at Photographers' Gallery

Former Sanibel resident Leslie Allan Burch opened her first one person show, "The Camera and Eye," at The Photographers' Gallery last Sunday night.

Leslie's photographs are intimate visions of interiors and the city. Her process of capturing city photographs is to put on a backpack and proceed to "pick the city apart. I have never been able to take the city as a whole," she says.

The Burch show will be on exhibit through February 6. The Photographers' Gallery is located at 1554 Periwinkle Way.

A conversation with Leonard Mosley

Writer, author, historian and Sanibel resident, Leonard Mosley, was the star attraction at the Sanibel Community Center when he spoke Sunday night on the art of biography, courtesy of BIG Arts.

Anecdotes from interviews Mosley has conducted with the famous and infamous, including Adolph Hitler ("He reminded me of one of the Marx brothers.") Eleanor Dulles ("In some ways she was a better woman than her brothers were men."), and Charles Lindberg ("His great tragedy was that because he never told a lie he never believed anyone else did either.") delighted the more than 150 Islanders who turned out to hear him speak.

"The Druid," a story of a German spy, is Mosley's most recent book and will be released within the next few months. He is currently researching for a biography on General George Marshall.

Island Recreation Complex donations

Ross Allen of Amhurst, New Hampshire was the first Island visitor to bring a junonia into the Islander offices this year. Last Saturday, on the last day of his first vacation here, Jones discovered the large shell in the surf in front of King's Crown.

Every week the Islander will be featuring a different donor to the Sanibel Recreation Complex Fund. This week's donor is Sanibel resident Hal Austin.

SANIBEL DREAMS

If I had My Life To Live Over
I Would

- Relax, take things less seriously
- Climb more Mountains
- Eat more ice cream and fudge
- Have fewer imaginary problems
- Take care of real problems
- Have great moments, instead of hopes of great years
- Have success be a journey, not a goal
- Walk barefoot on the beach

- Love more... Hate less
- Do a good deed for the joy of it
- Be less critical
- Live to die... not die to live
- Laugh more heartily
- Admire youth, even with envy

- Chance more mistakes
- Ride more merry-go-rounds rather give, than get
- Be born old... to get young
- To know sooner, these are truths

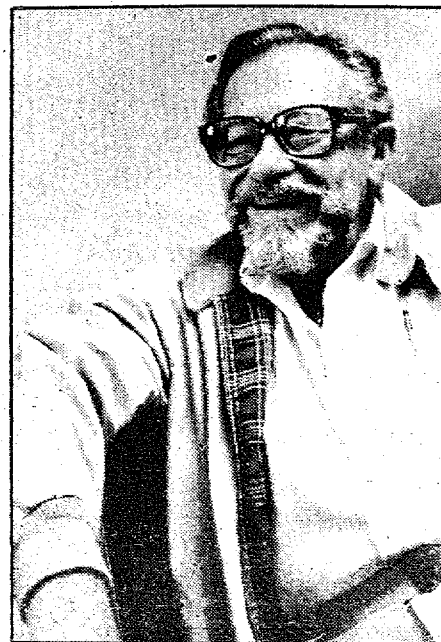

Wish I could say I live the above, but alas, I have human frailties.

"The whole reason for my donating money to the recreation complex is in that poem," says Sanibel poet Hal Austin. "I feel that somewhere along the way in everybody's life someone helped them when they were young and I feel that this should be carried on by everybody," adds the man who has no children in his neighborhood or his home.

"As a Kiwanian," explains Hal, "I pledged myself many years ago when my son was awarded and helped by the Kiwanis. I felt that as soon as I was relieved of commuting 60 miles a day I would do my share for children, people in general, really.

"When I saw that Don Bissell was heading up the fundraising for this complex I decided to donate. I would go blindly into anything that man would sponsor! But really, we were all children at one time. You may not want to pay school taxes if your children are grown up but who would deny these children a swimming pool?"

Increased erosion worries Captivans

By Ellen Mulligan

The Captiva Erosion Prevention District (CEPD) met Monday, January 5, for their monthly meeting and were joined by almost 30 Islanders who came to voice their concern over the drastic increase in erosion over the past month.

Islanders were more than concerned about the recent advance and acceleration of erosion on the south end of Captiva. "As much as 10 feet has been nibbled away in the last month," said CEPD Chairman Richard Butze, adding, "the annual rate has been abnormally large."

Butze aimed the question at project engineer Erik Olsen whether the revetment was the source of the erosion acceleration. According to Olsen, the revetment may have exaggerated erosion in some of the areas without revetment but was not the cause for recent erosion. Apparently, Olsen explained, the shoreline has been steepening as the waves continue to wash sediment away.

With this acceleration in erosion, one Islander questioned, "What does the time element hinge on and what is a ballpark figure on when something can be done?"

Project Manager Dick Stevens, explained that the proposed Captiva beach renourishment project is a combination of financing on one hand and engineering and permitting on the other, "and the permitting gets drawn out," Stevens added.

District officials stressed that it takes the support of the people to get through the permitting process. It cannot be done with just the help of an "isolated few," Butze added.

"If the Island wants to do the project then support it outwardly. It will help and we'll get the permits," Stevens said, adding, "If we had that type of support we could get it done by next year."

The CEPD suggested that Captiva residents direct their attention and concerns in writing to Congressmen and state and local officials to express their feelings that things were taking too long and there was a need for prompt action. If more people simply speak up, the whole process can be accelerated for the benefit of all Islanders, CEPD members stressed.

Dex Bender, CEPD agent, also gave his monthly report. Bender has met with County Commissioners to discuss issues relative to their part in the funding of the proposed beach renourishment project. Together they went through the status of the project with relation to the County road.

"They (the County Commissioners) feel, basically," Bender explained, "they have an obligation of maintaining the County road which puts them in the position of contributing to the project."

According to Bender, because of the road the County has a "forever obligation" on Captiva. Therefore, the CEPD can anticipate County expenditure of a projected $70,000 per year on the beach as protection for the County road, Bender said. He also said that the money Captiva receives from the Causesway (4 percent) cannot be listed as a source for funding the bond issue on the proposed project.

During the past month, Stevens has received two important letters. One letter from the Army Corps of Engineers in Jacksonville indicated "economic justification" for the proposed beach renourishment project. Therefore, Stevens explained, the Corps is preparing to draft a Section 215 agreement which permits the Army Corps of Engineers to reimburse the local government, in this case, the CEPD, up to a maximum of one million dollars for the total construction cost of the project.

The Department of Natural Resources (DNR) also sent new word to the CEPD, according to Stevens. Stevens noted that the state, through the Department of Natural Resources, has approved and budgeted $750,000 for this project and an agreement to reimburse the CEPD $40,000 of that same money to pay for the sand search test will be drafted provided the CEPD meets the public benefit requirements set by the state and the DNR.

The state and federal agencies can participate in funding costs which are directly related to public benefit, Stevens explained, and Captiva is eligible for 17 percent of the total cost participation by the state based on the existing public accesses.

"Sixty cars at Turner beach and at the end of the County road, 50 cars, that's all," Stevens said, adding, "That's what we're being asked to do."

William Carlton, environmental spokesman for the Bureau of Beaches and Shores, verified these figures for the Islander and indicated that the CEPD's agreement and requirements will be reviewed by the Governor and his Cabinet prior to the allocation of any funds. He also noted that state money will only be contributed to those areas that are public recreational benefit areas which amount to three-quarters of a mile of the 4.7 miles of Captiva.

Islanders also questioned if the proposed beach renourishment project will really help Captiva's critical erosion problems. Butze commented that he has not been selling this project to the Islands as a "permanent solution" but rather it has been approached with the idea that it is the best solution available for an amount of money that is "reasonable." Butze also noted that once the proposed project is initiated, it will need refurbishing.

"All we can hope," Butze said, "is that once you've done it, the next time is a little easier."

Art League meets

The General Meeting of the Sanibel-Captiva Art League will be held January 22 at 1:30 at the Sanibel Community Center.

Community Courses offers popular winter classes

By Ellen Mulligan

Winter has definitely arrived on Sanibel, and with that, also arriving is the winter session for the Community Courses.

The line up for this session is quite interesting and offers a wide variety of courses to choose from.

Bob Osman's popular bridge course is at the top of the list this winter. Islanders would be distraught if the Committee ever voted to take the bridge class off the agenda. So, this session Osman will be on hand to sharpen up your bidding skills with emphasis on the play of hands.

