COTI endorses candidates

The Committee of the Islands (COTI) has endorsed candidates for 11 Lee County positions, and is urging a full voter turnout for today's election. Anyone having difficulty in getting to the polls may call COTI at 472-4382 and transportation will be provided.

As a non-partisan organization, COTI made the endorsements on the basis of the candidates' past records on issues vital to the Islands, on positions on environmental questions, and on the candidates' background and potential for coping with the rate of growth in Lee County.

For Lee County Commission, COTI endorses Mike Roeder for District 1 and Ernie Averill for District 5. For the District 3 seat, Roland Roberts and Pat McCutcheon are both acceptable.

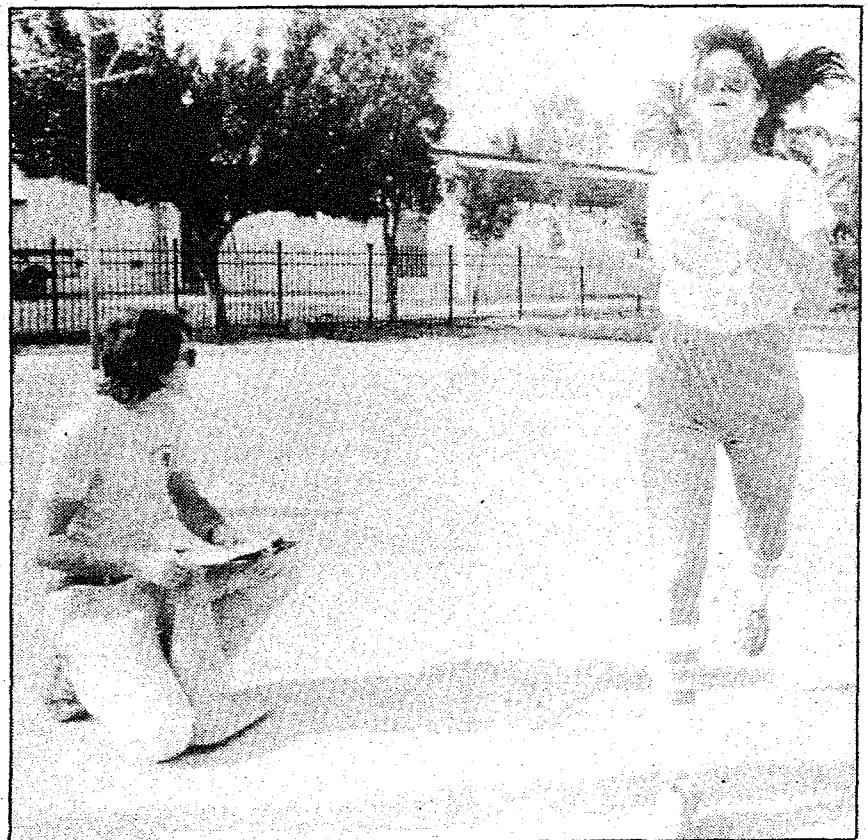

Ken Wilkinson is COTI's choice for Property Appraiser, and Betty Bowen

Evans gets the nod for Tax Collector.

In the School Board contest, COTI endorses Mary Laurel for District 2 and Rayma Page for District 3.

The Lee Memorial Hospital Board has a number of COTI endorsements: Eloise Carlson and Anna E. Marks for District 1; Lois Barrett and Howard Scherman for District 3; William Martin for District 5; and Larry Daniels and Horace Smith for District 5.

Dave Davenport, COTI chairman, stresses the importance of every voter participating in this election. "Every position on the ballot has a direct implication for our quality of life," Davenport explains. "Those who neglect to vote are losing an opportunity to control the many things that we expect our government to do for us."

The Champ!

"I want to walk, just for a little bit. I want to quit, it's just too hard. Why am I doing this? I can't breathe, I don't know why I'm going on. Determination? Enthusiastic support from a good friend? Knowing that Islander photographer Mark Harmel is expecting to take pictures when I cross the finish line?"

4-H coming to Islands

By Pat Harmel

4-H clubs have come a long way since most of us were kids.

The national organization, symbolized by a four leaf clover (remember "health, heart, head and hands"?), is no longer limited to children in rural areas who raise rabbits or grow corn for an annual project. 4-H has evolved with the times and groups now exist in virtually every town and city in the country. Virtually everywhere but Sanibel and Captiva, that is.

But now, the Sanibel Police Recreation Club and the Lee County Extension Service are determined to open the thirty-second 4-H club in Lee County right here on the Islands.

According to Audrey Flanders of the Lee County Extension Service, four group leaders have already been lined up for Sanibel and Captiva - all they need now are some members.

There are more than 100 projects that a 4-H member can work on and Island expertise has been volunteered in the areas of marine science, wildlife, biology and shells. Other resource people within the area, however, are also available to work with members.

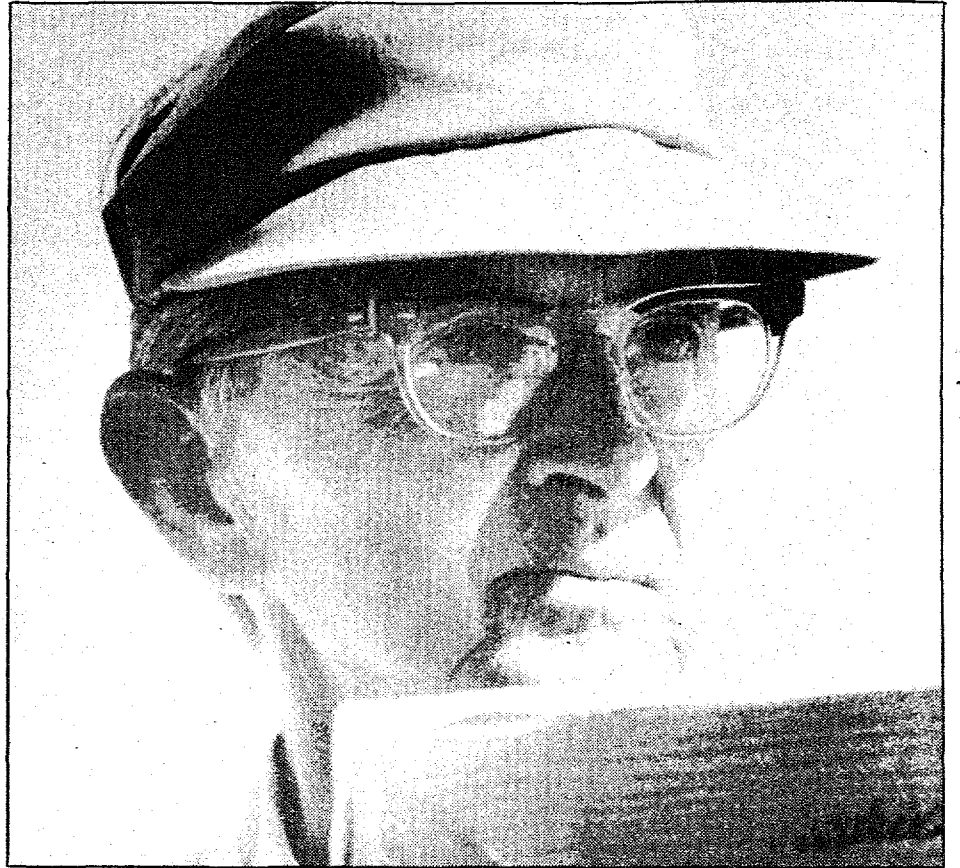

"If a child signs up for a group that's focusing on marine science," says Ms. Flanders, "and she's really interested in photography or outdoor survival or anything even remotely connected, we can work it out. We've had scuba divers teach snorkeling through the marine science group, and net repairing, fishing and ecology are taught too."

