

Sisters Protest Use of Site Selected for Vets' Housing

"I disagree with you gentlemen in thinking that the proper place for the housing of veterans is on Broad street between Maple street and Summit avenue," declared Miss Pamela W. Lyall of Tulip street, a former secretary of the Board of Education, in a letter read Tuesday night before Common Council. Her sister, Mrs. Kitty E. Merrill, also of Tulip street, widow of the late Mayor Oliver B. Merrill, also wrote a letter against the use of the above site for veterans' housing.

Rev. Earl F. Adams, D.D.

Miss Lyall worded her reasons as follows: "A very dangerous place for small children to play as was evidenced by a recent child casualty at that spot. Noisy and conspicuous for family living. Unsanitary for all citizens of Summit. Presumes destruction of many beautiful trees that are characteristic of Summit. Lot now used for outdoor recreation by Junior High School and YMCA boys."

The writer added: "I understand the city owns many pieces of property which could be used temporarily for such a purpose, for instance the easterly edge of Memorial Field; the lot at Tulip street and Myrtle avenue, which the Board of Education owns and could be taken over on same basis as the parking lot on Maple street."

Union Service To Be Held On Thanksgiving Day

A union Thanksgiving Day service sponsored by the Summit Council of Churches will be held Thursday at 10:30 a. m. at Central Presbyterian Church. Participating in the service will be all Protestant churches of the city and the Jewish Synagogue. Music will be furnished by the choir of Central Church.

Coming Yule Stirs Summit's Famed Santa

The lure of Christmas has again proven too strong to keep Summit's famed Santa Claus in retirement. Former Police Sergeant Patrick J. Kelly, who once had the reputation of being the heaviest policeman in the nation, has announced that again this year he will don his familiar red and white suit and act the role of St. Nicholas for the city's children.

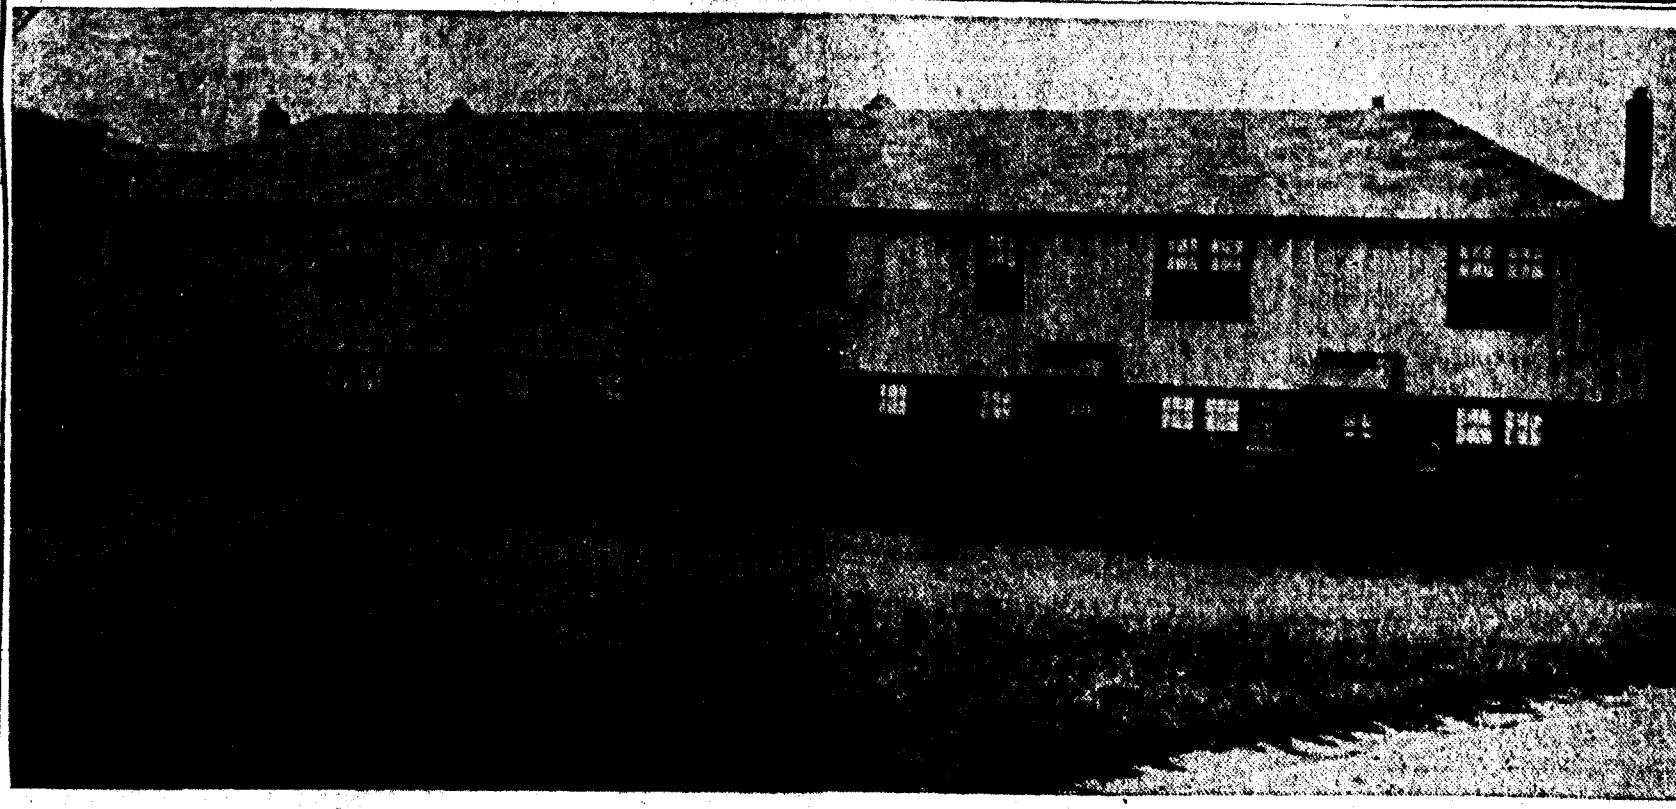

However, Kelly has some misgivings for he has lost considerable weight since leaving the force and is not quite sure how the Santa suit will fit. But come what may, he will soon start preparations for his 24th season as Santa and is making his annual appeal for funds and gifts to distribute to children.

Dear Killed by Hit and Run Driver

A deer was found dead in Morris turnpike at Fenwick road Tuesday at 8:40 p. m. by Patrolmen William Dunne and Alexander Yanoone. Acting Captain John Gannon reported. He said the deer, apparently killed by a hit and run driver, was turned over to a state game warden for disposition.

TAKE HEED!

