Hats off!

It's summertime, and hats of all shapes and sizes come out of Islanders' closets to shield tender heads and save squinting eyes from the merciless sun. Hats

Neighborhood leaders receive alert radios for hurricane communications

By Cindy Chalmers

Sixteen sirens wailed in unison at MacKenzie Hall last Wednesday morning as that many Sanibel residents tested weather alert radios that could revolutionize communications on the Island during a hurricane threat.

As part of the Emergency Preparedness and Evacuation Relief Team plan for better communication, the radios were issued to various neighborhood association leaders and Neighborhood Watch coordinators.

Adapted with special crystals, the radios monitor only the Sanibel police frequency that broadcasts weather alerts and other local emergencies. They run on either batteries or electricity and are equipped with a siren that will sound when important information is about to be broadcast.

Sanibel's Crime Prevention Officer Jack Primm issued and explained the radios to the group of enthusiastic Neigh-

BOTI vs. Trowbridge Bank sues for payment on loans

By Barbara Brundage

Bank of the Islands has filed a suit in Lee County Circuit Court against Keith Trowbridge, president of Captran Resorts International. The suit seeks payment of $13,297.87, the total amount the corporation still owes on two promissory notes the bank has held since late 1980.

According to the complaint filed Aug. 9 in Fort Myers, Trowbridge, as president of Captran, Inc., in December 1980 signed an agreement personally and unconditionally guaranteeing payment of all indebtedness of Captran, Inc.

This included two loans to Captran Development Corp., one for $11,737.40 to finance the purchase of a 1980 Ford Super Van and a second for $24,147 for the purchase of three boats.

Both Captran, Inc. and Captran Development Corp. have since been merged with Captran Resorts International.

On July 30 Trowbridge was informed by the bank's Winter

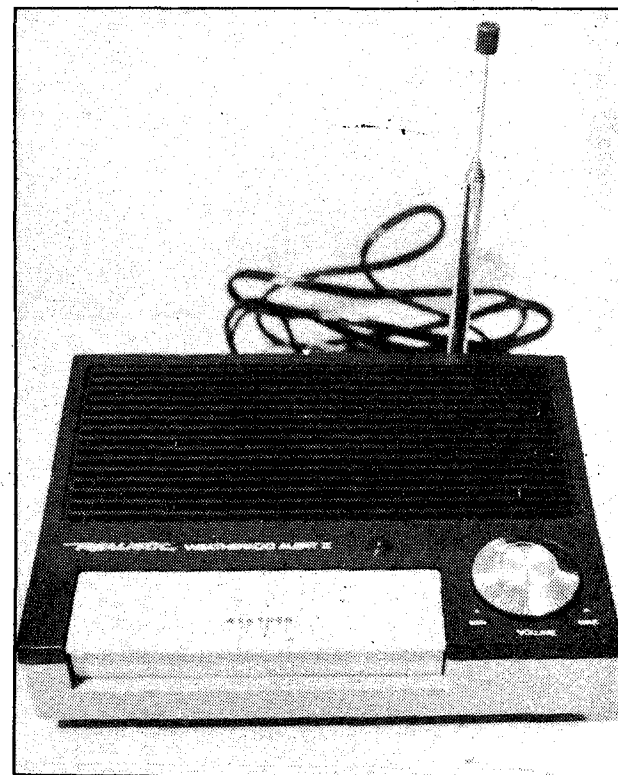

Park attorney Michael Appleton that in view of the Chapter 11 filing of voluntary bankruptcy by Captran Resorts International, BOTI was demanding payment in full of the remaining balances on the two Captran Development notes by 2 p.m. Aug. 6.

Trowbridge said this week that on the advice of his attorney, he did not comply with the request. He said on Aug. 3 the bank accepted two cashier's checks in payment of the installments due in August on both notes.

"I see no reason why these notes are being called," Trowbridge said. "The payments are current and the equity is more than satisfactory."

"I've been advised by legal counsel that under bankruptcy laws it is illegal for the bank to accelerate these notes while Captran Resorts International is in Chapter 11,"

Hats off to summer's searing sun

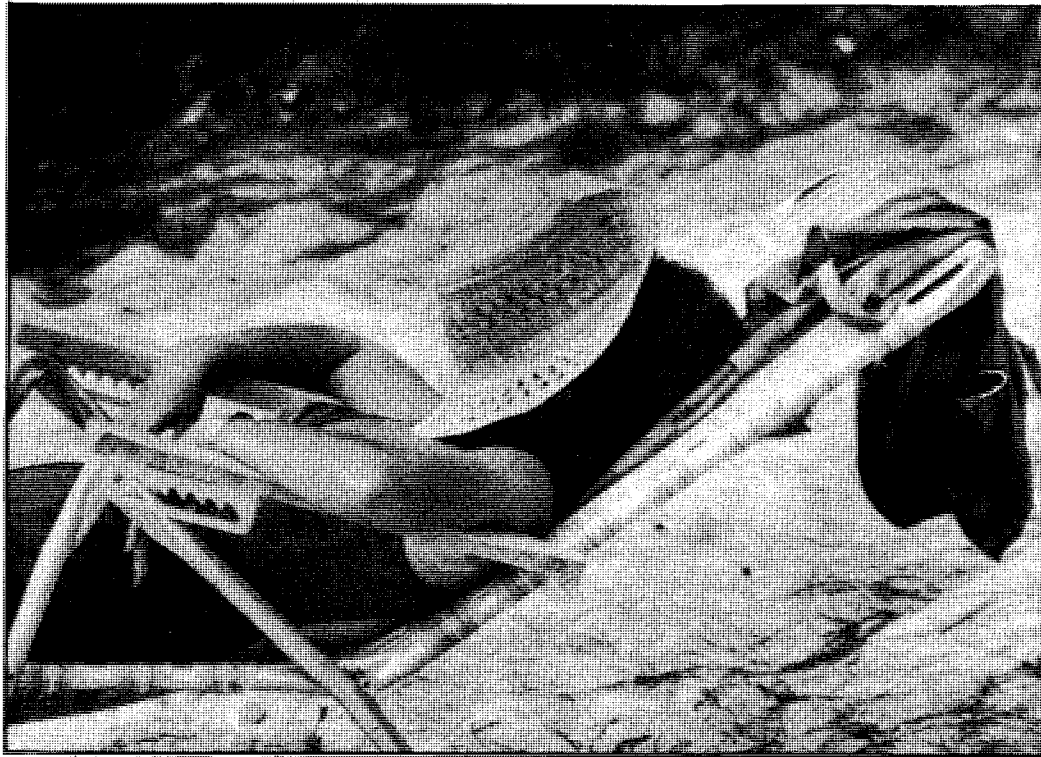

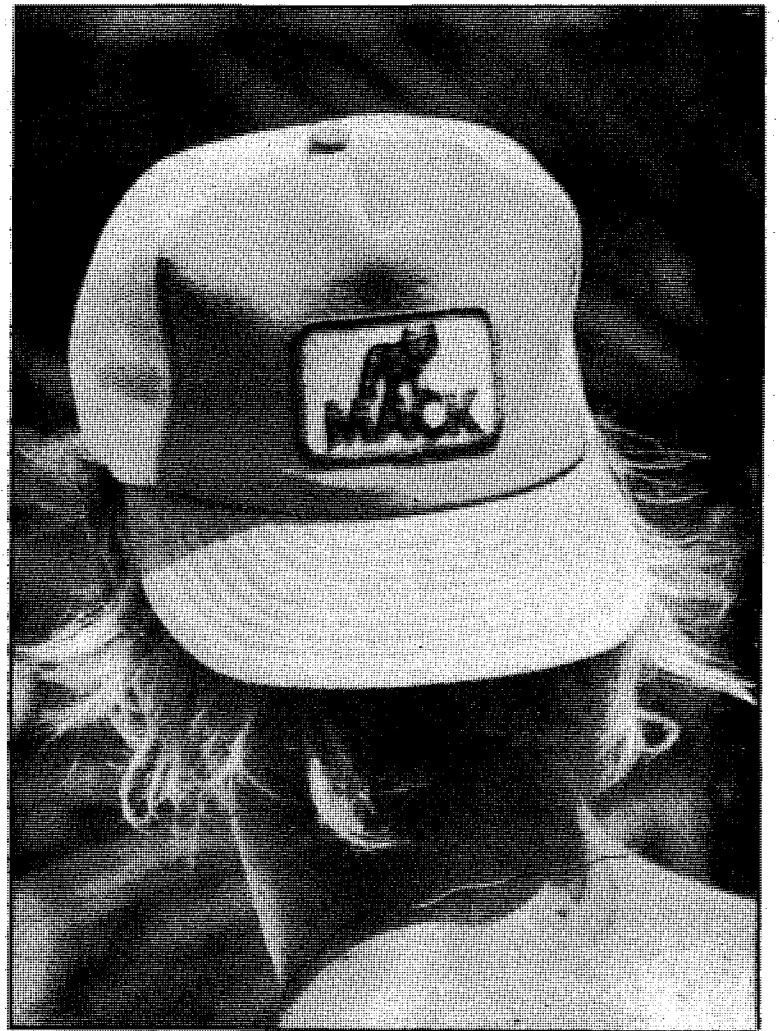

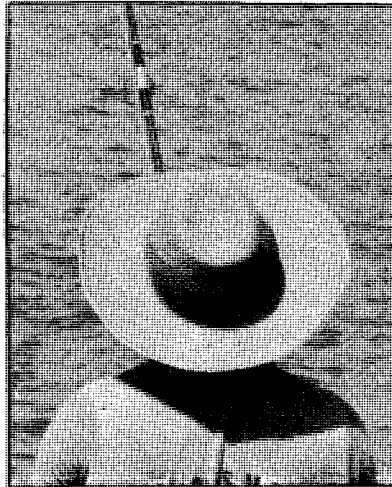

"You've got to be a queen to get away with a hat like that," wrote Anita Loos in Gentlemen Prefer Blondes.

Hats. Brims. Caps. Bonnets. Berets. In the south, where the sun beats down with relentless consistency, they are as much a necessity as they are a fashionable luxury. A few hatless hours spent in the midday sun can turn one's brains to mush. Under a hat, it's clear thinking all the way.

Hats are a cover up. Pictured here are a few of the hats (and their owners) that have graced the Islands in recent weeks.

Bemoaning 'nothing has changed' on Sanibel

To the Editor
The Islander

Having had my ear to the ground listening for the shelled sounds of Sanibel, I was shocked to hear that nothing has changed for the better on Sanibel.

Public lands are still being gobbled up and given away to private interests for their "private enrichment," eg., the Causeway properties being used for a Chamber of Commerce parking lot and Old Bayshore Drive.

Secondly, our public servants are still continuing to legislate for the non-native developer syndicates instead of for Sanibel's public interest.

A case in point is the Eckerd Drugs chain that was approved for construction by Sanibel's City Council. It's interesting to note that our mayor was intimately involved in the Eckerd gubernatorial campaign in 1978.

Lastly, who will be receiving undue private enrichment from the public's Bayshore Drive and its scenic seashore?!

Urging 'no' on 2 percent tourist tax

To the Editor
The Islander

There is an amendment coming up in this fall's election which proposes a 2 percent tourist tax. At first glance it sounds like a good idea.

But the money raised by this tax will be used to advertise Florida vacations in order to generate a larger influx of tourists year 'round. Our facilities and our environment are groaning with pain now to try to accommodate the thundering hordes that descend on us now.

Most of us who are permanent citizens heave a great sigh of relief when spring comes and we do not need to hibernate in our private jungles behind locked doors and take our life in our hands to brave the irresponsible traffic to shop for necessities.

More tourists will bring even more traffic, more crimes, more litter, more destruction of wild life, more devastation to our environment and beaches to an Island that is at present struggling in courts of law to defend itself against the pressures of the present influx.

For your own good be sure to vote no to this proposal.