Another popular pastime is backgammon and Islanders will have the opportunity to really get the idea behind playing strategy. Instructor Hastings Foster, a real expert, has always wanted to start a backgammon class and he is now getting the opportunity. It can't hurt to learn from an expert, can it? Playing knowledge is recommended but beginners are not excluded.

Introduction to quilting will be offered by the Committee and behind the needle will be Vera Swanson Graham. This course will introduce beginners to the basic techniques of patchwork, applique and quilting.

Other sewing courses include sample quilt and intermediate needlepoint. Jeanne Toppa will be the instructor for these courses and students must know the basics. Sample quilt will explore making a quilt with different patchwork blocks and appliques. The intermediate needlepoint course will expand sewers' horizons using different yarns, silks and rayons while learning how to use each.

Meet the masters in Ruth Kaiser's music appreciation course. This class is designed to introduce the average listener to the basic symphonic repertoire and some of the important composers and trends in music history from the Seventeenth Century to the present.

The local Audubon Society will be offering beginning and advanced bird identification courses for Islanders who are frustrated by never knowing what bird they are looking at or hearing.

The Community Course Committee continues to offer fine adult education in areas of general interest. For further information concerning the class schedules, contact Betty Bray at 472-2849 or Mary Kramer at 482-5897.

Shell Harbor Governors hold first meeting

By Ellen Mulligan

The Shell Harbor Canal Maintenance District Board of Governors met for the first time last Thursday, January 8, for the purpose of organizing the newly established district.

Francis Bailey, Duane White, Mike Klein, and Fred Valtin, along with City Attorney Neal Bowen and City Manager Bernie Murphy were present as City representatives and Gordon Kiddoo, representing Shell Harbor, was also present.

The board unanimously voted to appoint Mayor Zee Butler as chairman of the board and Vice Mayor Duane White as vice chairman. City Manager Bernie Murphy was appointed executive director of the board to manage and execute the board's directives keep the books and accounts for the district.

City Attorney Neal Bowen was appointed board attorney and the board voted to hire City auditors, Taylor, Edenfield, Gilliam and Wiltshire.

An administrative fee which will reasonably cover the City's activities on the district's behalf will be recommended later so as not to burden the general taxpayer.

The board then discussed the scope and financing of the necessary dredging work and began to sift through their options and alternatives.

Three issues concerning the scope of dredging were discussed by board members, including how much of the canals needs dredging and to what depth, and where will the excavated material be put.

The proposed plan is to dredge the main canal and the run-off canals in the Shell Harbor District to four feet below the mean water level in a recommended sequence of operation.

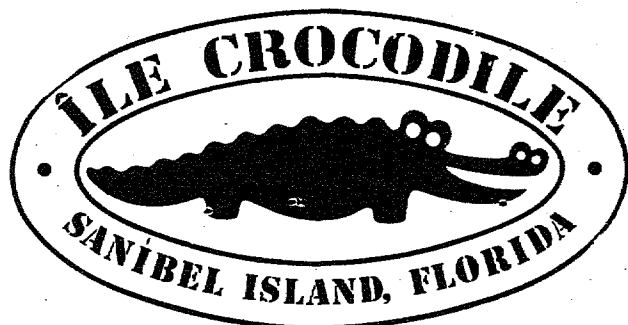

The problem of finding a suitable location for the excavated material (amounting to three football fields stacked six feet high) and-or finding a market for this high caliber dredge material was left for Murphy and his staff to investigate.

Murphy was also asked to draft financing alternatives for the most equitable approach to "just and even payments," whether it be by special assessments or by imposing a tax on residents of the Shell Harbor District or a combination of both.

The City Council will set a date for the next meeting of the Shell Harbor Canal Maintenance District Board of Governors for sometime in early February to discuss the proposals recommended by Murphy and will also set a general meeting date for residents of the Shell Harbor District at that time.

Tuesday at the Center

SCCF naturalist, Steve Phillips, addresses his favorite subject - snakes!

By Ellen Mulligan

Sanibel-Captiva Conservation Foundation staff naturalist Steve Phillips spoke to a full house last Tuesday as he displayed live specimens to illustrate his talk about snakes for the Tuesday at the Center program.

"Thanks to snakes we now have birds," said Phillips as he explained the evolution of the species. According to Phillips, there are five major reptile groups in the world and four of them are found in North America. They include crocodilians, turtles, lizards and snakes.

Snakes derived from the ancestors of the amphibians some 300 million years ago, Phillips said, and throughout those years the amphibians developed rough dry skin as a protective device and large lungs to accommodate their increased land living.

In the next series of evolution involving their adaptation to land the reptiles began to bear eggs on land with a hard shell and this later led to some species bearing live young, Phillips noted.

During this evolutionary process, and since reptiles are cold blooded, they began coming out into the sun and climbing into trees to maintain their body temperature. In some reptile species, their scales began modifying into feathers which is where some of the birds have evolved from, Phillips explained, and the birds have maintained scales on their bills and feet.

According to Phillips, snakes have been given a bad name ever since the Bible, but it was his intention to clear up the misconceptions about them! As Phillips sees it, snakes are very clean and their primary source of food is strictly insects, birds, mice and other snakes which helps keep the balance of nature balanced.

To help soften the inherent fear most people have for snakes, Phillips proceeded to bring out his own selection of snakes common to this area, including the southern ring snake, the keeled green snake, the ground snake, the garter snake, the coach whip snake, the king snake, the scarlet snake, the scarlet king snake and the coral snake.

Visitors and Islanders listened intently yet with some reservation as they carefully eyed Phillips' hand to make sure the live specimens didn't get out of it.

Today the Conservation Foundation will feature Dr. William Webb speaking on the topic of wetlands as another in the series on the ecozones of Sanibel. Tuesday at the Center will begin at 2 p.m. at the Sanibel-Captiva Conservation Foundation located on Sanibel-Captiva Road.

SCCF staff naturalist, Steve Phillips, shows extra respect for this poisonous coral snake while he exhibits it for his Tuesday at the Center audience.

In your opinion

Proposed legislation

Dear Editor:

As a public service, I propose to submit the following presentation to our S.W. Florida Delegation to the Florida Legislature at their public hearing at Ft. Myers Beach on January 27.

I would appreciate your inviting suggested changes from your readers on the proposals. Thank you.

The Florida Constitution's Article IV, Section 7 variously authorized the Governor and Senate to suspend, remove, reinstate, and replace County officials and those of the State not subject to impeachment. Enumerated reasons for the exercise of those powers are: commission of a felony; malfeasance; misfeasance; neglect of duty; drunkenness; incompetence; and permanent inability to perform official duties.

Impeachment for misdemeanor in office is prescribed in Article III, Section 17 for the Governor, Lt. Governor, Cabinet members, as well as judges of the Supreme, District, and Circuit Courts.

In 1974, the Legislature enacted section 100.361 of the Florida laws to additionally provide a "uniform" RECALL procedure for removing elected officials of municipalities and CHARTERED counties only. (Lee is one of the vast majority of UNCHARTERED counties.) The grounds for such removal are the same negative ones as those for the above-mentioned State and County officials - except that the felonies are those confined to cases of "moral turpitude."

It is significant in these "sophisticated" times that neither the State nor the Federal Constitutions contains a simple and humane basis for just recalling elected officials. One that does not impugn the ousted one's integrity or that of his family and friends. (Why do they have to simulate a forbidden "bill of pains and penalties?")

Also significantly, Sanibel's City Charter was granted in the heat of that vindictive national atmosphere that led President Nixon to resign under the threat of impeachment. Unlike its contemporaneously enacted State uniform Recall law mentioned previously, however, it was written compassionately in a vote-of-no confidence style. It was responsive to the popular revision over the Roman-Circus aura of Watergate events.

As many of you here today who created it know, Sanibel's Recall mechanism is forthright in achieving its goal. It is triggered by a petition from at least 25 percent of the registered voters who had exercised their franchise at the previous election. The petition in the signing process is accompanied by brief statements of the reason for the official's Recall, and his response thereto. If the official fails to resign within 15 days after the petition is certified to be sufficient, voting will be held between 30 and 60 days thereafter. The effect of this forthright admonition is salutary enough that no Recalls have or are expected to occur.

In view of the foregoing, I suggest that the Legislature: 1. Arrange for a prompt Constitutional Revision Referendum that would amend that document to delete its applicability to county officers; 2. Subject to approval of the referendum, enact an amendment to section 100.36 F.S. to prescribe a Sanibel-type Recall provision for ALL local public officials not elected by state-wide voting.