Any one having news or advertising copy for the November 28 issue of the Herald should bear in mind that owing to the Thanksgiving Day holiday (editorial and mechanical departments will be closed all day) all such copy must be in the respective departments not later than 8 p. m. Monday. BUT—if at all feasible, get as much in today, tomorrow and Saturday as possible.

THIS IS THE HOUSE THAT UNCLE SAM BUILT for use of soldiers and war workers and is now on its way to Summit where it, and others of the same type, will be used to alleviate a veterans' housing shortage. The above photograph, released by the Legion's housing committee, shows a Type B apartment unit, two of which city and state officials have agreed tentatively to place in the park between Elm street and Summit avenue. Among the 22 units assigned to Summit, six will be similar to the above. These dwellings contain six apartments; two having five rooms including three bedrooms and four having four rooms including two bedrooms. Two of the above units, which are 25 feet wide and 107 feet, four inches long, will be placed around the Legion Home. A third structure, known as Type C, will also be located in the same area. Type C dwellings, also consisting of six apartments, are 25 feet wide and 112 feet, 11 inches long. Four of the Type C apartments have four rooms, including two bedrooms while the remaining two are three rooms, including one bedroom. The house pictured above, plus 17 others, is being shipped from Mineville, N. Y., where it was used by the Republic Steel Co. to house war workers. They are expected to arrive here on or before December 1.

Window Displays Aid Red Cross Nutrition Work

First aid for the budget of the harassed housewife is being offered by the nutrition department of the Summit Chapter, American Red Cross, according to Mrs. William Sartorius, Red Cross Nutrition chairman.

"Are You in the Pink?" is the subject of a window display in the Springfield avenue window of the Public Service, and of posters distributed around the city which advise the housewife on ways to stay in the pink and still keep the budget out of the red. Two perky pink figures surrounded by cut-outs of the seven basic foods tell how to eat right and spend less.

With food prices soaring, such material is particularly timely, said Mrs. Sartorius. Everybody would like to feed the family nutritiously because better eating means better health, but good diets are the result of intelligent management and a capable cook rather than an ample food budget. All people interested in coping with this problem today are urged to visit the nutrition corner at the Public Library where books have been assembled covering every field of cooking, diet, and nutrition.

"Are You In the Pink?" window display is one of a series prepared each month by the Summit Chapter, American Red Cross, to acquaint the public with its program and services offered to the community. Nutrition is being stressed this month, and last month a window in Lillian O'Grady's Specialty Shop illustrated the work of Gray Ladies at Lyons Hospital.

Mrs. John S. Tennant of Hobart avenue is chairman of window displays for the chapter, and must not only be responsible for a clever idea, but must execute it with whatever material is available and designs most of it herself. Mrs. Tennant is a certified member of the Royal Drawing Society of London, and she has studied art under the Walter Ablett system in England. At the University of Michigan, Mrs. Tennant studied art with Jean Paul Slusser in oils and with William Aldrich in pastels. She has illustrated children's books and has done commercial work, particularly for conventions.

Choral Club Plans Concert Dec. 18

After a silence of four years, the Summit Choral Club will give its (formerly) annual Christmas concert at Calvary Episcopal Church on the evening of Wednesday, December 18, just one week before that holiday.

Top Rent of $40 Planned For Vets' Housing Units

Because many are interested but uninformed about various facts concerning the temporary housing proposed for veterans and because the subject is of vital importance to residents of Summit as well as to veterans themselves, The Summit Herald presents the following information about the housing units. - 14—Q. When will they be demolished? A. Within five years.
- 15—Q. When these buildings are demolished who gets the proceeds, if any, from the sale of material? A. The state and city share in this.

VFW Now Has More Than $2,000 for Building Fund

At a meeting of Beacon Hill Post of the VFW Monday night it was announced that more than $2,000 has been raised towards the post's building fund. About $1,500 of this fund came from car shares and the Armistice dance held at the Beechwood Hotel. The rest of the fund comes from a sum accumulated by the veterans of World War I. The funds have been deposited in a local bank.

The post passed a resolution thanking all those who contributed to the Armistice day program, including a Summit automobile firm who procured the car for which shares were sold. Special mention was made of the help accorded the post by friends in the Borough and Township of New Providence.

An increase is reported in the number of applications received for membership.

LYMAN HOOVER

World Service YMCA Dinner Will Hear Lyman Hoover

Lyman Hoover, YMCA world service secretary in China for the last 16 years, will be the guest speaker at the All-Association dinner to be held at the Summit YMCA next Tuesday, Nov. 26, at 8:45 p. m. It has been announced by Ernest L. Fleming, chairman of the local world service committee sponsoring the event.

In December, 1943, Mr. Hoover was one of a small group of YMCA workers who left New York and crossed the ocean in a three-masted sailing schooner. His trip took him through South America, South Africa, and India, and covered 20,000 miles by plane, ship, automobile, rickshaw, and foot, landing in China's wartime capital, Chungking, six months later. His talk will include an account of his experiences. Following his present furlough, Mr. Hoover will return to China to continue his YMCA work there.

First Housing Units Slated For Mabie Playground Area

The American Legion veterans' housing committee after meeting Friday night in the Municipal Building with Common Council's housing committee and David Lawrie, State housing expediter, announced plans for the location of the first 18 veterans' housing units in the city-owned land lying north of Mabie Memorial Playground to Broad street and between Elm street and Summit avenue.

Burma Surgeon Makes Plea for Frontier Medicine

Frankly on a fund raising trip to the United States for his "baby," the hospitals of the frontier states of Burma, Dr. Gordon S. Seagrave, the "Burma Surgeon," made his plea for well equipped, well staffed centers for treatment of patients and training of doctors and nurses in that country, whose people are intelligent, alert and friendly, he told the Athenaeum last Thursday evening.

The venality of the native doctors with whom he had to work since the war, ranged from charging patients before entering the hospitals as they could not charge them after they were inside; to selling hospital medicines only to the wealthy, and included sheer incompetence, carelessness and ignorance. To remedy this state of affairs training in fundamental nursing and medical practices is essential. One unforgettable tumor operation he performed on the patient's front porch with the whole village looking on and his native assistant doctor impeding every step in expert fashion.

Dr. Seagrave believes that different races and religions can cooperate, as he has seen it done in his hospitals, where there is the greatest religious tolerance. He told the story of the two little "Christian and one Buddhist" women, who were asked to be baptized, but were not allowed to climb into the jeep first, as her rank ordinarily would dictate, the Christians being the daughters of coolies. But the Christians climbed in first, their obvious reasoning being that it was a Christian jeep, and therefore their right.

Malaria is the most prevalent disease in Burma, followed closely by gonor, dysentery, bubonic plague and ber-ber. Cancer is far less common than in the United States, and is usually not of internal, but cauliflower, character.

