Erosion District waits for funds

By Bill Motchan

The Captiva Erosion Prevention District (CEPD) decided yesterday to defer a decision on continued engineering by Tetra Tech until their September meeting. "We're at a standstill right now," said Project Manager Dick Stevens. "I'm concerned that if we don't at least proceed on a cautious but steady basis, we're going to fall behind."

District Chairman Dick Butze said he would rather wait and see if $40,000 in state funds were definitely going to the District.

The money would be given by the Department of Natural Resources' (DNR) Beaches and Shores Division in the form of a contribution for sand research. It would replace the payments made by the District to Tetra Tech for that purpose, and would enable the District to continue engineering.

"We cannot commit ourselves to funds we do not have," Butze said. "If we were to wait until September to give the go ahead to engineering, I don't see where that would inhibit the overall program."

"I'd feel more comfortable being closer to receiving those funds, and I don't want to see an interruption again. I think it would behoove us for monetary reasons to wait a month. Then we'll have information from the state; let's see how they react with the $40,000."

Stevens said in his report that the core samples taken by Tetra Tech July 1 were now undergoing laboratory studies. The next step in engineering, Stevens said, would be to study the borrow sights, decide which one(s) should be used, and study public access.

Some word on a possible $1 million contribution by the federal government should be forthcoming, Stevens said. Under Section 215 participation, the District, as a public entity, could receive these funds.

Nylon sandbags placed on the beach at certain points were effective in deterring erosion, according to Michael Stephen, Vice President of Coastal Engineering Consultants, Inc. Stephan gave a report at the meeting on his firm's study.

"Because of settlement," Stephan said, "it would be a good move to add a layer of bags to the top. The bags will gradually deteriorate, so eventually, concrete or rock

City requests Chiles help for lighthouse

Although Sanibel citizens had a chance to meet with Senator Lawton Chiles' aide, Damon Smith, yesterday, only two people took advantage of the opportunity which made for a small, intimate discussion. Also in attendance was a Fort Myers Beach resident, Councilman Duane White, City Manager Bernie Murphy, and representatives from the area newspapers.

Murphy told Smith that he had one item in particular that he would like brought up to Senator Chiles. His concern was about the Lighthouse property, located at the east end of the Island. The Lighthouse property and historical buildings located on it are currently occupied by U.S. Fish and Wildlife. (The offices for the J.N. "Ding" Darling Refuge are located here.) However, sometime next summer, the offices will be relocated to new buildings on the refuge property. According to Murphy, "There is a shadow of doubt as to what the Bureau of Land Management plans to do with the land once Fish and Wildlife vacates." (The Bureau of Land Management is controlling the property at present.)

Murphy indicated to Smith that the City had three Hurricanes from heat waves?

By Pat Harmel

The heat wave that has incinerated much of the Southwestern United States for the past six weeks may - or may not - increase the possibility of a devastating hurricane hitting our area this year.

"Do you have any idea how many reporters have asked me that question in the past month?" groused Miles Lawrence, National Hurricane Center spokesman, in a telephone interview last week.

With both Jeanne Dixon and the "National Enquirer" predicting a devastating hurricane for late August, Lawrence and other forecasters are working overtime trying to pacify the press.

The UPI wireservice quoted Joe Pelissier, a hurricane specialist at the National Hurricane Center in Miami, as saying, "Hurricanes develop in a favorable environment and they strengthen in a favorable environment. This (heat wave) sort of enhances the favorable environment, but the Gulf is usually a favorable environment anyway" for tropical storm development.

According to a National Weather Service spokesman, the temperature of both the Gulf water and the Gulf area lower atmosphere is up a few degrees due to the 100-degree heat wave - a condition considered conducive to hurricanes. But, according to Lawrence, "We just don't know. There may be a correlation; previous years' data shows that hurricanes have followed heat waves in the past - but we have had hurricanes without heat waves and heat waves without hurricanes just as often.

"I'd like to be able to say, 'Yes, the heat wave increases the chance of a hurricane by 30 per cent,'" said Lawrence, "but there's just too little established criteria for us to even make a guess."

"I'd have to say that, if you're a betting person, this (the chances of a hurricane following a heat wave) is probably not a very solid bet," he concluded.

Hurricane Allen, are you listening?

major questions for Senator Chiles to be aware of: 1) The City of Sanibel would be interested in acquiring the land and title of the buildings to be used as public land; 2) If this is impossible, the City of Sanibel would like assurance that whatever happens to the land is done in conformance with the Comprehensive Land Use Plan (CLUP); and 3) If something should happen to make the status of the land unsure after Fish and Wildlife has vacated, who will police and maintain the land?

"These issues have to be addressed before next summer," Murphy said.

Sanibel resident Hilda Rush told Smith that she would like Senator Chiles to support the handgun control bill, and also said that she was interested in the Barrier Island Bill, saying, "I think it's of great importance."

Barrier islands were also on the mind of Fort Myers Beach resident, Bradford Patten. He showed Smith photographs of Lover's Key and Black Island, islands which are yet to be developed but are very controversial. He indicated that he was against their development, saying, "What we need are more public beaches and public resources, what we don't need is more development."

Smith explained that there are two Barrier Island Bills, one in the House and one in the Senate, and although they have the same goal they differ fundamentally. The Senate Bill, if passed, will protect barrier islands by condemnation through regulation. Regulatory agencies such as the Corps of Engineers will not be able to issue development permits, thereby preventing development. The bill in the House is looking more at government procurement of barrier islands. Smith stressed, "Both bills address a situation in which they would not affect an island that's already developed."

"You won't see anything happening too quickly on this," Smith added.

Smith will take the concerns and issues addressed on Sanibel back to Senator Chiles.

should be added.

"It's important that the beach remain as a resource. I think we should push to get a contract to complete maintenance of the structures. I recommend that the board consider continued conservation of sand on the beach."

Bafalis opposes Barrier Island Bill

By BILL SCHEEL

Congressman Skip Bafalis, representative for Florida's Tenth Congressional District, has "serious concerns" about a barrier island protection bill being considered by Congress and would probably not vote for it in its present form, according to his top aide.

The bill, known as HR 5981, would provide federal money to buy up to 200 undeveloped barrier islands along the Atlantic and Gulf Coasts, including Lovers Key south of Fort Myers Beach. But Dick Nelson, Bafalis' administrative assistant, said the bill, if passed, would give too much power to the Secretary of the Interior and the federal government, and Bafalis could not support the legislation unless it were amended to disperse some authority back to state and local governments.

"He (Bafalis) has serious concerns about the language in the bill," Nelson said. The Secretary of the Interior would be totally responsible for determining what islands to include for federal purchase if the bill were passed, Nelson maintained. "We think there should be some language that would force the Secretary to at least consult with state and local governments," he said.

Bafalis also thinks the federal government could be too restrictive about use of the land after it's purchased, Nelson said. For example, Nelson said Washington would be able to dictate to county governments how to develop park land they own on protected barrier islands.