Because the Extension Service is a

Sanibel-Captiva Art

If you are a painter, used to be a painter, or want to be a painter, maybe the Sanibel-Captiva Art League has something for you.

Each Thursday morning the League revels in the beauty and serenity of "choice locations" around Sanibel and Captiva, recreating their surroundings with paint and brush. The group gets started by 9 a.m., painting, chatting, and laughing away until noon lazily rolls around.

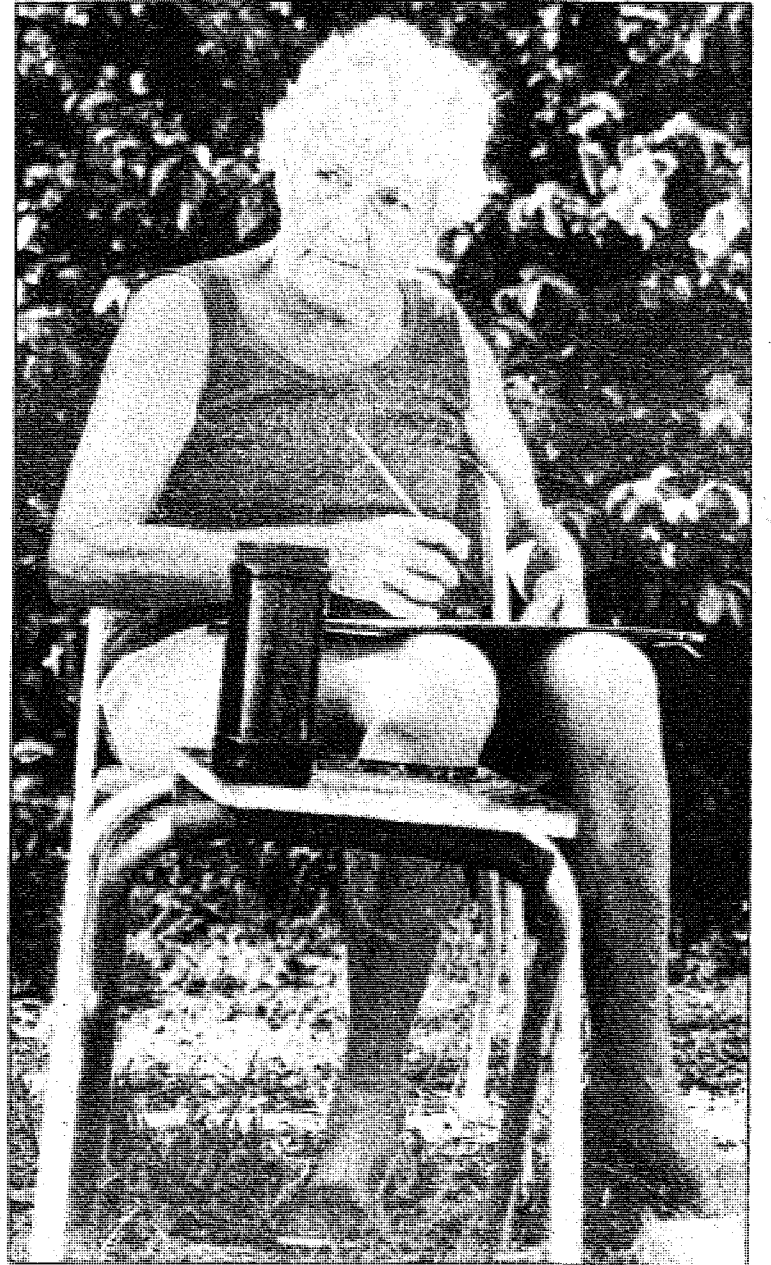

Beginners, intermediates, and full-fledged artists are among the League's membership and all seem to learn from each other. Besides bringing easels, paints, brushes, a comfortable chair and even an umbrella to block the sun the League members also bring a brown bag lunch.

When the morning workshop is through the group gathers for a picnic luncheon which provides time for a critique of everyone's painting of the day. This is a valuable time as much can be learned through the advice and comments of the more "practiced" artists.

The Sanibel-Captiva Art League holds a group meeting each month and membership is $5 per year. The locations for the workshops are discussed on a weekly basis by the members and can be anywhere on the Islands.

For information concerning the Thursday workshops or any other facet of the Art League, contact Ruth Searing, acting president, at 472-4594.

Island electricity - a shocking dilemma

By Pat Harmel

The Sanibel City Council and Planning Commission met in a joint-workshop session last week to discuss the findings of an outside consultant on the proposed Lee County Electric Cooperative addition to the Sanibel electric system.

Tom Chappel, representing Smith and Gillespie Engineers, the consulting firm hired by the City, was on hand to answer questions as were representatives from the Lee County Co-op.

Chappel's recommended alternative solutions to the Island's electricity problem shocked both residents and members of the co-op alike and included; the construction of an additional substation to serve the Island area; a load management program which could either voluntarily or involuntarily shut down air conditioners and water heaters for seven-and-a-half minutes out of every hour at peak use times; the addition of the proposed Lee County feeder - and another additional feeder at a later time; a moratorium on all Island development.

The City originally agreed to hire Smith and Gillespie when the Co-op proposed to construct another electrical feeder that would alternately go underground and overhead through the San-Cap Rd.-Jamaica Drive-Rue Bayou-Gulf Pines area - a proposal that was unacceptable to the affected residents.

Chappel pointed out to Council that the land use plan was based on a formula of 6,000 dwelling units "but now we're looking at a build-out number of 7,800. You have a ratio of one dwelling unit to one electrical customer now," he said. "Lee County is very near, if not over, their capacity now and their proposed feeder won't be the last."

Chappel said that during the winter of 1979 the Island's electrical use was near capacity and the chances were good that this year the peak demands would exceed capacity. He also maintained that the additional feeder proposed by the Co-op would not be sufficient at build-out - a theory vehemently opposed by Co-op representatives.

Jim Sherfey, Co-op general manager, told the Council that the Co-op had originally wanted two substations on the Island but the necessary environmental permitting agencies' demands were so stringent that the idea had been given up. "We welcomed the City with open arms," added Sherfey, "because you began controlling growth."

"I wouldn't even consider a fourth feeder," maintained Sherfey, "as long as I could convert three. We recognize the limitations of a third circuit, that's why we're here. But it would be absurd to design a fourth circuit that we didn't have any place to put it."

In response to charges that the Co-op was negligent in protecting Sanibel's environment, Sherfey especially took exception, saying, "We do address the environment, we have to, but we have a four county area to serve and we have to be consistent."

"We're sure," continued Sherfey, "that we have a plan that will mesh with your plan. We hope to get this in before the winter peak."

When questioned by Commissioner Fred Valtin whether the City should agree to what the Co-op asked for and proceed with another substation, Chappel's response was that the only alternative would be some type of building moratorium.

Councilman Duane White told the audience, "I'm in favor of the attorney drawing up a moratorium and having it ready," but Councilman Francis Bailey pointed out that a moratorium would take a year to go into effect because of prior issued permits.

"It's a very emotional issue," said Bailey, "we forget the facts at times. I think we should get on with it but if I lived in the area I might feel differently."

Sherfey again made a plea to the City, "The system we're proposing is the most reliable and efficient. We're asking permission to do the best," adding, "There's no question but that we waited too long."

Chappel also agreed that the Co-op proposal was "the most logical at this time."

Both Chappel and Lee County Cooperative representatives will be present when the proposed addition is an agendaed item at the Nov. 18 Council meeting.

The Champ!

(Or, how Islander staffmember Lynn Daus learned how to tolerate running and love pain while experiencing a biathlon passage)

Editor's Note: Islander saleswoman, Lynn Daus, is most commonly known to our readers as a fanatical gourmet food binger. What you might not have known (did any of us?) is that she is also a physical fitness nut.

