teaching are:

- * Jewish cooking like "Momma" made.
- * Easy entertaining
- * Bread baking
- * International Pizza

Many others are available. We will also have guest lecturers coming in future months.

Remember we're the FRESH FOOD DELI. We have goods to eat in or take out and are open from 8:00 a.m. to 7:00 p.m.

Our freezers are full of quiches, crepes, strudels, and our personal frozen dinners to help you with your entertaining and eating needs. Our chocolate cheesecake is winning acclaim and our regular cheesecake and baklava is always in stock.

guide to poisonous plants

don't eat the daisies . . . or the poinsettias . . . or

Aside from the humdrum amenities of our every day living, most of us have found that there is no true Shangri-La: that no man is an island and, more fundamentally, that even the loveliest of roses has a thorn. With this in mind let us move closer to home, namely, our islands, and have a look at the other side of our so-revered vegetation.

While the vast majority of us can luxuriate in the beauty that abounds there are those few (and unfortunately only time and experience will tell you if you're included) who interestingly enough are adversely affected by plant life by varying degrees. The following are some of the plants found on the islands which are purveyors of rash, irritation, and respiratory disorders to mention a few (and again, to a few): Candelabra Cactus, Pencil Tree, Red Spurge, Poinsettia, Crown of Thorns, Wild Poinsettia, Asthma Plant, Slipper Flower, Physic Nut, Coral Plant, Bellyache Bush, Peregrina, Castor Bean, Limbang Nut, Sandbox, Manchineel, Treed-Softly, Croton, Brazilian Pepper, Mango, Cashew, Day Jessamine, Night-Blooming Jessamine, Angel's Trumpet, Devil's Trumpet, Jimsonweed Chalice Vine, Olander, Yellow Allamanda, Rosary Pea, Dumb Cane, Elephants Ear, Philodendron, Hunters Role, Century Plant, Melaleuca, Cathedral Cactus, Spanish Bayonet, Pigmy Date Palm, Aloe, Ponderosa Lemon, Lemon, Orange, Bush Palmetto.

Poison Ivy and Poison Oak still lead the list of doing the greatest harm to the largest number, however, any of the above can be more insidious since they cloak themselves as "just lovely."

It may also be noted that while we are sunning ourselves in amidst the flora and fauna, a few may be allergic to their tanning lotions. Certain drugs may also have a photoallergic or phototoxic reaction to the skin when their use is combined with "sunning." These are: Oral contraceptives, Estrogen, Progesterone, Orinase, Diabinese, Diuril, Esidrix, Oretic, Hydrimox, Librium, Compazine, Phenegan, Quinidine, Tofranil, Sparine, Stelazine, Temeril, Thorazine, Trilafon, Triavil, Etrafon, vesprin, benadryl, Sulfa, Griseofulvin, Aureomycin, Terramycin, Declomycin, Small pox vaccine and Imuran. Many times the poisonous effects of plants are not noted unless there is repeated proximity to them.

So before you brew that special nature tea you picked in your neighbours yard or make that natural salad you hear about - think - if in doubt always consult a physician - and in the meantime - Please don't eat the daisies, or the poinsettia, or the.....

Pencil Tree: A bushy tree with green curving branches, bearing slender, cylindrical rubbery branchlets and twigs, with a few tiny leaves at their tips.

Red Spurge: A shrub or small tree with oval leaves ranging in color from dull-green to purplish-green, maroon red, usually pale and downy on the underside.

Poinsettia A shrub, its main leaves are green, indented and up to 8 in long. Floral leaves grouped in a rosette around the small green and yellow flowers are generally bright red.

Crown of Thorns: A low or climbing shrub with flexuous branches heavily clothed with spines and bearing paddle-shaped leaves.

Physic Nut: A small tree with thick branches. Small greenish flowers are borne in clusters followed by bunches of smooth, oval fruits which turn from green to yellow, then black.

Coral Plant: A spreading shrub or bushy tree with ornamental leaves; small coral-red flowers are borne in long stalked clusters.

Bellyache Bush: A single stemmed shrub, its upper branches bear leaves which range in color from all green to green tinged with red or purple, or all purple.

Limbang Nut: A tree with somewhat heart-shaped leaves which are shed in winter. Sprays a small white flowers appear before the new foliage in spring.

Sandbox: A tree whose trunk is covered with short, conical spines.

Day Jessamine: A shrub or small tree with smooth, thin, evergreen leaves. Throughout the year it bears a succession of small, tubular white flowers followed by berries which turn lavender to dark-purple.

Angel's Trumpet: A small tree with drooping downy leaves. The flowers resemble trumpets.

Chalice Vine: A climbing shrub with broad oval leaves, downy beneath. The flowers are formed like long stemmed goblets.

Oleander: A multi stemmed shrub with stiff slender leaves and terminal clusters of somewhat bell-shaped parted flowers-white, pink or red.

Rosary Pea: A slender, high-climbing vine with feathery, licorice flavored leaves. It has long and pea-like white to pinkish flowers borne in clusters.

Dumb Cane: A plant with succulent, thick stem and variegated leaved with especially acrid sap.

Elephants Ear: A plant with large arrowhead-shaped leaf blades held horizontally or pointing downward.

Melaleuca: A tree, upright and slender whose branches are coated with layers of whitish papery bark which peels off in shaggy flakes.

on the water

by mike fuery

Who owns the pass? That's one of those questions that seems to pop up at the worst times when anglers get in each other's way trying their own particular methods of catching fish.

Redfish Pass is the all-time champion for this, although I've seen the problem on party boats vs. sport boats and on fishing piers. The real question is territorial possession and sometimes situations can range from downright funny to fairly serious. People have been shot getting in the way of an ardent angler intent on keeping his spot free from intruders.

Redfish Pass, between the Captiva Islands, is a good fishing area. There are several ways to fish it, but if you have a boat you probably will drift-fish the pass, letting the current take you around close to shore while you drag your bait or lure behind the boat.

Another way to fish the pass is to get to the southern point of the pass, probably after trespassing over private lands, and then casting out lures into the same waters which are being drifted by the boats.

See the problem? Who owns that precious few yards of water where the big snook are resting?

Anyway, that was the situation last weekend when, at dawn, the first of the shouting matches between shore fishermen and boaters got underway. Watching the shore casters yell at drifting boats to get out of their way (and the boaters yelling back) reminded me of trips on party boats years ago when a guy on the bow would catch a fish and be tangled with a lady's hook who was fishing in the stern of the boat. A hot argument was sure to come of it.