"It puts an awful lot of power in the hands of the Secretary of Interior," Nelson said.

Bafalis has met with the chief sponsor of the legislation, Rep. Phillip Burton of California, to discuss the problems, and Nelson said Burton has indicated a willingness to compromise some of Bafalis' objections to gain speedy approval of the bill.

Despite that, Nelson is not optimistic about the bill's passage. "He (Burton) is going to have a difficult time getting this bill out of Congress," Nelson said. He pointed out there were less than 4 working days left in this year's Congressional session, and said even if the bill were approved by the House, it would be unlikely a House-Senate conference committee would be able to work out differences before Congress' scheduled October adjournment.

Experts agree: delinquency begins at home

By SUE THOMAS

While the crime rate among juveniles in Lee County continues to climb, restrictions and laws applied to juveniles become increasingly more lax, complicating the deterrent factor and law enforcement procedures, according to the Lee County Sheriff's Department and state juvenile detention officials.

During a nine month period, the Sheriff's Department brought charges against 14,040 juveniles with 1,049 arrests made, according to Major Roy Clark. On the national scene, rape and murder committed by juveniles increased 200 percent in a year, he said.

Because only juveniles who have committed serious crimes such as rape, murder, sexual battery, and armed robbery can be arrested and held in the state detention center until the trial, most juveniles who have committed misdemeanors return home - which is often the place where the problem began, according to Clark.

Those juveniles charged with misdemeanors are often repeat offenders because they know the law can do nothing, they are simply placed in the custody of their parents, Clark explained.

Both Clark and George Hinchcliffe, superintendent of the State Detention Center in Harlem Heights, believe the increase in crime among juveniles stems from the family.

"I think kids are growing up faster today," Hinchcliffe said. "In many families, both the parents are working. The child goes out, the parents don't know where he is. Kids are not getting the supervision and reinforcement they need.

"There are also families who are very involved with the kids, but the peer group has more influence (than the family)," Hinchcliffe added.

Lack of supervision in public schools significantly adds to the juvenile crime problem, Clark and Hinchcliffe said. Fifty percent of the crime committed by juveniles is committed during the day, possibly indicating leniency in the school system.

A significant factor pertaining to the increase in juvenile crime is the January ruling that the curfew is unconstitutional, Clark said.

"Doing away with the curfew has hindered law enforcement agencies. It served as a tool to keep youngsters off the streets," Clark believes youngsters should not be roaming the streets at early morning hours, adding many times those who are wandering about are up to no good.

Theft is the most common crime committed by juveniles, according to Sheriff's Department records. Hinchcliffe believes most thefts are committed for specific reasons. "I think we are very consumer oriented. Kids need money to buy those fancy jeans their friends have. There is also the need to support some sort of abuse whether it is drugs, alcohol or pills," Hinchcliffe said.

Drugs and alcohol play a significant role in the crime scene, according to Clark. Of the 1,049 arrests made over a nine-month period, 188 were drug related and 109 were related to alcohol, Clark said. Two hundred and ninety juveniles arrested were "high on drugs or alcohol," he said.

The Juvenile Detention Center currently houses 20 boys and one girl, all accused of felonies, biding their time until their trial date. These youngsters are equivalent to adults charged with a felony and not able to post bail because of an astronomical fee, Hinchcliffe explained.

Juvenile crime is a problem in Lee County, but it is a problem with solutions, according to Hinchcliffe. "I think we have to take a closer look at the whole system in dealing with kids," he said. Community arbitration, where a misdemeanor offender goes before the community to work out the problems, is a good concept to curb vandalism, theft and other community problems, according to Hinchcliffe.

Voluntary restitution is another concept Hinchcliffe feels communities should use. This involves an offender paying for his crime through physical labor, without pay.

"I don't think we should sit back and be protective. These are some of the things we can do as a system. There are a lot of things society can do," he said.

Hinchcliffe feels the curfew aided significantly in curbing juvenile crime and hopes it can be initiated again. "It was a tool used to protect the children and the community," he said. "I'm sorry we don't have it. Maybe we can figure out a way to use it without being unconstitutional."

Council candidates file next month

Anyone interested in running for one of the three open City Council seats will be able to file between 12 noon on September 2, and 12 noon on September 16.

City Councilmembers held a first reading of an ordinance last week fixing the election date for November 4, 1980. In the event of a run-off, the election will be held on November 18, 1980.

Candidates must be a resident of the City and a registered voter. According to the City's charter, candidates must present a petition to the City containing signatures numbering one per cent of the persons who voted in the last gubernatorial election. City Clerk Mildred Howze has indicated that this will be 15 signatures.

"Lee County Election Official Enid Earle has told me that 1,456 voted in the last election, so I rounded the percent figure to 15 signatures," said Howze.

In addition, candidates will be required to fill out financial disclosures and other forms.

A dramatic trip

Islander Jeannie A. McLoughlin was recently accepted to the Florida School of Performing Arts in Palatka, Florida. Jeannie, an accomplished singer and dancer, will begin her two-year stint at the school this fall, majoring in musical theatre and drama.

As part of the acceptance procedure for the school, she was required to deliver two monologues, sing and dance a ballet routine. Jeannie is one of 100 students picked out of an original 300 candidates.

One of the highlights of her upcoming education will be a Christmas trip by train to New York City to see a week's worth of Broadway shows.

If any of Jeannie's friends want to say goodbye, now is the time. The next stop for her may be Hollywood.

Boykin named South Seas travel director

South Seas Plantation has announced the appointment of John Boykin as director of travel and tourism. The appointment was announced by Dennis O'Flannery, director of marketing for South Seas.

Boykin will assume responsibilities for South Seas' travel agent information and tourism development programs and will work with firms representing South Seas in the United States, Europe and Canada.

He was formerly director of sales for Flamingo Inn at Everglades National Park and a consultant for the Environmental Protection Agency's Office of Public Awareness, Washington.

A native of Batesville, Arkansas, Boykin is a member of the Hotel Sales Management Association.

Digital dialings

Those clicking noises you hear when dialing the phone on Sanibel and Captiva will soon be just a memory. On August 9, a new digital switching system will begin operation at United Telephone Company's (UTS) Island facility.

According to UTS District Manager, Mike Dalton, after dialing the seven digit number, the caller will hear nothing for a few seconds. Some people will think the line has gone dead, he says, but the call is actually going through a sophisticated computer switching system.

"It is more efficient for us, too," Dalton says. "The computer has a lot of self analyzing devices. While it's running, it will detect any problem and print it out. The switchman can then correct it much more quickly."

Historic places studied by Committee

The Sanibel Historic Preservation Committee recently embarked on an ambitious project. For the last two months, the Committee has been gathering information about possible Sanibel additions to the Florida Register of Historic Places.

The principal locations of their studies are the 13 sights listed in the Comprehensive Land Use Plan, such as the Old Schoolhouses, Reed Homestead and Sanibel Cemetery.