The people of Burma believe that everything worth while must be American, affording the friendly democratic establishment of fine medical centers their soundest foundation and acceptance there.

Dr. Seagrave suggested the study of Burmese medicine by American chemists as some of the drugs they use are effective and would be a valuable addition to the pharmacopoeia.

Refugee Relief to Send Final Shipment Dec. 16

The Refugee Relief Workrooms have announced that the last shipment of goods will be sent the week of December 16 and that all work now in individual or group hands should be returned to the Workrooms, 70 Maple street, on or before December 14. If garments can not be completed by that date they should be returned unfinished.

Mrs. Stoddard Stevens, Jr., chairman, asks that contributions of old quilts and blankets be made during the next few weeks so that as many as possible can be re-covered and shipped before the rooms close. Torn and threadbare blankets can be used for this purpose and will be gratefully received.

New Directors For YMCA Elected

Vacancies in the board of directors of the Summit YMCA were filled at the meeting of the board last Tuesday evening. Arthur T. Daley, Edward C. Holmes and Ernest F. Leathem were elected as members. This was necessitated by the death of Donald R. Vreeland and the resignations of John Davidson, Jr., and K. H. Brett-Surman.

At a recent meeting the Summit Young Men's Civic Council passed the following resolution concerning veterans housing here: Whereas, the City of Summit and the State of New Jersey have placed themselves on record as being in favor of veterans' temporary housing; and, whereas, the voters of the State of New Jersey have granted the governing body of the state a large sum of money for veterans' housing; and, whereas, the state of New Jersey has allotted the City of Summit 32 housing units for veterans; and, whereas, the City of Summit has some desirable lots upon which said units could be constructed.

Therefore, be it resolved, that the City of Summit without further controversy, regardless of objections of adjacent property owners, and, immediately place at the disposal of the state authorities, suitable locations for the erection of said units so that the same may be made available for veterans of Summit without further delay.

Dr. Lee Sewell
Tells Old Guard
About Psychiatry

"Psychiatry and the Mentally Ill" was the subject of the Old Guard talk at the "Y" last Tuesday morning. The speaker, introduced by Dr. E. L. Earp, was Dr. Lee Sewell, chief psychiatrist of the Veterans' Administration Hospital at Lyons, who also presented two sound films, not yet released by the Army, showing what has been done for many veterans of our recent war.

Among other things, Dr. Sewell said that among the patients at Lyons, there were all types of mental cases and each needed to be treated individually, but there were a few general principles. Chief of these, he said, was the fact that each individual is a total personality, that the mind, and the emotions affect the body and the body the mind. One of these emotions is fear, sometimes resulting from childhood experiences, which often governed adult reactions. Another point he made was that we all have our peculiarities and quernesses, but these are intensified in the mentally ill. This is the hopeful element which has enabled the psychiatrists to lead their patients back into confidence and courage and ability to again "work out their own salvation" after they leave the hospital. In proposing the usual rising vote of thanks, Charles Hall related a personal experience confirming what had been said.

Before the address, words of appreciation were spoken regarding the late Richard D. Rickard, a charter member of the Old Guard and one of the organizers of Kent Place School, and a "Happy Birthday" telegram was authorized for Frank A. Wright, now 92 years old. Raymond G. Brush of Maplewood and Clifford H. Kendall were also received into membership and four members of the Westfield Old Guard were welcomed as guests.

Next Tuesday morning's program will include an African moving picture, "The Way of the Wild," followed by the November Birthday Luncheon at Winchester's Turnpike Inn in Morristown, with informal talks and tales.

Harry M. Paulsen of Summit, president of the American Society of Travel Agents, who recently was a guest aboard the SS America, largest and fastest U. S. luxury liner, during her cruise from Newport to New York, forecasts a boom in trans-Atlantic travel within the new few months.

Many ships formerly in trans-Atlantic service are returning to duty and Mr. Paulsen, who maintains a travel bureau in the Bassett Building, Summit, remarked upon the fact that the "America" recently sailed booked to capacity as has the "Queen Elizabeth" on all her postwar runs. Many high-season sailings for 1947 are already booked solid at this time, Mr. Paulsen says.

Stubborn Brush Fire
Thursday Afternoon

Chemical Engine Company No. 1 was called out Thursday afternoon to put out a grass and brush fire on Amsinck Hill, opposite to where the old Huntly station stood alongside the Lackawanna tracks.

The opinion is given that the fire was caused by sparks from a passing Lackawanna engine. The firemen spent about two hours putting out the fire.

Older firemen of the department will recall that this stretch of woodland was the scene of many such fires in past days, when there were many more coal-fired engines running over the Lackawanna tracks.

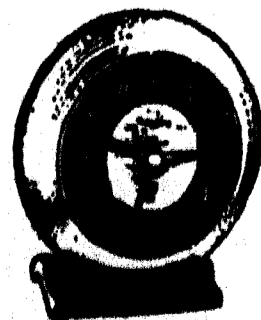

The same afternoon Hose Company No. 2 was called upon to put out a fire in the Clark street section, which is adjacent to the place where the Chemical Engine Company members fought the brush fire.

Shortly after noon on Saturday, Union Hose Company was called out to put out a brush fire on Hobart Hill, near the C. P. Bassett residence.

Full term enrollments in New Jersey's educational institutions have brought the total number of veterans pursuing courses under the benefits of the GI Bill (Public Law 346) to 30,851. This was stated in a report of activities for the month of October released by the Newark Regional Office of the Veterans Administration. Another 10,682 veterans from the State were taking on-the-job training under the bill.

Madame Chiang Sends Greetings To E. S. Bancroft

When Dr. Frederick Tooker of Central Presbyterian Church returned to China this last summer he took with him a greeting from Edward S. Bancroft, leader of the Women's Bible Class, to Madame Chiang-Kai-Shek, who at one time attended Mr. Bancroft's class. The greeting was written on one of the paper hats from the farewell party for Dr. Tooker.

In reply, Madame Chiang sent this note to Mr. Bancroft:

"Dr. Tooker has given me the fancy dream hat which you sent to me by him as a combined greeting and remembrance. It certainly had the effect of recalling both you and Summit, although I can assure you that my happy recollection of my days at Summit have never faded from my memory. It was especially pleasant to find that you had retained unimpaired your gentle sense of humor.

"As you may well imagine, I am kept very busy in these stirring times when China is struggling hard to recover from the disastrous effects of nearly a decade of war. The task before those who are entrusted with the guidance of China's destinies is bristling with difficulties, but with God's grace it will be accomplished.

"With my best personal regards, and please remember me to all my Summit friends,
Yours sincerely,
Mayling Soong Chiang."