Providing statistics on Baytex bee kill

To The Editor
The Islander

I would like to comment on the excellent piece by David Meardon, "Bathing the Mosquito," in the Aug. 10 issue of The Islander.

Dr. Calvin Brown, cited in the article, is out of town, so you may consider the following comments to have originated with us both for we had a lengthy discussion on the subject.

The following figures were generated by Brown and derived from his personal observation:

Bee Kill on Sanibel, July 27, 1982

"Planes fogged with Baytex about 7:15 a.m. About 1 p.m. I counted dead bees washed up on the gulf beach on three 10-foot sections, one with a medium kill (51 bees), one with a heavy kill (88 bees) and one with a light kill (28 bees).

"The total kill of 167 bees, divided by three, gives an average of 55.66 dead bees per 10 linear feet of gulf beach. Applying this figure to the 66,000 feet of gulf beach on Sanibel gives a total of 367,356 dead bees washed up on the beach."

Dr. Howard Weems, taxonomic entomologist and curator of the Florida State Collection of Arthropods of the Florida Department of Agriculture in Gainesville, supplied via Sanibel's Dr. K.C. Emerson, some figures that are pertinent to the issue of bee kill by Lee County Mosquito Control District, which employs Baytex (fenthion) and other organophosphates to kill adult mosquitos.

Weems, citing agriculturist Frank

Robinson, stated that bee hives have a population of 25,000 to 75,000 workers depending on time of year and location.

Taking an average of 50,000 workers per hive, the Sanibel bee kill of July 27 along a narrow strip of water the length of the beach (the only possible hard data available) would have killed the equivalent of seven whole hives.

Incidentally, in case you were wondering, there was no visible bee kill on July 26 or July 28.

It is beyond my capabilities to estimate with any degree of accuracy how many bees were killed in areas other than along the beach, where counts can be made of presumably disoriented bees flying over salt

Thanking FISH for friendly services

The following open letter of thanks was given to The Islander for publication.

Dear Friends

You can't imagine how grateful we are to you.

During our two weeks up north your calls and kindness to my mother made us all feel very at ease and secure in the knowledge that "there was someone there."

I don't know how we would have managed being away without your help.

Thank you so very much.

Commending Blind Pass Marina men for rescue assistance

A copy of the following letter to James Burnsed and Robert Reynolds of Blind Pass Marina was given to The Islander for publication.

Dear Sirs,

The Sanibel Fire Control District would like to thank both of you for your assistance in a rescue operation of July 31, 1982, at the Blind Pass bridge.

Although the people who were adrift on a raft were rescued by another passing boat, it is comforting to know that when needed, your help is available.

Sincerely,
Frederick Renz
Fire Chief

water.

It is not possible to estimate the kill along the San-Cap highway, for example. But if the equivalent of seven whole hives were killed in one narrow strip it is reasonable to assume that along other hypothetically defined narrow strips from gulf to bay an equal number were killed.

Perhaps there are hundreds of such strips.

Certainly it is conservative to estimate dozens anyway. So let's guess at two dozen, a very conservative estimate indeed, won't you agree? So seven times 24 is then the estimate, the very conservative estimate of bee kill. Thus the equivalent of 168 hives were killed.

This a heavy price to pay to be free of nuisance mosquitos.

The F.A.O. has listed the honey bee to be an endangered species. Forget about the honey - bee value lies in pollination - the support of agriculture.

Bees are essential to a hundred crops that are needed to feed the world and to keep Florida from bankruptcy, I might add.

It is foolish to jeopardize this essential resource by employing broadcast poisons to kill nuisance, not disease-carrying, mosquitos.

Better to save the poisons for that day when disease offers serious menace!

Councilmen express reservations about adopting Charlotte Harbor plan

Two Sanibel councilmen have expressed doubts of the feasibility of adopting the Charlotte Harbor Management Plan as a new section of the city's Comprehensive Land Use Plan.

Planning Director Bruce Rogers, one of Sanibel's representatives on the governor-appointed Charlotte Harbor Resources Planning and Management Committee that created the plan, has recommended its inclusion in CLUP as the "cleanest and most straightforward way for the city to implement the goals defined in the plan."

Rogers authored an ordinance that in addition to incorporating a resume of the resources management document in CLUP also amends existing sections to bring them into compliance with the program goals. That ordinance is scheduled for second reading before the City Council at 5:01 p.m. today.

Councilmen Fred Valtin and Duane White prefaced their objections to including the document with statements stressing their support of the Charlotte Harbor Management Program goals to protect natural resources of coastal regions of Sarasota, Charlotte and Lee counties against future development that might deleteriously affect the environment.

Valtin said his main concern is that "the wholesale adoption of the program as part of CLUP would unknowingly and inadvertently put into effect stipulations that go further than the rest of CLUP as now constituted."

"I'm not in favor of putting into law additional leverage against the kind of growth we now allow," he explained.

"In the Rate of Growth ordinance we have all the controls we need to preserve what there is about this Island that we all love," he added.

White, who served on the governor's committee with Rogers, said incorporating the Charlotte Harbor document in CLUP would only "clutter up the plan."

"All that is needed is the real meat of the document that can be placed in CLUP and become the law," he said. "There's no need for so much detail (such as the background of the committee's establishment) for Sanibel law."

Rogers admitted that the "most difficult part was to condense the thousands of pages that cover years of work and to determine how much needed to be incorporated in the implementing ordinance."

"I couldn't condense any further and believe this capsule version should be added in a separate section as a new part of CLUP," Rogers said. "The original document could be included as an appendix."

Rogers said he had scrutinized Sanibel's land use plan and found only "four places where the language didn't cover the Charlotte Harbor goals."

To correct these omissions the ordinance proposes amendments to existing sections of CLUP to require acceptable operation and maintenance programs for stormwater drainage systems; that these systems will provide for the gradual and dispersed drainage of excess surface runoff within the boundaries of the development that will approximate natural rates, volumes, quality and direction of flow; that the cumulative impacts of small scale projects on wetlands should be assessed and that when private or public projects produce unavoidable damage to wetland areas, restoration or mitigation programs should be instituted; that road corridor planning for undeveloped areas shall consider suitability of adjacent land for development and direct construction away from environmentally sensitive areas; that the city will adopt an Island-wide master stormwater-drainage management plan and will require future development to be consistent with the plan.

Rogers hopes the council today will approve the ordinance adopting the Charlotte Harbor Management Plan as its own and lead the way for other governmental entities to follow suit.

It is in the best interests of the city and the citizens of Sanibel to do so, Rogers said. "Its goals speak to good land use planning," he added. "If the council believes in these goals, the ordinance should be adopted."

Planning director recommends 'absolute cut-off date' for acceptance of permits

An absolute cut-off date 30 days prior to the end of a four-month Rate of Growth period for acceptance of development permits for single-family homes would be an advantage for the city's Planning Department, Planning Director Bruce Rogers told the City Council last week.

Currently applications for development permits subject to ROGO allocation may be submitted through the final day of the four-month period, but the city make no assurances that all of those received in the last 30 days will be processed.

"An absolute date would make it possible for us to know for sure whether scoring of single-family home applications will be necessary in the next ROGO allocation," Rogers explained to the council.

It will also guarantee the applicant that his application will be considered for allocation by the Planning Commission, he added.

Rogers said he had been persuaded by his staff and area contractors that an absolute cut-off date would be better.

The change in timing for single-family applications was suggested by the Sanibel-Captiva Contractors Association during a City Council public hearing of a revised version of the Rate of Growth ordinance.

But Rogers saw the possibility of a problem in applying the same cut-off date to multi-family applications.

The staff would be required to process every application received by the end of the ROGO period, Rogers said.

"Multi-family plans are much more complicated and take longer to process than those for single-family homes," he explained. "The staff might have difficulty completing them all in 30 days."

Vice Mayor Mike Klein suggested that an earlier cut-off date for multi-family applications might solve that problem.

But Councilman Duane White objected on the basis that, "To do that would put multi-family and single-family on different tracks, which would be confusing."

Under the current ordinance an earlier submission date is advised for multi-family and duplex applications.

Contractor Mark Comer, one of the organizers of the newly-established contractors association, said if his group's suggestion were adopted requiring submission of complete plans with all development permit applications, the processing procedure would be shortened.

Rogers agreed that a full set of plans would improve the process but said what constitutes a complete application would have to be redefined.

"It would be no hardship for the staff to set up a checklist for a complete application," he added.

The contractors association also recommended raising the development permit application fee from $200 to $750 per unit.

"The higher fee would discourage builders who are not really serious about building and would use the ROGO allocation to increase the value of their land," Comer said.

Rogers acknowledged that at least half the allocations allowed to expire in any one period were held by persons never seriously committed to building.

He called $750 too high, adding that the fee should cover only the city's cost of processing the development permit. In any event fees have no place in the ROGO ordinance, he said.

City Attorney Neal Bowen advised that the ordinance should also set a cut-off date for multi-family applications.

In view of the planners' concern that 30 days is not adequate to process all multi-family applications that might be submitted before the deadline, Rogers was asked to come up with a procedure to institute absolute cut-off dates for both categories that can be reasonably implemented by staff.

With other changes in the ROGO ordinance recommended by the Planning Commission still to be reviewed, the council scheduled a special meeting for 7 p.m. on Tuesday, Sept. 14, to continue the public hearing and second reading.

Historical Preservation Committee recommends national status for historic Rutland house

Sanibel's Historical Preservation Committee has recommended that the City Council seek to place the historic Clarence Rutland home on the National Register of Historic Places.

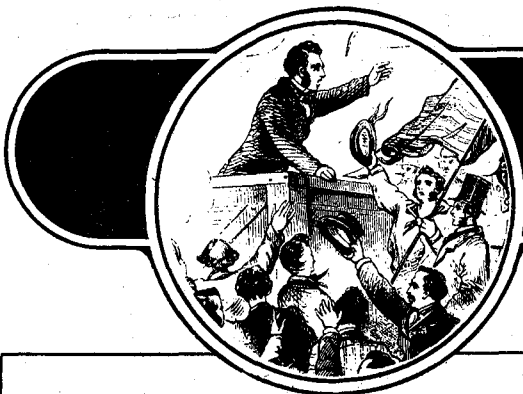

The council will discuss the committee's recommendation during the morning session of its regular meeting today.

Committee Chairman Charlotte White has already filed a preliminary application with the Division of Archives, History and Record Management of the Florida Department of State.

The Old Florida style house, built in the period 1910-13, is scheduled to be moved after Oct. 1 from its original location on Periwinkle Way to the new City Hall site, where it will be converted into an Old Settlers museum.

White said Building Officer George Blain has informed the committee that if the Rutland House is accepted for the National Register federal funds may be available to the city for its preservation.

Committee reports neighborhoods against managing

By Barbara Brundage

Neighborhood associations on Sanibel want no part of managing their own vegetation recycling programs, a city-appointed committee investigating ways of re-implementing the now defunct city operation reported last week.

Urban Palmer, president of the Committee of Neighborhood Associations (CONA) and a member of the city-appointed committee, said the special committee received only negative response from association members to a plan to sponsor a periodic on-site chipping service in the various neighborhoods.

Palmer, who with Vegetation Committee

Chairman Dr. Bill Webb and Assistant City Manager Gary Price explored alternatives, said the neighborhoods found too costly the $45 hourly fee for the chipper that can operate only 20 minutes and then requires a 40-minute cooling-off period. In addition, the process is noisy and very dusty, he said.

In neighborhoods such as Shell Harbor, Water Shadows, Beach View, Trade Winds and the Rocks, where gravel and cultivated lawns are commonplace, the chips are not used for landscaping. There would be a problem if a suitable storage spot were not available, and the residents would demand that the chips be hauled away with the piles of weeds, grass clippings and palm fronds that do not mulch well.

Another pitfall foreseen by the neighborhood directors was how to accommodate residents who might not be home during the scheduled chipping.