Whatever the reason, I stuck it out. I was running in the first of two events in the Southwest Florida Biathlon, a dual event contest in running and swimming. The run is 4000 meters (two-and-a-half miles) and the swim is 300 meters (13-25 yd. lengths). Decathlon type points are awarded for each event and totaled for final positioning. I had had just nine days to prepare for this event.

Two weeks ago I cheered several friends on in the Lee Memorial Hospital Health Run. They weren't content that I just watched, these runners wanted me to enjoy the pain, too. They handed me an application for this biathlon at the Fort Myers YMCA on Nov. 1. Foolishly I took it, filled it out, mailed it, and only then realized what I had gotten myself into: pain is what I had gotten myself into. Now I would have to go from Lynn's binges to Lynn's shape-up-quick plan.

I have run a mile a day for nine years and hated every step of the way. I have never gotten "high" from running and I have always said that I could never run more than a mile. And now, in less than two weeks, I would have to race two-and-a-half miles.

I took the plunge. Every day I increased my distance by half a mile. It was tough, but in four days I was miraculously running three miles. And I hated it. But I had a good friend cracking the whip to keep me going and my son was contributing training techniques. I was committed now. I had too much pride to back out - although the thought occurred to me.

The real killer though, was that I wasn't finished with my daily training when I had finished running - I still had to get into my tank suit and head for the pool to swim 500 meters in preparation for the 300 meter race. It was dark and lonely at the pool at 7 p.m. and a little chilly. I have swum competitively in the past though, so this part of my training was definitely the easiest part. I was expecting to do well in this event, but I would find out soon enough. Too soon.

The day of the biathlon came quickly. The temperature was in the sixties, the one thing I was hoping wouldn't happen. Cold makes me too tight and tense, especially when swimming.

I woke up at 6 a.m. to get to the Y early to warm up. When I arrived the Y was deserted. I couldn't imagine why the other runners hadn't started to show up too. But finally, when two other men showed up, we discovered that even though our application blanks said 8 a.m. for the start of the race, it actually wasn't supposed to start until 9 a.m.

I had another hour-and-a-half to get scared and nervous.

But 9 a.m. did arrive. And, by then, the temperature was warmer. I was psyched; I didn't know yet just how much it would hurt. My son had warned me about the start. He told me not to panic when the other runners took off at a pace I could not hope to match. And they really did take off at the starting gun.

I stayed calm and ran at my own best pace. The adrenalin must have been flowing though, because my split at the mile mark was two-and-a-half minutes faster than I had ever run in training. My split at two miles was also faster than I had ever run before, but I was definitely winded and tired. I didn't see how I could make it to the finish line; most of the runners were well in front of me and the rest were breathing down my neck.

It was no fun at all.

I did have enough guts though, because I never gave in to those demons in my head that repeated over and over, "Quit and walk, quit and walk." I quelled them with words of my own, "GO FOR IT!"

And I went for it all right, I made it to the finish line but I had nothing left in me. I couldn't finish with a sprint like my son had told me I should. I was too tired. I had given my all.

Twenty minutes later the swimming event started. The first runners in were the first swimmers off the block, and so on down the line. I was the fiftieth runner to finish so I had plenty of time to rest and get re-psyched. More points were awarded for swimming than for running, so I was hoping to make up for lost running time in swimming points.

I was relaxed and ready to go and by now the sun was even shining. My name was called and I was on the block. The starting gun fired and I was off.

Oh, how I love swimming as compared to running. Most swimmers can run but there are a lot of runners who can't swim. This time I was in my element, and it was the runners who were starving for oxygen, not me. The 300 meters went quickly and easily and I knew that my time was very fast. That knowledge compensated somewhat for the agonizing run, but still, I had no thoughts of winning a ribbon. I just considered it a fantastic accomplishment, considering that I had had such a short time to get ready.

I felt good but I was embarrassed to stick around for the awards. Still, I had swum so well that I thought I might get a ribbon for sixth place if I were real lucky.

Well, I was real lucky. They called my name FIRST. I won a great big blue ribbon for the female winner in my age group and I was very happy and very proud.

I plan to continue running and swimming so I can prove myself a masochist beyond a doubt one more time and enter the biathlon that's coming up in December. I wish I could rest on my "laurels," but I seem to have caught the fitness bug for good.

Yes on beach strategy

Dear Editor:

After many months of hard work, Mr. Gary Price and his staff in the City Planning Department have come up with a plan for the long felt need for beach parking access for Sanibel residents. The difficulties of constructing such a plan were great because of Federal requirements governing the use of the land the city owns at various access sites. Mr. Price has done an excellent job under these circumstances, and is to be commended.

There are many neighborhoods in Sanibel with no deeded beach access, and too far away to walk to the beach. These residents must depend on competing with day trippers for parking at public beach accesses, and this plan would give them a chance to find a place.

As always, when compromise is necessary, no plan can please everyone. At the recent hearing at the Planning Commission meeting, a remark was made by a Sanibel resident that those who couldn't afford to pay the high price for beach front property shouldn't expect to have beach access! Hopefully this attitude is not a general one.

Each time in the past that this subject has been brought up someone always brings up the fear that "interval owners" will be considered bona fide Sanibel residents and will fill up all the parking places. This seems unlikely to happen because all of the interval ownership resorts except the Lighthouse are on the Gulf, with a parking place assigned to each owner. Also, though there are 52 owners for each unit, no unit is occupied by more than one owner at any given time.

There will always be "bugs" to be ironed out when any new and untried system such as is proposed here, is started. The plan is to offer stickers on an annual basis to every Sanibel resident and to a limited number of off Island residents. There is no foolproof way to determine ahead of time how many stickers would be feasible for the parking places available. It would seem wise to pick a best estimate number, try it for a year, then raise or lower the number according to the experience gained in that year.

The plan is going to have its first reading at the City Council meeting on Tuesday, November 4th, and the second and final reading on Tuesday, November 18th. All those interested should attend these hearings to make their opinions known.

Go slow on strategy

A copy of the following letter was given to the Islander for publication:

TO: MAYOR FRANCIS BAILEY AND SANIBEL CITY COUNCIL
SUBJECT: PROPOSED PUBLIC BEACH
ACCESS PARKING STRATEGY

With this subject up for council discussion soon, it is pertinent that we register our concern. It was not until a few days ago that the complete details of this strategy or plan were publicly available.

Yesterday, we attended a Planning Commission meeting, which addressed this strategy as presented by Assistant City Manager Gary Price. After an hour devoted to his 25-page report, we witnessed unanimous "approval in broadest sense with strongest urging that council consider all public comments." Further, we've seen a recent news item indicating that our City Manager is hopeful that the plan (or strategy) can be put into effect this tourist season.

What's the hurry? Better to take time to hear from the many owners who would be affected by this, than to proceed headlong because there are some impatient resident beachgoers. It's advisable, we say, to accept the suggestion made to Planning Commission by Urban Palmer of CONA, to appoint a study group which would include affected property owners throughout the Island.

In a newsletter to our membership last May, there was brief mention of the rising pressure to formalize parking for beach access. The response we've had to date has been generally skeptical about the practicality of policing such parking. These respondents, and others from everywhere on the Island, deserve solid answers to their questions. After all, the details of this parking strategy were not made available until last week.

Vote for Rayma Page

Dear Editor:

I want to let your readers know that a very important part of the election is for The Lee County School Board and it is vitally important that Rayma Page is re-elected to The School Board.

Mrs. Page has been very consistent in her help and assistance to the Sanibel Elementary School and without her able guidance Sanibel would not have the All Purpose Building. Mrs. Page has been this great with other schools in Lee County.