Christmas Seal Goal in County Put at $65,000

A $65,000 goal for the 1946 Christmas Seal Sale was announced today by Dr. John E. Rummels, of Scotch Plains, president of the Union County Tuberculosis League, Inc. Confidence that this objective will be met was expressed by Miss Stella O. Kline, executive secretary.

Financed almost exclusively by sale of the colorful Christmas stamps, the league's work has featured the fundamental early diagnosis of tuberculosis, so necessary to arrest of the killing disease, according to Miss Kline. The mass X-raying of high school students uncovers an average of only five active cases annually, requiring sanatorium care. Many more are "caught" in early stages of affliction, when cure is relatively simple.

Letters enclosing the seals to Union County purchasers go in the mail this week-end. Many industries have ordered large quantities for inclusion on all business correspondence.

Rabbi David H. Wice Will Give Lecture Before Bible Class

RABBI DAVID H. WICE
Augmenting its study of the Bible and the application of Christian principles in daily living, the Men's Bible Class of the Central Presbyterian Church has obtained Rabbi David H. Wice, one of the outstanding religious leaders in Newark, to deliver a lecture and conduct an open forum at 9:40 a. m. Sunday, Nov. 24, at the parish house.
Rabbi Wice is a Phi Beta Kappa from Washington and Lee University, where he received both his Bachelor and Master of Arts degrees. Following his graduation from Hebrew Union College, where he was ordained Rabbi, he served the Temple Israel in Omaha, Nebraska, for eight years. Since 1941 he has been Rabbi of Temple B'nai Jehshurun, Newark, the oldest and largest Jewish congregation in New Jersey. In addition to his congregational work, he has lectured extensively for the Jewish Chautauqua Society and the National Conference of Christians and Jews. He is the American representative to the World Union for Progressive Judaism and is on the executive board of the Central Conference of American Rabbis. He is also vice-president of the Phi Beta Kappa Society of Northern New Jersey.

Brinkley Snowden Guest Preacher At Calvary Sunday

BRINKLEY S. SNOWDEN
Calvary Church will have as guest preacher this Sunday Brinkley S. Snowden, diocesan agricultural missionary in the Dornakal Diocese, Singareni Collieries, South India, who is studying medicine in this country. A native of Memphis, Tenn., he studied at the Hill School and the University of Tennessee where he also did post-graduate work.
Mr. Snowden visited India in 1932 and became interested in the country and its people. In 1935 he was appointed a missionary, his work being mostly among the untouchable Christians. There he built his own house, learned the Telugu language, started a demonstration fruit and vegetable plot, and assisted in the religious, teaching, social and economic development of the Singareni Mission, located near the largest coal fields of India. This work was also in a primitive jungle-like part of India where the mass movement work of conversion of thousands of untouchables had taken place. While in India he was elected and served as secretary-treasurer of the Kotagiri Missionary Union, its membership numbering missionaries from all over the world, and was president of the Singareni Collieries Social Club, composed of Moslems, Hindus and Christians.

Narcotic Poisons and Modern Science

Based on International Medical, Pharmaceutical and General Research
Beverage alcohol and highway accidents suggest that all who envision a better economic order in this fast-moving world of ours should study without emotionalism what modern science has revealed to us about these habit-forming drugs which have a stranglehold upon the whole of our social customs and structure.
On liquor alone is spent eight billion dollars a year and millions more on enticing advertisements, while the delay in sending food to save millions of people from death in many lands continues! Compare this with three billion dollars spent yearly on our schools. Now listen to the scientists.
We prevent public sale of opium and its derivatives, though the addict cannot commit crime, while under its influence; its first effect is to paralyze all movement and produce sleep. Beverage alcohol, however, first of all dulls the highest brain centers, including reason, judgment and sense perception, then dries and hardens the body cells, causing thirst—and the addict is created; he may unaware commit hideous crimes for which he is not responsible. "Polite drinking and then this murder of which I have no recollection," said a major to his chaplain as he walked to his death on the gallows.
Scientists ask if we know what endowment drug-addicts pass on to their offspring. The germ cells in animal and man are poisoned, male and female alike. Healthy dogs given alcohol fumes to smell for one hour produced only 17 per cent of normal pups in a litter (controls had 82 per cent normal), the injury persisting for three or four generations! In humans were found similar results to a lesser degree. (Laitinen, Demme, Carnegie). This suggests that young persons always more susceptible to poisons, should not be employed in saloons, taverns and cafes where such fumes of alcohol and tobacco abound.
Nicotine is also a poison; smoking dulls the brain, and causes many sudden deaths in middle age, besides causing other injuries and often sterility.
In fact, science regards all addicts as the "sick men" of the nation, requiring preventive social and curative treatment and a new intensive educational approach in schools, forums, radio, by medical and mental experts who for too long have ignored and underestimated the national dangers of our senseless neglect of this health problem. The principals in every school, college, home, office and factory should see to it that the subject of mental and physical fitness is stressed so that never again will a check up of our young men and women show nearly two million neuropaths, often drug addicts, mal-adjusted to life such as were rejected by the draft boards.
Social welfare leaders might begin to study how other countries meet the alcohol evil. Some take private profit out of it, diminish production and license only the drinker, if temperate (in Sweden). New Zealand puts the addict into treatment centers, not in jail; there he earns his living safely, perhaps for years, till proved to be harmless to his family and community. Few addicts there now need such care.
Legislation designed to curtail the production and consumption of narcotics will pass as soon as our legislators become more interested in the welfare of humanity than they are in the huge profits of the liquor and tobacco traffic. It is the responsibility of intelligent people to cease giving to the use of alcohol and tobacco their social prestige and to join with ministers, educators, doctors and socially minded people to educate the unthinking millions to adopt a new and better way.
If anyone asks you to have a drink or a smoke, say "No, thank you." In so doing, you will help others to say no and thus promote a constructive way of life while if you are known to use narcotics, you are promoting their sale and use to the detriment of yourself and others.
Science can give mankind better health, a better standard of living and a better mental life if mankind will heed and adopt its teachings.

A heart-warming sight

Doesn't it give you a thrill of pride to see your young hopefuls start off to school all starched and fresh, with that scrubbled and shining look of healthy childhood!

Of course that starched, clean look has disappeared by the time they come home again! But if you are a wise parent and have plenty of hot water on hand, it's a matter of minutes to scrub the dirt away.

In families of growing children, hot water always on tap makes a mother's work easier and even helps the children learn to enjoy being clean.

Water in your home, where and when you want it, is one of the great advantages of modern living—plenty of hot water all the time increases that blessing a thousandfold.