An experimental on-site vegetation recycling project last winter in Gulf Pines subdivision, where homeowners used all of the chips produced, proved successful but expensive, Palmer pointed out.

For the Public Works Department to offer the on-site service Island-wide would cost more than $53,000, about one-sixth of the department's total yearly budget.

In November 1980 the city set up a vegetation recycling center on property on Island Inn Road leased from the Sanibel-Captiva Conservation Foundation.

Its purpose was to provide residents with a free "legal dumping ground" for yard cuttings and tree trimmings. The resulting mulch from chipping the vegetation was to be used to revegetate the Island.

But business proved to be too good, and by April 1981 the fenced-in site was deluged with palm fronds and other yard cuttings. City employees, with available equipment, were unable to keep up with the chipping process, and the operation was running in the red.

recycling programs

In addition Island Inn Road residents complained that the site was an eyesore.

In April 1981 when city councilmen learned that to continue the operation would result in a $134,714 loss over a five-year period, they backed Price's move to shut down the operation while alternatives methods to achieve the goal were explored.

Purchase of new equipment needed to handle the volume of vegetation deposited at the site would be neither "economically feasible" nor defensible on a cost benefit basis, City Manager Bernie Murphy said.

Price proposed turning the operation over to private enterprise by franchising licensed chipping operators to service the entire Island.

Another alternative was to encourage individual property owner associations to manage a recycling program in their own neighborhoods.

Following Price's report to the council on the Gulf Pines experiment last February, Palmer volunteered to sound out CONA members on the feasibility of neighborhood participation.

"We received a very poor response," he admitted.

But in any neighborhoods like Gulf Pines, where chips can be used in natural landscaping, Price has offered to assist the property owners in setting up a program. He may be reached by calling 472-4135.

For the majority of Island residents, the service offered by Sanibel Disposal may be the best solution to the problem of vegetation disposal, the committee decided.

As a part of its regular twice-a-week garbage and trash collection, Sanibel Disposal will pick up grass clippings, leaves and small prunings from shrubs if they are bagged and placed streetside.

They will also remove, at no extra charge, palm fronds and tree branches cut in four-foot lengths and tied together.

Regular collection eliminates the eyesore of debris that can pile up for weeks on the street before it can be removed by a private trucker.

A major disadvantage of this system, Palmer said, is the Island's loss forever of the nutritive value of the vegetation.

Palmer said CONA members support Chief John Butler and Sanibel Police in their efforts to cite anyone found dumping either organic or non-organic material in vacant lots on the Island.

ON THE WATER

By Captain Mike Fuery

Not long ago I had two days to vacation on Hutchinson's Island on Florida's east coast. During that time I was amazed to find large numbers of sea turtles on the beach at night. Three men and a teenager noticed this, too, and lead Florida Marine Patrol officers on a beach chase that resulted in their arrest.

It's funny how small this state can be when fishing news is passed around. While on the east coast I learned that kingfish were making huge runs offshore. But what really interested us was the annual turtle egg laying task, which was, as I said, complete with turtle rustlers.

The first morning Carol and I awoke at our usual 5:30 a.m. and went down to the beach with hot coffee in hands along with shell bags and fishing rods.

During the night a turtle had crawled out of the Atlantic and deposited eggs right under the wooden walkway over the vegetation bridge along the water.

As we walked along the beach at dawn, we saw several other sea turtle crawls. Apparently, most had eggs. There are what some naturalists call "false crawls" in which the female comes to the beach to drop her eggs but for one reason or another decides not to carry on the process and returns to the water for another night. This is nearly always an evening happening, and each morning a naturalist on a three-wheeled motorcycle checks the beach for new egg deposits.

On the evening of our arrival we didn't notice it, but there had been a long chase between the law and four people who caught and wanted to butcher a turtle they had found coming up on the beach.

Florida Marine Patrolman Ed Taylor was on Hutchinson's Island and made a routine check of the beach on this barrier island outside of Stuart around 7:30 p.m.

Taylor said he noticed a turtle crawling up the sand getting ready to deposit eggs. He returned later to see the turtle had just about finished depositing the eggs. That's where things went wrong for the four who were bent on taking the turtle.

Taylor reported he saw four people in a four-wheel vehicle head toward the nest, pass the nest then turn around toward it. Much to Taylor's amazement the four men jumped out of the truck and began loading the turtle into the rear of the truck, eggs and all.

That triggered a chase with Taylor running down the beach as the men left at what was described as a high rate of speed down the beach.

Taylor ran for his car and headed off the four as they left the beach area. On that island, as on Sanibel and Captiva, there is one main road, and the officer had a somewhat easy time locating the four men. He pulled them over, but in the scramble the four had kicked the turtle out of the truck.

Despite the missing evidence, there was a good ending to this turtle tale. Three of the men were charged with possession of a turtle and with disturbing a turtle nest. The other was charged with crossing a dune line, driving on the beach, fleeing and attempting to elude a police officer. The men ranged in age from 31 to 37. There was one juvenile who was not charged with any crime at all.

For those who want to disturb a turtle nest, remember these men were hit with bonds from $1,000 to $1,300.

That's a good lesson for all who might come upon a nesting sea turtle. You will certainly see the crawl marks -- and the message is to leave them alone and allow these turtles of dwindling numbers to reestablish themselves. We'll all be better for it.

SHELLING TIPS

By Captain Mike Fuery

I guess if we were to talk about the shell that is found most often both dead and alive and is high on the list of most desirable to collect, then the lightning whelk would have to take a bow on the shell stage.

The whelk family is doing fairly well, as far as numbers go, but it is always a target of live shellers. For that reason the total continues to decline, although not as dramatically as some others such as the horse conch and tulip shells.

For those of you just beginning your shelling hobby, the whelks are heavy bodied shells with a large opening for the foot. They have a round whorl at the top that tapers to a pointed end. The fact that the left-handed lightning whelk grows to more than 12 inches long is reason enough to make them sought after for shell collections.

These shalls can reach a most unusual size, but there are other things that always intrigue me about them, too. When whelks gather on sandy mud flats they work carefully over the bottom "dredging" for clams that they can feed on.

Several years ago I came upon a scene that has always been of interest to me. It seems two large whelks had found a tender little sunray venus clam. Each whelk had its large muscle around the clam, and they were battling over who would be the one to eat it.

I got the sunray clam away from the pair, and I expect that was one pleased clam that escaped the whelks that day.

Of all the whelks, I think the smaller ones are my favorites. I like those with the darker colors that are about an inch or so long.

You should see many whelks on the beaches. Some will be worn and will have very little color. Others freshly washed up on the beaches will have all the full color of live whelks. The best part about the whelks is that you can find good ones on the beach and on the Pine Island Sound side of the Islands.

But that's also one of the downfalls of these shells. Live ones are still in good numbers. The whelks do reproduce easily, and in many areas of the sound and along the beaches it is not unusual to come upon several dozen good shells feeding in shallow areas around sand bars.

Of course, everyone is highly concerned with preserving the live shell life, and we strongly discourage any taking and killing of live whelks. But if you have kids along they will get a great education picking up and studying these interesting shells.

I've seen whelks used in everything from driveway liners to plant containers. Let your imagination take over, and surely you can find things to do even with whelks that aren't perfect enough for your collection.

Is there one really valuable whelk? Well, there is one whelk that is prized above all the others. The lightning whelk naturally opens left-handed as you hold it with the pointed tip toward the floor or beach. If you ever come upon a right-handed whelk, then you have a rare mutation shell—the odds of finding one are 10,000 to one against you. I've only seen one right-handed whelk.

Good shelling this week, and watch for the whelks. They are good collectibles and are well worth the looking.

Police investigated an attempted break-in at a West Gulf Drive home on Tuesday morning, Aug. 10. They discovered a blunt instrument had been used to try to pry open both the storage room door under the piling house and the screened porch door. No entry was gained to the home.

Police investigated a complaint that a Sewer Viewer truck had emptied an unknown substance into the pond behind the Island Cinema on Tuesday night, Aug. 10.

A check with Sewer Viewer revealed the truck had been called to Bailey's to repair the lift station there. Workers had flushed the station with clear water and then drained the water into the truck. The water was then emptied into the pond.

The officer on routine patrol noticed the stop sign at the intersection of Middle Gulf Drive and Casa Ybel Road was missing on Tuesday night, Aug. 10.

A resident of Sandcastle Road reported her bicycle was missing from underneath her piling house on Wednesday, Aug. 11. The brown girl's bicycle was valued at $75.

A Cape Coral woman was arrested for soliciting for Captran Resorts International on Thursday afternoon, Aug. 12, on the beach in front of the Song of the Sea resort.

Marilyn Deprey of Citrus Parkway, Cape

Coral, was charged with a misdemeanor for violating a Sanibel ordinance and was ordered to appear in Lee County Court on Aug. 23. Deprey was allegedly approaching people on the beach with offers of gifts in return for a visit to a Captran interval ownership resort.

Police checked the area around Coquina Beach after a complaint on Thursday night, Aug. 12, of unruly youths vandalizing a hobie cat boat.

A young boy escaped injury when he ran into the path of a car on the Blind Pass bridge on Saturday evening, July 31.

The 5-year-old boy ran from the north end of the bridge into the path of a car driven by a Deerfield Beach, Fla., woman. No charges were filed in the incident.

A Fort Myers Beach man and the passenger on his motorcycle were taken to Lee Memorial Hospital on Thursday morning, Aug. 5, after the driver lost control of the motorcycle on Periwinkle Way near Main Street.

The driver, Kenneth Shrock, told police he tried to stop for an unknown vehicle but lost control and drove off the south side of Periwinkle. His passenger was Roger Green of Andy Rosse Lane, Captiva.

Shrock was charged with driving too fast for conditions and with having no drivers license in his possession at the time of the accident.

Sanibel resident and sign maker Willie Compton was struck by a car while he constructed the new Bailey's sign in the Island Shopping Center parking lot on Friday afternoon, Aug. 6.

Compton was pinned between the car and a saw horse in the incident. The Pittsburgh, Penn., man who was driving the car told police he was placing his wallet under the seat when his arm hit the gear shift and put the car in reverse. The car rolled into Compton.

Compton, of 2320 Wooster Lane, was taken to Dr. John Colluci for treatment.

A Sanibel man was charged with driving too fast for conditions and with leaving the scene of an accident and a passenger in her car was charged with giving a false report to police after a two-car accident on Island Inn Road on Tuesday night, Aug. 10.

Timothy Charles Jordan of Sanibel was westbound on Island Inn Road when he lost control and struck an eastbound car driven by John Cornell Vanheemst of 9125 Mockingbird Drive.

Both drivers first left the scene and told police they had been struck in different locations by unknown cars. An investigation proved differently, however, and the drivers confessed to the accident.

Jordan was charged with driving too fast for conditions. A passenger in his car, Brad Oyler of 950 Tarpon Bay Road, was charged with giving police a false report.

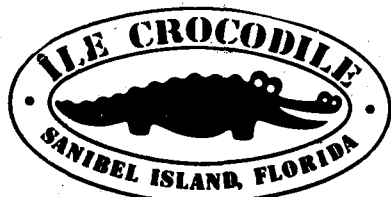

There were no injuries and no charges in a car-bicycle accident on Periwinkle Way near Casa Ybel Road on Wednesday afternoon, Aug. 11.

Nancy Gonzalez of Miami was entering Periwinkle from 1633 Plaza when she struck a bicycle ridden by Michael Senyard of 261 Fitzhugh St.

A Saudi Arabia woman and her 4-year daughter received minor lacerations on their elbows and knees when the moped the woman was riding was struck by a car on Periwinkle Way near Main Street on Thursday morning, Aug. 12.

The woman and young girl were struck by a car driven by a Cape Coral man as he attempted to enter Periwinkle Way from the 7-11 Store parking lot.