Sincerely,
Paul A. Howe

$5 beach parking

for residents

A copy of the following letter was given to the Islander for publication:

Mr. Bernard Murphy, City Manager
Members of the City Council

The Planning Commission review on December 29 of the proposed ordinance on Parking and Beach Accesses was most constructive (and informative). There is one major decision, however, regarding the charge for resident-parking stickers which I believe needs correction by the Council. The Planning Commission decided to charge only $1 for such stickers, (not $5), probably because they are not primarily responsible for fiscal matters.

Admittedly, the cost of issuing stickers is going to be more than $1 per sticker. A practical estimate is that it may be closer to $5. The 3,000-5,000 permits, which are estimated needed by Gary Price, would thus cost taxpayers $10-20,000. Moreover, all the citizens want the new ordinance (which is necessarily complex) diligently policed and administered - including signs, policing the area, picking up the increased litter, etc., all of which may cost another $20-25,000 per year.

In most municipalities, providing special parking is increasingly considered as a revenue-producing activity, which would at least amortize some of the cost.

I would hope the City Council would want this to be so for Sanibel, and that we would not fall into the Federal Government syndrome of the "Government" subsidizing everything.

I urge that the proposed ordinance call for at least a $5 charge for each residential permit. By comparison to $30 for non-resident permits, $5 is not out of line.

I'd like to suggest, also, that the Council include a significant fine for those found littering the parking or access areas. The end of Tarpon Bay Road is an example of how untidy such areas can get by uncontrolled littering.

Sincerely,
O. F. Veal

On oil

The following letter was given to the Islander for publication:

Mayor and City Council
Bernard Murphy
City Manager
City of Sanibel

Dear Bernie:

As you know, the Foundation has expressed strong concern about the off-shore oil exploration drilling which has been approved by the Federal Government in the Gulf of Mexico, some 70 miles west of Sanibel and Captiva. The total area of oil and gas leases already approved and those proposed is almost 2,000,000 acres.

Our Board of Directors has invited a representative of the Federal Outer Continental Shelf Office and a representative of Shell Oil Company to meet at the Foundation Center to discuss the drilling, its safeguards and potential impacts and to answer questions that we have about the possibility of oil spills. The invitation has been accepted. These officials will meet with us at 9:30 a.m. on Wednesday, January 21 at the Center building on Sanibel-Captiva Road.

Being aware of the City of Sanibel's vital concerns about the subject, the Board cordially invites the Mayor and Council and the City Manager and his staff to be our guests at the meeting and to participate in the discussions and question and answer session.

Please let me know if you have any questions about the program and if you can all join us.

Sincerely,
B. G. Olson

BIG Arts presents mime, January 18

The Barrier Island Group for the Arts (BIG Arts) is pleased to announce the appearance of mime Peter Driscoll at the Sanibel Community Center on Sunday, January, 18 at 8 p.m.

Driscoll is a graduate of Middlebury College in Vermont where he majored in drama, English and teacher education.

It was probably Shakespeare, however, that led Driscoll to his ultimate choice as a performing artist in the field of mime. While appearing in "Hamlet" at Middlebury he was forced to search for a way to express three different characters and discovered the art of silent movement and the power of mime.

After hundreds of hours of patient study before his mirror, Driscoll launched a very successful career in mime and has since performed at numerous schools where he also teaches mime in conjunction with his performances.

A fascinating individual, an extraordinary artist, Driscoll brings a great sense to his program entitled "Dry Bones." It is a performance that children and adults, alike, should not miss.

ROUGHAGE VS CANCER

"To avoid cancer of the colon or rectum, doctors are switching patients from a bland, refined diet to high roughage (lettuce, bran cereal, etc.) says Dr. H.M. Pollard of U. of Michigan. "In countries with high roughage diets you find the lowest incidence of cancer of the colon. They have good bowel activity." He recommends whole grain cereals and raw vegetables - avoid refined (white) flour and puddings.

MUNICIPAL RECORDS

By Pat Harmel

A City Hall, yes, but where to put it?

When City Manager Bernie Murphy requested that City Council begin reviewing architectural proposals for a Sanibel City Hall he relit the flame under the controversy over where such a complex should be built.

Last week Murphy informed the Council that state law mandates review of at least three of the 15 proposals received by the City from architects vying for the right to design the Island's City Hall. Six of the 15 proposals have been recommended for review by the City staff.

Newly elected Councilman Fred Valtin opened the discussion by saying he wanted "to challenge" the former Council's decision to build a City Hall complex on the Causeway property.

The 28-acre Causeway (or Hoffman) tract was approved for purchase by public referendum for a total price of $1,804,400 in November 1978. At that time, a widely circulated public information prospectus claimed "The Council has publicly confirmed that there are no present plans for placing a municipal or police complex on the Causeway properties." The prospectus, published by a subcommittee of a Council ad hoc committee, suggested instead that the Causeway property might be used for recreational uses, i.e. bicycling, shelling, hiking, swimming and picnicking.

Valtin was a member of the subcommittee that published the prospectus, along with George Tenney, Dr. Louise Johnson, Don Manchester and Pete Smith.

Vice Mayor Duane White's response to Valtin's challenge was "We own that property, we could begin construction immediately" and claimed that searching for another location could postpone construction "three years or longer."

Valtin, however, was not swayed. "This is one of those questions where referendum would be quite in order," he maintained, adding, "There are a lot of Islanders, me included, who do not believe that the Causeway property" is the right place for a City Hall.

Murphy, however, maintained that "Only at the point where you commence contract do you have to know your site. You need not be site selective to continue this process" of interviewing architects.

Councilman Mike Klein agreed with Valtin. "I do not believe that we should be putting a City Hall, which is quasi-commercial, on a site" the City has rezoned for a lower impact of use, he said.

Councilman Francis Bailey told the City Manager, "I think we're wasting our time to go through with this (interviewing process) without a specific site in mind. I think we should decide where we're going to put this thing."

Valtin reminded the Council that an earlier Council had "accepted the Site Selection Committee's recommendation (a tract on Periwinkle Way) but in the meantime you bought the Causeway property."

White, however, maintained that "our City government is crippled" by its current cramped office quarters and a new City Hall was of the utmost importance. He queried whether or not Valtin and Klein would change their minds if access to a City Hall complex on the Causeway property was limited to Bailey Road and a vegetation buffer were incorporated to shield the complex from view.

Klein admitted that his main concern was traffic congestion at Periwinkle and Causeway Roads and appeared to be swayed by a promise of Bailey Road access only.

But Valtin was unconvinced. "I want to be damn sure that the 'Lopsided O' doesn't come in the back door," he exclaimed, referring to an unpopular rotary proposal for the intersection that was defeated last summer under public opposition.

Bailey voiced opposition to the issue going to referendum, saying, "that's why we have public hearings." White was also opposed to a referendum vote, admitting, "it would cause terrible division."

Klein moved to make the architectural reviews site specific on the grounds that access be limited to Bailey Road. Francis Bailey seconded but added, "If somebody comes up with some reason (why there should be access elsewhere) I don't want the architect hamstrung."

Valtin pleaded with the Council not to vote on the issue that day "since my minority of two has shrunk to a minority of one" with Klein's turnout and Mayor Zee Butler's absence. "I want to make sure this City Hall is aesthetically Islandy and all the other buzz words you want," he added.

Despite White's assurances that the issue at hand only pertained to interviewing architects, Valtin charged that by tacking on access mandates the Council appeared to have made a site selection. "I'm pleading for time," he admitted, and requested that either a workshop session on the issue be held with the Planning Commission or the issue be scheduled for another Council meeting.

"Time takes its toll," responded White.

"Why should we reconsider when we've been through all this before," added Bailey.

Klein's motion passed 3-1 with Valtin dissenting. City Manager Bernie Murphy will be scheduling interviews for the Council with representatives from the firms of Fenton Associates, Gee and Jenson, Architectural Resources and Stewart-Richmond (who designed the Naples City Hall).

'Fern Lady' wins first density increase reading

Gail Peak, the "Fern Lady of Fiddlehead Bayou," last week won a first reading on a specific amendment ordinance that would give her the right to build two homes on Dixie Beach Road.

Ms. Peak has maintained through months of discussion with the City that her property was "altered" without her permission, thus rendering it lowlands under the City ecozone system.

According to Peak, the Mosquito Control District, without her permission, illegally dug ditches on her property and bulldozed a road through it - which was later covered up.

At last week's Council meeting Ms. Peak and Jim Farr, of Dex Bender Associates, presented the Council with a letter from Wayne Miller, of Mosquito Control, admitting to digging the mosquito control ditches without prior permission. Aerial photographs and an interpretation by a photogrammetrist were also submitted by Farr as evidence of Peak's claim.