Before the state register will add any of these locations, sufficient data about them must be obtained. The Historic Preservation Committee is doing just that, through interviews and research.

The Committee met for a workshop last Friday to discuss progress. Chairman Charlotte White gave some highlights of her interview with Carrie Reed Evsforth, a Sanibel resident for about 70 years.

"She was the daughter of Sanibel's second postmaster," Mrs. White said. "She had memories of what had been a hotel on their (the Reed) property. It was badly damaged in the 1914 hurricane, and her father's house was flattened. She said after the hurricane, all her friends and neighbors got together and rebuilt the house as it still stands today."

"Her father was an agent for Island shippers, and during the height of the season, steamers picked up vegetables at night from the packing houses."

"In her childhood, she remembered going to the one-room school with a pot-bellied stove. She had to repeat the seventh grade, because it only went up to the seventh. Her father had horses and mules, but they didn't get very far unless they walked."

Gentlemen, start your engines

Fort Myers area four-wheel drive enthusiasts are planning a road rally for the March of Dimes. The Big Cypress Four-Wheelers will hold the event on Sunday, September 14. Registration and starting point will be at the vacant lot between Fowler and U.S. 41 on Colonial Blvd.

Entries are limited to four-wheel drive vehicles, as the event is on and off road. Registration fee is $10 and at least $50 in pledges to the March of Dimes is required.

The 80-mile rally will be timed; it is not a race. The driver's skills in following directions and answering questions along the route will be tested. Winners will receive trophies and savings bonds.

Prizes will also be awarded to the top pledge getters.

Entertainment at the start-finish site will be provided by the Lonnie Duke Band, clowns, a fire eater and skydivers.

On Sunday, August 17, the Big Cypress Four Wheelers will hold a free car wash for four-wheel drive vehicles to promote the rally. Sam Galloway Ford is the location of the wash. Hours are noon to 4 p.m.

The Big Cypress club hopes to raise $10,000 for the March of Dimes. For more information about the rally, call 332-0313, 334-3222 or 482-1571. Sponsor sheets are available at the showroom of Sam Galloway Ford.

Quote In your opinion

TO THE EDITOR:

This is really an open letter to all hobbyists and collectors of Sanibel.

The Sanibel Public Library is looking for interesting material for its two display cases - one in the adult section and one in the children's section of the library. Displays, with the name of the lender, are arranged in locked cases for a period of one month.

Library personnel, drawing on their own resources and those of personal friends, have been able to keep the adult display case filled, but there seems to be a dearth of material of interest to children. Perhaps, among Sanibel residents there are those who have collected dolls, antique toys or other items in which children would be interested, and who would be willing to lend their collection to the library for a month.

We would also welcome material for our adult display. For November display we'd welcome old campaign buttons or other election paraphernalia.

Call Mary Ronk, 472-2514, or Pat Robertson, 472-3839.

Sincerely,
Harriet S. Howe,
Executive Librarian

The following letter was given to the Islander for publication:

The Mailbag Editor
Fort Myers News-Press

Dear Sir:

Bully! for your recent editorial lauding the goal of Lee County to share with Sanibel City taxpayers funding the operation and maintenance of the Island's natural facilities that are so largely used by off-islanders. Such cooperation is commendable.

In attaining the goal, however, our County Commissioners need to sincerely and realistically base their cost-sharing proposals on a few very basic facts. For example: the Property Appraiser's evaluations for Sanibel average higher per parcel than those off-island; Sanibel's 1980 ratio of the $5,000 Homestead Exemptions is 1.4 percent versus 6.1 county-wide; use of Sanibel's facilities is far greater by off-islanders; Sanibel taxpayers now furnish about 8 per cent of the County's taxes - with only 2 per cent of the County's land and population.

Regrettably, those imbalances were downplayed by the proposed funding of the late County Recreation Program. Henceforth, they should be fully weighed in any proposed interlocal government agreement. The potential economies should also be considered by the County in hiring the City to operate and maintain such programs on the Island.

Under such arrangements, I am confident that Sanibel taxpayers would be happy to yield to the County Commissioners' aspirations to dub such functions as "County Programs."

Sincerely,
Paul A. Howe

I do hope you can get the word to your members by September 2. Looking forward to seeing you.

Budget review

At last week's special City Council meeting, Councilmembers started their review of the proposed 1980-81 budget.

Because of the requirements of the TRIM bill (Trim is the last name of one of the sponsors of the bill) passed by the State Legislature last session, the process has begun much earlier than usual.

According to City Manager Bernie Murphy, "The budgeting concept in the TRIM, or 'truth in taxation bill,' is different from the budgeting process in the past. The review of this budget triggers the noticing process."

Murphy said that after the Council adopts the tentative budget, which should take place within the next month, it will then be sent to the County Appraiser, Harold Schooley, along with the millage rate to raise the necessary income.

After that, County notification that this is the budget Sanibel is considering will take place. Then the real budget hearings begin.

Councilmembers have set the first reading of the proposed budget for August 21, at 5:01 p.m. at MacKenzie Hall. However, final adoption, according to Murphy, "will not take place until sometime in November."

Once the County Appraiser gives the City the certified tax roll, then the Council has 30 days to advise a property appraiser, after which time the mill rate may be computed.

"I would like to caution you that the tentative budget and resulting mill rate will be the worst case situation," Murphy advised.

City Attorney Neal Bowen noted, "The biggest kicker is the Department of Revenue (DOR) approval of Schooley's roll."

The tentative budget was reviewed without much comment however, with the exception of a request to regroup a figure of $125,000 for outside legal help from the "legislative" portion of the budget to the "legal" portion of the budget. Attorney Bowen assured the Council that this change would be made by the August 21 first reading.

Councilman Duane White said, "All things having to do with the legal aspect should be grouped in that portion of the budget."

Sanibel resident Paul Howe agreed; "Functional budgeting is the proper way to go."

In 1980-81, the City of Sanibel expects to receive $1,735,054 in revenues. The income is received from such sources as ad valorem taxes, franchise fees, licenses and permits, building permits, state shared revenues, and others.

The expenditures of the 1980-81 budget are divided into the following categories: Legislative (Council expenses), Administrative, Legal, Planning, Police, Engineering and inspection, Transportation, Public Works, and Recreation.

Each category is then subdivided into: personal services (which includes salaries, FICA taxes, life and health insurance, retirement contributions, workman's compensation and unemployment compensation); operating expenses (includes professional services, travel, communications services, utilities, rent, insurance, office supplies, etc.); and capital outlays (machinery and equipment).

City of Sanibel department heads were on hand last week to answer any questions Councilmembers might have about their department's particular budget.

George Blain, Building Official, was questioned about the number of retroactive applications for building violations. Planning Commissioner Fred Valtin, who was in the audience, posed the question, "Are we employing a sufficient amount of inspectors?"

Murphy assured the Council, "If I feel we need additional employees I won't be bashful. With the Rate of Growth Ordinance (ROGO), and as we get established into a pattern, things will get settled down. I speak with confidence that we have the matter under control."