In my opinion, Mrs. Page already has an excellent track record in caring about the children of Lee County and is continually making certain that our tax payers are getting their money's worth.

I solicit your help and vote for Rayma Page, a proven administrator.

Dear Chairman McDonald:

It was most gratifying to note that your added role as head of Edison Electric Institute (EEI) is evident from the Institute's illustrated public message "Saving Leftover Electricity" that appeared in last Sunday's "Family Weekly" supplement to our local daily paper.

As you may have heard, the Lee County Electric Cooperative (LECO) (to which FPL supplies electricity) has been beefing-up its distribution system to pace the booming development of our Sanibel and Captiva Islands. LECO and the City of Sanibel, therefore, are engaged in a continuing dialogue about the system's adequacy and reliability to cope with the unusual growth demands.

Unpredictable and extreme demand-peaking problems result from the popular and seasonal resort nature of the Islands as well as a single FPL power source line from Pine Island over the waters of Pine Island Sound. To satisfy those irregular peaks is a real and expensive problem for LECO.

At an October 28th public meeting between the City Council and LECO, I inquired as to the feasibility and

RE REALTOR

A message to my fellow islanders

Dear Friends:

Eight years ago, I decided to make Sanibel Island my home. As with most of us, I had fallen in love with the island's natural beauty, its unspoiled and tranquil atmosphere, and its healthy mix of active retired folks and younger working people.

From the beginning, I shared the view that the preservation of those things that we all value on Sanibel would require a community commitment. I wanted to be part of that effort. Over the past eight years, I have been involved in a wide range of community activities.

I supported incorporation. I made what contribution I could to the development of a strong land use plan. I served on several City of Sanibel committees, and agreed to be a member of the city's Planning Commission.

In all these activities, and on every vote I have made, I have been guided by what I perceived to be the best interests of the island as a whole. That is the fundamental principle that will guide me as a member of your City Council.

I respectfully ask you to vote for me for Seat Number 3 of the City Council — but, above all, I urge you to go to the polls on November 4 and vote.

Thank you for all your help.

Fred Valtin

Bureau of Land Management to hold area hearing on public lands

The Federal Bureau of Land Management (BLM) has begun preparation of a resource management plan (RMP) for public lands and islands under its jurisdiction in Lee, Charlotte, and Collier Counties. The document will be entitled the "Pine Island Sound-Sanibel Resource Management Plan." Involved in the planning area are three inland tracts and 46 islands - about 900 acres altogether. BLM will hold a public workshop on the RMP on Thursday, November 6 in Fort Myers. Formal notice of the initiation of planning in the three-county area appeared in the Federal Register on October 22.

"What we're beginning is a comprehensive plan for the future of these public lands, as well as the mineral resources located in the planning area and owned by the United States," said Robert

L. Todd, manager of the BLM office in Tuscaloosa, Alabama. "The RMP is scheduled for completion by February 1982. By then, we expect to decide whether it is in the public interest for BLM to retain and manage these lands, to transfer certain lands to other government agencies or non-profit organizations, or perhaps to sell certain lands to private parties."

The possible transfer of some BLM lands is only one of several anticipated issues, Todd said. "We start the planning process by determining all of the issues at stake, and what specific criteria must be met to ensure an effective and well-informed plan. This couldn't be done without the participation of all interested parties - from other Federal, State, and local agencies, to community organizations, conservation groups, businessmen, and private individuals." For this reason, Todd said, BLM encourages the public to become involved in the process. "We're hoping to learn a lot at the workshop, which we've scheduled in two separate sessions to make it easier for people to attend. It will be the first of many opportunities the public will have to hear what we're doing and to help determine what course we'll take."

The public workshop will be held on Thursday, November 6, at 1 p.m. and 6 p.m., at the Sheraton Inn, 8900 South Tamiami Trail, Fort Myers.

Resource management planning is a careful, step-by-step process," Todd said. "After we determine the issues and the criteria we'll follow, we will inventory the holdings under our jurisdiction and gather information on every facet of the local scene that may be affected by our decisions. That means resource data, environmental data, social, economic, and other information. From there we'll analyze the management situation, determine alternative management schemes, estimate the effects those alternatives could have, and select a preferred alternative. The preferred alternative will be incorporated into a draft resource management plan and environmental impact statement."

The Sanibel Lighthouse property is one of the parcels being considered in the Bureau's land management process. The City of Sanibel will have representatives present at both workshops to urge that control of the Lighthouse be given to the City for preservation as a historical monument. Citizens are urged to attend these very important workshops to air their opinions on the future of the area's public lands and islands.

Life is a celebration at any age...

At McGregor Woods.

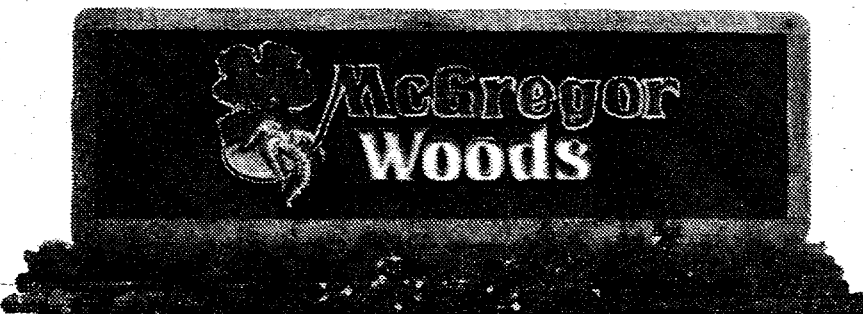

Celebration is the art of selecting the best that life has to offer.

When the Mariner Group decided to develop McGregor Woods it was with an eye to providing only the best - a country-style neighborhood in a convenient location at a reasonable price.

McGregor Woods offers a fully wooded community, from the Royal Poincianas and towering oaks that grace our entry way to the sabal palms, bamboo and seagrape that grow in abundance throughout the neighborhood. And since they know that outdoors is a lifestyle in Southwest Florida, the Mariner Group has built a beautiful recreation pavilion, complete with swimming pool, tennis courts and even a whirlpool spa. And there's a sparkling lake just right for a canoe or a small sailboat.