Peak is requesting two units instead of the permitted one for the property and is willing to make the total habitable space the same for two units as was permitted for one.

Councilmembers were less than sympathetic to Peak's claim, however, despite the fact that former Councilman Porter Goss had told her earlier that if she could bring back evidence of wrongdoing on her property the Council would be willing to listen.

Councilman Mike Klein and Island naturalist George Campbell both disputed Peak's claims and maintained that the property in question was lowlands. But Councilman Fred Valtin said that he was willing to allow the two unit request out of "compassion."

Councilman Duane White agreed with Valtin but maintained that the land use plan categorization of the property was, indeed, correct. White suggested permitting the two unit allocation "recognizing your trouble, heartache and toil," but maintained that conditions should be attached "and (this is) not an admittance that the comprehensive land use plan is wrong."

White suggested that conditions include Peak's working with the Planning Department and Vegetation Committee on designing her homes and that they be required to meet the performance standards of the land use plan with a maximum of 3600 square feet in habitable space.

Possible City Hall site?

The Sanibel Community Association has offered to sell the City of Sanibel four-and-a-half acres (or more) of land across from the community building on Periwinkle Way.

Councilman Fred Valtin told the Council that he thought perhaps the Association would be willing to sell up to nine acres of land at a cost of approximately $175,000 to $200,000 for the construction of a City Hall complex. Valtin also reminded the Council that the tract in question had been favorably considered by the City Hall Site Selection Committee.

The Council agreed to further investigate the offer as to definite amount of acreage available and the approximate price.

The Sanibel Marathon?

The idea that Sanibel is a beautiful place for runners to exercise their passion is undisputable. What is disputable, however, at least in the eyes of the Sanibel City Council, is whether or not Sanibel is the perfect place to hold a run a la Boston Marathon.

F & B Oyster House owner, Mel Kern, approached the City Council with just that idea in mind last week - and met with mixed response.

Kern proposed a 26 mile (and 385 yards) marathon that would be held "five or six months from now" and draw from "2,000 to 5,000 runners from all over the country." A $5-10 entry fee that would be donated to the City and "national publicity that would give prestige to the Island" was part of Kern's plan.

"The basic idea, as far as I'm concerned, is great," responded Councilman Francis Bailey.

"I like it," echoed Councilman Fred Valtin.

"It would wipe us out for the weekend!" exclaimed new Councilman Mike Klein, adding, "It bothers me a little bit."

Vice Mayor Duane White also approached the idea with some trepidation, charging that "the impacts would be considerable" from bringing in thousands of off-Islanders. Although White said he might favor a marathon run for "local people and visitors" he declined support for Kern's proposal "on the information we have now."

City Attorney Neal Bowen tipped the scales when he pointed out that "Boston keeps a staff of attorneys full time during their marathon" to deal with the behind-the-scenes complex legal problems.

Bailey then admitted, "Maybe we should know more about it," but encouraged Kern to pursue the idea.

"It is a commendable thing," agreed Klein, "but I think we should hear (from the residents) before we do this to them."

Kern cited the "prestige and financial proceeds" that might accrue from such an event as benefits for the City, but said he might be willing to make the event "regional (three states) if you don't want it national."

Kern will be drafting a concrete proposal for consideration by the City Council in the near future.

Island Reporter vacates offices

The Island Reporter newspaper will be vacating 1,000 square feet of office space in Periwinkle Place on February 1 - and the City of Sanibel will be moving in.

The office space, adjacent to existing City Hall offices, will be rented to the City for $6.25 per square foot (the current City cost) by Mariner Property Management, Inc., for a total increase in monthly rent of $541.66.

Ok - clean up those squirts!

Councilman Fred Valtin brought the issue of "sea squirts" - globular, smelly sea organisms - to the attention of City Council last week when he pointed out that the sea squirt littered beaches were disgusting tourists and residents alike.

Valtin said he had received numerous queries as to whether the organisms could be cleaned up from the beaches or not.

Although the land use plan prohibits destruction of beach vegetation or "material alteration" of the beach, City Attorney Neal Bowen ruled that the messy organisms could be cleaned up and disposed of by individuals.

"Sea squirts" are one-celled organisms that serve as food for sharks and other bottom feeders. Strong northwestern winds have brought them up on the beaches where decomposition has occurred, causing a rancid odor. But, according to Charles LeBuff of the Ding Darling Refuge, they do not pose a pollution or health hazard.

On the water

By Captain Mike Fuery

There is a small fish that feeds along our Gulf shoreline and gets very little attention, but is responsible for saving many fishing trips and is a very good addition to the table menu. Let's talk about this fish called the Whiting.

Now, if you are from the Northeast, you probably are saying, 'Whiting? Those are trash fish where I come from.' Maybe there, but not here. Actually, the Whiting is found along both sides of Florida and, as I mentioned, is a popular food fish, especially when the more famous fish won't bite.

Fish names get all mixed up and with many visitors, the Whiting is nothing to fish for. But one of my charter customers takes them and simmers them slowly in white wine. He says there isn't anything in the world better.

There are two things I like about Whiting. The first is that they are easy to find, the other is that you need only basic equipment and even a beginning fisherman can have some success with them.

Whiting like the surf, or the Gulf of Mexico side of the Islands. This is true all over Florida and if you can catch them here, you can catch them anywhere.

Probably the best way for me to tell you how to catch them is to tell you some of the things not to do. One of the first is to not use a large hook. A size 2-0 is nearly too large. Whiting have small, round mouths which are underslung, that is, the mouth is placed down low on the chin so that the fish can feed in the rolling surf.

Whiting are silvery in color. The average is about 12 to 15 inches long and weighs about 2 pounds. Some are larger, but please don't take any fish smaller than 12 inches. There is no law against it, but Whiting less than a foot long won't give you enough meat to bother with.

So fish with a hook of 2-0 or smaller. Next, use as light a sinker as possible. You want your bait to stay put in the surf, but not be so heavy as to tip off the fish should they try to run with your bait and get spooked.

As for bait, just plain old shrimp is still the best. But, use only a small piece of it. Break or cut the live shrimp into thirds and you get more out of your dozen bait and catch just as many fish too.

Some old Whiting fishermen like to use sand fleas for bait.

Sand fleas are those tiny sand colored crabs which burrow into the surf line on the beaches. Whiting do indeed love to eat sand fleas and that's one reason why they patrol the beaches.

These fish like to find little pockets where they can gather along shore or near the passes. Most any part of the beaches will have Whiting, but I would suggest working that cut which comes along the shore at the lighthouse end of Sanibel. You might really get into them and land a couple of dozen or so, but I would say that a single fisherman working all afternoon would do well to get 8-12 of these fish. Sometimes a couple of hours will do wonders, so if you get there and can't get a bite, take a break and go back later to see if a school has moved in.

The sea trout fishing dropped off dramatically when the big cold fronts came pouring down from the north. It will pick up again, but when the temperature drops drastically these spotted fish head for the deeper, warmer rivers and offshore. The result is slow fishing, but it should turn around as it always does and come back again.

Shelling Tips

By Captain Mike Fuery

It has been nearly two years now since Sanibel's City Council passed an ordinance limiting the taking of live shells to two per person, per species. This week, let's have a look at some observations on this legislation aimed at protecting live shells, one of the Islands' most valued resources.

Once, there were more shells than even the most ardent collector would want to pick up. I've had people out on my shelling trips who remember (and, I think, accurately) a time years ago when you could fill a bucket with olive shells in an hour. Or you could pick out the very size of the horse conch you wanted so it would fit into your collection just right.

The only problem was, those shells were all alive. Well, not ALL, but many were. If you could tour some of the older Island homes, not just on Sanibel, but on the mainland and bordering islands, you would find that big shells were so plentiful that they were used as driveway markers and liners.

There was a time, just as there was with oil, when everyone thought there would never be an end to the number of live shells found on the beaches and in the Sound. And thinking back, when there were only a couple of hundred people living on Sanibel and not much more than that visiting each year, what difference did it make if they took live shells? Some were used for food, actually, and for decoration only secondly. Some shells probably provided an income for a few shell pickers who could sell them. So, in the early years there was no wrong-doing connected with shelling for live creatures. But that was all B. C. (Before Causeway).

Then there was A. C. (After Causeway).

That is the period in which we live now. Where there were once a couple of hundred yearly visitors, now there were a couple of thousand, then ten times that. . . you know the story, I'm sure.