Assistant City Manager and Public Works director Gary Price said that his department is requesting three additional personnel, and a few additional pieces of equipment. He mentioned the difficulty he has in acquiring employees, saying, "I have difficulty obtaining, let alone retaining them. We offer good benefits, such as insurance, sick leave, and rain or shine work, but they don't show up in the pay envelope." (Base pay for a Public Works employee is $3.40 per hour.)

According to Murphy, some of the jobs will be upgraded this year, not only in Public Works but in every department. He indicated that job descriptions and pay scales were out of date in many instances.

Councilmember Zee Butler commended Sanibel Police Officer Dick Noon when he explained his plans for the $13,000 recreation budget. He plans on hiring a qualified lifesaving assistant to help with the Sanibel Swim Team. Other money will be spent on the popular summer recreation program, which once again entertained over 100 children this summer. Noon will spend six months of the year as an active SPD officer, the other six months working with the recreation program.

Murphy said Thursday that he had received the tax rolls from Schooley, and "he provides the valuation that exists on Sanibel, but I have questions."

"He has advised me to use 95 per cent valuation, but that doesn't include the Homestead Exemption Package, which may require 100 per cent valuation. I'm not sure of that function."

It seems like everyone is a little bit confused about the cause and effects of the TRIM bill, and since this is the first year in effect, it is, said Murphy, "a whole new set of rules."

Workman files

Planning Commissioner Judy Workman has filed for the position of Sanibel representative on the Lee County Mosquito Control Board. She will run against incumbent John Kontinos.

The election will be held as part of the November 4, 1980 general election.

Leases renewed

City Councilmembers agreed last week to renew the leases for their present City Hall facilities located in Periwinkle Place, and the MacKenzie Hall and Sanibel Police Department facilities located next to Three Star Grocery on Palm Ridge Road.

The Periwinkle Place offices currently cost $6 per square foot. Terms of the lease call for raising the price to $6.25 per square foot for 1980-81, and $6.50 per square foot for 1981-82. The offices located next to Three Star will cost the City $6.90 per foot.

According to City Manager Bernie Murphy, "If in the second year, in the event we do proceed quickly with the establishment of a City Hall complex, we can terminate our lease within 120 days.

"These are very favorable rates - I've looked at other facilities of approximately the same size, and these rates are quite good."

CLUP review

Members of an ad-hoc committee met last Thursday to discuss the City charter mandated five year review of the Comprehensive Land Use Plan (CLUP).

The 14-member committee, chaired by Planning Commissioner Don Manchester, will review each section of the plan, write recommendations, and present their findings to the Planning Commission at a future date.

Assignments of different portions of the plan were delegated by Manchester at the meeting. Members of the committee are: Dick Creter, Carl Fisher, Garth Good, Melena Eskew, George Campbell, Gordon Kiddoo, Twink Underhill, Betty Robinson, Larry Simon, Dr. Al Miller, Al Lloyd, Ray Fenton, Joe McMurtry and Phil Johnson.

"This is an invitation to every one of us to make some observations, and incorporate what changes we feel are necessary," Manchester said.

Public meeting to air City requests

The City of Sanibel will hold a Public Meeting at 3:30 p.m. on Monday, August 18, 1980 at MacKenzie Hall, 2245 Palm Ridge Road, Sanibel, Florida, to consider a request by the City of Sanibel for Specific Amendments to Sections 3.9.2: Development in the Wetland Zone; 3.3.2: Residential Yard Requirements; 3.6.1: Use of a Mobile Home in Development; 3.4.5: Upland Wetlands; and 3.4.6: Lowland Wetlands to permit the City to establish a Vegetative Disposal Area and to fence said area and place a mobile home (for use as an office) and a chipper and-or mulcher on the site (Lots 1-4, Block 20, Sanibel Gardens Subdivision, Section 26, Township 46 South, Range 22 East, Sanibel, Florida), located directly on Island Inn Road.

Refuge Report

By Donna M. Stanek, Outdoor Recreation Planner, J.N. "Ding" Darling National Wildlife Refuge

As of July 26, the wildlife drive will be closed from dusk to dawn. This action had to be taken due to the substantial increase in nighttime vandalism. This has been in the form of stolen signs, property damage, littering and general misuse of the refuge. Anyone on the drive after closing time will be subject to arrest and prosecution.

Those of you who have visited the refuge recently may have noticed large piles of riprap near the water control structures. These are being used to fill in areas around the structures that have eroded away from tidal action and the recent heavy rainfalls. The installation of the riprap should help ease the situation.

The YCC is currently building a boardwalk along the Gasparilla Trail which is located at the end of the wildlife drive. The trail traverses a number of Caloosa Indian mounds which have deteriorated throughout the years due to people continually using the area. Since we are required by law to protect such archaeological sites, the boardwalk is being built to aid in preventing any further erosion of the mounds. The project will not be completed this year but has an excellent start.

On July 16, the Louisiana Wildlife and Fisheries Commission, with assistance from the Florida Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission under a permit granted by the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, removed approximately 100 nesting brown pelicans from Bird Island (which is part of the Pine Island National Wildlife Refuge). Ninety-six pelicans were also removed from Hemp Key, which is not under our jurisdiction, but also located in Pine Island Sound. For the past three years brown pelicans have been transferred to Louisiana from Florida in an effort to re-establish colonies there.

The bids for the Visitor Contact Station are due in on July 25 and we should know shortly who is going to be the contractor. Construction is scheduled to begin this fall.

Obituary

Maude Meyer

Captiva resident Maude W. Meyer, 87, died at her home on Captiva on Tuesday, July 29, 1980.

A resident on the Island since 1950, her strong personality and organizing ability made her a civic leader who will long be remembered. She was a 19-year member of the executive staff of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company in the home office in New York City, where she achieved distinction by organizing the company's archives. Later she was associated with her husband, Henry Nickerson, in a statewide wholesale heating equipment business in Connecticut.

Her keen interest in malacology led to a strong working relationship with the Sanibel-Captiva Shell Club and the American Malacological Union.

She is survived by her husband, Harvey G. Meyer. There are no close relatives.

The body is to be cremated and there will be no viewing or services.

INTERVAL OWNERSHIP — it's the most vacation for our money.

True — we work hard to earn our vacations and we want the most for our money. Inflation is making resort rentals just too expensive for a family — and we simply can't afford the year-round ownership and maintenance of a vacation home.

So we're here at Plantation Beach Club where interval ownership gives our family the assurance that we can enjoy leisurely vacations each year, in comfort and luxury, — all at a one-time cost that's easy to afford.

We love the islands — it's a great place for June and me to relax and there's so much for the kids to do. Our vacation villa is right on the beach, fully furnished, complete with linens, all the kitchen utensils, magazines, — you name it. We've got two private bedrooms, two bathrooms and a screened porch, so there's plenty of room for the kids.