The Little Fellow Loves

There are not many of us who do not thrill to a good fight; whether it be a championship bout at the Garden, a barroom brawl in a western saga, a feud between radio comedians or simply a neighborhood squabble. Right now there is a free-for-all battle going on in national press circles as many huge daily newspapers have taken the lid off expansion plans cooked up either before or during the war but kept in the blueprint stage by federal newsprint, building and other restrictions. Metropolitan papers are invading one another's fields, reaching for more territory to cover and boosting circulation to astronomical figures—all at the expense of the little fellow of the newspaper world, the weekly and the small daily. Ordinarily it is interesting to sit on the sidelines and watch a good fight but when the spectator gets hurt, then the enjoyment ceases.

In order for these behemoths of the press to continue their various battles it is necessary that they be fed on extra rations of newsprint. This paper certainly won't come from other large newspapers on a loan, gift or sale basis. Therefore it must come from the manufacturer and in order for him to furnish it he must lop it off the 1947 quotas allowed the little fellow because newsprint will be scarcer in America in 1947 than ever before.

While the mighty presses of the big papers are spewing forth eighty-page "Forum" and "Fashions of the Times" editions plus seventy and eighty-page regular Sunday editions and six days a week the usual "city," "closing market," "early sports" and "final" editions that run at least forty pages each, the little chap, The Summit Herald, Millburn-Short Hills Item, Morristown Daily Record, Martha's Vineyard Gazette, the thousands of "Couriers," "Eagles," "Bugles," "Clarions" and "Chronicles" of the small towns throughout the nation, are being informed by their newsprint dealers that 1947 commitments must be canceled.

There are 10,000 weekly papers in the nation and 1,700 dailies. Two hundred of these dailies gobble up 85 per cent of all newsprint coming into this country and being made here. Most journalists concede that the small, hometown paper exerts more editorial influence than glamorous big-city dailies but that influence is worthless as far as obtaining newsprint is concerned.

Even in the lush days before the war when there was plenty of newsprint the hometown weekly rarely ran over 28 pages. Now these same papers are cut to the bone, whittling news down to the barest essentials, dropping pictures, feature articles and special services which the editorial departments yearn to use. The pinch is not only felt in the editorial departments but also in the advertising staffs for local merchants are curtailed on the amount of space and many small papers have "frozen" circulation rolls, putting new readers on a waiting list. These against-the-grain business methods plus sharply rising material and labor costs make a pretty dismal outlook for the small newspaper.

America rode the crest of the wave during the war years as far as newsprint was concerned and now we must pay the piper. There were newsprint quotas and controls set up for the nation's press but we still put out papers that resembled prewar years. This was not so in Europe, not even in non-belligerent countries. It is not true in Europe today, either. British, French, Italian and other foreign papers are still printing one to four sheets of news and ads each day because during the war and up through this year America had the lion's share of newsprint. America enjoyed a portion of her own production plus a large percentage from Canadian mills for Canada could not ship overseas while U-boats were on the prowl and shipping was more important for troops and guns than newsprint.

Now that shipping lanes are safe and ships available a large amount of that same Canadian newsprint will be going to England and most of the still-limited production of Finland, Norway and Denmark will remain in Europe. That means that American newspapers will have to rely upon a reduced allowance of Canadian print plus our own production and it all adds up to just not enough newsprint to go around.

No one objects to rationing or equitable sharing of scarce items. We, as a nation, proved that during the war. What we, the small newspaper, do object to is unequal distribution such as is evidenced by the super issues each day and Sunday and the apparent ease by which large newspapers can establish new papers. One Sunday's supply of newsprint for a certain New York City paper would supply The Summit Herald's normal needs for more than twenty years. It is galling to see superfluous bundles of these big city papers dropped off at local newsdealers only to have a large number of them remain unsold. It is sheer wastage and to us, in the weekly newspaper field, it is the same as seeing our life blood tossed away.

The Summit Herald and its associates throughout the state are more than worried. Our backs are against the wall and we are fearful of what 1947 will bring. Several nearby papers, including The Herald, last week received a letter from a large paper manufacturer bluntly canceling any commitments made for 1947. That was a blow that hit below the belt. Northern New Jersey weekly paper publishers have met to discuss their plight, they have appealed to Washington through the Small Business office but so far there has been no solution. Paper manufacturers refuse to open the door to new customers, and most of all, small customers.

We are doing our best to get more paper to you each week. You may receive so that we may continue to bring you news that paper some week printed on blue, red or green paper, or even wrapping paper but that will be a sign of victory for it will mean that we were able to supplement our dwindling stocks. We hope that our readers will understand why The Herald each week is crammed and why the story of your organization's meeting does not contain all the items which you gave us and also why we turned down your request to have a photograph taken.

We can't urge you enough to save waste-paper for what you save helps not only us but all the other small weeklies throughout the nation. We just wanted you to know what we are up against and we also had to blow off a little steam about the "big guys" of newspapers for it makes us hopping mad. And by the way, if any of you are in a position to secure newsprint for us, or even tip us off where we can get some, we'll give you and your heirs life subscriptions.

The Grass Is Just as Green Here

It has often been said that man seldom appreciates his own possessions as much as he covets those of his neighbors. This "grass is greener in the next pasture" attitude holds true for almost all things which bring enjoyment and is particularly applicable to many families who each week fill the family car and hit for the open road.

There are hundreds in our community who spend many of their week-ends throughout the fall, winter and spring visiting mountain resorts, out-of-state parks and other distant points of scenic and historical interest. Most of these visits consume only a day yet right in Summit's backyard there lies one of the best equipped parks in the east. We speak of Union County's Watchung Reservation which consists of 2,000 acres containing miles of bridal paths, nature walks, cabins and the famed Trailside Museum which alone drew more than 40,000 visitors just this season. It would be interesting to know how many of the 40,000 were from Summit. We fear that the answer would show very few. It is a truism that the native New Yorker never visits the Statue of Liberty or Empire State Building observation tower and the same might be said of the many Summit families and Watchung Reservation.

Your park (it is supported by your tax dollars) offers everything that the amateur naturalist, be he adult or youth, can desire. There are commonplace and rare specimens of flora and fauna and there are exhibits of small animals to thrill the young. For those who want to leave city pavements there are winding paths through field and forest; well constructed bridle paths for horseback riders and picnic spots for those who enjoy an out-of-door meal.

For Boy and Girl Scouts there are camping facilities and cabins; canoeists, boaters and fishermen have the use of mile-long Lake Surprise and the camera-bug has a choice of landscapes or waterways to capture on film.

Why go north for a week-end of winter sports when you can easily take advantage of a sudden snowfall and zoom down the reservation's many ski trails? A heated shelter is maintained for skaters and it is possible to hire a cutter or a pung for that old-fashioned sleighride.

Students of Americana can explore and browse about in a Revolutionary cemetery, a deserted Colonial village and the former hunting grounds of Indians. Who could ask for anything more?

If you haven't taken the children, or yourself, to this expanse of wonderland, which borders Summit city limits, then we urge you to do so at once, this Saturday or Sunday. You won't regret it and the odds say that you'll repeat the trip, for whatever your outdoor interest is, you'll find it in the Reservation.