The beach fishermen, as far as I can determine, can walk along the sand at the water line at any place in Florida. I know there have been many legal tangles over the rights of anglers to fish in front of some of the homes in exclusive areas of the state. Seems that people with enough money to buy beach front land don't want the view blocked by a guy with a fishing rod.

I've seen home owners on Captiva Island ask people to move away from their beach front property. To find a so-called "public" access on this island is next to impossible. On Sanibel Island I've seen people actually hide these public beach access paths with plants or put up "private, no trespassing" signs.

So, who owns the pass for fishing? All of us and none of us. I tend to lean towards fishing an area according to "local custom." If two guys are fishing an isolated northern trout stream, the third guy doesn't come in with a cast net and round up all the trout in two throws.

The same goes for anchoring in the drift lines of the passes. This has been mentioned before, but it pays to say it again. Inevitably, some fella never fishing Redfish or Captiva Pass will see all the boats and decide there must be good fishing there -- so he anchors right in the middle of a dozen boats trying to drift and fish. Talk about some getting some hard stares coming your way if you do this trick!

I've seen some good shore fishermen work just fine with drifting boats in Redfish. The secret is to cast that lure between the boats. That gives enough time to work the lure and still not tangle into the drifted lines. Shore anglers get their fish and boaters get their chance at the fish, too.

Fishing according to "local custom" isn't a law, merely an observance that keeps harmony in the fishing community. If you are new to an area, most bait shop operators can give you some tips on how to fish a particular area and the best part is you'll save time over experimenting with catching fish. Keep your eyes open and in this case imitation will probably lead to more fishing success. Good luck on the water this week.

Tides courtesy of THE REAL EEL - Herb (Skip) Purdy
 Conversion table: The above tides are for the lighthouse point of Sanibel only. To convert for Redfish Pass (north tip of Captiva), add 55 minutes to the time shown for every hi-tide, subtract two (2) minutes for every low tide. (NO, we don't know why, but it works. Instructions following are even less sense-sical but as we stated, they do work.)
 For Captiva Island, Gulf side, subtract 30 minutes from each high tide, and subtract 1 hour and 16 minutes for each low tide.
 For Captiva Island, Pine Island Sound (Bay) side, add 1 hour and four (4) minutes for each high tide, and add 52 minutes for each low tide.
 In between these points on gulf or bay — guesstimate — and have good fishing, and or shelling.

Wanicka ponders budget appeal

By DONALD MOODY

Lee County Sheriff Frank Wanicka today rapped the proposed $4.4 million Sheriff's budget approved by the County Commission late Friday and is still pondering whether he will appeal the budget decision to the state Cabinet.

Wanicka said the Commission approved 8.9 percent increase of the Sheriff's budget is "inadequate" to meet the needs of a growing county, and suggested that commissioner's had not made law enforcement their number one priority.

"The question here is simply whether or not the County Commission is going to make law enforcement their number one priority or not," Wanicka said.

The commission-approved budget of $4,468,648 will fund the state-mandated salary increases for Sheriff's deputies and provide five additional deputies for the force. Wanicka said the loss of several people funded by federal anti-recession funds would mean "a net gain of only one new person on the force."

Wanicka had requested 10 new deputies and the retention of four anti-recession fund employees in his $4,706,330 budget request. That request is 14.7 percent over the current budget level of the Sheriff's Department of $4,102,087.

Although Wanicka has indicated he is still undecided whether to appeal the commission budget, several commissioners predicted privately he would not appeal their decision. Wanicka said he is still in the process of evaluating the changes in the budget before making a firm decision on appealing.

He said he has 30 days in which to appeal the commission budget.

Commissioner's canceled planned budget hearings this week after ordering County Administrator

Lavon Wishder to go back and chop the 1978-79 operating budget for the county by $3.5 million from her proposed levels.

Mrs. Wisher had presented the commission with a proposed operating budget of $38,233,618. The commission-ordered cuts will produce an operating budget that is only one-half of one percent higher than this year's budget of $34.5 million.

Commission members accepted the recommendation of the Budget Review Committee to arrive at a "balanced budget" to gain the same tax revenues as the current year with a 14 percent increase to cover growth and inflation.

Budget Committee member Howard Weiner said the proposed "hold-the-line" budget would cause an estimated 9 percent reduction in the taxing rate after the expected 20 percent increase in property assessments predicted by Tax Assessor Harry Schooley.

The county collected an estimated $17 million in local property taxes this year for the budget, with the rest coming from federal and state funds, and that amount would have to be raised to $19.4 million to adjust for the 14 percent inflation and growth rate.

The commission's budget proposal would reduce the countywide millage from 7.276 to 7.18 if the tax roll reaches the expected 20 percent increase.

Wisher told commissioners she is uncertain how long it will take to make the necessary budget cuts.

The budget committee also recommended to commissioners that all budget increase proposals include a statement on how to finance the increase. They also recommended the county employ a budget officer.

1978 - a very good year for mosquitoes

By William J. O'Neill
National Geographic News Service

WASHINGTON -- Mosquitoes apparently are biting in record numbers this year, judging from evidence around the country.

Entomologists say rain fell at the right time in the right spots this spring and summer, causing swarms of newly hatched mosquitoes to rise from swamps, ponds, and stagnant pools.

In a scenario reminiscent of a late-night horror movie, one Maryland expert links his state's increased mosquito population to the fact that rain fell during the full moons.

A Double Whammy

Dr. Robert M. Altman explained that marsh mosquitoes need saltwater to hatch, while their upland cousins require rain. When a full moon draws the tide farther inland, greater numbers of marsh mosquitoes are hatched. When the lunar tide coincides with rain, upland mosquitoes also appear in force.

Vacationers at some seaside resorts are encountering the results of at least two such coincidences. And inland, campers, hikers and lake fishermen are in the same fix.

Not everyone is complaining. Sales of insecticides, sprays, lotion, and pest strips have never been better.

It's a war that has been going on ever since the dawn of time, when a chance meeting of Early Man and mosquito triggered the now familiar bite and slap sequence.

But swatting is tricky when both hands are occupied. It's also inefficient and frequently too late, so technology has been applied to the problem since ancient times, when the Egyptians learned that burning smudge pots ward off the biting insects.

The smoke principle is followed in the mosquito coils, candles, and punks sold today. Their fragrances are added for customers' benefit, since the insects show little interest in such niceties.