There was the same population of shells, but instead of being picked over by hundreds, they were the subject of searches by thousands. "Sanibel" became synonymous with "Shells." If you came to Sanibel, your friends automatically asked you to bring back "some big shells." There were times when I thought that the Eastern jet returning visitors home would take until Atlanta just to get off the ground with the weight of all those shells I saw being packed for home.

There were many very concerned people on the Islands, not always fanatical shellers themselves, but people who wanted to stop the ruination of all facets of the Islands, including live shelling. They worked hard to convince the City Council to consider a ban of some sort. There would be long, difficult meetings where moderates and hard liners would dicker over what limits would be set. How would the law be enforced? What would be the maximum fine? Would it really hold up in court? Was it right to limit visitors and residents on something they found free on the beach?

That was two years ago and, to my knowledge, no one has yet served time for taking a live shell in excess of the limit. It's not that they haven't done it, you understand. That still goes on regularly, the taking of live shells, but, I think that the secret of the thing was to bring to the attention of people, the need to conserve this most important element of our Islands. Where many, many people had once taken live shells out of ignorance to what they were doing to the ecology, now they were aware. This came about through a campaign information program with the aid of posters and flyers.

I take groups out shelling almost daily. I think I know what is going on in the live shell population and I believe that the live shells are making a comeback. It's a slow process, but now that the big breeder shells are being preserved, it won't be long before the shells regain some of their population.

That's good news for all of us.

Love a tree

By Ellen Mulligan

Did you ever stop to think how important trees are? They provide us with oxygen, food, shelter, shade, beauty and so much more. Adam and Eve used fig leaves to cover their nakedness and since that time more than 5,000 products have been derived from trees. Where would we be without them?

To paraphrase Will Rogers, "God sure must have liked trees because he made so many of them." Their number, like the sand and the stars, is too great to count. Yet in this day and age, there are probably fewer trees now than ever before.

Because trees are so important to mankind, for more than 100 years a special day, Arbor Day, has been set aside in America as a celebration to trees. By state law, Florida observes Arbor Day on the third Friday in January. This year Arbor Day falls on January 16.

Says Florida's State Forester John Bethea, "I've heard it said that other holidays repose upon the past, while Arbor Day proposes for the future."

In celebration of Arbor Day the Sanibel-Captiva Conservation Foundation and the Sanibel Elementary School will be doing their share for trees.

The Environmental Education Center has donated 50 trees for students of the elementary school to plant around the school building. The Conservation Foundation Native Plant Nursery will be giving away a free tree with each $10 purchase made at the nursery.

Florida is blessed with more than 250 kinds of native trees, more than any other state besides Hawaii. Take time out this week to thank the trees and to add one more to nature's bounty . . . your own personal tree.

Lions News

By D.E. Cooperriar

The regular meeting of the Sanibel-Captiva Lions Club was held on January 7 at the Sanibel Community Building. There were 10 out-of-state guests including Ken Stabler who was a guest of Ed Collins. Mr. Stabler entertained the members before the meeting with several melodies and also accompanied the sing-along enjoyed by all prior to the serving of the meal.

There were several reports of the Christmas activities including the Lion-Kiwanis softball game which was won by the opposition. Letters of thanks were received from the various organizations which benefitted from donated Christmas trees.

President Hatcher on Lions information noted that Lions Clubs throughout the world in over 33,500 communities in 150 countries of geographical areas were united in a common goal, that is, humanitarian service to the community. Lions clubs are part of the largest service organization in the world and the Sanibel-Captiva Club is the largest club on the Island and is also the largest Lions Club in Southwest Florida with 125 members. The Lions motto, WE SERVE, illustrates Lions' commitment to carrying out programs and projects designed to enhance the quality of life in their communities.

It was announced that a Caloosahatchee River Cruise was being planned for April.

The next regular meeting will be held on January 21 at 6:30 p.m. at the Sanibel Community Building.

The Bidding:

Opening lead: K - S

A combination of omissions and errors by author (Heimann) and typesetter (anon.) resulted in frustration for anyone who tried to bid and play the hand as presented in the December 30 column. Helen Winterrowd reported the mistakes, figured it out, and says she can make SIX diamonds!

We repeat herewith the way one expert made the diamond game bid. Check with helen as to how she made that extra trick, unless it's obvious to you, too.

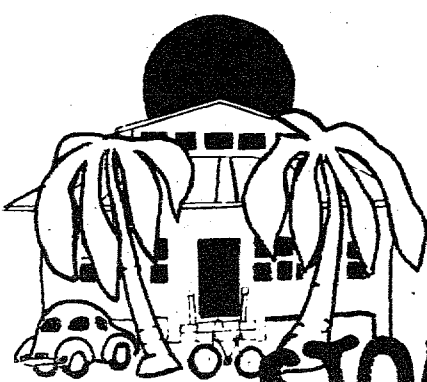

Here's how it was done by an expert:

1. On the first lead, King of Spades, declarer played the three of Spades from dummy.

- West continued with the Queen of Spades. Declarer ducked again, ruffing in his hand with the SIX of trumps.
- He cashed the Ace of Diamonds,
- crossed to dummy by playing the SEVEN of Diamonds to the King.
- Next, he led the Queen of Clubs, finessed successfully,
- played dummy's Ace of Spades and discarded the Ace of Clubs!
- Declarer now offered dummy's Jack of Clubs, East covered with the King, declarer ruffed with the NINE of Diamonds,
- thus preserving the lowly FOUR as an entry to dummy's five, where he
- led the ten of Clubs
- and the nine of Clubs, discarding a Heart on each.
- Heart lead from dummy, taken by West.
- and 13. Won by declarer's two remaining trumps, the Queen and ten.

See how simple it was!

Islander Kelly Duncan stars in 'Ice Wolf'

"When I was a little kid I liked to show off and as I grew up I figured the best way to do it was onstage," says Sanibel's 16 year old Kelly Duncan, the vibrant star of the "Ice Wolf," this year's Lee County Children's Theatre presentation.

Acting, Kelly says, is something "I always wanted to do, it is definitely one of my goals in life." And for her, it seems to come quite naturally. She is energetic, expressive and sharp and even her regular speaking tone is somewhat dramatic.

Although Kelly's favorite actresses are Bette Davis and Elizabeth Taylor, she attributes most of her inspiration to her present acting coach, Eleanor Lukitsch, director of the Lee County Children's Theatre. "She stretches your imagination," Kelly explains of Ms. Lukitsch's technique.

Kelly pursued her acting interests through Ms. Lukitsch's workshops and recalls the times when she had to improvise what it felt like to be a grasshopper, a fish in a fishbowl and a shell on the beach. Through the workshops, the children (ages seven to 16) are eligible to perform in the Children's Theatre performances.

Last year Kelly debuted in "Beauty and the Beast" as Beauty's sister and says she had no problem conforming to her role. Actually, Kelly explains, "I transform into the person. I am no longer Kelly Duncan."

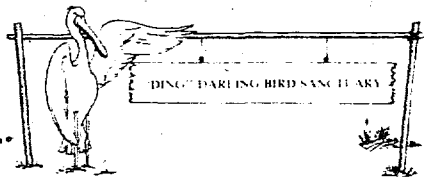

In this year's Children's Theatre performance of the "Ice Wolf," Kelly portrays an albino Eskimo and gets a taste of what it is like to be different and an outsider. "I never had the chance to be different. I was always average and normal. It really must hurt, though," she ponders.

It is the tradition of the Children's Theatre to present plays which end with a moral. In most cases, the moral is meant for the audience. But in Kelly's case, it was she who learned a valuable lesson, too.

A quarter for a shell!

If you had the choice, would you rather walk up and down a wet, cold beach, smelling decaying sea pork searching for shells - or would you rather collect your shells standing on dry pavement, smelling tacos and chili dogs cooking?

Now you have the choice. Since last summer Jane Epranian, owner of Health and Happiness, Inc., (commonly known as the taco stand next to Bailey's) offers the option in the form of a bubblegum machine filled with polished shells.

For a quarter and a turn of the knob you are assured a little fun and a little shell, but, according to Jane, not everyone thinks that the machine is the next best thing to bubblegum.

Some people share Jane's love of the machine, but "others get hostile that you would have to pay for something that you can get on the beach," relates Jane.

Right at the moment it all boils down to whether you like the smell of sea pork or tacos.

Playhouse success

Director Philip Hunter at the Pirate Playhouse is understandably pleased that his three productions at the Island's arena theatre are now launched with huge success: "Another Chance," which he wrote, "Silas the Chore Boy" and the London hit, "The Blue Goose."