Early Copy, Please

Summit Herald employees, from "bat-boy" on through the ramifications of the intricacies of getting the paper to our readers, will have a holiday next Thursday, regular publication day.

Thursday is the day all Americans will celebrate as a day of thanksgiving for the Lord's beneficence of the past year and an occasion on which we may go to church for that purpose. You will recall that our forefathers established the observance on the real dawn of our history, for safe deliverance from persecution which they had suffered in their former native lands.

What we set out to do was to ask all who have news matter and advertising for the issue of November 28 to advance their schedules by one day. News copy must be in by 5 p. m. Monday, editorial office closing time. The same closing hour will apply to advertising copy.

Your Men In Washington

By THE SUMMIT HERALD'S WASHINGTON REPORTER (All Rights Reserved)

WASHINGTON — New Jersey's senators, still too new on Capitol Hill to benefit by the redistribution of committee chairmanships occasioned by the Republican landslide, will, nevertheless, start a great influence in the 80th Congress.

Senator Albert W. Hawkes is expected to lead a renewed fight for a 15 per cent general increase in rents, recommended in Atlantic City last week by OPA's Housing Rent Industry Advisory Committee. It was New Jersey's senior senator who offered unsuccessfully an amendment to the OPA bill, when the controversial legislation was before the Senate, which would boost rents 15 per cent. Hawkes' argument that rents should be increased since food and clothing prices have been allowed to rise has taken on new significance since the Administration's sweeping decontrol program, initiated with the lifting of ceilings on meat.

Senator H. Alexander Smith will doubtlessly cooperate with Senator Robert Ball (R-Minn.), as he did last session, in working out new labor laws. The objective of such legislation will be to curb strikes, but without "punishing" strikers as was permitted in the defeated Case anti-labor bill.

Smith may also team up again with Senators Robert Taft (R-Ohio) and Ball in rewriting a health bill substitute for the Wagner-Murray-Dingell National Health Insurance Bill, described as "socialistic" by Messrs. Taft, Smith and Ball. The substitute bill would provide funds for medical care for indigents, instead of attempting to insure 85 per cent of population against injury and disease.

In the House, Rep. Clifford P. Case of Rahway is expected to come forth with one of the most constructive pieces of labor legislation to be offered next session.

New Jersey is amply represented in the Capitol—artificially as well as congressionally. Visitors to the historic building are familiar with the handsome marble likeness of Richard Stockton, revolutionary champion of Colonists and signer of the Declaration of Independence. Mr. Stockton, in ruffled cuffs, buckle shoes and peruke, stands in Statuary Hall flanked by Sam Houston and Daniel Webster. The New Jersey statesman lived from 1730 to 1781.

An impressive bronze statue of Major General Philip Kearny, Civil War hero, stands in the Hall of Columns. At the elbow of Mr. Kearny, resplendent in Civil War uniform, is John Winthrop, first governor of Massachusetts, Kearny, who lived from 1815 to 1862, lost his arm in battle and later was killed at Chantilly. Sculptor H. K. Brown made the statues of both Stockton and Kearny.

An 1864 law authorized the President to invite each state to furnish not more than two marble or bronze statues of "deceased persons who have been citizens thereof, and illustrious for their historic renown or for distinguished civic or military service." Thus New Jersey has filled her quota, and future heroes must be denied exhibition in the corridor of the great.

The portraits of two New Jersey Speakers of the House hang in the Speaker's Lobby. They are Jonathan Dayton of Elizabeth and William Pennington of Newark. Dayton (1780-1824) served as Speaker during the fourth and first session of the Fifth Congress. Pennington (1796-1862) served in the 38th Congress.

Four of the 40 men in a giant Capitol mural depicting the signing of the Constitution are New Jerseyites. They are William Livingston, William Patterson, David Brearley and (again) Jonathan Dayton. Congress appropriated $30,000 for this panorama by Howard Chandler Christy.

LETTERS

Friends' Loss
 Editor, The Summit Herald:
 In the death of William S. Post this week his countless friends and admirers have suffered a loss that can never be replaced. We have noted the gradual failure of his health with dread and always the prayer that he might be spared longer than we dared to hope.

He possessed the finest intellect of any man I ever knew and the infinite variety of things he was interested in was truly astounding. To list a few of them: he was a profound student of the Bible and Shakespeare, he was a collector of rare editions, old maps, etc. He loved both sacred and operatic music and had heard all the best orchestras, was a lover of art, history, philosophy and science. He could talk intelligently for hours about cooking, camping and fishing.

He was opposed to hunting and his favorite sport was baseball. If any of his friends were sick he was always the first one to visit them and his presence was always comforting. To sum it all up, there was only one Will Post and those who were fortunate in sharing his friendship were fortunate indeed.

Trailside Museum Is One of 100 in Metropolitan Areas

The first Trailside Museum in the United States was the one in Bear Mountain Park, founded in 1927, and originally just a small shack. Mrs. Mildred Rullison, nature supervisor for Union County parks, told the Summit Nature Club and guests, the public school teachers, on Nov. 13 at Lincoln School. There are now more than 100 trailside museums, most of them in metropolitan areas, affording both city and country children education in natural science.

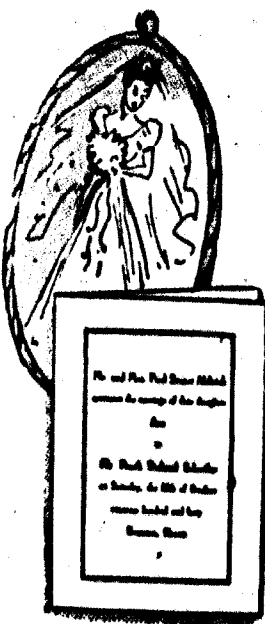

The most famous and unique possession of Trailside Museum in the Watchung Reservation on the edge of Summit is its "bird track," a stone walk with the tracks of various birds impressed in each stone. This was made by Charles Anderson Urner, New Jersey's noted ornithologist, who spent many days finding the fresh bird tracks, mostly in the Jersey Meadows, and making casts of them, which comprise the "bird track walk." The Museum of Natural History would like to own this priceless work, Mrs. Rullison added.

Trailside Museum does three things. It serves as an exhibition center for animals and plants to be found "in our own back yards," for both children and adults to visit. Also each week during the warm weather, Mrs. Rullison visits every one of the 15 playgrounds of the county and other camps and schools, showing certain of the exhibits, and talking about them. The third service performed is that of providing classes for children and adults including those for boy and girl scout leaders; a course for teachers of nature study, which was over subscribed this summer; this course is accredited two points at Newark Teachers' College. There are also classes in star lore, and other topics.