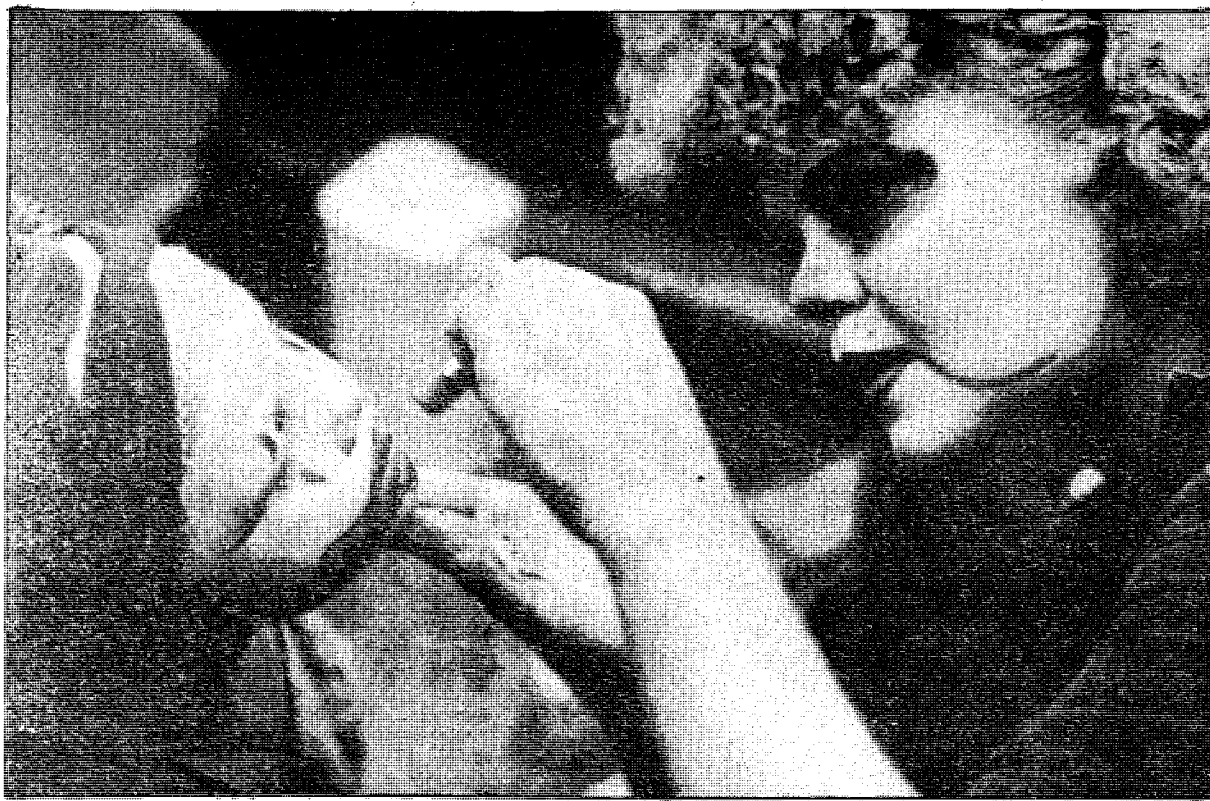

We know you'll agree there's more to celebrate when you live at McGregor Woods.

Halloween's mysterious celebration is rooted back in the third century B.C. where it was initiated by the Druids, a learned class among the ancient Celts. The name "Halloween" means the evening before All Hallows or All Saints Day, which among the Christian doctrines is November 1st.

Most of the customs we now associate with Halloween, like dressing up in outlandish costumes, carving jack-o'-lanterns, trick or treating and telling ghost stories, are remnants of the Druids' ancient religious beliefs. Also, November 1st was considered during ancient times to be new year's day. So it really was a celebration for the new year.

During the festivities around the world in celebration of new year's day, the belief was held that the dead souls flocked back to mingle among the living. The Celts thought that the sinful souls of those who had died were reincarnated into the bodies of animals.

Halloween was not practiced in America during the first 200 years of settlement except by a few Irish Catholic settlements who observed All Saints Day. However, throughout the ages, Halloween has separated from its relation with All Saints Day, and American children have altered it into a fun filled day to dress in costumes and go out "trick or treating."

These customs ultimately go back to the pagan New year feast. The ghosts of dead souls, who were thought to be about the houses, were given a banquet after which they were lead to the outskirts of the town by costumed villagers parading them away.

Whatever the old customs, America has developed its own ideas on what Halloween is all about. Island residents and their children dressed for the occasion were almost unrecognizable. Mummy, monster, bum, Darth Vader, princess, Raggedy Ann, Caesar, Superman, Cinderella, and more were walking the area in triplicate.

Sanibel Elementary School and the Children's Center of the Islands celebrated Halloween in true form. Thursday afternoon the Elementary Children paraded around the halls decked out in their scariest best, or prettiest, depending upon the type.

The parents had prepared a little carnival of games for the children to partake in winning prizes for their effort, and prizes for the prettiest, scariest, and most original costumes. Even Principal Ward joined in the fun as she paraded around as the ghost of Sanibel Elementary.

The Children's Center prepared much the same thing for the little ones. As for some of the younger ones, it was the first time they had ever joined in on the Halloween fun. One little boy dressed as Darth Vader literally scared many of his female friends to shivers. A parade and dance session was followed by Halloween cupcakes and juice, before the children restlessly tore off their costumes.

Some of the Island businesses took advantage of this Halloween to dress up in costumes before going to work. If you went to the Burger Emporium or Huxter's Market or even the Bank of the Islands, you may have been pleasantly surprised - or unpleasantly surprised for that matter, depending on whether you were greeted by a mummy or an angel.

Adults, not to be left out of the fun, gathered at the Photographers' Gallery or the Community Center for their trick or treating.

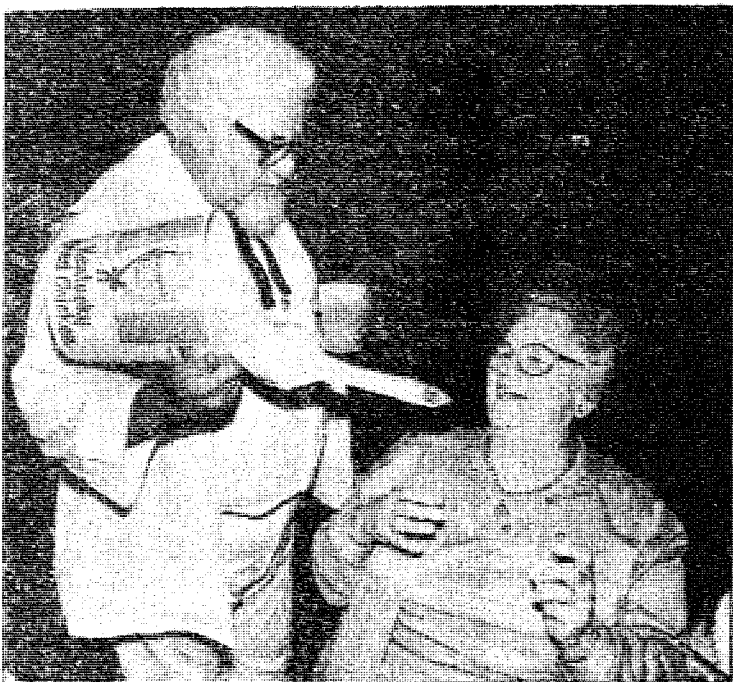

Halloween, no doubt, is the best time of year to let it all hang out. After all, nobody knows whoo you are!

Once in awhile I get a day or two off from my charter fishing business and sneak away to a small apartment on the ocean over in Stuart, Florida to do - what else but fish!

I was amused to find that their fishing is very much like ours here on Sanibel and Captiva Islands in many ways, but I always am able to learn a few new things while there.

The Atlantic Ocean side of the state is in the middle of a bluefish run, just as we are, but while we have been using jigs, they rely upon silver spoons. That's why when I went into a tackle shop to pick up a lure they were out and it took a couple more stops before I located one. The fishermen line up along shore and toss the spoons into the surf and retrieve it on the top. A couple of casts soon bring in some hungry blues, along with a jack and a ladyfish. I was kind of hoping that the latter two might have been left back in Pine Island Sound, but as you probably know, pesky jacks and others are found all over the state.

One thing that I have always admired about the East Coast of Florida is that they build catwalks, or side extensions, on all the bridges so that their shorebound fishermen can use them.

The bridges over there are alive with anglers of all ages who look upon bridge fishing as much as a social event as a fishing adventure. They are still catching snook over there, along with trout and redbfish. They get blues and mackerel in the Indian River, where the bridges are built.

There is a sign on one of the bridges which always makes me smile. In bold letters it says something to the effect, "Only two rods per person. State law." State law? did you ever hear of a law like that? Me either. Can you imagine a deputy having to check each fisherman to make sure he or she didn't have too many rods in the water?

If you are a big game fisherman, then you know of Stuart not as a center for bluefish, but rather for sailfish. It's called the sailfish capital of the world and it does seem to deserve the reputation.

I talked with a gal who, along with her fiance, operates a 40-foot fishing boat offshore of Stuart where they fish exclusively for sails. They practically guarantee the party a sailfish, under reasonable conditions, of course. This is the time of the year when sails are getting easier to catch and if you have ever wanted to get out after one of these colorful fish, you might give it a try before the big winter visitor season hits and all the boats are booked.