"The audiences have been tremendous," says Hunter who very much appreciates the Playhouse's standing ovations - at curtain time. Sunday next, January 18, "The Blue Goose," by Peter Blackmore, will play with the following cast: Shellee Joffe, Terry Galvin, Kathy McClintock, Tania Clements, Jean Culpepper, David Leas, Allen Mainard, John Walsh and the Hunters, Ruth and Philip.

The story of "The Blue Goose" is about a world-wide sailor who stops at the dock of the Portal family on the south coast of England.

Curtain time is 8:15 on January 18. Box Office 472-2121.

Old Glory awaits hostages' release

Mr. and Mrs. Guy McRae raised an American flag the day after the hostages were taken in Iran - and its been up night and day for last 437 days.

Weather-worn and faded, the red and white stripes hardly discernible, the flag continues to fly. "We're with it," says Mrs. McRae, "and we're going to stay with it, believe me, even if it fades out to all white."

Guy McRae, a 26 year military veteran, told his wife to "Put it up and don't take it down," when the hostages were captured. It's hoped that the McRae's will soon have reason to lower their hard-working flag.

The Driftwood Shop - alive and well at this year's Shell Fair Shellcraft made by volunteers will again be on sale at The Driftwood Shop at the 44th Annual Sanibel Shell Fair to be held March 5, 6, 7 and 8. Proceeds from The Driftwood Shop are donated to the Sanibel Community Association.

This year's Driftwood Shop chairpersons are Derrick and Joan Adams, who became involved as a way to serve the community. The Adams originally came to Sanibel for its shells 12 years ago after National Geographic magazine described the Island as a spot renowned for its shells. The article became the inspiration for the Adams' annual trek to the tropics from Canada.

This year the Adams have become winter Island residents. One day, over cocktails, they accepted the challenge of meeting the $5,000 goal for the Community Center.

The Adams are currently looking for interested volunteers to help create the popular shellcraft sold at The Driftwood Shop. A hard-working group of volunteers has already begun to meet but many more hands are needed. Both experienced and novice craftsmen are invited. Mrs. Adams, an amateur who learned the art of shellcraft through The Driftwood Shop, is now a proficient artisan of the craft.

Volunteers will be meeting at the Sanibel Community Center every Monday from 9 a.m. through 3 p.m. until the Shell Fair begins. Materials are provided, as is the coffee, but shell donations are needed. Shell donors can drop off cleaned shells to the Community Center or call for pick-up. Access to a workroom and use of a band saw or belt sander is also desperately needed.

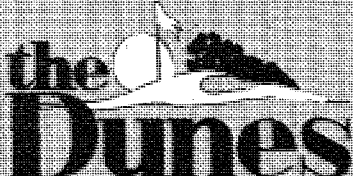

Mr. Adams is hoping to get "more husbands out" to work for the shop this year. He views Sanibel as "a great community" and participation in The Driftwood Shop as a way for anyone to contribute to it.

Any suggestions or ideas to strengthen the effort to reach and surpass the $5,000 goal are welcomed by the Adams.

We were particularly intrigued with Don Brown's December 23rd column on defensive bidding. Don has repeatedly demonstrated his skill at this art at the regular Friday night duplicate bridge games at the Sanibel Community Center.

He takes top scores even though he goes set by one or two or more - tricks! Therefore, we have vowed to learn something about that art from the master himself.

Regular readers will remember that Don showed us how to defeat our opponents by bidding more than our hand justifies. For example, if opponents can make 4 Hearts and you go down one trick at 4 Spades, that is defensive bidding.

The "magic" is in the score keeping: 4 Hearts bid and made (vulnerable) gives 620 points for your opponents; 4 Spades down one (not vulnerable) gives only 50 points to your opponents. You are ahead by 570 points!

To start our study of defensive bidding, we borrowed all the "boards" played on December 26th at the Community Center.

First we looked at all 33 "travelers" (the sheets on which the scores of each play of a hand are recorded). We felt that a review of all the 264 individual scores should reveal some good defensive bidding.

Look at the accompanying hand, which is the best example we could find. Try to see if you can devise a good defensive bid.

We came to the conclusion that East-West can make 4 Spades and 620 points, even with the best defense. However, let us suppose that North-South bid defensively and got the contract at 5 Hearts. They cannot make that contract, and will probably go down 2 tricks! Isn't that too bad?

Not at all, because in this case East-West makes only 100 points. Even if East-West doubles, they make only 300 points. In the extreme case where the 5 Heart bid was set 3 tricks doubled, the North-South pair is still ahead by 120 points.

Next Friday at the Community Center, we plan to search for defensive bids. So beware!

Nethel Moss

Age: 60

Height: 5' 5"