An exhibition of the work of Summit school children along the lines of nature study, was arranged in the hall.

Elmore F. Furth presided, and Miss Jannette Middlebrook introduced the program.

Since 1900 the population of Puerto Rico has increased 120 per cent, as compared with 84 per cent in the United States.

Merchants Still Gyp With Weights, Kiwanis Warned

Between five and seven per cent of the merchants in Union County are still in the "gyp artist class" as far as weights and measures are concerned. This was the statement made to Summit Kiwanis Club at their weekly luncheon Tuesday in the Hotel Beechwood by James M. Diets of Berkeley Heights, county superintendent of weights and measures.

Before the war this gyping, the speaker asserted, cost each family in the county an average of $80 a year. He said this amount was now practically doubled especially with inflationary prices. Warning his listeners against the practice of the short-weight merchant, Mr. Diets urged them to be particularly careful in noting the net contents on packaged goods. He said the law required the net contents to be stated on all packaged goods.

From the time his office receives a complaint of an alleged short-weight sale, the speaker explained, some representative of the weights and measures department is at the establishment complained of within 20 to 30 minutes. Ordinarily, he asserted, inspections are only made once a year. Frequently, Mr. Diets explained, the first offender is let off with a warning. Yet, he said, troubles really start for a repeating offender.

The speaker told of the practice of some merchants selling 14 or fewer ounces of butter for a pound when consumers were giving 24 red ration stamps for the product. Butchers, he charged, were particularly adroit in manipulating their scales in short-weight practices. He exhibited scales which he had taken from a butcher and scrap dealers showing how they were illegally used.

Mr. Diets emphatically warned against merchants who packaged merchandise sold on the premises. He cited the practice of a merchant in whose store he found 70 packages of coffee, each supposedly holding a pound, but which on inspection he found to hold an average of 14 ounces each. The speaker also exhibited baskets used by berry and fruit merchants and ice cream containers used by confectionery stores to gyp their customers. The county official also told of practices of short-weight artists in the sale of drugs, gasoline and other liquids.

At next Tuesday's luncheon Kiwanis will be host to a Thanksgiving party to their wives and the boys and girls at the Summit Home for Children. Entertainment will be provided by a magician.

President-elect Frank Allen and his staff of officers and board of directors will attend a Kiwanis district dinner organization meeting tonight in the Park Hotel, Plainfield.

Winter Bird Feeding Project Now Under Way

Now that most of the migrant birds have passed, the winter bird feeding project in Summit has been renewed under the leadership of James B. Hawley of Tully street. Each winter more people have taken up this hobby both as pure pleasure, and as a conservation measure, as the welfare of mankind depends on the prevalence of birds, and many of them need help to survive over the cold months.

Some of the suggestions Mr. Hawley makes are given here. He strongly advises constant feeding if it is once started in the fall, since birds depend on regular food supplies in the same areas, and die if they miss too many feedings. He urges a plentiful supply of feed held ready for an emergency, such as a bad storm or a large number of unexpected visitors. A pan of water should be provided too.

Feeders should be placed in a sheltered location near bushes if possible, but within view of the house windows for good observation. They should be out of reach of cats, the top of a pole being efficient in this respect.

Those who maintain bird feeding stations are asked to study the birds' habits, make notes of them, and to keep count of the numbers and kinds of bird visitors for future reference and for comparison with others doing the same thing. The area reporting to Mr. Hawley is that lying within a radius of three miles of the Summit post office.

Small Papers Seek U.S. Aid In Struggle for Newsprint

Reports that hundreds and possibly thousands of small newspapers may have to close up shop in the weeks ahead unless they get newsprint were heard at a meeting in New York City November 11 attended by 65 editors, publishers and printers of various publications.

The situation, which has grown increasingly acute in the last two months, was described with anger and alarm as the meeting heard repeated charges that "large daily newspapers in collaboration with the near-monopoly newsprint industry were engaged in a deliberate attempt to freeze out the small daily, weekly and minority press by using newsprint supplies of the small press to further their own interests."

Attended by men and women from cities as far as 300 miles away, the meeting set up a committee to fight for newsprint in Washington and instructed it to seek the support of small newspaper publishers throughout the nation.

A representative of the Senate

small business committee investigating the newsprint industry told the meeting it is deeply concerned about the problem and invited the group to submit information at committee hearings scheduled to be held at Washington December 11. It was also suggested that readers of small newspapers voice their protest in letters to President Truman, who still has the power to re-institute the quota system for newsprint.

Publishers of union papers (AFL and CIO) stated that they heartily endorsed the program and said that at the recent AFL convention more than 100 letters from AFL editors were received saying that unless extra newsprint was made available immediately they would be forced to suspend publication. Carl Berreiter, manager of The Trentonian, Typographical Union newspaper published in Trenton, said that the Hearst, Scripps - Howard and Patterson-McCormick papers are getting all the newsprint they want and pointed to their huge editions and soaring circulation figures.

It was charged that large publishers were unconcerned with rising costs as long as they could get all the paper they want and turn it into profitable advertising and circulation revenue. (With newsprint having already skyrocketed from the former ceiling price of $50 a ton to $66, brokers and supply houses warned November 12 that still sharper increases were scheduled and hinted of a possible rise to $150 a ton.)

Other speakers urged a return to wartime quota systems and demanded that the anti-trust division of the Justice Department probe monopoly conditions in the industry.

Representing the Summit Herald at the meeting was Ferguson V. Bass, production manager who was elected to serve on the executive committee.

Calvary Church Voting on Rent Plan for Pews

Calvary Episcopal Church is in the throes of deciding whether or not to continue the quaint custom of pew rents. Questionnaires have been sent to members of the congregation to determine if they favor continuance of the present rental plan which has been in existence in the local church for many years.

At last Sunday's service Rev. Walter O. Kinsolving stated that only 67 replies had been received and he pointed out the importance of mailing answers as soon as possible so that the church may decide future policy.

Joshua Ward, secretary, stated that discussions on the subject have been going on for years and that where the rental system was eliminated in other churches it was found to be a satisfactory move.

"Over a year ago the vestry decided as a move toward all free pews," he added, "that no additional pews would be rented and that when any rented pew is given up it would not be rented again but would become a free seat."

"The vestry believes the time has come for careful consideration of the system of rented pews. However, it feels that this change should not be made without the consent of a substantial majority of the congregation."

"If the free pew system is adopted it will result in a substantial reduction in the church's income unless present pew holders increase their annual contributions by an amount equal to the amount they heretofore paid in pew rent. It is only by such an agreement that the church budget can be maintained."

Raspberries and Roses Vie With Spring Flowers

Mother Nature has become quite confused and has practically confounded her human children, with roses, forsythia, and violets blooming in the door yards and, believe it or not, the Lucius Stones of Beechwood road picked raspberries from their garden last Saturday. Not until Monday did the weather become at all chilly and even now only light frosts have fallen, almost tying the former record for late frost of November 25.