Insecticides Work -- Sometimes

"Smoke definitely discourages mosquitoes," Ed Bunch, an entomologist with the Environmental Protection Agency, reports. "But for most people, insect repellents sprayed or rubbed on probably do the best job."

Bunch's laboratory is responsible for testing such products. He has watched researchers cover their arms with insecticides, then thrust them into glass containers filled with thirsty mosquitoes and emerge unscathed.

"The catch is that people outdoors often miss a couple of spots," he said. "Then the mosquitoes zero in on that area and people think the insecticide didn't work."

One idea that didn't work was an electronic device supposed to drive off mosquitoes by emitting ultrasonic sound. Manufacturers sold them at a brisk rate a couple of years ago until EPA and Department of Agriculture tests suggested the insects must be tone deaf.

In EPA tests, one volunteer wore the device and another didn't in walks through mosquito-infested areas. "Sometimes the man wearing the gadget got more bites than his partner," Bunch said. "We had to ban them."

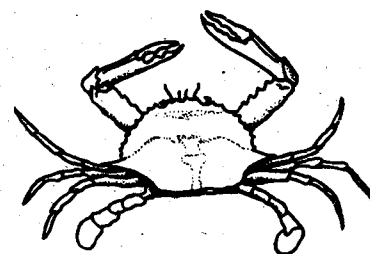

City manager gets approval for restroom facilities

City Manager Bill Nungester appeared before the County Commission last Wednesday to request approval from the county to put restroom facilities on county-owned land on Sanibel. The restrooms are proposed for the Periwinkle Way picnic area across from Donax St.

Nungester told the Commissioners that $40,000 had been set aside in the budget for construction of the facilities. Nungester said later that he will recommend to the city council that Sanibel architect Frank Vellake be employed to design the facility.

"We need to develop an architectural theme for additional facilities throughout the Island," said Nungester, "and we will try to make use of sun and wind in the design of the facilities. They will be built to serve our present needs but we will be able to add on more if necessary."

Nungester said that he did not think the restrooms will be ready for the 1979 tourist season. "I wish I could say 'yes'," he said, "but we have a long way to go."

In softball this Sunday Bailey's upset Top of the Mast 16-6 in a well played game. Ron Gavin had a two run in-the-park homer for Baileys, and did an outstanding job in the field. Thom Traucht was thrown out of the game for unsportsmanlike conduct by home plate umpire Oscar Gavin when Thom threw the ball to the catcher after an unsuccessful appeal to third base. Since the ball was in play, and there were no baserunners, he could only legally have thrown the ball to the pitcher.

In other action, when ESI showed up with only eight players, Casa Ybel decided to play them anyway instead of taking the forfeit. It was a bad decision; ESI beat the Casa Ybelles 20-9. Better luck next time.

In the early game South Seas Plantation defeated the Island Reporter Stringers 13-4.

islander angling

Rain, rain, go away, come again some other day ... that little ditty may apply elsewhere but not on the blue (sometimes green) waters about Sanibel, no indeed...though it has hardly missed a day raining here this past week, fishing is as ever ... marvelous....

Now that we are a "two deep sea charter boat island" (with one each moored at opposite ends of the island), we may tell you that those of you who will avail yourselves of this experience and take a trip out will not be disappointed, or at least those who've gone, have not. The charters have pulled into back each evening loaded with grouper and snapper.

Smaller snapper can be found in the mangroves and canals. Tarpon is really striking at Marker 4, as well as Boca Grande. Some small (6-12 lb.) cobia are still being found. Lighthouse Point is apparently about the only spot for snook. And again trout wears the crown for the most plentiful and they are being caught at the flats and between the old and new power lines, and just about everywhere else. Redfish, Jack cravelle and triple tail have moved out for the most part, as well as jewfish.

Recommended for the family that fishes, but really for anyone who is ready for an enjoyable evening is gigging for flounder. The equipment needed is minimal: a gig (this can be purchased at a sporting goods, or bait and tackle establishment - or fashioned yourself out of a limb of any description with a nail projecting from the end - with the sharp end outward of course. After due consideration on this subject, definitely purchase one. You will also need a lantern, and a fish bucket. Wear sneakers or shell shoes (from the feet up I leave to your personal discretion or inclination).

Thus armed, you set out, shuffling along in shallow water, in the dark of night, looking down, ever downward to see Mr. Flounder lying on the sandy bottom. One thrust of the gig and he is yours. Incidentally, there is nothing better for the soul than wading gulf waters in the still of night. This is your consolation in the event you do not spot the aforementioned, or if the lantern is dropped or what have you. The only regulations are that you do not do your wanderings in designated bathing areas, under public piers, docks, or around jettys or groins.

So....let it rain....let it pour. Have you never heard the song of the true fisherman, who finds any day a good day for fishing? Good catching!

police report

We didn't want to report anything that might make you think the Island is going to the dogs ... or that the summer doldrums have definitely hit Sanibel ... but Sanibel Police Department reports are definitely slim this week, and strictly for the "dogs."

A long haired dachshund left home and hearth and never came back. With no lack of concern and as an offer of comfort to the bereaved owners, we will hope that he merely tired of the Island and is visiting relatives in Chilacoth.

Two other runaways of the canine variety came home wagging their tails behind them, but a fourth victim was an unlucky Afghan Hound who was stolen.

Right out of a Neil

Simon comedy plot ... another elevator story. We've always wondered if the "emergency buttons" really work, and do people really get stuck in elevators, or is it just a Hollywood scenario. It really happens, as the gentleman who found himself in that predicament can testify. SPD answered the call and freed the captive.

It's not unusual for a SPD officer to see people emerge from their cars when they've been pulled over for whatever reason, but imagine Lew Phillips surprise when he looked in his rearview mirror and saw people "bailing out" of the cars behind him! Reason for their panic was the loaded dump truck whose brakes failed on the Sanibel Causeway bridge late Monday afternoon. No serious injuries were reported, and the driver of the vehicle, Michael Ivy of Fort Myers, said when his brakes failed at the top of the causeway bridge, he steered between the two lanes of traffic, and then stopped when he ran into the back of a causeway maintenance truck. One passenger in a car was taken to Lee Memorial Hospital and released. Eleven other vehicles were involved in the pileup; six of the eleven were struck by the dump truck, and the other five hit each other trying to get out of the way. Officer Phillips comment on the scene: "Boy, that guy had to do some fancy driving to keep from killing anyone."