There were no charges in the incident.

neighborhood Watch coordinators last week.

As soon as the city receives word that a hurricane could threaten the Islands, the radios will be activated and storm information will be relayed, he said.

The individuals in whose homes the radios are set up will then know what information to pass along to neighbors in the chain of communication.

Gumbo Limbo representative George Christiansen said he plans to suggest that his neighborhood association put radios in the homes of the several zone captains within Gumbo Limbo to facilitate even faster, more efficient communications.

Without the radios, Island residents depend on the telephone to relay emergency information. During the threat of Hurricane Alberto in early June, Primm said, police spent more than an hour notifying the various neighborhood representatives and EPERT members of the pending storm.

Christiansen said after he was notified by police about Alberto he spent several hours on the phone keeping his neighborhood posted on the storm conditions. The radios will alleviate much of that time and will allow the most recent developments to be relayed immediately.

Representatives from the Beachview Neighborhood Association to the Chateaux Sur Mer, Tradewinds and 10 other Island neighborhoods unanimously agreed with Christiansen that the radios will prove invaluable in storm situations. Test runs last week showed the radios worked properly and clearly in the homes.

Although the radios are currently available only to EPERT leaders and Neighborhood Watch coordinators, Primm said the city will offer them to all Islanders "once all the bugs are worked out."

"I have a hunch quite a few people will want these," he said. "Of course the more people who have them the better the system will work. We hope every home and business will want one."

The radio system was initiated to provide fast, up-to-date information in hurricane or emergency weather situations, but Primm said he hopes the radios will eventually be used to advise Island residents and businesses of all types of emergencies, including power outages, water cut-offs or even traffic conditions during the winter season.

"The possibilities are wide," he said. "We're just going to have to see how people take to it."

The specially adapted radios cost approximately $55. Anyone interested in purchasing or learning more about them should contact Primm at the Sanibel Police Department, 472-3111.

Trowbridge added.

Diane Jensen, a Fort Myers bankruptcy attorney who is assisting Captran in its reorganization, would make no comment on the BOTI suit other than to say, "I feel we have a valid defense that is easily proved."

BOTI officials referred reporters to attorney Appleton in Winter Park.

Appleton is on vacation until Aug. 23, but Jesse Graham, a partner in the law firm, said he would make "no comment on any pending dispute or litigation" the bank might have with Trowbridge.

The complaint speaks for itself, Graham said, adding it is based on a written guaranty of payment in full.

"The defendant as guarantor, on demand of the plaintiff, has failed and refused to tender payment of $13,297.87 due and owing," the complaint charges.

Trowbridge's dispute with the bank, where Captran has done business since the time sharing concept of "vacation by the slice" was introduced on Sanibel six years ago, began on July 16.

Just hours before Captran Resorts International filed for voluntary bankruptcy under Chapter 11, the Bank of the Islands ordered a "set off" of one of Captran's accounts to pay off five installment loans totalling $38,281.85.

The action was taken on the advice of the bank's attorney to "protect the bank's depositors and stock holders," bank officials explained.

As a result $10,966.44 of checks drawn on the account to pay Captran's vendors were returned "refer to maker," and since that time some have been resubmitted for processing.

At the time Trowbridge charged the bank had "acted illegally in calling in the notes without prior notification," and threatened to file suit.

Jensen, Trowbridge's attorney, said Friday a suit against the bank will be filed, probably by the first of the week, in bankruptcy court in Tampa.

Meanwhile an appeal of the $1.7 million circuit court judgment against Captran Resorts International that triggered the voluntary bankruptcy action by the corporation is pending in the Third District Court of Appeals.

Trowbridge said reorganization plans are progressing and will be complete by the court-set Nov. 17 deadline.

Trowbridge said a new ruling by a bankruptcy court judge permits Captran to "continue selling its time share units and use the proceeds for the conduct of business."

"I continue to be amazed at the banking practices of the Bank of the Islands," Trowbridge said, adding, "I consider this litigation with personal liability to me a personal affront."

D.R. 'Doc' Cooperrider

Age: 68

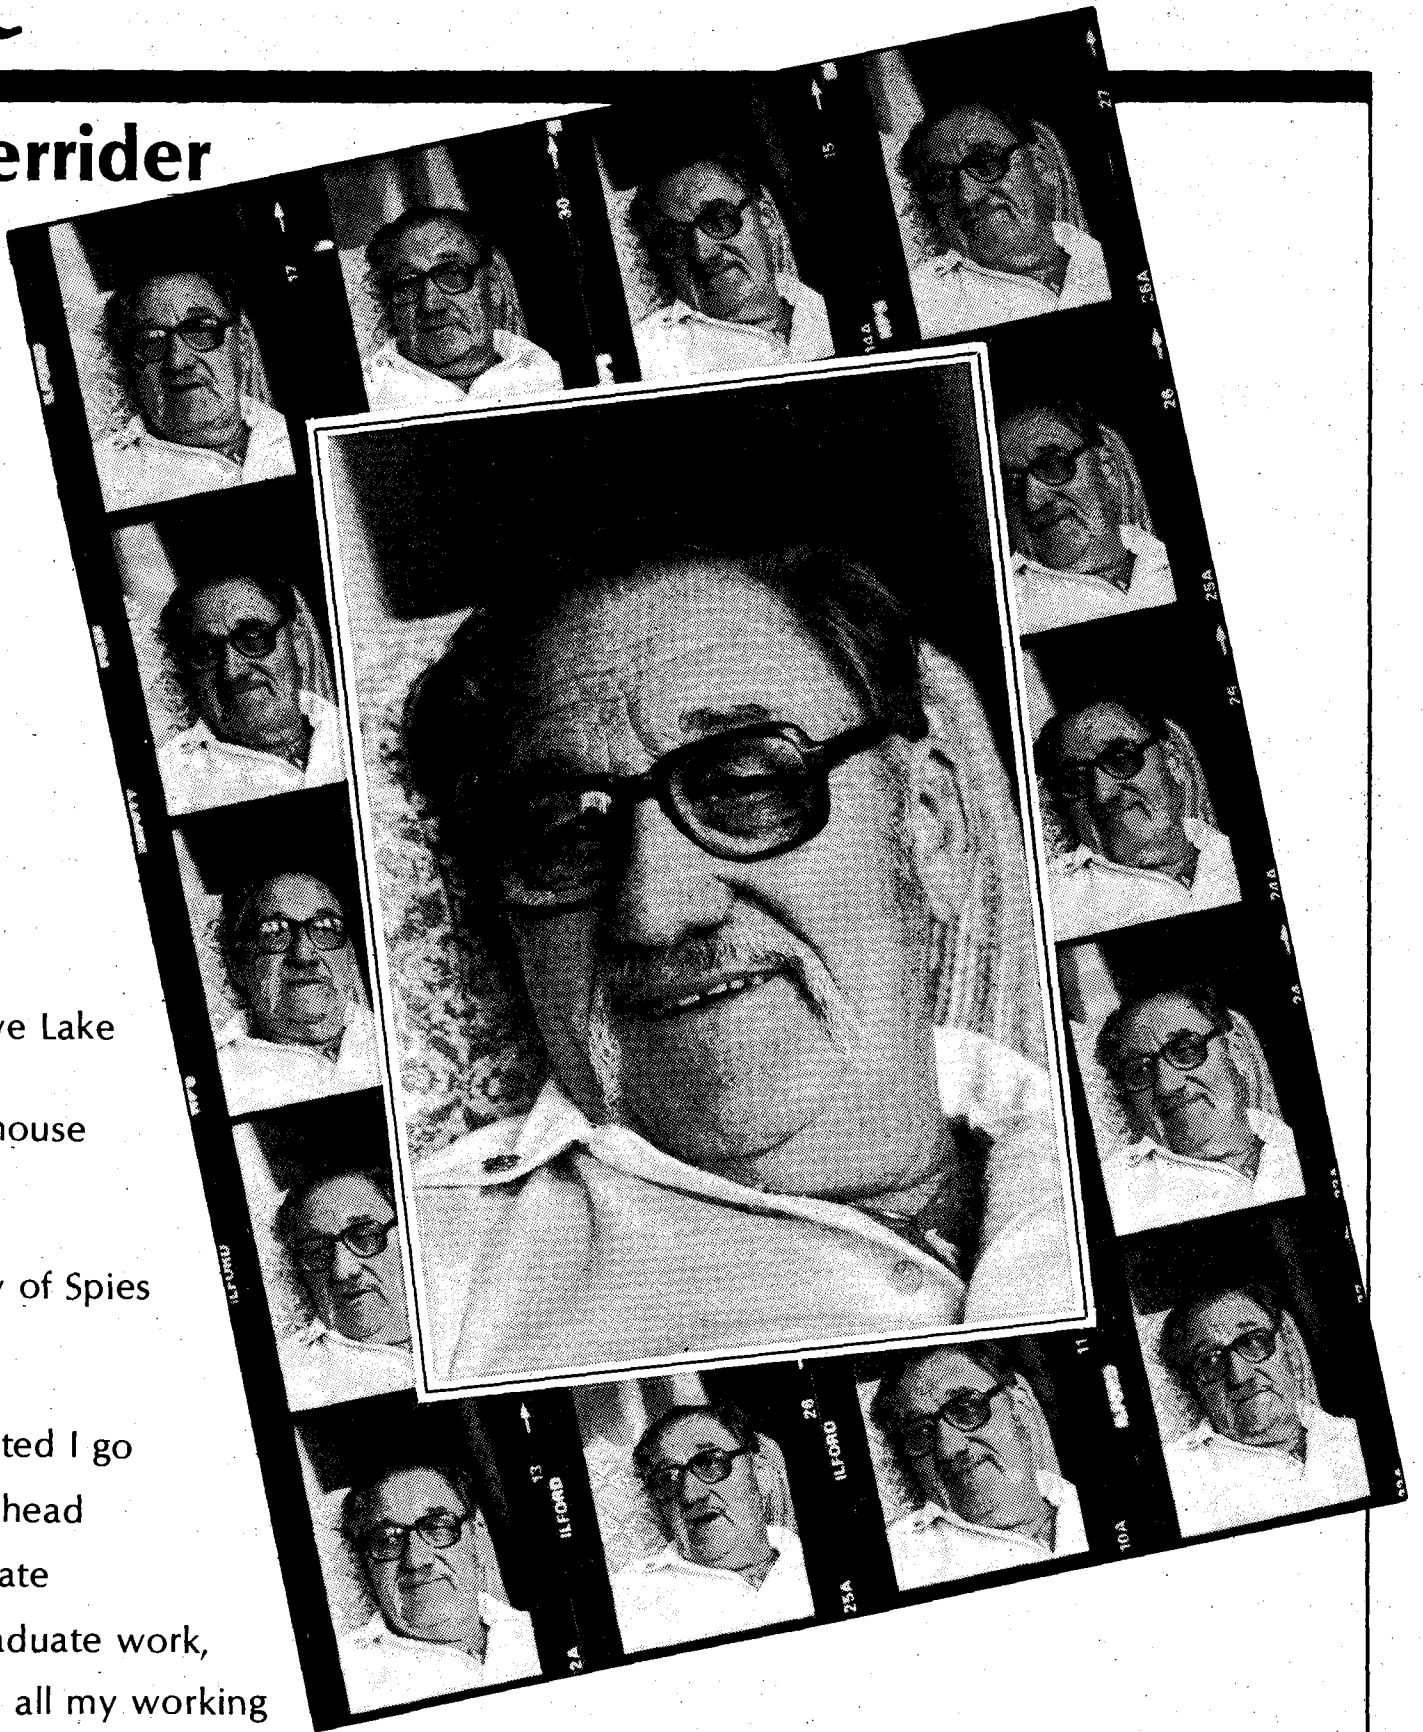

Roots: Central Ohio near Buckeye Lake

Pleasures: Working around the house and stained glass art

Last Book Read: In the Company of Spies
by Stephen Barlay

Mentor(s): "My uncle who suggested I go into veterinary medicine, the head of the department at Ohio State University where I did my graduate work, and the bosses I had through all my working life — I was blessed with good bosses."