With barbecues and a full kitchen, we fix breakfast, lunch, snacks and dinners — and save enough money to treat the whole family to nice restaurants once in a while.

There's also an exchange program — so we can change our vacation times and visit other resorts, all without paying rent. We believe Interval Ownership provides the most vacation for our money.

Debate workshop at ECC

Area debaters will have a chance to sharpen their skills at a workshop offered by the Edison Community College Division of Continuing Education from August 11 through August 15. Held on the Fort Myers campus, classes will be given each day from 8:45 a.m. until 5 p.m. Tuition is $65 and includes all materials.

Emphasis will be placed on the theory and practice of inter-scholastic debate, with particular attention given to the 1980-81 high school debate topics. Effective methods of analysis, argumentation and overall debate participation will be thoroughly covered in class discussions, practice debates and individual student sessions.

Students will have the opportunity to learn the methods of successful debate preparation in the college Learning Resource Center (LRC). The LRC has a collection of over 50,000 volumes plus a sizable quantity of microfilmed information and audio-visual data. Other specially ordered materials will be available at the center for workshop participants.

Instructors for the workshop will be Frederick W. Pauzar and Phyllis Barton. Mr. Pauzar is an instructor of debate at Naples Christian Academy and has been active nationally in tournaments. Ms. Barton is director of forensics at Princeton High School in Cincinnati, Ohio where her students have captured many National Forensic League awards.

Further information is available by calling the college at 481-4434.

Rotary News

Last Friday the Sanibel-Captiva Rotary Club met for a general membership meeting on Rotary topics and the introduction of new members. Visiting Rotarians are welcome and if you have a new member in mind that would be of service to the community, bring him to lunch.

Jack Kinney will be speaking to the Rotarians on Friday, August 8. His topic will be "Fuel Economy by 'Guzzler Muzzlers' - a way to get big cars to perform for less."

Dr. William L. Webb, chairman of the Sanibel-Captiva Conservation Foundation, will be giving a slide presentation entitled, "A Glimpse of China Today," at the August 15 Rotary meeting. During his travels through mainland China recently, Webb discovered a different image of the Chinese people than had been portrayed by the media to the American people.

Not only is Dr. Webb a certified wildlife biologist, he is also on the board of directors of the Sanibel-Captiva Conservation Foundation (1978-81) and has been chairman since 1980. Dr. Webb is also an author of approximately 50 articles that have appeared in scientific and technical journals.

The Sanibel-Captiva Rotary meet every Friday at 12 p.m. at The Timbers Restaurant on Rabbit and San-Cap Roads.

on the water

by capt. mike fuery

The day of the quality $10 fishing rod is about over. It used to be that a fisherman could get a fairly good outfit for $20, but with changes in rod making over the past year or so, you had better get ready to pay more.

Modern fiberglass manufacturing techniques have given fishermen some of the most exciting advances in rod sensitivity and strength that could ever be expected from a couple ounces of petroleum derivative.

A couple of my fishing rods are three years old and out of date compared to what's on the market now. I imagine that you have an old favorite rod around the house, and this isn't meant to make you think that you need to run out and replace it with a "miracle" rod. Keep those special rods, but when it comes time to get into the market here's some of the things to look for.

BARON. You'll hear a lot about this new type of material not only in rod making, but in everything from antenna to skiing equipment. It's basically the next step in the advancement of sophisticated fiberglass materials and, for its weight, is one of the toughest rods you can buy.

I had my first experience with the baron rods several years ago when a man on my charter boat brought one along for snook fishing. Rods are rods, right? That was my feeling until I held one of my rods in one hand and a baron in the other as we drifted over the rough sand bottom of Redfish Pass. No doubt about it, the baron offered much more sensitivity.

Now for the bad part. That particular baron rod was made by Browning, of Utah, and sold somewhere in the vicinity of $125. I had a fella from K-Mart out the other day who said his stores will carry some of the baron models for around $80 or less, depending on who makes the models selected.

There is another material used for fishing rods called graphite and, until a year or so ago, it was considered the ultimate material in making light, strong fishing rods. The Shakespeare Company has marketed thousands of these rods called "UglyStiks" and it seems that they will go right on selling for many years to come.

I have two uglystik rods and like them both very much. But, before you plunk down your $40-$60 for one, let me give you a couple of observations on these black rods with clear glass tips.

First, you won't even notice the difference between a well made regular fiberglass rod and an UglyStik unless you are "still" fishing. I believe that the UglyStik was developed for fresh water bass fishing more than for saltwater use. Bass fishermen are used to sitting motionless for hours while their shiner wanders around on the bottom waiting to be eaten by a big bass. When still fishing on the bottom like that, the graphite rod is superior. But when fishing and casting for, say, trout on the grass flats, you really don't need that super sensitivity that you can pay so much extra for in a rod.

Another thing I have found with the new material rods is that the tips are just too light for saltwater use where the angler has to set the hook in a snook 70 feet from the boat. There are some models of special rods which are thick enough, of course, but again the marketing seems to be aimed at slim tipped fresh water use and not what you're after for brine water fishing.

The way that fishing rod materials are advancing, baron will be replaced by something even more special for the fishermen, so when it comes to buying that new rod keep in mind the many changes and select something which will give you all around fishing performance.

* Denotes strong tides
 Denotes very strong tides

Conversion table: The above tides are for the lighthouse point of Sanibel only. To convert for Redfish Pass (north tip of Captiva), add 55 minutes to the time shown for every high tide subtract two minutes for every low tide.

For Captiva Island Gulf side, subtract 30 minutes from each high tide, and subtract hour and 16 minutes for each low tide.

For Captiva Island, Pine Island Sound (Bay) side, add 1 hour and four minutes for each high tide and add 52 minutes for each low tide.

In between these points, gulf or bay, guesstimate and have good fishing and or shelling.

Shelling Tips
by Mike Fuery

This time of the year when people walking on the beach and sand flats

Several weeks ago I did a column on Pen shells and the many aspects of this ice cream cone-shaped shell, including the fact that I had heard that some shellers not only found them edible but a delicacy, too.

It didn't take long before I heard from several Islander readers about the Pen shell column and this week I wanted to share the most interesting letter I received with you.

The letter came from an ardent, experienced sheller named Richard Knox of Sturgis, Michigan. Mr. Knox went a little further than I have in testing Pen shells. Here's what he has to say about it:

"I'm one of those who spends a month each winter shelling and studying birds in the "Ding" Darling Sanctuary. I particularly like to shell for miniatures and the beach in front of the Sandpiper, where I stay, has supplied me well. This past February, I was there when we had the storm that brought in quite a few shells and, among them, lots of rough and a few smooth Pens. All of the smooth Pens were alive and when I found a live one I would throw it back because there seemed to be very few of them.

"I kept one, a large one and opened it. I didn't want to cook it to open it because I wanted the muscle raw. When cut out, it was about 2 x 2 1/2 inches around and almost three inches deep!