No charges were filed in the mishap.

BOY SCOUT TROOP 88

Sanibel Boy Scout Troop 88 spent an enjoyable afternoon (Tues., 7-25-78) at Gator Lanes of Fort Myers. Each scout bowled three games. Although none of the scouts beat their scoutmaster for a free coke, each fared in his own style. The scores were not high, but the morale was.

After the crew finished bowling, they moved to Fort Myers Beach for two rounds of Jungle Golf. Scouts in attendance were: Greg Hermes, Larry Raulerson, Dan Burns, Keith Wainright, Eric Wightman, Pete Evans, Scoutmaster Ron Sebald, who provided the transportation, and visitor Rick Genualdi.

SANIBEL COMMUNITY ASSOCIATION

There was an important meeting of the Board of Directors of the Sanibel Community Association on Tuesday, July 25, at the Community House.

Due to summer absenteeism, illness, and an approaching thunderstorm, the desired attendance of members of the association was limited to a small audience. Eight members of the Board were on hand: Jean Haff, President, Fritz Myers, vice-president Helen Jans, Secretary; also Phyllis Hatcher, Ruth Searing, Anne Joffee, Walter Emmonds, and former President, Dick Wilson.

Frank Vellake, architect, explained the future site plans and detailed scheduling, illustrated by blue prints on a bulletin board. 5,000 ft. will be added to the existing facilities, a new parking space for approximately 209 cars will be available on land already owned by the Community Association across the road, and all plans and specifications are now complete.

This much needed enlarged community center is waiting for the green light to go ahead with construction. Dick Wilson spoke of those needs and told the audience details in regard to the financing of this project. The building fund now has approximately $60,000 on hand, but it is vital to vote on how to proceed with outside financing. This can only be done if 50 community association members are present at a special meeting.

Because of the July 14 flood regulations, there is an urgency to finalize these plans immediately. That was the purpose of the July 25 meeting, but it turned out to be a dry run. Questions from the floor were discussed and those present found the information of great interest.

Letters are being mailed to all of the membership explaining the importance of a second meeting which is to be held on Tuesday evening, August 8, 1978 at 7:30 p.m. at the Community House. Hopefully, a quorum will be present so that the necessary votes can be cast.

The Sanibel Community Association will sponsor its third annual trip to Disney World on August 15 for island teens between the ages of 12 and 17. The Trailways bus will be departing from the Community Association on Periwinkle Way at 7 a.m. and will return to the same location at around 1 a.m. on August 16.

The total cost of the trip is $23, which includes transportation, insurance, coke for lunch, and a 12 ticket book for Disney World. Bring a bag lunch ... the bus will stop on the way ... and a pillow for snoozing on the way home.

One 46 passenger bus has been reserved, and sign up will be on a first come, first served basis. Bring money or check to Phyllis Hatcher at the Sanibel Community Association on Periwinkle Way on Monday, July 31, and Tuesday, August 1, between 2:00-4:00 p.m. to ensure a seat.

If there are any islanders who have extra Disney World tickets and would like to donate them to teenagers, please drop them by First Federal Savings and Loan Association in the Island Shopping Center before August 14. They will be appreciated.

LIONS

The next meeting of the local chapter of Lions International will be Aug. 2, 6:30 p.m. at the American Legion Hall.

LEAGUE OF WOMEN VOTERS

On Friday, August 4, the Sanibel Captiva League of Women Voters will hold a voter registration at the Bank of the Islands between the hours of ten and two p.m.

Registrants should bring proper identification - a driver's license or birth certificate - with them, and if they are changing address, should have on hand their voter registration from another area.

SCHOOLHOUSE GALLERY

The Schoolhouse Gallery is conducting informative escorted gallery tours each Monday morning in August, at 11 a.m. The public is invited to attend. Marc Aune, Art Director is the able guide.

The purpose is to broaden public understanding, recognition and appreciation of contemporary art forms, to heighten public enjoyment in art gallery and museum attendance, and to enable the future purchaser to be more discriminating in the selection of future fine art acquisitions.

Much of the work of the 85 American artists represented in the gallery will be descriptively analyzed in the one hour presentation. Among the different original painting media to be included are: oils, acrylics, watercolors, pen and inks, casein, pastel colored pencil, tempera, and mixed media.

In graphic art: serigraph, etching and aquatint, engraving, wood and linoleum cuts, lithography, collagraph, photo-silk screen, the embossment and relief techniques, and combinations of the preceding are included. A question

a guide to island shops and services

A quiet corner on Captiva ... The Owl and the Pussycat features gifts and accessories, with the perfect thoughtful item for the person who has everything. Sun-lit nooks and crannies are filled with exquisite pieces of jewelry and ceramic what-nots.