Sails run in what seems like the worst weather. When the seas are six foot high and it's cold as can be with a northern front, that's when the captains head out. Right now, the ocean is relatively calm and it's easy to fish. Actually, from our room overlooking the ocean, I could count many boats of only 20 foot length, so you know that it's easy to fish off-shore.

Something else I found interesting involves the OMC testing facility near Stuart. This company is the one that gives you the OMC sterndrive units and tests all sorts of ideas for saltwater power operation.

They are working on something which could change in-board boats a great deal. They have taken a pair of outboards and mounted them into a special fitting where they can be bolted directly on the transom of former inboards up to about 33 feet in length. They say that the new installation gets a lot of weight out of the boat and provides more speed and better gas mileage. It's a surprise to see such large boats powered by twin outboards, but if it continues to test out, OMC apparently will market them within a few years.

Good fishing out there this week and work the causeway flats for trout on the high tide.

Roark and Cason will play the forward positions. The guards will be Butch Carroll, a graduate of Cypress Lake High School, and James Buchanon, a graduate of Fort Myers Senior High School.

The Bucs have eight freshman on this year's roster, according to Thimlar. All are from local high schools. "We graduated six sophomores last year," stated Thimlar, "and all are now attending four year colleges or universities."

All home games begin at 7:30 p.m. in the ECC gymnasium. The public is invited to attend and the general admission is $1.

Who was that masked man?

A lot of real estate people seem to ride off into the sunset once the sale has been made. We don't do things that way.

After the sale we offer a complete list of services for the new owner including rentals, repair and remodeling, landscape service, housekeeping service and more.

That's part of our extra effort - before and after the sale.

Casa Creole

Casa Ybel's gracious dining cove, the Thistle Lodge, is introducing to the Islands the old world charm of New Orleans.

In search of "an exciting food concept," befitting the antique elegance of Thistle Lodge, Earl Raven, food and beverage manager, and Mike Pepin, Thistle Lodge chef, journeyed to New Orleans to "investigate what items would blend in with the Sanibel theme," explains Earl.

Meeting many Creole and Cajun chefs in New Orleans, Mike Pepin remained behind to learn some of the secrets from the world famous Chef Prudhomme. And, he brought many of them back to Sanibel.

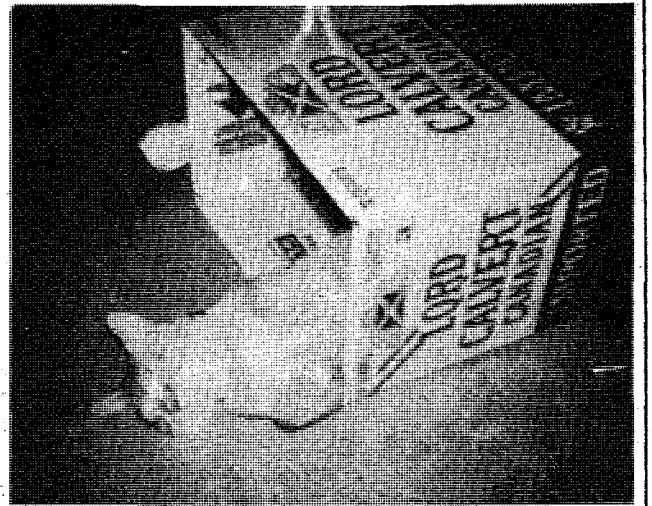

Last week, Thistle Lodge introduced many New Orleans specialties, highlighting the Creole and Cajun flavor. For a mouthwatering idea of what that includes, read on.

Imagine "Broiled Redfish Meuniere." A very elegant way to serve redfish, filleted and gently broiled, then topped with tender lump crabmeat and laced with New Orleans' famous Meuniere sauce...ooh la la.

Or perhaps, a taste of "Creole Jambalaya," the ultimate masterpiece of Creole cooking. It combines a delicious potpourri of gulf shrimp, ham, lean pork, tender chicken and New Orleans' famous Andouille sausage. All prepared in a fresh tomato sauce with a hint of cayenne pepper...magnifique!

Dining at the Thistle Lodge, with its intimate dining areas open to the Gulf view, and now with their new and exciting New Orleans menu selections, becomes an event in itself. - E.M.

Too much hallowing!

The popular Pirate Playhouse cat 'David' (named from the hurricane in which he came) as you can see from this picture, had just a bit too much Halloween!

Community courses underway

By Ellen Mulligan

The Community Courses Committee (CCC) got underway last week offering the first of many classes scheduled for their exciting course line-up.

Machine Embroidery and Basic Lingerie (which has now changed to machine embroidery and advanced machine embroidery) was the first class offered to open up the CCC fall session. Instructor Betty Wakefield was on hand to share her sewing expertise with the class.

Each student brought their machine to class and set up shop on a card table while listening intently to Betty's directions. After giving each set of instructions, Betty visited table to table to offer individual assistance.

Since the ladies did so well, they elected to continue with machine embroidery and go on to more advanced embroidery in future classes rather than shifting to basic lingerie which was previously scheduled.

Besides the machine embroidery class, the CCC courses for this fall include, Inflation Hedges, which will shed light on topics such as stocks, bonds and cash funds as investments, the mysteries of stamps and coins, as well as art and antiques for investing.

Also, for the discouraged Island gardeners, a class will be offered on Sanibel Gardening. Conditions for gardening on the Islands are quite unique from gardening in other areas. This class will provide many helpful hints for a beautiful garden - even on a barrier island.

For all you bridge buffs out there, the CCC is continuing on with their very successful bridge class. Instructions will be offered by Bob Osman with emphasis on bidding, including counting value of open hand, revalue after partner's response, defensive leads and much more.

Cooking- Planning to Plaudit includes instruction on just that. Appetizers and relishes, wok cooking to Mexican and French cuisine are just a few of the treats planned for this course. Several different instructors with expertise in specific areas will be the chief cook and bottle washers for the duration of this class.

Although the CCC is now officially underway, some of the classes have not yet started so it is not too late to register. There are still openings for interested Islanders. For further information on class schedules and class availability contact Caroline Beebe at 472-2180, or Betty Bray at 472-2849.

Only their hairdressers know

Nancy Price, married to Public Works Director and Assistant City Manager Gary Price, opened up a copy of the Islander last July and said to her husband, "Honey, you didn't tell me you were going to be on the front page of the newspaper."

"I'm not," was her husband's reply. The picture Ms. Price referred to was the front cover of a special Islander section dedicated to the Sanibel Police Dept. The man in the picture was Officer (and Sanibel Swim Team coach) Dick Noon.

Then there was the time that Dick Noon's mother ran into the Origin and Destination Study roadblock - and thought that Gary Price was her son.

And adding insult to injury is the fact that there are two Dick Noons on the Island - and the one who isn't a police officer has been mistaken as someone in possession of stolen credit cards when he has tried to use them in businesses where only Officer Dick Noon is a household word. - P.H.

Innocent autographs

Last Monday afternoon, British author P.D. James held an autograph party at MacIntosh Bookshop to promote her latest novel, "Innocent Blood."

"Innocent Blood" was released last Spring and quickly soared up the bestseller list. Ms. James also issued three of her earlier stories into a collection entitled, "Murder in Triplicate."

P.D. James was well received by Islanders who lined up to chat with her and have their edition of her book personally autographed. There are autographed copies guaranteed to tingle the spine still available at MacIntosh. - E.M.

Deanery at St. Isabels

St. Isabel's Guild hosted the Southern Deanery of the St. Petersburg Diocesan Council of Catholic Women last Monday at St. Isabel's Catholic Church.