"The meat was a beautiful firm white meat. After washing it, I sliced a thin raw slice to taste it and it was excellent - tender and very sweet. Several people on the beach that I knew tried it and we all liked it very much. It disappeared fast! For years I have occasionally eaten scallops raw when I could get fresh ones that I could cut out of the shell and rinse, then eat it like you would a raw oyster.

"I might add that about four years ago, I tried the rough Pen shell, a good live fresh one and the meat was an off white, strong and not too good raw. I then parboiled it and then deep fried it and still it wasn't good but would be very acceptable as survival food!

"The most delectable shell food on the Island is the Bay Scallop, which were in very short supply last year.

"Experimenting with eating various land and sea forms is fun, but I think that people should know what it is, whether edible and not poisonous."

Mr. Knox is more adventurous than I when it comes to eating seafood, especially raw seafood!

His letter brings to mind the recently imposed ban on live shellfish because of contamination from the red tide. The state and local agencies which monitor water quality have said that the shellfish, including just about everything you can find on the bottom of our waters, is not fit for human consumption at this time.

This is a passing thing and the same agencies will continue to test for red tide until it is safe for you to take clams, oysters and other shells for eating.

So far this summer, the finding of the rare junonia shell seems to be very difficult. I keep in touch with other shelling guides and no one seems to be able to report a junonia shell added to a collection. If you are just getting into shelling, finding a junonia is the equivalent of striking oil in your backyard.

Good shelling this week and work the beaches early, say from sunrise to 8 a.m., and walk in the water on these calm days. Without waves the shells won't always come up on the dry beach.

(Capt. Mike Fuery offers daily shelling trips to North Captiva and Cayo Costa Islands. Call 472-3459 for details.)

Police Beat

Barnacle injuries, sting ray attacks, food poisoning and a visitor with a fishbone lodged in his throat were all incidents responded to by the medics and Sanibel Police Department this week.

A purse was reported stolen from Bowman's Beach last Sunday by a sheller returning to her beach chair from the shoreline.

A car parked at the Bowman's Beach parking lot last Sunday was reportedly hit by an unidentified driver who then left the scene.

A moped accident on San-Cap Rd. was reported last Saturday when the driver apparently lost control and tipped the bike over.

A caller who refused to identify himself notified the SPD last Saturday that sea oats were being cut down at the Tarpon Bay Beach access. The SPD was unable to locate the vegetation ordinance violators.

A fire in the kitchen of Duncan's Restaurant was put out by the Sanibel Fire Department last Saturday.

Several shower heads were reported stolen from the Pelican's Roost Condominiums last Thursday and a husky was taken into custody near the Beachcomber Motel on charges that he had been harassing and begging the residents. The husky was returned to his owner with a warning.

Several items of clothing were reported stolen from Tim Tam Casuals last Wednesday and construction items were reported stolen from the Casa Ybel site on Monday.

SPD to sponsor Super Stars competition

Any Island youths between the ages of 14 and 18 who would be interested in participating in a "Super Stars" athletic competition should contact Sgt. Ray Rhodes of the Sanibel Police Department immediately.

According to Rhodes, both males and females will be able to participate in the competition which will include: bowling, racquetball, track and field, swimming and table tennis events.

For more information contact Sgt. Rhodes at 472-3111.

7-11 clerk foils robber

A fast thinking store clerk was able to thwart a would-be robber at the Periwinkle 7-11 store last Friday night but the Sanibel Police have yet to apprehend the subject involved in the incident.

The 19-year-old store clerk was reportedly stocking cigarettes behind the cash register shortly before midnight when he heard a voice say, "Give me all the money." Thinking it was a joke, the clerk responded, "Sorry Bud, we're closed."

Then, according to his statement, the young man turned to look at the intruder and knew "by his face" that he wasn't kidding. The man then ran out of the store and the quick thinking clerk tossed all the money into the safe.

Approximately 45 seconds later the hold-up man returned and again asked for the money. The clerk showed him the empty cash drawer, whereupon the man again ran outside. The clerk then called the assistant store manager and the Sanibel Police.

Three Sanibel officers responded to the call but were unable to locate the subject either in the surrounding area or in Pate's Lounge next door.

The subject is described as a white male, approximately six feet tall and 30-years-old. He is said to have dark brown hair and a heavy brown mustache. Anyone having information concerning the incident should contact the Sanibel Police Department.

He had first envisioned a little cafe for people to walk or bicycle to, but the City insisted on so many parking spaces per so many tables. Nevertheless, Scotty perseveres.

"It will be a quiet little place to have a glass of wine," he says. "We'll have shrimp and tea and a place for children and it won't be priced out of this world."

Scotty Gale, the man who describes himself as a person who "never had any school but had a lot of motivation" is almost back in the business of feeding and entertaining the Islands. And his friends are anxiously awaiting his return.

Scotty Gale

Age: 70

Height: 5' 7½"

Roots: "St. Andrew's on the east coast of Scotland."

Pleasures: "Cooking, fishing, dancing, showing off, entertaining and chasing women!"

Mentor: "My sister; she was the idol of my whole life. She raised me from the time I was eight years old."

Last Book Read: "I don't read too much because I become the character - my imagination is so wild - and when I come to a page that I'm not in I just put the book down!"

Wish: "I wish that young people would take over the running of this country. I mean good, solid citizens who really care about the United States."

Words of Wisdom: "You never really can give anything away. It's always returned ten-fold."

You can learn more about the business of living a life from a two hour conversation with Scotty Gale than you could possibly cull from 25 years of book learning.

Never mind that you can't make heads or tails out of Scotty's own recollections. Never mind the fact that he doesn't address issues, events or subjects in sequence. And give up on the idea of ever committing to paper his Scottish brogue, twinkling blue eyes, mimicry (of everyone from anywhere) and butterfly approach to conversation. Just sit back, drink tea (and more tea and more tea and...) let all the neighborhood strays sleep at your feet and enjoy.

Scotty Gale (alias Robert Gale) has led a life that would put most fictional heroes to shame. A former farmworker, businessman, shrimp boat operator, coffee dealer, hotel and motel manager, chauffeur and butler and the original owner of Scotty's Pub, Scotty Gale literally busts out all over with sheer, unadulterated, uncontaminated, enthusiasm for life - and all that it entails.

He admits to having had pain and tragedy, but only in the context of describing the "hell of a good life" he's led overall.

Scotty lost his mother, father, brother and a sister during "the big flu" when he was only 7 or 8-years-old. Raised by a favorite sister, Scotty describes himself as "the world's youngest businessman;" he worked from the time he was 13 years old, selling fish on street corners or whatever else he could finagle.

It's impossible to chart what happened from there. He traveled to Canada, worked in the bush for a while, worked on farms in Ontario, got into the coffee business, went to Miami, went to Sarasota and somehow wound up on Sanibel in 1962 or 63. Somewhere in there he also raised three sons.

"You could scoop the mosquitoes off your arm with your hand," he remembers, looking skyward. "Sanibel is one of the mistakes I made. It was just horrible. I kept saying, 'We've got to get out of here,' but it just went on one day after another and we never left."