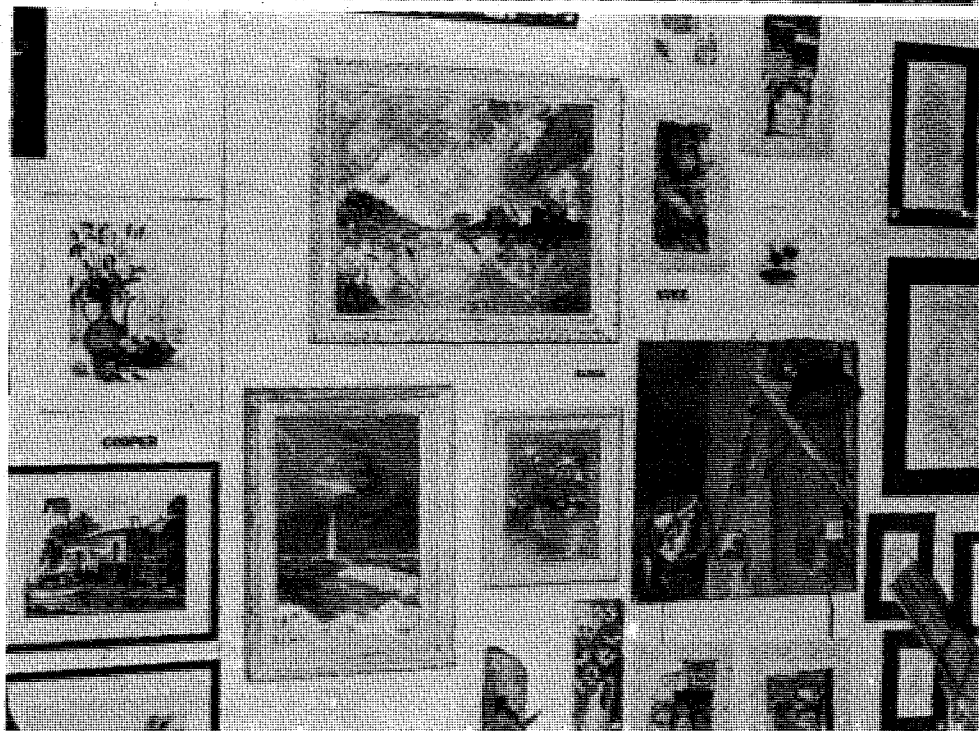

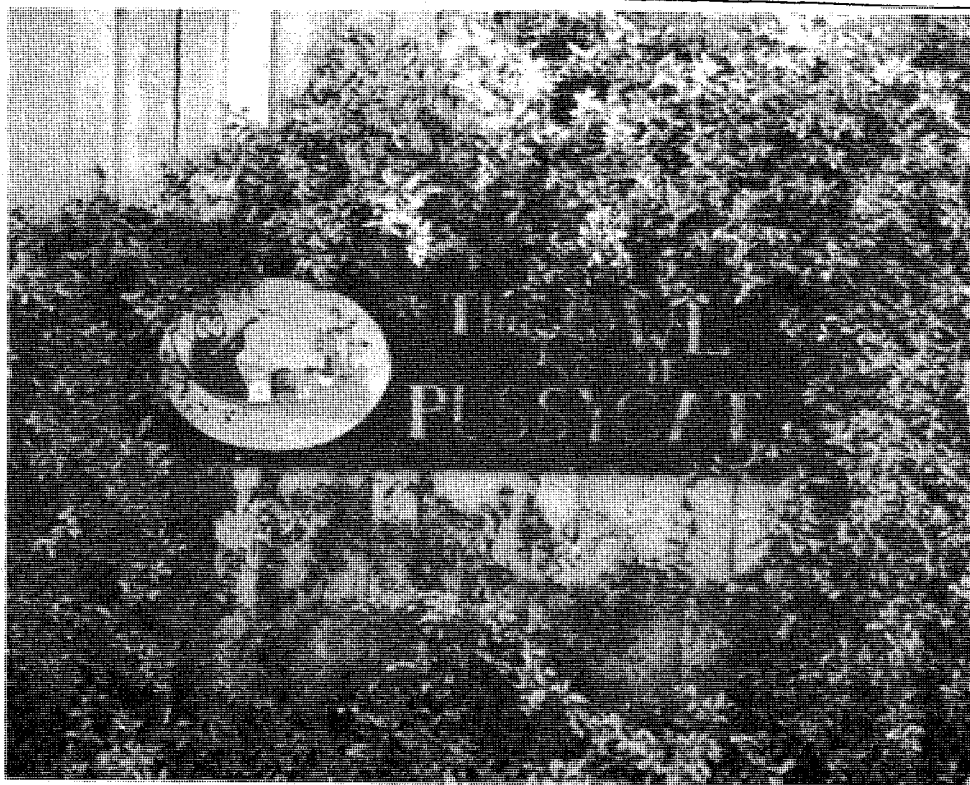

Of special interest is the recent addition of the Gallery on the back of the existing shop featuring art works by local and regional artists. One could get lost for hours amid oils and watercolors by Islanders as well as metal sculptures and wood plaques.

Several have that special Island flavor that is so appreciated in Island homes, but we also found an ink and watercolor wash entitled "Oriental Persimmons" by Islander Dorothy Robinson that was lovely. A Sea Oats metal sculpture by Linda Ritchie caught my eye as well. This artist captures a Gulf breeze with her welding torch with ease.

The Owl and the Pussycat displays a terrific new stained glass window depicting the nursery rhyme characters featured in the shop's name. Tucked away in a back corner, we came upon Hermione Witch and Fannie Flapper - two glamour rag dolls perfectly fit for a child's birthday. Grandmamas and mothers take note!

The Owl and the Pussycat is open from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., through Saturday. Some selected items are on sale now, in anticipation of arrival of new stock for fall.

food for thought

by julie gray

This week's collection of new recipes comes to you via the route of our area supermarket aisles.

How many times have you walked down and up the aisles of literally thousands of different items and continued to buy the tried and true favorites that you were most familiar with.

Be adventurous! Do what I did the other day. I ran through the aisles of the local markets and with almost gay abandon (or was it desperation) I snatched off literally dozens of those little recipe pads that abound in the aisles.

It does look a little strange, I must admit, to see a supposedly grown woman leading a procession of about seven children of various ages through the aisles, almost piper-style, in any event. Add to this the fact that I was whistling and singing and had acquired an almost glazed expression on my face due to the ever mounting prices, and you will conjure up a strange vision.

With the ever mounting prices it is of course an ever more exasperating game to find new and palate-pleasing recipes that one can afford. I must admit that for the most part I find I will never be able to afford steak again. We tried one last week, but at $1.79 a pound we bent the fork tongs even with meat tenderizer. Our feeling is that if the cow was that independent, it deserves its freedom.

Beef stew has flared similarly in recent weeks: I mean long slow simmering is one thing that I can well identify with to tenderize a meat product, but I feel that cooking meat for a month and a half is a waste of fuel and will never tenderize a cow that chewed nails instead of grass.

Perhaps our government was trying to save our physical well being when they traded off all of our cows to other countries. Maybe we only had tough old cows here that ate iron, or perhaps they had lead in their cud or something similar. It sure would be nice to view the meat aisle and cases as something other than a rare national treasure, wouldn't it?

Every week during my foray to do battle with the increasing cost of food we briefly survey the meat and then once again view the rest of the store. Obviously we can't eat paper napkins or bleach, so handy hints on how to prepare them will be neglected for the time being. But things being what they are, at least in my home, we may be serving them, too, one day.

Last week's trip to the supermarket seemed to sprout a proliferation of manufacturer's suggestions on how to use their products. We've all seen them. Little pads of paper under either a new product or a familiar old one. They say "take one."

As you will see from the following recipes, I took lots. And folks, they are chock full of good ideas for good eating at fairly sensible prices with some good nutrition thrown in just for extra measure.

A nice thing about these little slips of recipe wonders is that they sometimes in small print offer a free 100-page recipe booklet (or one for a nominal sum) or a money back offer for buying and trying their product or something similar.