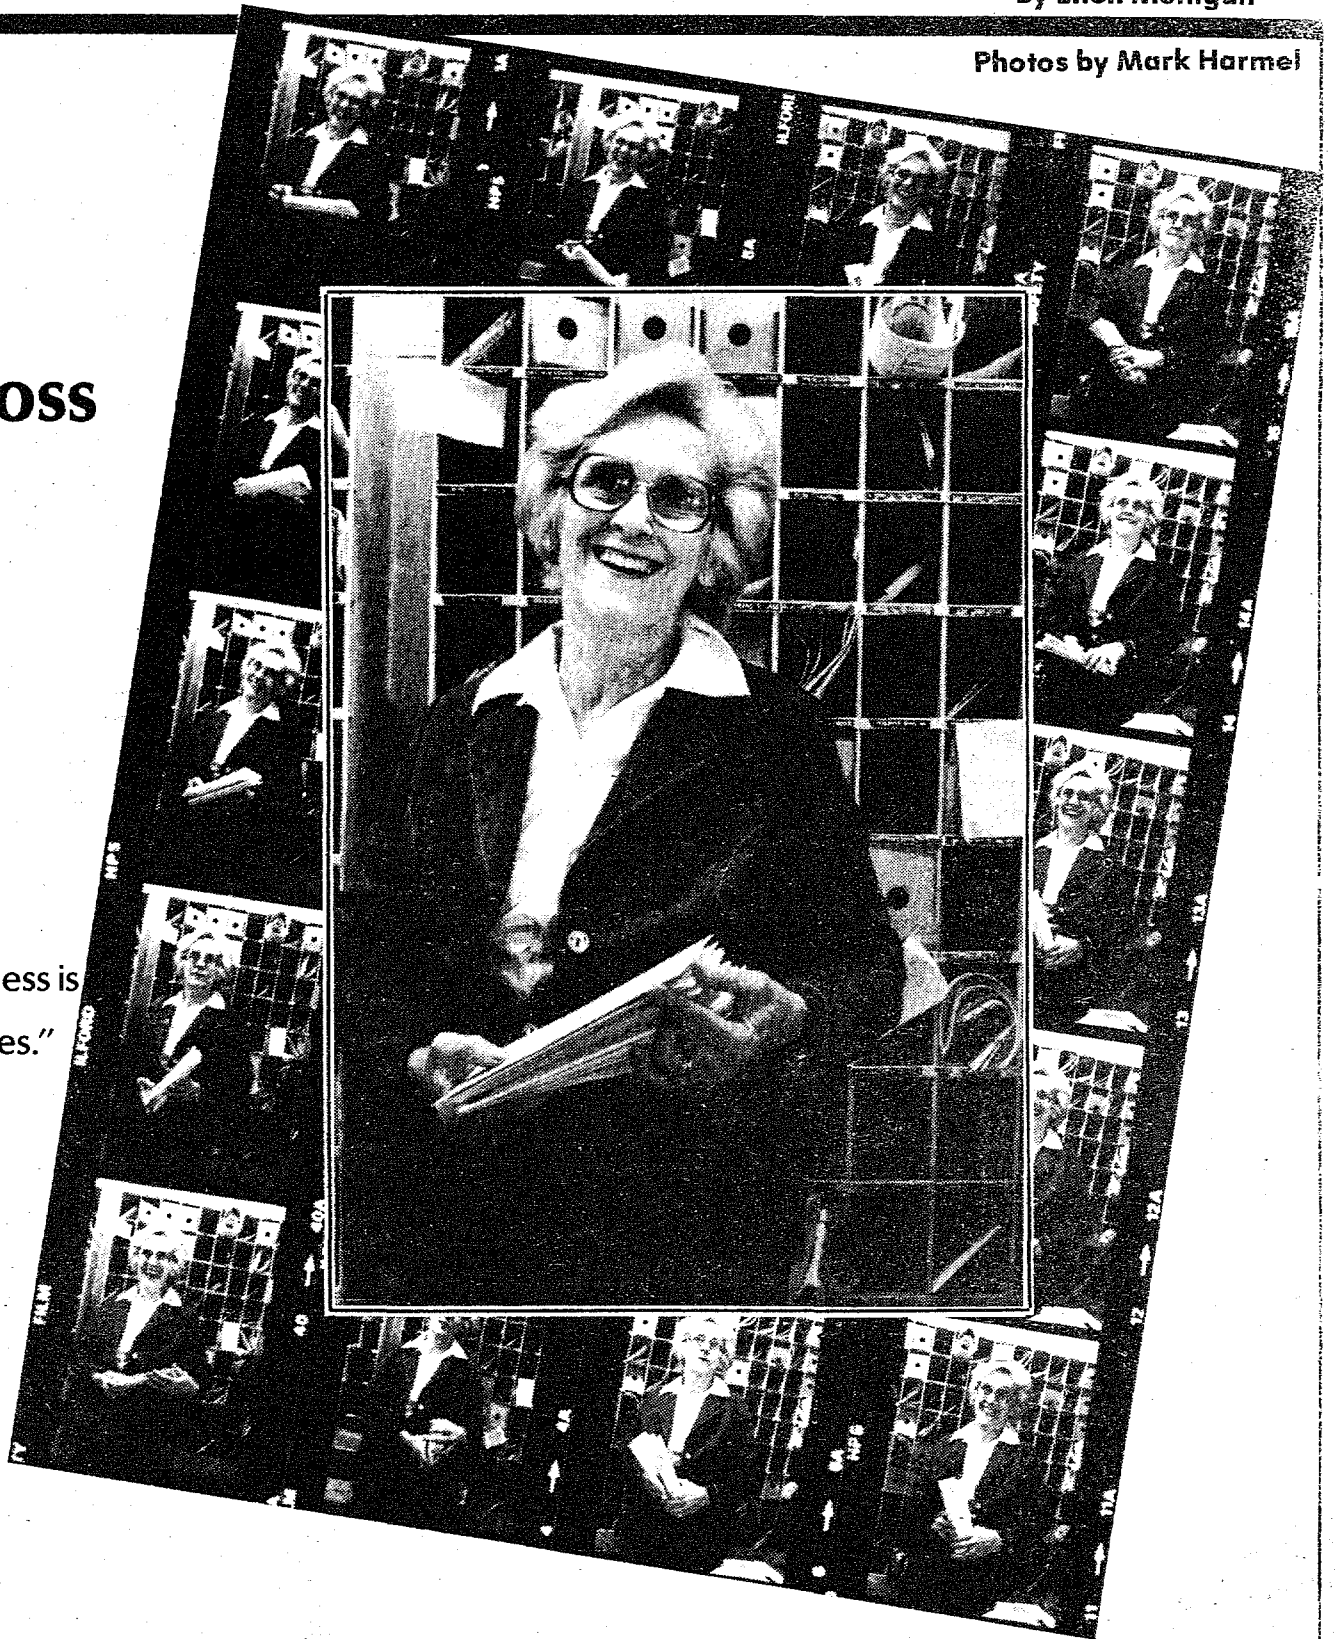

Roots: "Chicago. I love Chicago."

Mentor: "My father."

Pleasures: "Anything my children accomplish that causes them happiness is a real pleasure to me, and my hobbies."

Wish: "To be with my husband."

Words of Wisdom: "There is more of today, tomorrow and forever."

Almost anyone who has ever been to the Captiva Post Office has been graced by Nethel Moss' genuine smile and warm words.

"If there is anything I can do to make someone smile," Nethel explains, "I feel my day was worthwhile."

Nethel lives in a comfortable home on Captiva with her two adopted granddaughters who are their grandma's pride and joy. A tour through Nethel's pleasant home reveals her favorite hobbies, started over the years to help fill her days.

Surrounded by antiques, a hobby she acquired from her late husband, Nethel explains how she has really come to enjoy the whole process of refinishing and restoring old furniture. Her home is quaintly decorated with many of the finished products that demonstrate her expertise at the refurbishing art.

In the corner of Nethel's living room, next to the recently used fireplace, is a bookcase full of clowns - big clowns, little clowns, sad clowns and happy clowns. Nethel has been collecting the characters for many years and each one of them holds a special memory of a special person reflected behind their painted smiles and frowns.

Crystaline paperweights of all shapes, sizes and colors also adorn Nethel's living room and provide another collecting hobby for her. Nethel used to be very fond of Indian relics, and has spent much time digging in "pot holes" to collect her case full of cooking vessels, pieces of ceramic bowls and other native relics.

With an incessantly chatting myna bird and two young grandchildren, Nethel's home is far from quiet. The children help her "forget that I am old," she laughs, but more importantly, remind her that she is needed.

As a young girl, Nethel's great ambition in life was to be a mother and wife. "That's as far as I wanted to go," she says today. "I'm not a woman's libber at all," Nethel explains of her feelings that career women today are sacrificing the tenderness, love and kindness that a family shares.

Growing up on the West Side of Chicago, Nethel recalls the good times her family shared. She recalls playing Al Capone instead of "cops and robbers" and she recalls those blistering Chicago summer nights when her father would bring all of her brothers and sisters up to the rooftop to sit in the breeze and watch the night swallow the city in darkness as the street lights began to sparkle in the night.

When Nethel was 13, her family moved to Donner's Grove in the suburbs of Chicago. There she heard her first meadowlark and was introduced to farming life. She attended high school in Donner's Grove and worked as a clerk until she was 20. It was then that she met a traveling man from Colorado who was to be "the one" for her. Three months later, Nethel was a bride in her glory.

One baby after another followed for Nethel which was exactly what she wanted anyway. Although she will admit it was "tough" raising eight children, it was more than worth it to fill her home with the tenderness and love that she often speaks of. By 1959, Nethel and her family had packed up and moved to Ft. Lauderdale for the climate that they hoped would be beneficial to her husband's health.

1960, however, was to be the year of the big hurricane and shortly after the Mosses arrived, everything they owned was wiped out by Hurricane Donna. And so, they found themselves in Naples trying to recover from their loss in Ft. Lauderdale.

It was there that Nethel began working for the post office to help take some of the burden off her husband's shoulders and the stress off his ailing heart. She spent three and a half years with the post office at Marco Island.

Six years ago, Nethel was offered the position of postmaster for the Captiva post office. After taking a trip to see it, her husband was somewhat dismayed by the sight but Nethel thought it looked "homey" and she accepted the position while convincing her husband it would be a good move.

At the post office, serving as postmaster, Nethel is really in the center of the community. She sees her friends and neighbors regularly and always has a kind word to share with them and, oftentimes, is there just to listen. Either role manages to bring her the same amount of joy.

Another joyful endeavor that Nethel cherishes is when she, being a public notary, is allowed to marry local couples. "Everybody likes to get married on the beach," she says, and Nethel loves to share the experience with them at the "beginning of happiness."

Until about three and a half years ago, Nethel considered herself a person blessed with all the elements of happiness that come from a loving husband and eight wonderful children. But for some tragic reason, fate decided to take its toll on Nethel.

In 1977, her husband died from a heart attack. Five months later her son was killed when his sailboat capsized. Three months after that another son died from a heart attack and 11 months later another son was hit and killed by a truck.

Nethel deals with the pain of her great loss everyday as she explains that one does not realize what one has until it is gone. "You can't forget," she says as tears begin to fill her eyes.

Nethel's way of dealing with grief is to keep herself very busy. "I keep an open mind and live for the day," she says, as she tries to surface a smile and put the pain once again in the back of her mind.

It is in this way that Nethel approaches each new day. Bringing happiness to others is the only way she knows of coping with the unbearable losses she has confronted.

Today, Nethel feels blessed to be in the Captiva community. "The people on this Island are beautiful," she says. "They seem to stick together and have a brotherly feeling and such kindness."

Nethel's life has taught her, among many things, that "You can have more than you can stand." Her belief in reincarnation and signs she has received since her family members' deaths indicate to Nethel that death "is not the end and there is more to life. I believe you have another chance."

Accepting her life day by day for what it is and grateful for the blessings she has, Nethel hides her sorrow behind her smile and makes the most of her life as she continues to hope that someday fate will again smile upon her as it once did.

BIG Arts presents films

A series of films will be shown, commencing this month, under the auspices of The Barrier Island Group for the Arts. The Sundial Beach and Tennis Resort, at 1246 Middle Gulf Drive, has offered its facilities for the showing of the films. Their busy schedule of meetings and conventions precludes the consistent scheduling of the programs on a particular weekday, thus, it is suggested that interested parties take careful note of dates and room locations.