On Sanibel Scotty went to work for an Island restaurant, where his culinary ethics were severely violated. "That man," he says of his first Island employer, "took the flavor away from the food. I remember a holiday turkey with stuffing that would have cemented your car wheels! It hurt my dignity."

He left his first Island employment without further adieu, but developed a new philosophy that would bear him in good stead - "I've learned something from the stupidest man I ever met."

From there he went into janitorial work, managed hotels and motels on the Island, bought a shrimp boat ("That was all night work and I was driving myself crazy") and somehow, wound up purchasing Isabel's, a poolroom and "G.D. bar" (never mind what the initials stand for).

Isabel's was eventually turned into Scotty's Pub, the ancestor to the Scotty's that is still in business on Sanibel. "We had sing-alongs, swing-alongs and fun-alongs everyday," he recalls. Everyday, that is, except Mondays, when he went fishing.

Evolution from Scotty's bar to restaurant was unintentional. He began cooking up his fish "and all the Island bachelors came to eat." Then he started a garden and served salad with the fish and, before he knew it, he had even "bought some paperplates and set up tables."

In fact, Scotty's gained such a reputation that Ray Kroc, founder of the McDonalds hamburger chain, paid him a visit - and tried to talk him into franchising. "That," Scotty points out, "was before Arthur Treacher's came along."

But Scotty preferred the Islands. "I'm not a money lover," he insists. But, nevertheless, since selling the pub a number of years ago, he has begun to miss the camaraderie a small business engenders. "As soon as I got out," he admits, "I wanted to be back in business."

So, Scotty is currently working on a new project, a restaurant in the courtyard next to B-Hive on Periwinkle Way. But times have changed, as the Scot is finding out.

Sanibel's permitting process is giving the Scot indigestion and the "meetings to see if I can have a hearing to have a hearing" are getting in the way of business.

Swingers hit first place

By Bill Motchan

"We're number one, not two, not three, not four!" came the chant from a happy group of women in green and white uniforms.

"E.S.I. Swingers" was the name emblazoned across their chests and the reason for the impromptu chorus was the Swingers' sole possession of first place last Sunday in the Sanibel Softball League.

The league leadership had come moments before with the Swingers victory over Scotty's Angels.

Prior to the game, the Angels and Swingers were tied for the top spot with 12 wins and 2 losses apiece. The Swinger victory put them a half game ahead of the Angels, whose three losses this season have all come at the hands of the Swingers.

Janice Price (E.S.I.) started things off with a grand slam in the first inning. Five additional runs in the second gave the Swingers a commanding 9-0 lead.

The Scotty's came back with seven runs in the third and fourth innings, cutting the margin to two runs. When E.S.I. came up to bat in the bottom of the fourth, though, they added six insurance runs.

With two base runners in the fourth, Swinger Jody Welker added to her R.B.I. total with a three-run homer. Angel pitcher Wendy Bissell lost her control, walking three E.S.I. batters in a row. Robin Buntrock then came to the plate and cleared the bases with a pop-fly the Scotty's right side had trouble handling.

The Swingers added two more in the fifth to make it 17-7. In the sixth and seventh, the hyped up E.S.I. defense held the Angels to a few base runners but no more runs.

Scotty's Angels lost a hot game to the E.S.I. Swingers on Sunday, but they managed to beat the heat by airing hot toes in front of an electric fan in their blanket covered dugout and drinking water.

A Case of Balance

By Bill Motchan

Overall balance is the quality that makes up a winning team, according to Don Case. And Case's West Wind team seems to have just that balance.

Consistent hitting and fielding have helped put West Wind in second place in the Sanibel Softball League. After two-thirds of the season, they are only a half game behind first place South Seas.

"I told them at the beginning of the year I wanted all of them to hit .400," Case says, and the team readily obliged, presently holding a team average of .500.

West Wind's high on-base average and Sanibel's answer to Reggie Jackson, Oscar Gavin, have helped them score 15-20 runs in almost every game.

"It's (coaching West Wind) a real easy job," Case says. "They know what each other can do, and they compliment each other."

Don says his team doesn't usually need pep talks before games. "Sometimes, though, you have to get a guy hyped up before he goes to the plate. I've always liked the one-to-one approach."

The same applies to a player in a slump. There is no need, Case believes, for an open team forum. "If I see something, I'll talk to the individual."

His one-to-one approach seems to be a successful one. Don Case has used it in many years of coaching. He modestly admits to some very high finishes for his former Little League team in Islip, Long Island.

Photos by Bill Motchan

"In 1960, we got knocked out by Levittown (Pa.) in the Little League World Series. We got up to the regionals. The following year, we won the New York State Championship."

groups for 20 years, Case says baseball is a game of pitching, and softball is a hitter's game. Given West Wind's powerful bats, Don Case could very well have another championship team.

GOLF

The Beachview Men's Association continued their tying ways in both of their tournaments this week.

Tying at plus six, the team of Jeff Dean, Frank Rosen, Bruce Henderson and Charlie Uhr had to go two sudden death holes before beating the team of Don Purcell, Ken Preston, Eben Joy, and Hank Groh.

Groh's partners had to work extra hard Tuesday and it was reported that Groh, the holder of the longest winning streak in the league, is in the second slump of his lengthy career. After four putting four greens, Groh attributed his slump to a recent wild vacation in North Carolina.

Pairing off into partners Saturday, the team of Carl Wagner and Buhl Burgoyne won their sudden death match with Don Purcell and Ed Barone after they both finished at plus four.

the Island Shopping Center features the island's only supermarket, dry cleaners and movie house.

A left on Tarpon Bay Road takes the visitor past Sanibel's original schoolhouse, which now holds original Island watercolors and woodcuts. Then on to West Gulf Drive and westward to an interesting little artisan's shop and gallery.

At the intersection of Periwinkle Way and Tarpon Bay Road, you may choose instead to turn right and follow the signs to the Tarpon Bay Marina, where you will find a cluster of quaint shops overlooking the back bay...Some antiques, shells and shellcrafts, what-nots and clever clothes can be found here, as well as a great seafood sandwich and soft drinks.

The spectacular ride to Captiva, with its lush foliage and enchanting view of the Gulf, is well worth a day's outing. Talented artists display their works in one roadside shop, while others feature some nifty gifts for Grandma to take home to little hands or pleasant hodge-podge remembrances from these barrier islands.

Whether for shopping, or merely browsing, Island shops offer a surprising variety - from one-of-a-kind collectibles for the discerning shopper to postcards for the simple souvenir hunter and of course, for all, shells, shell jewelry, shell lamps, just plain shells...the most beautiful shells in the world from the most beautiful shelling beaches in the world.

Sanibel is a veritable shopper's paradise. Tasteful boutiques and casual Island shops join forces to present visitors with everything - and anything - a vacation shopper could hope for.