Incidentally, many of today's sought-after antiques were once offered as giveaway premiums by food manufacturers to solicit people to buy their product. Likewise with prize recipe books that are now out of print. A case in point is the Hershey Cookbook. It has just been reissued and is in some area bookstores, but it has been modernized and isn't exactly the same.

It is my firm belief that the people who manufacture the product know oft times the best way to use it. Remember that they spend thousands of dollars to maintain test kitchens and home economists to develop new recipes for their product. Can you imagine having to work 52 weeks a year developing new recipes for lemons?

Following are a list of the helpful people who put out the various recipes we are sharing with you. Write them if you have questions. Remember they need you to buy their products to stay in business. Your comments only serve to improve all of our well being. Let them hear from you!

-SUNKIST LEMONS, P.O. Box 910, Lomita, Calif. 90717. For $2 they will send you a lemon aid kit. Chances are they have some more recipes too.

-California Avocado Advisory Board, Newport Beach, Calif. 92660.

-BORDEN, Inc. Department B., P.O. Box 451, Jersey City, N.J. 07303. They'll send you a 32-page book in color with all sorts of delectable yummys called "They'll Love It." It's a freebee.

BANANA SUPERSHAKE

2 Chiquita Bananas cut up one-third cup Realemon (reconstituted lemon juice)
1 cup water
1 can Eagle Brand Sweetened Condensed Milk (14 oz. can)
2 cups crushed ice

In blender container, combine bananas, lemon juice, water, and sweetened condensed milk. Blend well. Add ice to container and blend until smooth on high speed.

Serve in frosted glasses. Refrigerate leftovers. Mixture will stay thick and creamy in the refrigerator.

MIXER METHOD: In case you don't have access to a blender, use the following manner of combining your ingredients:

In medium mixer bowl, mash bananas, gradually beat in Realemon, sweetened condensed milk and 2½ cups cold water (Note ice is eliminated and water is increased). Chill before serving.

HOME MADE ICE CREAM

Old fashioned freezer ice cream

3 eggs
2½ cups sugar
½ tsp. salt
2 tsp. vanilla
2 tall cans MILNOT
6 one-third cups milk

Beat eggs well; add sugar, salt and vanilla. Beat thoroughly. Add MILNOT and milk. Freeze. Makes approximately 1 gallon. For fresh fruit flavored ice cream add Bananas, strawberries, peaches, etc.

OKLAHOMA SHERBERT

½ gallon milk
3 packages Kool Aid (stir into milk)
2½ cups sugar
¼ tsp. salt
1 tall can MILNOT (13 ounces)
1 small can crushed pineapple (Or any other desired fruit)

Pour all ingredients into ice cream freezer drum and freeze according to manufacturers directions or pour into blender, combine ingredients and freeze in ice cube trays in home refrigerator.

VANILLA SUPREME

2 quarts milk (warm)
2 cups sugar (add to milk while it is warming)
4 beaten eggs
½ tsp. salt
1 tsp. vanilla
4 Junket tablest (place in ½ cup cold water to dissolve)
1 13 oz. can of MILNOT

Cook first five ingredients together until lukewarm. Pour mixture in to freezer can, add junket and let set to congeal. Add 1 tall can MILNOT Makes 1 gallon.

For fresh fruit flavored ice cream, add bananas, strawberries, peaches, etc.

PLEASE NOTE: to prevent quick melting 1 Tablespoon of unflavored gelatin may be added (soak in ¼ cup hot water; melt over hot water, and add to milk mixtures).

AVOCADO BURGERS

Avocado
finely chopped onion
hamburger

Fix hamburger patties your favorite way, mash avocado and add minced onion to taste. Serve open face style over hamburger.

AVOCADO DRESSING FOR FRUIT SALADS

3 avocados pureed
1 cup sour cream
1½ tsp. salt
2 Tablespoons lime juice

Combine ingredients and chill at least 30 minutes. Makes about three cups.

CHEF'S SALAD WITH A DIFFERENCE

1 medium onion
1 head lettuce
2 tomatoes
hot sauce to taste
1 cup shredded cheddar or American cheese
1 cup french or thousand island dressing
1 large avocado, peeled and sliced
1 6 oz. bag toasted tortilla chips
1 pound of ground beef drained after browning
1 can drained kidney beans (15 oz. size)

Chop onion, tomatoes, lettuce. Toss with cheese and dressing. Add hot sauce to taste. Add sliced avocado. Crumble and add tortilla chips. Set cold salad aside. Brown beef and drain. Add kidney beans and salt to beef; heat thoroughly. Mix together with cold salad. Decorate with extra tortilla chips, avocado slices and tomatoes.

WILTED SPINACH SALAD

4 slices bacon cut into 1 inch slices juice of 2 sunkist lemons
1 Tbsp. sugar
2 tsp. worchestershire sauce
fresh spinach
1 cup fresh mushroom slices

Cut bacon into pieces. Fry. To bacon and drippings add juice of 2 Sunkist lemons, sugar and worchestershire sauce. Heat and pour over six cups of fresh spinach leaves and sliced fresh mushrooms. Toss and serve.

CREAMED SPINACH

1 can cream of mushroom soup
1 cup shredded cheddar cheese grated peel and juice of ½ sunkist lemon
2 pkgs. frozen spinach.

Heat soup and shredded cheese. Stir until cheese melts. Add grated peel and juice of lemon and cooked and well drained spinach. Heat and garnish with lemon slices and grated cheddar cheese.