Wish: "I've always wished I had more time to fish.
But if I had more time, I doubt I'd fish!"

By Cindy Chalmers

"Doc" Cooperrider is a familiar name and a familiar face for every Lion on Sanibel and Captiva -- and for a lot of Lions throughout Florida and the United States.

He boasts, and rightfully so, of 18 years of perfect attendance at Lions meetings from Kissimmee to Sanibel with a brief interlude in Jamaica.

Long before he retired from a career in animal research, Cooperrider joined the Lions because of the club's reputation as a service organization. Since his retirement the Lions have taken up "all of my time," he says.

Sanibel residents since 1976, Cooperrider and his wife, Sally, enjoy their East Gulf Drive retirement home with their 10-year-old standard Dachshund, Tina.

"This was the boonies when we first came here," Cooperrider says about their property. "We started coming to Sanibel in 1968 and decided we would retire here after our third trip. So we bought this lot. The road ended right here.

"We kind of liked it that way," he adds as he surveys the new connector road that cuts through what used to be thick vegetation.

Although they liked the Island better before the growth, progress has done little to impair the Cooperriders' enjoyment of Sanibel. Both have hobbies and interests that keep them busy and active, something Cooperrider has been all his life.

He enjoys working in stained glass because it is exacting and demanding, much like his career work in animal research, Cooperrider says.

He practiced veterinary medicine in Ohio only for a short time before deciding to do research. "I decided to get out of practice at 4 a.m. one October morning after spending hours on the icy ground trying to help a cow birth her calf," he explains. "I wanted a little more comfort than that."

So he returned to Ohio State University for graduate studies in parasitology (the study of insects and worms) and animal pathology.

After graduate school he joined the Army and spent some time in China instructing classes for Chinese veterinarians.

After the Army he did animal research work and taught in laboratories from the University of Tennessee to Oklahoma A & M and points between. In 1958 the Cooperriders moved to Kissimmee, Fla., where Doc joined the team at the state Animal Disease Diagnostic Center.

He was in on the first diagnosis in Florida of a fatal cattle disease that involved bacteria in the cattle liver. The diagnosis enabled the state to introduce the vaccine to combat the disease, Cooperrider explains.

Although most of his work for the past 25 years has been on dead animals, Cooperrider says he still loves live animals, especially dogs and horses, the best. "I don't really care for cats," he says, adding, "I have the scratches to prove it."

Because his demanding schedule and long hours precluded much vacation time during his working years, Cooperrider is spending his retirement making up for lost leisure time.

"I've done just about everything I wanted to do," he says. "I'd like to visit South America, but other than that, I just want to enjoy my retirement."

And Sanibel is just the place for that, both he and Sally firmly believe. "When we cross the Causeway everything quiets down," he says. "It was like that the first time we ever came over here, and it hasn't changed that much since."

Weekly Health Tip

From Len Kessler

Would you believe it - the most common cause of deafness is impacted wax in the ear canals. This kind of deafness grows slowly, usually unnoticed by the individual. Most common in the elderly, it can however occur in children. A doctor can readily remove the excess ear wax - it should never be done by amateurs probing in the ear, as a ruptured eardrum can result.

Traffic was stopped on the Sanibel Causeway for nearly 15 minutes last week as a huge water spout whirled through San Carlos Bay and hit the southeast corner of Sanibel. Some mangroves were uprooted, but no other damage was reported.

"I'll be back before you get your new Post Office," retiring Sanibel clerk Isadore (Dorey) Borrell told a crowd of well wishers that gathered early last Friday to wish him well.

The retirement ceremony came on the heels of an announcement that a new Post Office would be open on Sanibel before Christmas 1978.

The Sanibel City Council passed a resolution last week officially commending departing J.N. "Ding" Darling Wildlife Refuge Manager Glen Bond Jr. The council cited Bond's outstanding and innovative refuge management and his initiation of exotic plant conservation.

Love and Work by Gwenyth Cravens - Heroine Angela Lee goes to a job interview and immediately - at first sight - falls in love with her interviewer and future boss, Joe Bly.

Angela goes home to tell her friends she has found "Mr. Absolutely Right." Joe tells his secretary he has found his "spiritual twin." Yet the two never seem to be able to get together.

Joe, having been cruelly jilted by his former wife, doesn't want to lose the security of his present live-in lover, Edith. Angela, also divorced, doesn't make demands on Joe because she wants to be, or at least wants to appear to be, free.

How Joe and Angela adapt their love affair to their job situation and their other lovers makes for a believable and engrossing love story set in contemporary Manhattan.

The West Bank Story by Rafik Halabi - The book begins with, "I am an Israeli patriot, though I am not a Jew ... Arabs consider me a Palestinian, though I have no desire to become a citizen of an independent Palestinian state."

Halabi, a member of the Druse religious sect, an early off-shoot of Islam, is a reporter for Israel's state-run television network and has been a loyal soldier in Israel's army.

In this serious and thoughtful work, Halabi describes Palestinian terrorists, Israeli counterterrorists, West Bank politics and the tactics of the Israeli settlers in the West Bank.

He tries to be unbiased in his presentation; his fear is that the more repressive the Israeli government is in the occupied territories, the stronger the PLO foothold becomes there. His book is a timely eye-opener for those readers who will make the effort.

The Fall of the Russian Emperor by P.D. James - Future fiction about the disintegration and collapse of the Soviet Union in the late 1980's. James paints a very convincing picture of the social and economic breakdown brought on by labor unrest, fuel and food and housing shortages and nationalist passions in the many Soviet "autonomous republics."

We see the collapse begin in the mid-1980's during a power struggle after the death of Brezhnev's successor. James shows us what he perceives to be the grave problems of the Soviet system through the stories of several of its citizens: Gulag political prisoners (and lovers) Anton and Zoya; Soviet bureaucrat Letsukov, who is having an affair with Carole Yates, wife of a U.S. Embassy official; and party member Bukansky, who is purged for anti-Soviet writings.

We observe life in the inner circles before the collapse, life in the bureaucracy of Moscow, life underground with members of the Free Trade Union Movement and life in the Siberian Gulags. This is a fast moving, realistic novel of what may be to come.

Other new books in the Captiva Memorial Library include Haig, The General's Progress by Roger Morris, Marshall: Hero for Our Times by Leonard Mosley, and The Wicked Marquis by Marnie Ellingson.

Hours at the Captiva Library are 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Tuesday, Thursday and Friday; 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. Wednesday, and 9 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. Saturday.

The Sanibel Police Recreation Club still needs donations from Island residents and businesses to cover the $4,000 cost of the July 4 fireworks display the club sponsored at the Dunes Country Club.

Checks should be made to the Sanibel Police Recreation Club and mailed to the department, P.O. Box 438, Sanibel 33957, or delivered to police headquarters above MacKenzie Hall on Palm Ridge Road.

Candidates night planned for Aug. 26

A candidates night to introduce hopefuls for two seats on the Lee County Commission will be held on Thursday, Aug. 26, at the Sanibel Community Association.

Sponsored by the Community Committee for Candidates Night, the non-partisan evening will afford each of 14 candidates five minutes to respond to a question about land use planning in Lee County. The candidates will also field questions from the audience if time permits.

CCCN Chairman Henry Shelton urges all Sanibel and Captiva voters to attend the forum and meet the candidates. Even though neither of the commission seats open this election represents the Islands, the new commissioners will vote on issues that affect Sanibel and Captiva, he explained. The commissioners are elected at large throughout the county, Shelton added, and Islanders should make knowledgeable choices at the polls.

The candidates for the District 2 seat, which represents parts of Cape Coral and Fort Myers, are:

- | | |
|-------------------|-----------------|
| Democrat | Republican |
| Sam Camparetto | Tony Proctor |
| Frank Antos Jr. | Roland Eastwood |
| Don McDaniel | David Urich |
| Julie Ann O'Kelly | Roger Henderson |

The candidates for the District 4 seat, which represents East Lee County, are:

- | | |
|-------------------|-----------------------|
| Democrat | Republican |
| Bill Fussell | Art Rohwedder |
| E.M. "Mike" Wager | Clyde Bowles |
| | Betty Bowen Evans |
| | William "Bill" Martin |

The CCCN plans subsequent candidates nights on Thursday, Oct. 21, for state-wide candidates and on Thursday, Oct. 28, for Sanibel City Council candidates. All of the forums will be non-partisan and will begin at 7:30 p.m. at the Sanibel Community Association. Admission will be free.

CCCN is made up of several Island organizations, including the Committee of the Islands, the American Legion, Barrier Island Group for the Arts, the Chamber of Commerce, the Sanibel Community Association, the Sanibel-Captiva Rotary and Kiwanis clubs, Sanibel Republicans, Sanibel-Captiva Democrats and the local chapter of the American Business Women's Association.

Council sets Aug. 31 - Sept. 14 for qualifying candidates

Candidates for two City Council seats now held by Porter Goss and Duane White may file nominating petitions at City Hall beginning at noon on Tuesday, Aug. 31.

Sheriffs deputies nab sunbathers in the buff

By Cindy Chalmers

Five sunbathers were snared in the buff by undercover Lee County Sheriff's deputies last week at Bowman's Beach. All five ended up in the Lee County Jail.

Prompted by increasing complaints from appropriately clad beachgoers about people sunning sans suits, deputies set up their plain clothes patrol on Sunday, Aug. 8.

Arrested for indecent exposure at the county-owned beach on Sunday were two French women, two Miami men and a North

Fort Myers man. The women, Claude Anne Genestal-du-Chaumeil, 33, and Martine Nguyen-that, 32, both pleaded guilty to the charge on Monday before Lee County Judge Isaac Anderson, who fined them $50 each.

Harry Christopher Morris, 28, of North Fort Myers and Donald Edwin Bishop, 43, and Ronald Thad Jones, 34, both of Miami were ordered to appear in county court Aug. 30. Morris was released without bond from the Lee County Jail. Bishop and Jones were freed on $250 bond each.

Police call for names for evacuation assistance

Sanibel Police Chief John Butler is asking any Islanders who would need assistance evacuating the Island in the event of a hurricane to make that need known.

If any resident would not be able to evacuate the Island on his or her own because of special medical needs or because of the lack of a car or vehicle, that resident should notify the Police Department as soon as possible.

Butler is asking that such residents fill out the accompanying coupon and either deliver it or mail it to his attention at police headquarters above MacKenzie Hall on Palm Ridge Road. The mailing address is P.O. Box 438, Sanibel. Police personnel will subsequently contact the residents for more specific information.

Yes, I will need assistance evacuating from Sanibel in the event of a hurricane.

AN EYE FOR THE ISLANDS

By Maggie Greenberg

People often say there are days when it does not pay to get up — not even if one lives in that small paradise known as Sanibel and Captiva. I recently survived such a day, and the memories (or nightmares) are still most vivid.

One evening a friend and I drove into Fort Myers to do some shopping. I do not like to drive into town, and I only go shopping out of dire necessity or under extreme duress. Since my supply of tennis balls was holding out quite well, I went under extreme duress.

Now I generally try to redeem such situations by insisting that dinner in town is absolutely the sine qua non. When my friend's shopping spree was finally over, we went to a modest Italian restaurant and made a grand entrance to the accompaniment of ear-shattering thunder and lightning.

I had selected this particular restaurant because the man who makes the pizza positively revels in throwing swirling pizza dough into the air — and catching it. However, I once saw him miss, and the dough landed atop a pile of cardboard pizza boxes. So I keep going back to this establishment with more than a trace of ghoulish hope in my heart.