At the Lighthouse (Eastern) end of the Island, Punta Ybel Plaza and The Sea Horse Shops are right across the street from each other, providing a variety of products that can cure your sweet tooth or tickle your shell finder's fancy. Need a good haircut or coiffure? You can get it in either of these shopping centers. Most businesses open at 10 a.m. and close at 5:30 p.m. This holds true for many Island stores, although during the winter season, some are open evenings.

Tall Australian pines shade Periwinkle Way as the shopper travels west along this main thoroughfare. This stretch of road is truly a shopper's paradise! It's all here...the fast and not-so-fast eating spots, casual and elegant boutiques, hand-wrought jewelry, craft designs, shell shops and balms for health produce fanatics.

Watch to your right and left as you drive or cycle along. Photographic supplies, bait and tackle, deli foods, fresh seafood and baked goods, knick-knacks and what-nots can all be found along the drive to the intersection of Periwinkle Way and Tarpon Bay Road. Along the way, shopping centers such as the Heart of the Islands, Periwinkle Place and Tahitian Gardens offer a variety of Island delights.

Palm Ridge Road, the Periwinkle Way turn-off to Captiva, offers several new shopping centers featuring everything from a gift shop for the discriminating shopper, plants and shells, to a sandwich shop, ice cream parlour, boutique shop and the Island Apothecary pharmacy.

For Your Information

BEACH ACCESS

Sanibel has miles of public Gulf-front beaches, any one of which is only minutes from your lodging. Lighthouse Point is a stretch of Federal land on the Eastern tip of Sanibel Island, and from there, the Gulf beach is accessible again at the end of Donax Street, at Tarpon Bay Road, at Bowman's Beach Road (off Sanibel-Captiva Road) and Turner's Beach, which is located at Blind Pass, between Sanibel and Captiva Islands.

On Captiva Island, public beach access can be found at Turner Beach (which has public facilities) or further north, just past the entrance to South Seas Plantation.

NOTE: STATE LAW PROHIBITS NUDE SUN-BATHING ON ALL FLORIDA BEACHES. VIOLATORS WILL BE PROSECUTED.

CAMPING

Camping on the beach is prohibited and while everyone enjoys a beach fire, the Sanibel Fire Board has signed into law an ordinance prohibiting open beach fires. Prior to the ordinance, a permit was necessary for a beach bonfire, but as of July 18, 1980, it is now illegal. An exemption to the ordinance is a fire in an approved cooking container (not to exceed 48" X 24" X 12" deep with an extruded metal grill) for non-commercial food preparation. This type of container will be allowed on the beach without a permit. After you have had your beach party, it is recommended that you assume the responsibility for the cleanup of any debris or litter in your area.

GATORS

Feeding alligators anywhere within the Sanibel City limits is not only illegal (violators of the law are subject to a fine of up to $500, or up to 60 days in jail, or both), but can be extremely dangerous. Alligators can run 45 m.p.h., so if you're close enough to feed an alligator, he's close enough to feed on you. An alligator fed for fun loses his natural fear of humans and becomes a potential threat to children and pets.

FISHING

While no license is required for saltwater fishing, fishing in freshwater ponds or the Sanibel River requires a Florida fishing license - available at Bailey's General Store on Periwinkle Way. The fee is $3.75.

MINIMUM LEGAL LENGTHS:

Blue Fish	10 inches
Flounder	11 inches
Grouper	12 inches
Mackerel	12 inches
Mullet	12 inches
Pompano	10 inches
Red Fish	12 inches
Snook	18 inches
Trout	12 inches

SHELLING

The City of Sanibel Resolution limiting the taking of live shells to 2 live shells per person per species is one to be scrupulously obeyed. As a matter of fact, in order to preserve Sanibel's beautiful shelling beaches, most collectors refuse to take any live shells whatsoever.

SPEED LIMITS

There are varying speed limits (20-30 m.p.h.) as one comes across the causeway, and there is a very good reason for them...to preserve the bridge supports from strain and stress. This speed limit is strictly enforced with the use of radar on a 24-hour basis by both the Sanibel Police Department and the Lee County Sheriff's Department.

Driving or parking a motor vehicle or moped on the bike path is strictly prohibited. Violators will be ticketed.

BICYCLE RULES

If you're not used to a lot of bicycle traffic, watch out for it on Sanibel. The extensive network of bike paths on the Island is clearly marked along the edge of the road. Observe caution when driving near the bike path. A State law and City Ordinance combine to PROHIBIT PARKING OR DRIVING ON THE BIKE PATH. MOPEDS ARE NOT PERMITTED ON THE BIKE PATHS.

Planning on spending some time on a bike to enjoy the Island sun and sights? Make sure your vehicle is equipped with a bike flag, horn, good brakes and a light for night riding. Under Florida law, bicycle riders have the same rights and responsibilities as motor vehicle drivers. Drive Safely!

DOGGY DO'S & DON'TS

If you're visiting Sanibel with the family Fido in tow, all the better. All family members can enjoy Southwest Florida sun and surf. The Chamber of Commerce can tell you what accommodations are available for families with pets. Remember: wherever you are, clean up after your pet! The friendly reminder... "Leave nothing on the beach but footprints"...applies to dogs, too. There's no leash law on Sanibel, but of course an excitable or unruly animal is better off when controlled with a leash.

A BEAUTIFUL WAY OF LIFE!

THE SEA SHELLS OF SANIBEL is a beautiful 44-unit complex of townhouses and garden apartments on Sanibel Island. Your amenities include a recreation room, heated pool, tennis court, shuffleboard, and your own deeded access to the shores of the Gulf of Mexico.

Fortunately for you, we have listed a lovely Garden Apartment. This two bedroom and two bath unit is located at the end of the complex, which assures you all the privacy desired. The two words "Completely Furnished" can mean a variety of descriptions. This unit "completely furnished" is most unusual. The drapes, carpeting and furniture look like they were planned for this particular unit. The colors and furnishings were chosen with taste, decorating ideas and definite planning. Not only are they beautiful, but comfortable also.

The master bedroom has two wall closets for plenty of storage and the second bedroom has two double beds and is decorated in yellows, greens and off white. Your complete kitchen includes dishwasher, disposal, self-cleaning oven, automatic ice maker, stove and refrigerator. The total room is very workable. A sliding glass door leads from the spacious living room to a lovely screened patio.

Units like this are a joy to write about and a challenge to describe for you. Total price of this outstanding buy is $89,000.00 furnished. And an assumable mortgage also.

Miscellaneous

I NEED YOUR HELP, to make the Island Bake Shop dough so I can fill it with European breads and pastries to delight your taste. I am looking for an investor or two - not big multinational concerns - just good Island folks that would like a high but fair return on a modest investment for a year or so. It won't take much help to help me give you the type of good old fashioned home bakery that Sanibel needs. If I've tickled your curiosity, please give me a call in Naples after 4 p.m. any day at 597-2695 or drop by the Island Bakery and talk with Ray, the guy who's making all the good things now. Thanks for reading my ad. TFN