RULES

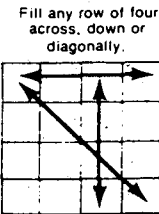

- 1 Get a free DOUBLE BINGO ODD BINGO EVEN Master Game Card on request at the end of the checkout or at the store office. Get one free game ticket every time you visit a participating Winn-Dixie Store. No purchase is required. Adults only eligible to play.
- 2 On each Game Ticket there are four DOUBLE BINGO ODD BINGO EVEN Markers. To reveal the Markers, simply punch out the perforated portions of the Game Ticket, then separate the punched out portions and you will have four Markers. Each Marker corresponds to a square in one of the games on your Master Game Card.
- 3 When you have revealed the DOUBLE BINGO ODD BINGO EVEN Markers, carefully place them in their appropriate squares on your DOUBLE BINGO ODD BINGO EVEN Master Game Card. EXAMPLE: If one of your Markers is an A-298 in the $200 game, insert that Marker in the square marked A-298 in the $200 game. When you complete any row in a game, you may be a winner, doubling the amount of the game prize. See examples on this card. In some games, you will find squares marked free and it is unnecessary to collect a Marker to be placed in such free squares. Free squares are not transferable. One winner per card.
- 4 When turning in your winning card all your DOUBLE BINGO ODD BINGO EVEN Markers which are not a part of the winning row should be retained and transferred to a new card. Only one prize will be awarded per game on any one Master Game Card. ALL DOUBLE BINGO ODD BINGO EVEN Markers in a winning row must be initialled on the back, in the space indicated, by the customer in the presence of authorized personnel. $5.00, $2.00 and $1.00 winners can be verified and redeemed by authorized store personnel. $1001.00, $100.00 and $20.00 or $2002.00 and $200.00 double winners must be sent to the sponsor for verification and redemption. All game material submitted for verification becomes the property of the game sponsor. When you have a winning card which has been verified by authorized personnel, you will, after furnishing your name and address, be awarded your prize. A Federal Trade Commission rule requires that the names and addresses of all winners be posted in all participating stores. Tax liability on prizes is the responsibility of the prize winner.
- 5 All game materials will be rejected and judged void if not obtained from and verified by authorized personnel or if any part of any of the game pieces is illegible, altered, mutilated, defaced, tampered with, forged, contains printing or other errors, or is irregular in any way. Any attempt to forge game material or to defraud in any way will be prosecuted to the fullest extent of the law. Game materials void where taxed or prohibited by law.

- 6 Game will end upon distribution of all Game Tickets. All prizes must be claimed within five (5) days after announcement of termination or they are forfeited. Notwithstanding anything herein to the contrary, at such times as the verified claims for prizes in any category equals the number of prizes advertised for that category, then the game as it relates to that specific prize category shall immediately terminate without notice, an any unverified claims at or after that time shall be automatically rejected.
- 7 Game materials valid only for this game. All Game Tickets, DOUBLE BINGO ODD BINGO EVEN Markers and Game Cards must have the same series number. EXAMPLE: If you have Master Game Card Series #53, all of your game markers must have Series #53.
- 8 Employees (and their I.R.S. listed dependents) of Winn-Dixie Stores, Inc., Participating Winn-Dixie Stores, Dansico Associates, their advertising agency, and any other companies engaged in the development and production of these game materials are not eligible to win.
- 9 DOUBLE BINGO ODD BINGO EVEN Marker void if it does not have on it:
 - (a) Series #53
 - (b) Bingo symbol spelled out
 - (c) Bingo symbol
 - (d) DOUBLE BINGO ODD BINGO EVEN spelled out
 - (e) Value of game
 - (f) Safety pattern background.
- 10 DOUBLE BINGO ODD BINGO EVEN Series #53 Markers must conform in size, shape, detail and must contain the six (6) items of authentication described in Rule No. 9.

TOUR HOURS: EACH MONDAY MORNING, 11 a.m. the month of August only. Clubs, Organizations and individuals: RESERVATIONS, PLEASE: 472-1193.

The gallery is located on Tarpon Bay Rd. Sanibel Island, across from Island Cinema.

CHRISTIAN WOMEN'S ASSOCIATION

The Sanibel-Captiva Christian Women's Club cordially invites all mothers and daughters to attend the monthly luncheon meeting on Thursday, August 3, at Chadwick's on Captiva.

Lori Dixon, Miss Florida Teenager 1977 and first runner-up in the Miss National Teenage Pageant will be the featured vocalist and speaker.

Betty McGoon of Sanibel's Nimble Thimble will be the narrator of a special fashion show. Local Island residents will model their own hand sewn creations.

The luncheon meeting is open to the public and is held from 11:00 a.m. to 1:00 p.m. The cost is $4.75 per person. Reservations are necessary and cancellations must be made at least 48 hours in advance.

For reservations, please contact Ruth Rau at 472-1218 or Diane Good at 472-4673. Margaret Mary House will take your reservation for the luncheon and free babysitting, if you need it. Call her at 472-3662.

KIWANIS

Guest Speaker, Councilman Porter Goss gave an informative talk on the proposed tourist tax and other subjects of local interest at the July 26 Kiwanis Meeting.

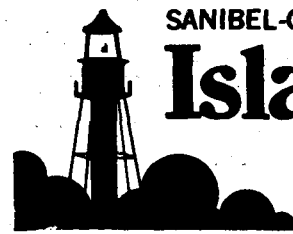

Dr. Harry Kair reported that plans for a Kiwanis-Lions dance to be held on Aug. 12, and a softball game to be played on August 13, were proceeding nicely. All proceeds from the two projects are to be donated to help two local police officers attend and compete at the Police Olympics in Los Angeles.

Angeles.

Bob Buntrock led a spirited debate concerning a possible misappropriation of the weekly gift given to the guest coming from furthest away. In light of substantial documented proof verifying the accuracy of the original decision, Mr.

Buntrock requested an appeal and is continuing his research.

Highlight of the well attended meeting was a rousing rendition of "Happy Birthday" with all members singing while on their knees, for President Dick Muench.

ABWA sets installation date

The Sanibel-Captiva chapter of the American Business Women's Association has slated Tuesday, October 3 as the installation date for the new chapter. The date was voted on by the 24 women who attended a formation luncheon last Wednesday at the Coconut Grove.

At the meeting, Ruth Faith, president of the Cape Coral Chapter outlined some of the benefits working women can enjoy with ABWA membership: the possibility to share work experiences, prestige, reference service, free $1000 accidental death policy, discounts with rental cars and resorts, medical insurance and a prescription service.

Those women who are interested in joining the organization which had its beginnings in 1949, should contact Bette Parke at 472-2946. The October 3 installation will begin with cocktails at 6:30 p.m. and dinner at 7 p.m.

Prospective members of the American Women's Business Association look over membership applications.

DEMOCRAT ROBERT L. SHEVIN FOR GOVERNOR OF FLORIDA

* Bob Shevin is a good friend of Sanibel and Captiva. When the developers were destroying Sanibel's unique fresh water system, Bob Shevin's office in a first-of-its-kind cooperative effort with two other state agencies and local groups, stopped them. It was a bold and courageous act — more so since environmental controls then were virtually non-existent.

* Bob Shevin alone voted "NO" when the Governor and Cabinet were asked to sidestep the DRI process to cater to the desires of the Beker Phosphate Corp.