The Most Reverend W. Thomas Larkin D.D., bishop of the St. Petersburg Diocese, was the honored guest along with the 13 parish priests from within the area.

The Southern Deanery celebration began at 9:30 a.m. with a general business meeting of the latest news and involvements within the Deanery. A mass was then celebrated for the spiritual enrichment of the Deanery, followed by a luncheon celebration at Sundial. - E.M.

Refuge Report

By Donna M. Stanek
Outdoor Recreation Planner, J.N. "Ding"
Darling National Wildlife Refuge

Construction has finally begun on the Visitor Contact Station-Headquarters building. A pre-construction conference was held at the beginning of the month between representatives of the VOL Construction Company of Knoxville, Tennessee and personnel from the Atlanta Regional Office of Engineering. Construction began later the next week. A completion date of July 1 is anticipated. When completed, the building will house a small auditorium, exhibit area, and office space.

After the first of the year we will be installing a traveler's information radio system along the wildlife drive. This system consists of a series of interpretive messages that can be tuned on a car radio. This radio system, which will replace the current wildlife drive brochure, will enable us to update the material more readily at a lower cost. As far as we know this system is the first of its kind to be installed anywhere in the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service.

The Refuge recently acquired a rotary mower. This piece of equipment will enable us to keep the south dike and Bailey Tract mowed for public access.

Police beat

By Pat Harmel

The Sanibel Police Department made four arrests last week and numerous Island thefts are still under investigation.

Officer Jamie Phillips will be presented a commendation from Chief John Butler for the role he played in stopping a burglary in progress at the Casa Ybel pro shop.

Officer Phillips responded when a Pro-Com silent alarm at Casa Ybel sounded at the police station last Wed. at 7:54 p.m. Upon arrival at the pro shop, Phillips discovered a bathroom door on the west side of the building ajar. Phillips entered the building and was contacted by night clerk Larry Ross, also responding to the alarm.

Ross reportedly told Phillips that he had seen someone leaning over putting something into the trunk of a car on the closed service road east of the shop. Phillips then went outside and saw a black male getting into a car parked on the service road. He identified himself and ordered the man to stop, but the vehicle began backing down the road.

Phillips, pursuing the car on foot and followed by Ross, caught up with the driver, opened the car door and identified himself again, ordering the driver to stop. The driver then accelerated the car to the point where Phillips could no longer hang on and the driver had no control. The car crossed West Gulf Drive and went into a canal, with the driver fleeing into the mangroves.

Phillips radioed for assistance and then went in pursuit of the suspect. Phillips was able to apprehend Jesse James Major, 19, of Palmetto Court, Fort Myers. When Officers Mike Blackmore and Betty Weir arrived Majors was handcuffed and arrested, charged with third degree burglary, dealing in stolen property and attempting to elude an officer. A black and white TV and 8 pairs of tennis shoes were found in Major's vehicle and police records indicate that Major confessed.

Major's car had been towed to the Sanibel Station for a more thorough check by police officers when approximately 30 black men and women arrived at the station, inquiring as to Major's whereabouts and using abusive language. Officer Weir radioed for assistance, Sanibel Sgt. Ray Rhodes, Officer Mike Blackmore and the Lee County Sheriff's Dept. responded and the crowd was eventually dispersed.

On Oct. 26 at 12:56 p.m. two women riding bicycles on West Gulf Drive were startled when a car stopped in front of them and a totally nude man stepped out into their path. The women pedaled away quickly and contacted the SPD, resulting in the arrest of Leonard Charles Crawford Jr., 21, of Naples by SPD Officer Dick Church. Crawford, who has a past arrest record for similar incidents, was charged with exposure of sexual organs and booked into the Lee County Jail.

A 17 year-old Fort Myers youth and a 17 year-old Lehigh Acres youth were arrested last week for the break-in of the F & B Oyster House. The youths were charged with burglary and police reports indicate that both youths confessed to the crime. One of the youths, while being questioned by Sanibel Sgt. Ray Rhodes at the youth detention center, jumped through an open window but was later apprehended. Both youths have been charged with similar offenses by the Lee County Sheriff's Dept.

A money box was reported stolen from a pop machine at Fifi's Beauty Salon on Periwinkle Way last Friday.

The SPD was called to intervene when an Island employer began threatening an ex-employee with a gun last Tues. The gun, a Smith and Wesson 6" Model 14, was confiscated by Officer Betty Weir.

Several broken bags of concrete mix were discovered dumped in a canal at Casa Ybel and Southwind Drive last Wed. City building officials were notified of the incident.

Last Mon. the Captain's Walk Apts. reported that several nightlights had been broken out and on Tues., a boat owner reported that a battery, horn, compass, boat hook, spare propeller, metal gas tanks and a fire extinguisher had been stolen from his boat while stored at Aquatronics.

An apartment at Gulfside Place was reportedly broken into and liquor and linens stolen. The apartment owners have not been able to be contacted, however, for verification.

Tuesday's Child reported $102 worth of plants stolen from their store last week and $430 worth of interior doors were reported stolen from a construction site at Dinken's Bayou.

A bicycle was reported stolen from Lighthouse Condominium and Huxter's Market reported money missing from their change box.

Two pieces of siding were reported missing from a house under construction in Sanibel Bayous and the Wegryn Clinic reported $600 damage to screens that were slashed on the porch.

desirability of a Sanibel-based pilot operation of EEI's storage battery concept to get more electricity out of FPL's generating equipment. The suggestion was well-received by both bodies.

Accordingly, I was asked to pursue the possibilities of EEI, State, and Federal governments jointly sponsoring and financially aiding the installation of a prototype battery test facility for LECO operation on Sanibel. (I presume that the existing one mentioned in EEI's advertisement is performing satisfactorily in the cold North.)

As you are aware, FPL's Joe Myrick enjoys a fine rapport with LECO's General Manager Jim Sherfey. He should serve as a splendid liaison between you, LECO, and Sanibel's City Manager Bernie Murphy in your efforts to generate the needed momentum to get this vital aid for our unique community.

You can be assured that such help will be deeply appreciated by the entire populace of our fast-growing Islands. It should also be a feather in FPL's cap to obtain such a novel energy-saving facility for Southwest Florida. May I hear from you on this?

Sincerely,
(s) Paul A. Howe

'Paperworks' at LaBelle Gallery

"Paperworks," a four-person show of recent creations by Jean Dean, Anna Gohl, Sandi Morrison, and Claire Jeanine Satin, opens at the La Belle Gallery on Sunday November 9, with an exhibition preview with the artists from 3 to 6 p.m. The exhibition will continue through November 29.

"Paperworks" focuses on the explorations of four artists from Cape Coral, Fort Myers, and Dania, Florida into the potential of paper as a medium.

La Belle Gallery is located in the French Quarter at 1473-A Periwinkle Way.

Anna Gohl arranges her collection of shopping bags, newspaper advertisements and pieces of cloth into strong geometric designs.

We got our money's worth —and then some.

This is great! We're playing tennis and golf, taking it easy on the beach, doin' a little sailing, dancing at night and we're not spending a bundle.

Brad and I have our own place here on the beach at South Seas Plantation for two weeks every year. Plantation Beach Club sells interval ownership and we were able to buy just what we could use and afford. We've fixed the cost of our vacations and didn't let ourselves get tied down.

You see, there's this exchange program that lets us trade our vacation time at South Seas Plantation and go to other resorts around the world. So, not only can we travel, but we're not tied down to taking our vacation the same time every year.

Our friends Rob and JoAnn are also owners here, and we've planned to spend one week here next spring and then all go to Acapulco together. We really look forward to the vacations we can now afford to take.

We figure we'll get our money's worth in a couple of years — and then no matter what inflation does — we'll still be taking first class vacations every year.