Alas, the pizza baker did not miss that night. Moreover, it soon became apparent that a terrible storm had scored a direct hit on our general area. Wind and rain lashed relentlessly at the cars as we drove back to Sanibel, where the storm was in the throes of unleashing its full fury.

As we inched across the Causeway, I began to make a mental inventory of all the reasons why it would certainly not pay to get up the following day:

1. Bailing: (My small boat would be full of water)

2. Mosquitoes: (They would breed outrageously, and Mosquito Control would wait to log hundreds of irate calls before sending its obsolete bombers to our rescue)

3. No-See-Ums: (The slightest encouragement would cause entire legions to infiltrate their way through the screens)

4. Air conditioning: (Closing up and turning it on would be the only defense, and a horrendous expense)

5. Weeds: (They would now have a new lease on life, especially since the weed killer that I had just sprayed on them would have washed away)

6. Swimming pool: (I had just cleaned it, but now it would be full of berries, leaves and a vast assortment of flying debris)

In short, my morose mind could conjure up only one redeeming feature with which to regard the torrential rains: I would not have to water the garden.

The following morning, I finally decided to get up because:

1. I was hungry.
2. I had to let the dog out.

The dog was blissfully oblivious to the carnage that greeted him — and promptly watered whatever spots he felt the storm might have neglected.

My inventory of the previous night clearly indicates I am pessimistic by nature. If one anticipates the worst possible scenario, then one is well prepared and not apt to receive a rude shock. Moreover, it is conceivable (albeit not probable) that reality may not live up to one's worst expectations.

The philosophy of pessimism had always stood me in good stead — until that fateful day after the wild storm. Never before had the scope of disaster exceeded my worst expectations!

In this case the disaster was of truly "Titanic" proportions. While I kept a watchful eye on the wayward dog happily pattering here and splattering there, my bleary eyes suddenly focused on a sight that I had never thought to see: the prow of the boat was reaching up to heaven in an attitude of supplications — and the rest was you know where. It was clear that the time had come to let my house-sitting roommate greet this glorious day.

Much to her everlasting credit, my friend functioned superbly for the next few hours — without a drop of morning coffee. Our primary objective was to retrieve the motor, completely submerged, of course.

We wallowed about in the mucky canal. She pushed, I pulled, and together were able to lay the sopping monster to rest on the dock. Now it could dry out and, we hoped, be salvaged.

Next we bailed out the boat — a task tantamount to bailing San Carlos Bay with two thimbles. Finally we retrieved the gas can (floating absurdly by a neighbor's boat), one of the oars (bobbing away in the opposite direction) and the comfy cushions (inexplicably floating in yet another direction).

Enormously proud of both our initiative and our en-

A December wedding is planned.

Wedding

Germaine - Traucht

Maribeth Germaine of Blowing Rock, N.C., and Sanibel Post Office clerk Thomas Traucht were married on Sunday evening, Aug. 8, at the Rumpel Memorial Presbyterian Church in Blowing Rock.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. and Mrs. Roger Germaine of West St. Paul, Minn. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Traucht of Sanibel.

After a honeymoon in Cashiers, N.C., the couple will reside in Fort Myers.

duration, we phoned the young man who does such a splendid job of keeping the motor running whenever there is no logical reason for it not to run. We now prayed for resurrection.

"What? We should put it back in the water?"

Once a motor has drowned, it seems that fresh air is like the kiss of death. Naturally, we had always assumed it was the breath of life!

We had neither the heart nor the stamina to redrown the motor. Fortunately, the young man's father came to our rescue. He picked up that behemoth with one hand (wouldn't you know) and carried it off so that his son might have a go at either resurrection or extreme unction.

Alas, the balance of the day did absolutely nothing to redeem the manner with which it had begun. In fact, it merely confirmed and reinforced the misery.

Morning: An enormous alligator occupied much of the width of Dixie Beach Boulevard as I jogged back to the house. It did not seem disposed to move away, and I was certainly not disposed to offer any encouragement that it might conceivably misconstrue. My motionless waiting for the gator proved to be a veritable protein bonanza for mosquitoes and No-See-Ums.

Afternoon: The Water Meter Reader Man stopped by to say there must be a bad leak somewhere, for I had managed to swallow more than 200,000 gallons of water that month.

Evening: Since all bad things must come to an end, I cheered myself up at the close of this horrendous day by composing the following lines:

When life is sour and not at all sweet,
Just buy a new racquet, or go out to eat.

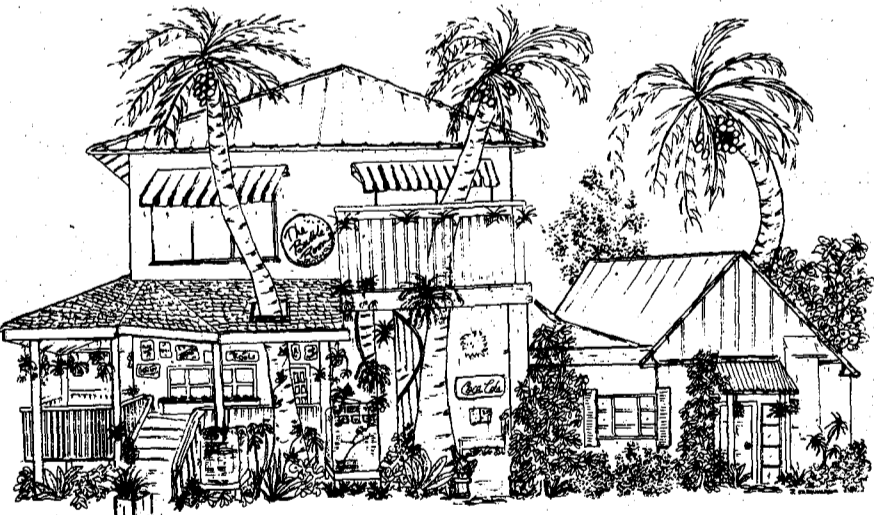

Since I already have tennis racquets of every size and shape, I opted for McT's early-bird special. Alas, the day ended just as badly as it had begun -- I arrived too late to be among the first 100 consuming customers.

From Sanibel's wilds to the Champs Elysee

Former feral feline now a pampered Parisian pussycat

By George Campbell

Illustrated by Ann Winterbotham

Marianne and Paul Kaestle, part-time Sanibel residents, one-time Brazilian residents and now Parisians, swore upon returning from Brazil in 1978 for a stay on Sanibel that they could not allow themselves ever again to be tied down with pets. Their resolve was firm. A family decision had been made: No more pets!

Their home in Brazil had been an aviary. Bilingual parrots, canaries, parakeets, cardinals and finches were all over the place. There was hardly room for Paul, Marianne and their three youngsters. So after breaking their avian bonds, they took the oath: No more pets!

The resolve was shattered when, on Periwinkle Way, a "little-bitty black-white kitten" — a feral baby, homeless and frightened, abandoned by its own kind — spoke to son Stephen requesting food, a home and TLC.

So it was in 1978 that "Seagrape" was adopted by the Kaestles and became their "main cat," a personality commanding the love and attention of all his human associates.

From Sanibel the family, now including Seagrape, journeyed north to Dobbs Ferry, N.Y., where the resolve further crumbled when Marianne established the Alegria Cattery. This name requires some explanation. Alegria is Brazilian for happiness. Cattery means cat house. Can you believe it?

There, for two years, Marianne bred and raised cats — fancy cats. Her most valuable specimen is "Que Linda!" ("How beautiful!") THE Grand Champion Lilac Point Siamese. This beautiful snob of a creature has blue eyes, white fur and silver-grey points; that is, the feet, nose, ear tips and tail are lilac, with a rose-pink cast.