* Bob Shevin alone voted "NO" when the Governor and Cabinet were asked to approve construction of the environmentally destructive Dame Point Bridge in Jacksonville.

MARJORY STONEMAN DOUGLAS, author of "Everglades — River of Grass" will speak for Bob Shevin at a meeting August 12th on Sanibel, at the West Wind Inn, Executive Conference Room at 8 p.m.

Canada candidly by Lorraine Ashford

To-day, my husband and I celebrate 1 years of married life. Does that make us eligible for some kind of award? Well, that dear man bought me an electric typewriter for the occasion. Don't laugh - it COULD have been a new Mixmaster. I wanted diamonds but it's a known fact in my family that I have no class. Diamonds are not "in" this year. Take it from Birks - they're pushing emeralds. It has everything on it but power steering. If I could plug in my brain as easily as I do this machine, Alex Haley would eat his heart out.

The first time I used it, I was sitting by my big window overlooking beautiful Mount Royal where a storm was brewing. A bad flash of lightning compelled me to unplug the typewriter and move into a dark corner til the worst was over. I mean, it's rather a foolish way to go. Can you see the epitaph? "here lies a good wife and mother; Welded to death with her Brother." No savior faire whatsoever!

Since writing last, we have moved into the heart of the city on a lovely little street between McGregor and Sherbrooke. It's a very old part of the city and some of the homes around stir the imagination. We have a park at our doorstep donated by Percy Walters. The mystery here is that the park is dominated by a huge bust of Simon Bolivar. If anyone knows the connection, let me know as it's driving me bonkers.

It's a quiet summer in Quebec. The "French only" signs came into being July 1 and it's going to be rough on tourists. Some companies are having a bad time, too. Harris Tweed, which does $5 million dollars worth of business annually in Quebec asked for and received a six month extension while they try to come up with a "French only" label. Some of the reforms of this govt. are just not going over very well with the average Quebecer.

As the Partie Quebecois (PQ)

cabinet smokes up a storm, the Minister of Health says he is going to increase the tax on cigarettes so high - how high? - so high, that in 10 years he will produce the first generation of non-smokers in the province. The PQ govt. says Quebecers drink too much so they took away permission for small stores to sell beer and cider on Sundays. Yep, that will cut down the drinking a whole lot. Take away beer and cigarettes from Quebecers and the PQ will lose votes for sure.

Quebecers litter too much so the government raised the price of canned beer and soft drinks. All that did was antagonize the drinkers and throw a few more people out of work in the can industry. Now, we can throw bottles instead and that's what will happen.

The PQ are taking over where the Church left off. Only, this generation of French Canadians is not going to go along with it. They have evolved in more ways than just political. They are, like everyone else, jealous of their freedoms. At a by-election in the Montreal suburb of Notre-dame-de-Grace, the Liberal candidate swept to power with a 62 percent majority. One by-election alone does not a change of government make but it's a good sign for us who want to keep this country together.

In a lighter vein, I was watching a phone in gardening show the other day when someone called and asked the professional giving the answers what he could do about his maple tree. "What's the matter with it?" the pro asked in all sincerity. "Well," replied the caller, "Every Fall, the leaves turn from green to red to yellow." Ah well, I thought it was funny even if the gardener was not amused.

We're leaving on holidays next week - London, North Bay, Tibet - who knows where our wandering will take us? See you later.

Other rustproofing systems are full of holes.

Other systems are hit-and-miss. They often miss some enclosed area with their one-directional sprayers. Ming fully covers all enclosed areas with a special high pressure 360° mist sprayer.

Other systems use just one sealant. Ming uses two. (1) Ming's tough upper-body sealant sticks instantly to inside metal panels for full protection. And it acts as a lubricant for window and door mechanisms. (2) Ming's abrasion resistant underbody sealant not only prevents rust, it insulates against noise and heat, and helps seal out dust and dirt.

Other systems don't even touch the roof of your car. Rust can form there, too. So Ming protects those tight, enclosed areas with sealant also.

Other systems don't offer a guarantee as strong as Ming's. Because they can't do what we do. Our system takes two sets of pumps, two sets of tooling, and highly trained technicians. It's not easy. But it's the only way we know to fully guarantee a new car against rust for 5 years, regardless of mileage. Phone or drive in to your Ming Auto Beauty Center soon.

Hearing examiner Thomas Oldham listens to testimony at the Dunes Golf Course water hearing.

Sanibel's consulting hydrologist Carl Nuzman gives testimony at the Dunes water hearing.

Dunes agrees to water compromise

Representatives of the South Florida Water Management District (SFWMD), the City of Sanibel and the Dunes Golf Country Club appeared before a state hearing officer last Wednesday to argue their views on a consumptive use permit requested by John Kontinos and William R. Frizzell, developers of the Dunes subdivision.

Hearing officer Thomas Oldham heard Mayor Zee Butler give a statement prepared by Carl E. Nuzman, consulting hydrologist for the City of Sanibel. Nuzman recommended that an alternate source of supply be considered to supply the water required by the Dunes to irrigate their golf course, specifically the effluent from the Jamestown Beachview Sewage Treatment Plant. Nuzman also warned the District that any diversion of water from the Lower Hawthorne Aquifer should be monitored so that leakage from other aquifers containing more brackish water would be minimized.

The Island Water Association (IWA) took issue with the Dunes' request to withdraw their requested 104 million gallons of water per year on the grounds that the cone of depression that withdrawal would take would adversely influence both current wells and those the IWA plans to install.

SFWMD Supervisor of District Water Use Pat Gleason presented different information that indicated the IWA wells would only be affected by a minimal draw-down, if at all. The SFWMD staff had originally recommended the Dunes request. "According to the calculations we use," Dr. Gleason said, "their request definitely reasonable. Upon examination of their past use however, we have determined that they do not require as much water as they requested." The amount the SFWMD staff finally recommended to the hearing officer was a total annual withdrawal of 38.9 million gallons per year from the Lower Hawthorne and 26.3 million gallon per year from the Suwanee Aquifer. Gleason also recommended that the deeper Suwanee well should be used before the shallower. Other conditions imposed on the developer included ongoing tests to check the purity of the water in the well casing.

The hearing officer will make a recommendation to the Board of Governors for the South Florida Water Management District within the next six weeks. The Board will then take up the issue of granting the final permit at their next regular meeting, probably sometime in September.