A donation of $1 per person is suggested to defray the cost of simple refreshments which may be served at the conclusion of impromptu discussions following the showing. The purpose of the series is to supplement the cultural experiences available to winter visitors to our Islands. The schedule and film descriptions follows:

Tuesday, January 20

"The Eye Hears, The Ear Sees" by Norman McLaren. (Color film, two reels, 58 minutes) The Sundial Room. A discussion following this film will be lead by Robert York of Sanibel and Edison Community College.

"It has been said that if the pure film has been made, Norman McLaren did it. This BBC documentary traces the life of the great Scottish born Canadian animator, as well as showing examples of his most famous works."

Wednesday, February 4

"Sculpture Today" (B & W - 19 minutes), also "Art for Tomorrow" (color - 25 minutes) narrated by Walter Cronkite. Sanibel and Captiva Room.

"The complexity of modern life and the emotional intensity of the artists themselves are both reflected through the investigation of the foremost works of modern sculpture." Examples of kinetic sculpture, op art and total envelopment sculpture are shown and discussed in the Cronkite film.

Shopping

SHOPPING

Sanibel is a veritable shopper's paradise. Tasteful boutiques and casual Island shops join forces to present visitors with everything - and anything - a vacation shopper could hope for.

At the Lighthouse (Eastern) end of the Island, Punta Ybel Plaza and The Sea Horse Shops are right across the street from each other, providing a variety of products that can cure your sweet tooth or tickle your shell finder's fancy. Need a good haircut or coiffure? You can get it in either of these shopping centers. Most businesses open at 10 a.m. and close at 5:30 p.m. This holds true for many Island stores, although during the winter season, some are open evenings.

Tall Australian pines shade Periwinkle Way as the shopper travels west along this main thoroughfare. This stretch of road is truly a shopper's paradise! It's all here...the fast and not-so-fast eating spots, casual and elegant boutiques, hand-wrought jewelry, craft designs, shell shops and balms for health produce fanatics.

you drive or cycle along. Photographic supplies, bait and tackle, deli foods, fresh seafood and baked goods, knick-knacks and what-nots can all be found along the drive to the intersection of Periwinkle Way and Tarpon Bay Road. Along the way, shopping centers such as the Heart of the Islands, Periwinkle Place and Tahitian Gardens offer a variety of Island delights.

Palm Ridge Road, the Periwinkle Way turn-off to Captiva, offers several new shopping centers featuring everything from imports to gift shops for the discriminating shopper, plants and shells, a sandwich shop, ice cream parlour, pizza parlour, boutique shop and the Island Apothecary pharmacy.

At the Tarpon Bay-Periwinkle Way intersection, the Island Shopping Center features the Island's only supermarket, dry cleaners and movie house.

A left on Tarpon Bay Road takes the visitor past Sanibel's original schoolhouse, which now holds original Island water-colors and woodcuts. Then on to West Gulf Drive and westward to an interesting little artisan's shop and gallery.

At the intersection of Periwinkle Way and Tarpon Bay Road, you may choose instead to turn right and follow the signs to the Tarpon Bay Marina, where you will find a cluster of quaint shops overlooking the back bay...Some antiques, shells and shellcrafts, what-nots and clever clothes can be found here, as well as a great seafood sandwich and soft drinks.

The spectacular ride to Captiva, with its lush foliage and enchanting view of the Gulf, is well worth a day's outing. Talented artists display their works in one roadside shop, while others feature some nifty gifts for Grandma to take home to little hands as a pleasant hodge-podge of remembrances from these barrier islands.

Whether for shopping, or merely browsing, Island shops offer a surprising variety - from one-of-a-kind collectibles for the discerning shopper to postcards for the simple souvenir hunter and of course, for all, shells, shell jewelry, shell lamps, just plain shells...the most beautiful shells in the world from the most beautiful shelling beaches in the world.

BEACH ACCESS
Sanibel has miles of public Gulf-front beaches, any one of which is only minutes from your lodging. Lighthouse Point is a stretch of Federal land on the Eastern tip of Sanibel Island, and from there, the Gulf beach is accessible again at the end of Donax Street, at Tarpon Bay Road, at Bowman's Beach Road (off Sanibel-Captiva Road) and Turner's Beach, which is located at Blind Pass, between Sanibel and Captiva Islands.

On Captiva Island, public beach access can be found at Turner Beach (which has public facilities) or further north, just past the entrance to South Seas Plantation.

NOTE: STATE LAW PROHIBITS NUDE SUN-BATHING ON ALL FLORIDA BEACHES. VIOLATORS WILL BE PROSECUTED.

CAMPING
Camping on the beach is prohibited and while everyone enjoys a beach fire, the Sanibel Fire Board has signed into law an ordinance prohibiting open beach fires. Prior to the ordinance, a permit was necessary for a beach bonfire, but as of July 18, 1980, it is now illegal. An exemption to the ordinance is a fire in an approved cooking container (not to exceed 48" X 24" X 12" deep with an extruded metal grill) for non-commercial food preparation. This type of container will be allowed on the beach without a permit. After you have had your beach party, it is recommended that you assume the responsibility for the cleanup of any debris or litter in your area.

GATORS
Feeding alligators anywhere within the Sanibel City limits is not only illegal (violators of the law are subject to a fine of up to $500, or up to 60 days in jail, or both), but can be extremely dangerous. Alligators can run 45 m.p.h., so if you're close enough to feed an alligator, he's close enough to feed on you. An alligator fed for fun loses his natural fear of humans and becomes a potential threat to children and pets.

WARNING! SAFEGUARD YOUR VALUABLES.
In order to protect your valuable possessions from theft, it is recommended that you TAKE THEM TO A BANK OR HOTEL VAULT FOR SAFEKEEPING. Do NOT leave them in your room or car.

SPEED LIMITS
There are varying speed limits (20-30 m.p.h.) as one comes across the causeway, and there is a very good reason for them...to preserve the bridge supports from strain and stress. This speed limit is strictly enforced with the use of radar on a 24-hour basis by both the Sanibel Police Department and the Lee County Sheriff's Department. Driving or parking a motor vehicle or moped on the bike path is strictly prohibited. Violators will be ticketed.

DOGGY DO'S & DON'TS
If you're visiting Sanibel with the family Fido in tow, all the better. All family members can enjoy Southwest Florida sun and surf. The Chamber of Commerce can tell you what accommodations are available for families with pets. Remember: wherever you are, clean up after your pet! The friendly reminder... "Leave nothing on the beach but footprints"...applies to dogs, too. There's no leash law on Sanibel, but of course an excitable or unruly animal is better off when controlled with a leash.

FISHING
While no license is required for saltwater fishing, fishing in freshwater ponds or the Sanibel River requires a Florida fishing license - available at Bailey's General Store on Periwinkle Way. The fee is $6.50 for resident and $10.50 for non-resident.

MINIMUM LEGAL LENGTHS:
Blue Fish - 10 inches
Flounder - 11 inches
Grouper - 12 inches
Mackerel - 12 inches
Mullet - 12 inches
Pompano - 10 inches
Red Fish - 12 inches
Snook - 18 inches
Trout - 12 inches

BICYCLE RULES
If you're not used to a lot of bicycle traffic, watch out for it on Sanibel. The extensive network of bike paths on the Island is clearly marked along the edge of the road. Observe caution when driving near the bike path. A State law and City Ordinance combine to PROHIBIT PARKING OR DRIVING ON THE BIKE PATH. MOPEDS ARE NOT PERMITTED ON THE BIKE PATHS.
Planning on spending some time on a bike to enjoy the Island sun and sights? Make sure your vehicle is equipped with a bike flag, horn, good brakes and a light for night riding. Under Florida law, bicycle riders have the same rights and responsibilities as motor vehicle drivers.

flexible, luxurious, and economical --interval ownership makes sense.

Yes, Our vacations are special — we like to travel, stay at top resorts, dine at fine restaurants, and enjoy a variety of activities.

We've been visiting the islands for several years and have thought seriously about buying a vacation home here. We looked around, and discovered the interval ownership program at South Seas Plantation offers our kind of vacations — very economically and allows us to vacation more frequently.

In fact, it made sense for us to purchase four vacation weeks — two for our vacations at South Seas Plantation, one for our children to come and visit, and another week to use with the exchange program. The exchange week we'll use to go to Hilton Head, Europe, Hawaii or wherever.

Let's face facts. Renting accommodations at first class resorts is expensive. The vacation villas at Plantation Beach Club are luxurious, the one-time purchase price is very reasonable, and we always have something to show for the money we've spent.

Membership at South Seas Plantation and our beachfront vacation villa — that's the kind of vacation we value.