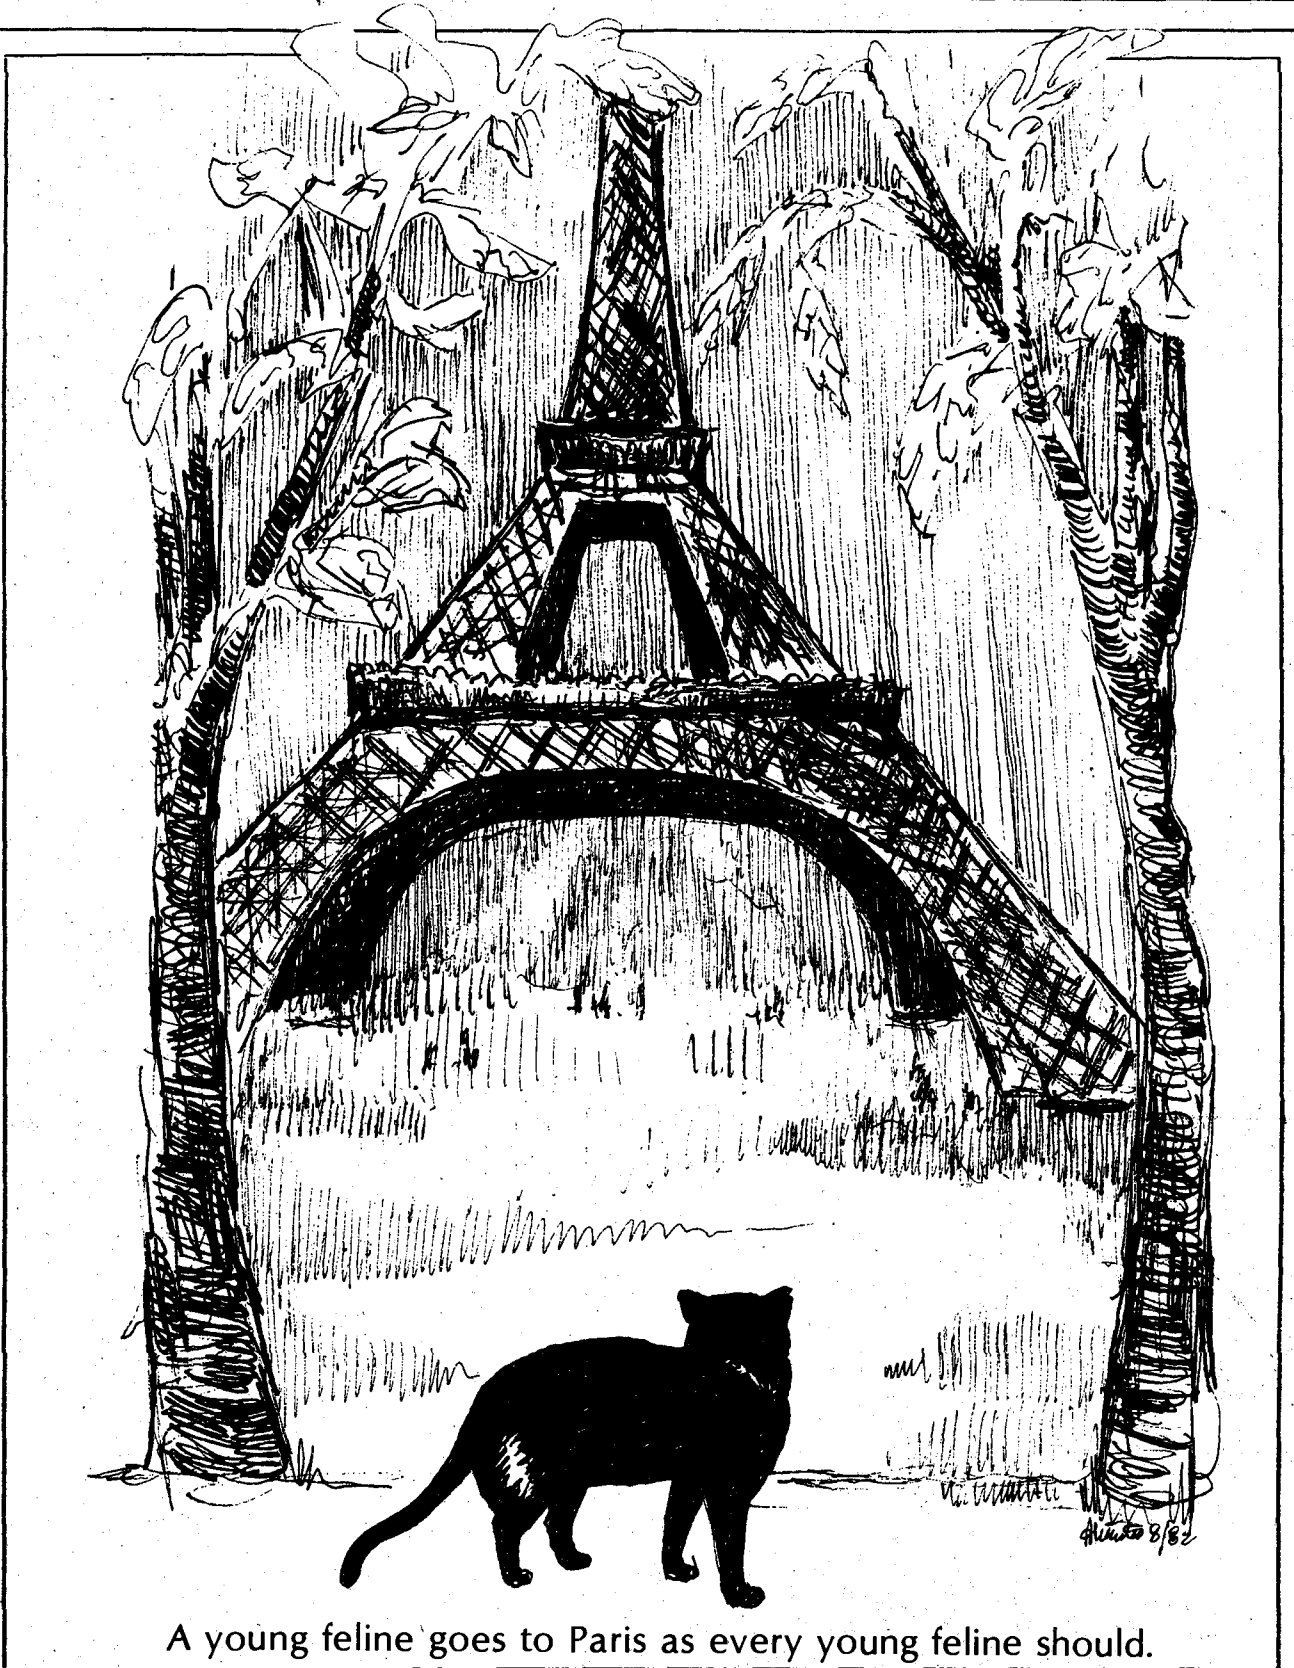

The gene that carries silver-grey points is temperature linked; i.e., all extremities express such points, and of course, all extremities are cooler.

Of Seagrape, La Concierge exclaimed, "C'est magnifique!"

Today Alegria Cattery is a going concern in a modish apartment in the Avenue d'Eylau in the shadow of the Eiffel Tower in Paris.

Blue-eyed Que Linda spent months there being coiffed, pedicured and otherwise prepared for her nuptials with a husband who is a Red Short-haired Oriental Tabby with green eyes. The union was consummated just weeks ago, and the issue from this "arranged" marriage may be that rarity of feline pulchritude, a Caramel Oriental with green eyes!

I say "may be" for though all the necessary genes are present in Que Linda, and the Oriental Tabby is properly equipped, too, the resulting combination depends on that spin of the genetic wheel of chance that produces the characters of all of earth's creatures whether human, feline, molluskan or of any other life form. But with luck, a long sex life, good care and the proper mate, Que Linda will produce that rare green-eyed beauty, a Caramel Oriental.

A young feline goes to Paris as every young feline should.

While all the fancy cat business is going on in the Avenue d'Eylau, Seagrape, the Big Black-White Fat Cagey Cat, erstwhile Sanibel wild feral cat, remains the Main Cat of the Avenue d'Eylau Paris cat house. The Kaestlers are owned by Seagrape. La Concierge has no kind words for Que Linda, but of Seagrape she exclaims, "C'est magnifique!"

Special problems were overcome in the transfer of feline nationality. Seagrape caused a considerable brouhaha on Air France when he exploded from his crate in mid-Atlantic and disappeared in the small spaces amongst the suitcases.

Successfully recovered after considerable search upon arrival at Le Bourget, Seagrape moved into a famous five-star hotel from which he promptly escaped into the street. Not just any old street, I'll have you know, but the Champs Elysee. Clever detective work on the part of the redoubtable Paris Police resulted in his recapture and eventual move to the new Alegria Cattery in the Avenue d'Eylau of the XVI Arrondissement.

Now older, fat and cagey, Seagrape dominates his universe. He is learning French and has adapted well to the new environment. When the people he owns pack suitcases, Seagrape correctly reads the signals and becomes grouchy.

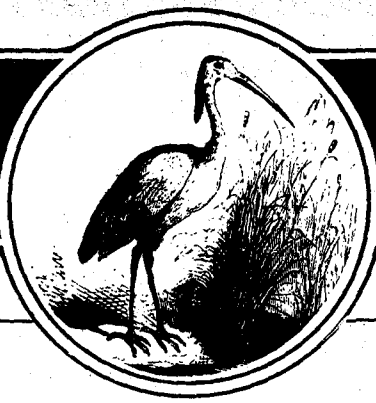

Everybody leaves Paris in August. That is, everybody but Seagrape. At such times his name is temporarily changed to Seagrump. He eloquently expresses his displeasure by walking disdainfully through and past his immaculate litter tray and peeing on the carpet.

Seagrump, a Hyde to Seagrape's Jekyll, has other not-so-

REFUGE REPORT

Successful broods hatching

By Larry Narcisse, assistant manager
J.N. "Ding" Darling Wildlife Refuge

The black skimmers nesting on the Sanibel Causeway and little terns nesting just east of Turners Beach are bringing off successful broods.

Both species require nesting habitat that is almost identical. In these two cases, people have been extremely helpful in protecting our two nest colonies.

Skimmers are not threatened or endangered with extinction; however, the little tern is listed by Florida as "threatened." Terns and skimmers have come under increased pressure by man for the nesting habitat they require. It would not be a surprise if skimmers were added to the state threatened list in the near future.

It is important for everyone to remember they are welcome to observe and photograph the birds at the nesting colonies, but they must use good judgment to protect the birds. By no means should you allow dogs to roam around freely, nor should you cross the barriers that have been erected.

If you happen to see a young bird cross the barrier lines, leave it alone - the parent birds will take good care of it. Nature knows what is best in this case, so just observe the birds - but leave them alone.

Please report any violations or molesting of the birds by calling 472-1100; however, please make sure a violation has occurred before you call.

In ending, the refuge would like to thank the woman who called to inform us about the nest colony on the Causeway. We don't know her name, but she is probably responsible for saving the colony. Happy birding!

Art program ends

By Delano Pierce, manager
J.N. "Ding" Darling Wildlife Refuge

With the completion of showings by sculptress Marie Dubenchiek and paintings by Mark Battista and Sherri Weaver, the art display program at the refuge will be completed for this year.

Cape Coral resident Dubenchiek has six wildlife sculptures on display. She uses a variety of stone including agate, crystal alabaster and Bardiglio cippolino marble.

Battista, who is only 19 years old, has six sketches of birds in the refuge.

Popular film series continues

By Gina Swalls, biological aide
J.N. "Ding" Darling Wildlife Refuge

Because of increased public interest in our Summer Wildlife Film Series we are extending our program through September. This week's film is America's Wetlands.

This 30-minute film shows the hidden value of wetlands, swamps, saltwater marshes and grasslands from a national perspective.

The film was produced by the Department of the Interior, U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service and the Environmental Protection Agency.

America's Wetlands will be shown at 2 p.m. every afternoon this week in the Visitor Center auditorium at the entrance to the Wildlife Drive off Sanibel-Captiva Road. Admission is free.

fun habits, too. Even with an expert cat-sitter on duty, Seagrump remains displeased and unforgiving all during the Kaestle's absence and even for a couple of weeks after their return.

Then, once again the Main Cat, he becomes his genial though demanding self and once again merits his real name, Seagrape of Sanibel - the Sanibel stray who made the Big Time in Paris.

Why it is that people all over the country feel free to release unwanted cats on Sanibel, I don't know. But they do.

There are hundreds of cats on our little Island. A number fall victim to speeding cars. Others are thin, rangy and sometimes diseased. Still others have been successful in adapting to the wild state of their distant ancestors and do quite well, multiplying successfully.

Many have been adopted, seeking homes and food and learning to accept people. I know of many once-scared wild creatures that have become gentle and loved house cats.

Maybe the overcrowding here has brought a survival selection mechanism into play. Maybe our survivors are fittest. Seagrape certainly did all right and leads one's opinion in that direction.

En route to domesticity, a typical feral cat tests the human environment. Note extra toes, a heterodactyl condition, a genetic trait that is often expressed amongst Sanibel feral felines.

Softball highlights!

It is with much regret that we say goodbye to the 50+ and - team. This conglomerate team of oldsters and youngsters was not able to go the final round because of a previous commitment to the home league in Fort Myers.

50+ and - finished the season with a record of 5-6.