SHOPPING

Sanibel is a veritable shopper's paradise. Tasteful boutiques and casual island shops join forces to present visitors with everything - and anything - a vacation shopper could hope for.

At the Lighthouse (Eastern) end of the Island, Punta Ybel Plaza and The Sea Horse Shops are right across the street from each other, providing a variety of products that can cure your sweet tooth or tickle your shell finder's fancy. Need a good haircut or coiffure? You can get it in either of these shopping centers. Most businesses open at 10 a.m. and close at 5:30 p.m. This holds true for many Island stores, although during the winter season, some are open evenings.

Tall Australian pines shade Periwinkle Way as the shopper travels west along this main thoroughfare. This stretch of road is truly a shopper's paradise! It's all here...the fast and not-so-fast eating spots, casual and elegant boutiques, hand-wrought jewelry, craft designs, shell shops and balms for health produce fanatics.

you drive or cycle along. Photographic supplies, bait and tackle, deli foods, fresh seafood and baked goods, knick-knacks and what-nots can all be found along the drive to the intersection of Periwinkle Way and Tarpon Bay Road. Along the way, shopping centers such as the Heart of the Islands, Periwinkle Place and Tahitian Gardens offer a variety of island delights.

Palm Ridge Road, the Periwinkle Way turn-off to Captiva, offers several new shopping centers featuring everything from imports to gift shops for the discriminating shopper, plants and shells, a sandwich shop, ice cream parlour, pizza parlour, boutique shop and the Island Apothecary pharmacy.

At the Tarpon Bay-Periwinkle Way intersection, the Island Shopping Center features the Island's only supermarket, dry cleaners and movie house.

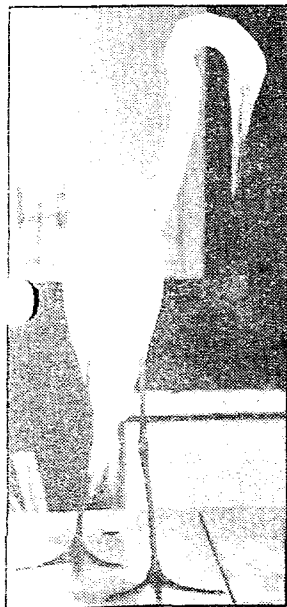

A left on Tarpon Bay Road takes the visitor past Sanibel's original schoolhouse, which now holds original Island watercolors and woodcuts. Then on to West Gulf Drive and westward to an interesting little artisan's shop and gallery.

At the intersection of Periwinkle Way and Tarpon Bay Road, you may choose instead to turn right and follow the signs to the Tarpon Bay Marina, where you will find a cluster of quaint shops overlooking the back bay...Some antiques, shells and shellcrafts, what-nots and clever clothes can be found here, as well as a great seafood sandwich and soft drinks.

The spectacular ride to Captiva, with its lush foliage and enchanting view of the Gulf, is well worth a day's outing. Talented artists display their works in one roadside shop, while others feature some nifty gifts for Grandma to take home to little hands as a pleasant hodge-podge of remembrances from these barrier islands.

Whether for shopping, or merely browsing, Island shops offer a surprising variety - from one-of-a-kind collectibles for the discerning shopper to postcards for the simple souvenir hunter and of course, for all, shells, shell jewelry, shell lamps, just plain shells...the most beautiful shells in the world from the most beautiful shelling beaches in the world.

BEACH ACCESS

Sanibel has miles of public Gulf-front beaches, any one of which is only minutes from your lodging. Lighthouse Point is a stretch of Federal land on the Eastern tip of Sanibel Island, and from there, the Gulf beach is accessible again at the end of Donax Street, at Tarpon Bay Road, at Bowman's Beach Road (off Sanibel-Captiva Road) and Turner's Beach, which is located at Blind Pass, between Sanibel and Captiva Islands.

On Captiva Island, public beach access can be found at Turner Beach (which has public facilities) or further north, just past the entrance to South Seas Plantation.

NOTE: STATE LAW PROHIBITS NUDE SUN-BATHING ON ALL FLORIDA BEACHES. VIOLATORS WILL BE PROSECUTED.

CAMPING

Camping on the beach is prohibited and while everyone enjoys a beach fire, the Sanibel Fire Board has signed into law an ordinance prohibiting open beach fires. Prior to the ordinance, a permit was necessary for a beach bonfire, but as of July 18, 1980, it is now illegal. An exemption to the ordinance is a fire in an approved cooking container (not to exceed 48" X 24" X 12" deep with an extruded metal grill) for non-commercial food preparation. This type of container will be allowed on the beach without a permit. After you have had your beach party, it is recommended that you assume the responsibility for the cleanup of any debris or litter in your area.

GATORS

Feeding alligators anywhere within the Sanibel City limits is not only illegal (violators of the law are subject to a fine of up to $500, or up to 60 days in jail, or both), but can be extremely dangerous. Alligators can run 45 m.p.h., so if you're close enough to feed an alligator, he's close enough to feed on you. An alligator fed for fun loses his natural fear of humans and becomes a potential threat to children and pets.

WARNING! SAFEGUARD YOUR VALUABLES.

In order to protect your valuable possessions from theft, it is recommended that you TAKE THEM TO A BANK OR HOTEL VAULT FOR SAFEKEEPING. Do NOT leave them in your room or car.

SPEED LIMITS

There are varying speed limits (20-30 m.p.h.) as one comes across the causeway, and there is a very good reason for them...to preserve the bridge supports from strain and stress. This speed limit is strictly enforced with the use of radar on a 24-hour basis by both the Sanibel Police Department and the Lee County Sheriff's Department. Driving or parking a motor vehicle or moped on the bike path is strictly prohibited. Violators will be ticketed.

SHELLING
The City of Sanibel Resolution limiting the taking of live shells to 2 live shells per person per species is one to be scrupulously obeyed. As a matter of fact, in order to preserve Sanibel's beautiful shelling beaches, most collectors refuse to take any live shells whatsoever.

DOGGY DO'S & DON'TS

If you're visiting Sanibel with the family Fido in tow, all the better. All family members can enjoy Southwest Florida sun and surf. The Chamber of Commerce can tell you what accommodations are available for families with pets. Remember: wherever you are, clean up after your pet! The friendly reminder... "Leave nothing on the beach but footprints"... applies to dogs, too. There's no leash law on Sanibel, but of course an excitable or unruly animal is better off when controlled with a leash.

BICYCLE RULES

If you're not used to a lot of bicycle traffic, watch out for it on Sanibel. The extensive network of bike paths on the Island is clearly marked along the edge of the road. Observe caution when driving near the bike path. A State law and City Ordinance combine to PROHIBIT PARKING OR DRIVING THE BIKE PATH. MOP ARE NOT PERMITTED ON THE BIKE PATHS.

Planning on spending some time on a bike to enjoy the Island sun and sights? Make sure your vehicle is equipped with a bike flag, horn, good brakes and a light for night riding. Under Florida law, bicycle riders have the same rights and responsibilities as motor vehicle drivers.

Would your family spend more time together if you owned your own home?
Are you weary of winter weather, when you can have summer all year long?
Wouldn't you rather own your own abode-rather than pay seasonable rates?

Some important voting advice from Committee of the Islands...

Before you vote, you owe it to yourself and your community to rate the candidates on these questions:

1. Do they have the experience and the knowledge about our government and our environment to do what's best for Sanibel?
2. Do they have the initiative and executive abilities to get the job done?
3. Will they perform in the best interest of all the people of Sanibel rather than for their own special interests?
4. Do they have the willingness and time to give full attention to their duties as councilmen?
5. Are they strong-minded enough to withstand the pressure from special-interest groups?
6. Will they work for efficiency, economy and simplicity in our city's government?