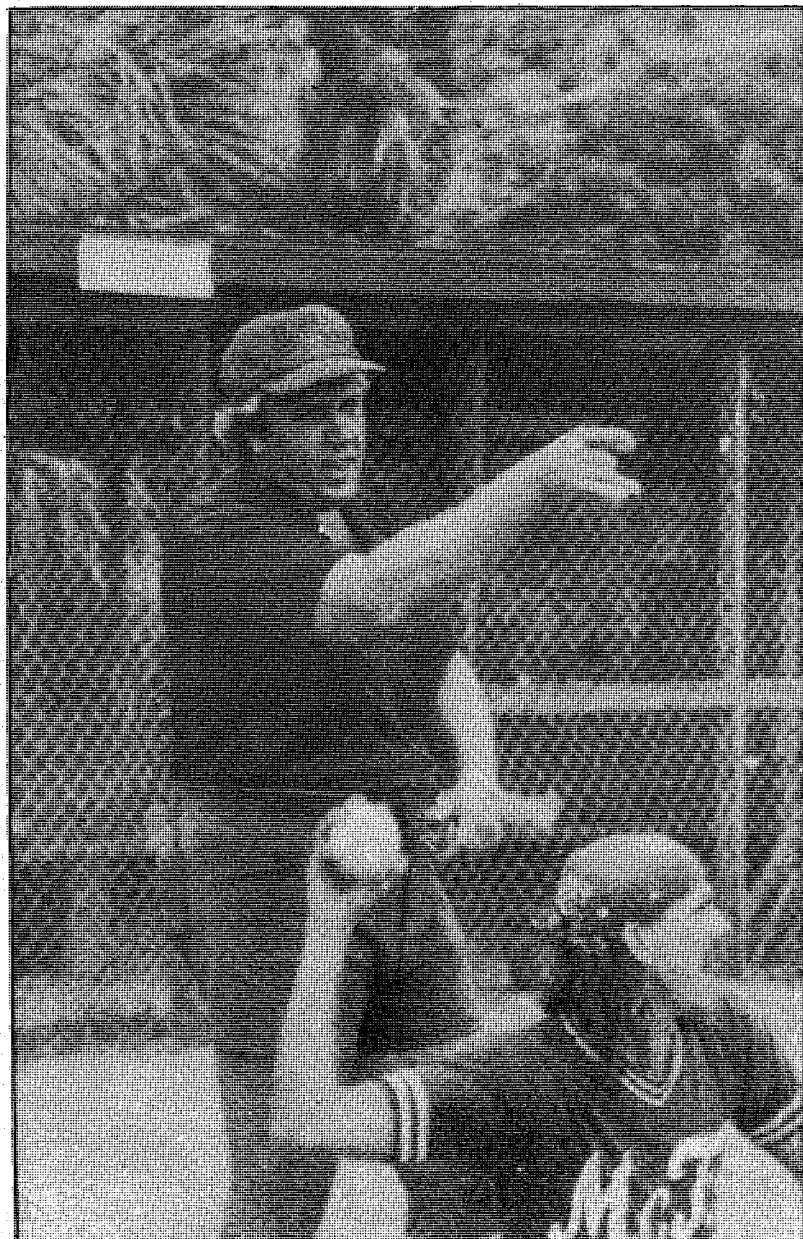

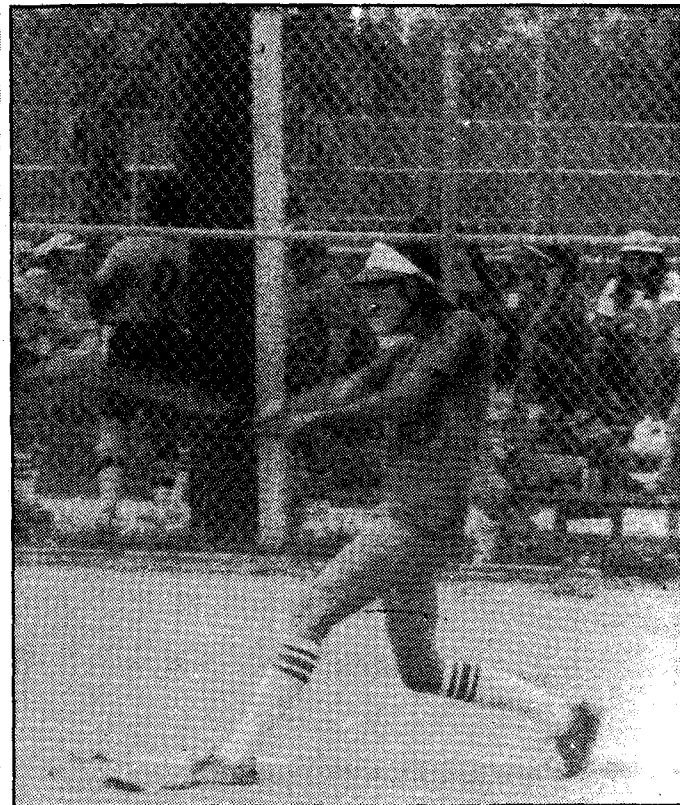

Meanwhile, on the home front West Wind has pulled out on top in the Men's Division with three big wins for the week. Tuesday night West Wind wipped winless Santiva Islanders by a score of 13-11. Thursday night pitted West Wind against arch-rival Naumann -- the only team to have beaten West Wind this season -- but the new league leaders were avenged by winning 10-4.

West Wind beat McT's 14-1 Sunday with a lot of help from sluggers T. Woods, Oscar Gavin and Thom Traucht.

The ladies were raring to go Sunday -- most of 'em, that is -- and lopsided victories for both Timbers and league leaders Periwinkle Place Players were the result.

Timbers won handily over Baileys 14-1 and are now close on the heels of the Players. Meanwhile, the Players aren't laying down as they whipped Sanibel Accommodations -- the only team to whom they have lost this season.

Beachview men

Roy Hull, Ken Preston and Bob Schneider tied for first place with a score of plus-three at Tuesday's Beachview Golf Association Men's Tournament. The trio bested 12 contenders.

Fourteen players were on hand for the tournament Saturday and the winner at plus-three was Frank Rosen. Mac McClintock finished in a close second with a score of plus-two.

Islander Sports Quiz

Well, we stumped all you trivia buffs once again -- or so it seems. No one had the right answer to last week's three-part quiz about the Swimming Hall of Fame. It's in Fort Lauderdale, it was established in 1965, and Johnny Weissmuller was the first elected member.

This week we're going to lighten up and give you a question you won't be able to pass up -- much less miss.

Ready?

Here goes:

What is the nickname of former soccer star Edson Arantes do Nascimento of Brazil? (Here's a hint: before he retired in 1974, he became the highest paid athlete in the world).

If we simply can't fool you on this one, call The Islander, 472-5185, with your answer. If your correct we'll print your name in next week's edition.

Good luck!

State opens special season Sept. 25-29 for taking of native wood ducks, teals

A special season for the taking of native wood ducks and teals will be open in Florida Sept. 25-29. This marks the second year in a row the Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission has allowed the special hunt in the state.

The experimental harvest was granted for three years by the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service for implementation in Florida with the understanding that if the harvests were not detrimental to any waterfowl species, it probably would be granted annually, Thomas Goodwin, chief of the Bureau of Wildlife Resources for the Division of Wildlife of the Commission, explained.

He said a random survey of 2,000 waterfowl hunters who participated in the first special harvest last season showed the program was working well.

Goodwin said survey results showed 46 percent of the waterfowl taken consisted of wood ducks, 44 percent were blue and green-winged teal and 10 percent other species.

The wildlife biologist said the main purpose of the early season was to allow the taking of teal and native wood ducks.

"Teal are known to be early migrators and generally pass through Florida enroute to Cuba, Central and South America before the regular waterfowl season begins," he said.

He added a major factor in justifying the season was to allow hunters an opportunity to harvest Florida wood ducks before northern wood ducks migrated into Florida.

Goodwin said concern has been expressed by waterfowl biologists in the northern part of the Atlantic flyway that an early harvest might have an impact upon wood ducks migrating into Florida. "However, research has shown that most northern wood ducks don't show up in Florida until at least October," he said.

The bag limit for the special season is four ducks per day, not more than one of which may be a species other than teal or wood duck.

Steel shot must be used in all gauge shotguns when hunting waterfowl in designated steel shot zones of the state.

Those areas include that portion of Brevard County east of Interstate 95, Leon County (exclusive of Lake Talquin and the Ochlockonee River) and Lake Miccosukee in Leon and Jefferson counties.

Also, Osceola, Broward, and Dade counties; Orange Lake and Lochloosa Lake in Alachua County; and Lake Okeechobee (all areas located lakeward of State Road 78 between the Kissimmee River and the intersection of the Hoover Dike and State Road 78, near the Old Sportsman Village site).

Wildlife art program ends at refuge

Weaver has on exhibit a variety of artistic seashells with several embossings, shell paintings and an interesting sea grape print. She is associated with the Sanibel Gallery.

The art displays at the refuge this summer have been extremely successful. The displays began in May with most artists leaving their works in the Visitor Center for two weeks.

The wildlife-oriented displays were viewed by hundreds of visitors to the refuge and were a tremendous addition to the center in the absence of permanent refuge displays.

Also contributing to the summer's art exhibits were George Wiss, Al Milliken, Molly Eckler, Ikki Matsumoto, Carol Pickett, Howard Waite, Steve Phillips, Alice Kylo and Linda Rademaker.

Shopping

Sanibel is a veritable shopper's paradise. Tasteful boutiques and casual island shops join forces to present visitors with everything and anything a vacation shopper could hope for.

At the Lighthouse (Eastern) end of the island, Punta Ybel Plaza and the Sea Horse Shops are right across the street from one another, providing a variety of products that can cure your sweet tooth or tickle your shell finder's fancy. Need a good haircut or coiffure? You can get it in either of these shopping centers.

Most businesses open at 10 a.m. and close at 5:30 p.m. This holds true for many island stores, although some are open evenings during the winter season.

Tall Australian Pines shade Periwinkle Way and the shopper travels west along this main thoroughfare. This stretch of road is truly a shopper's paradise! It's all here -- the fast and not-so-fast eating spots, casual and elegant boutiques, hand-wrought jewelry, craft designs, shell shops and balm for health product fanatics.

Watch to your right and left as you drive or cycle along. Photographic supplies, bait and tackle, deli foods, fresh seafood and baked goods, knick-knacks and what-nots can all be found along the drive to the intersection of Periwinkle Way and Tarpon Bay Road. Along the way, shopping centers such as the Heart of the Islands, Periwinkle Place and Tahitian Gardens offer a variety of island delights.

Palm Ridge Road, the Periwinkle Way turn-off to Captiva, offers several shopping centers featuring everything from imports to gift shops for the discriminating shopper, plants and shells, a sandwich shop, ice cream parlors, pizza parlor, boutique shop and the Island Apothecary pharmacy.

At the Tarpon Bay-Periwinkle Way intersection, the Island Shopping Center features the island's only supermarket and movie house.

A left on Tarpon Bay Road takes the visitor past Sanibel's original schoolhouse, which now holds original island watercolors and woodcuts.

Then on to West Gulf Drive and westward to an interesting little artisan shop and gallery.

At the intersection of Periwinkle Way and Tarpon Bay Road, you may choose instead to turn right and follow the signs to the Tarpon Bay marina, where you will find a cluster of quaint shops overlooking the back bay. Some antiques, shells and shellcrafts, what-nots and clever clothes can be found here, as well as a great seafood sandwich and soft drinks.

The spectacular ride to Captiva, with its lush foliage and enchanting view of the Gulf, is well worth a day's outing. Talented artists display their works in one roadside shop, while others feature some nifty gifts for Grandma to take home to little hands as a pleasant hodge-podge of remembrances from these barrier islands.

Whether for shopping or merely browsing, island shops offer a surprising variety from one-of-a-kind collectibles for the discerning shopper to postcards for the simple souvenir hunter. And of course, for all, shells -- shell jewelry, shell lamps, just plain shells -- the most beautiful shells in the world from the most beautiful shelling beaches in the world.

GATORS

Feeding alligators anywhere within the Sanibel city limits is not only illegal, but can be extremely dangerous.
 Alligators can run up to 45 mph, so if you are close enough to feed an alligator, he is close enough to bite you. An alligator fed for fun loses his natural fear of humans and becomes a potential threat to children and pets.
 Dogs should never be permitted to run free on Sanibel.

SHELLING

The city's resolution limiting the taking of live shells to two live shells per species per person is one to be scrupulously obeyed. As a matter of fact, in order to preserve Sanibel's beautiful shelling beaches, most collectors refuse to take any live shells whatsoever.

DOGGY DO'S AND DON'TS

If you are visiting Sanibel with the family Fido in tow, all the better. All family members can enjoy Southwest Florida sun and surf.
 There's no leash law on Sanibel, but of course an excitable or unruly animal is better off when controlled with a leash.

Remember: Wherever you are, clean up after your pet!
 "Leave nothing on the beach but footprints" applies to dogs, too.
 There's no leash law on citable or unruly animal is better off when controlled with a

 YOUR VALUABLES

In order to protect your valuable possessions from theft, it is recommended that you take them to a bank or hotel vault for safekeeping. Do NOT leave them in your room or car.

CAMPING, BEACH FIRES

Camping on the beach is prohibited, as are open beach fires.
 An exemption to the beach fire ordinance is a fire in an approved cooking container (not to exceed 48x24x12 inches deep) with an extruded metal grill for non-commercial food preparation. This type of container will be allowed on the beach without a permit.

 After you have had your beach party, please assume the responsibility for cleaning up any debris or litter in your area.

FISHING

While no license is required for saltwater fishing, fishing in freshwater ponds or the Sanibel River requires a Florida fishing license.
 Licenses are available at Bailey's General Store on Periwinkle Way. The fee is $6.50 for residents and $10.50 for non-residents.
Minimum Legal Lengths
 Blue Fish 10 inches

Flounder	11 inches
Grouper	12 inches
Mackerel	12 inches
Mullet	12 inches
Pompano	10 inches
Red Fish	12 inches
Snook	18 inches
Trout	12 inches

Snook fishing is outlawed from June 30-Aug. 1.

SPEED LIMITS

There is very good reason for the varying speed limits (20-30 mph) along the Causeway. The slower speeds preserve the bridge supports from strain and stress.
 This speed limit is strictly enforced with radar on a 24-hour basis by both the Sanibel Police Department and the Lee County
 Sheriff's Department.