Fishermen who search for angle worms at night should use a red light. Ordinary light causes them to retreat into their burrows.

COMMITTEE CHAIRMEN—Plans for a fund-raising event to provide money for child rescue work in Palestine have been announced by Summit Chapter of Hadassah. Mrs. Robert Mautner (left) co-chairman and Mrs. Max J. Shapiro (right), chairman, have completed arrangements for an opportunity sale to be held December 3 through 6 at the old City Hall. Hadassah throughout the nation has already settled 20,000 children in Palestine and needs funds for caring for 20,000 additional children, Mrs. Shapiro states. The organization provides the major share of the cost of educating and maintaining these children. (Photo by Wolin)

TAKE HEED!

Any one having news or advertising copy for the November 28, issue of the Herald should bear in mind that owing to the Thanksgiving Day holiday (editorial and mechanical departments will be closed all day) all such copy must be in the respective departments not later than 5 p. m. Monday. BUT—if at all feasible, get as much in today, tomorrow and Saturday as possible.

MORTGAGES
A mortgage is a form of investment arising out of a loan secured by a pledge of real estate. The pledge creates in the lender a lien against the property of the borrower.
The interest rate and length of time within which repayment must be made are important factors to the borrower, but equally important is the attitude of the lender — to help an owner acquire his own home by permitting payments out of earnings over a long period of time.
We are proud that we have helped thousands to own their own homes. See us on your mortgage problems.

Dr. Arthur F. Ackerman spoke at the PTA meeting of Miss Hood's School held at the home of Mrs. F. M. Thompson, Jr., last Thursday afternoon. He stressed the need of children up to seven or eight years of age continuing the afternoon rest habit. Dr. Ackerman believes that because children during these years are using up a vast amount of energy, not only in growing, but in boundless activity, the need for this hour or even two hours of absolute relaxation is imperative. To forgo this period of relaxation may mean a breakdown for the child in later years. He spoke too, of the need for children's clothing being simple and loose enough to allow free movement with no restrictions.

At the conclusion of the lecture tea was served with Miss Beagle Hood and Mrs. J. Gollightly pouring. On Friday morning the children of the school entertained their mothers and friends with a program showing some of their work. Plans for the Christmas project were discussed.

DAR Told of Historic Battle Of Springfield

Telling the members of Beacon Fire Chapter, DAR, that research has become a hobby with her, Mrs. Edith H. Hover, described the Battle of Springfield from the entrance of the British troops under Baron Von Knyphausen, last Thursday at the home of Mrs. Harry A. Marshall.

These troops were temporarily stopped at Little's Bridge, on the eastern edge of the village by the Colonial troops under Nathaniel Green. In the fierce battle ensuing, the town was burned with the exception of four houses. The murder of Hannah Caldwell, wife of the minister of the Presbyterian Church, caused great rebellion on the part of the Colonial troops, and, after more intense fighting, the invaders were stopped at the Jacob Briant Tavern, on the west side of the turnpike above the "Short Hills." The Colonial troops put up such determined resistance that the British abandoned their attempt to get to Morristown and retreated to Staten Island by way of Elizabethtown.

Mrs. Hover was assisted by Mrs. Katharine D. Keller, who exhibited original watercolor drawings of the officers of the opposing forces.

Mrs. Edwin Florance, regent, presided. The chaplain, Mrs. O. C. Nelson brought a Thanksgiving message. A list of historical books needed by the DAR Library at Washington, was given by Mrs. Roy Kreider, chapter librarian.

Mrs. Raymond Guenther received gifts donated by members for the approved schools' Christmas. Annual contributions to various DAR projects were approved. These included gifts to four southern mountain schools supported by DAR, therapy work at Ellis Island, the Summit Red Cross, and the national library in Washington.

Tea was served with Mrs. C. R. Dooley and Mrs. Viola Jones pouring. The hostess was assisted by Mrs. Verne Bahring and Mrs. Robert Wolff.

The theme of the conference was "The World We Live In." Miss Muriel Jacobson of the World's YWCA, banquet speaker on Saturday night, told of her experiences in Czechoslovakia and other devastated countries in Europe. She pleaded for international mindedness on the part of American citizens, and stressed the need for faith and action to rebuild the countries of Europe and to establish enduring peace.

Four discussion groups brought their findings to the closing business session of the conference: Economic concerns, Faith for Action and personal health and vitality, and a discussion on "Meet Your Neighbor" which was led by Miss Kao of China, who showed how barriers of custom, language, religious and political difference must be overcome as the peoples of the world learn to live more closely together.

Conference delegates were entertained in the homes of Westfield YWCA members.

Regional Board Rejects Plea for Salary Increment

TOWNSHIP — The Regional Board of Education Thursday night rejected the demands of the Teachers' Association for a flat increment of $1,000 for each instructor and challenged facts presented by the teachers in making the request. Joseph Mulholland of Berkeley Heights, board president, criticized the teachers for "irregular methods" of negotiating salary requests. He charged the group had used the press to publicize "half truths to gain public sympathy."

The board president said that at a conference held last month the teachers had been told that salary increases were out of the question at present and should have been prepared to accept either the flat $360 cost of living bonus or a 20 per cent bonus based on salaries. He said both offers were rejected.

In answer to a question by Mulholland, Walter Hohn, president of the Teachers' Association, said the group could not accept either of the bonuses but was prepared to lower its request to a flat increment of $600. Hohn said the bonuses were being rejected because acceptance would indicate present salaries were sufficient except in the present emergency. Mulholland said the board thought a bonus would cover the present situation and that in time a satisfactory solution might be reached with probably an increment being arranged for the 1947-48 school year. He agreed that the present minimum pay is too low. The present salary scale is from $1,500 to $3,400. The board president said a commitment could not be made immediately on the request for a $600 increment.

Mulholland also expressed annoyance over the alleged inspection of the board's budget books by two teachers, November 13, without consulting the board. The teachers insisted they had permission but did not indicate from whom it had been secured. A conference will be held today between teachers' representatives and the board on the salary question.

Among the observers were Chairman George W. Robbins, Jr. of the New Providence Township Committee.

One of the largest springs in the world, at Georgetown, Ky., furnished the water supply for the entire population of more than 4,500.

Boro Asks State Help With Dog Quarantine

BOROUGH—Following a visit here last week by an inspector of the State Department of Health, Borough Council went on record Thursday night to have the state send inspectors to help enforce the State Quarantine and Mayor John W. Oakwood's enabling proclamation against dogs running at large. The mayor said "Apparently we can't handle the situation ourselves. I'm willing to let the State come in."

Following the meeting the Police Department and Dog Warden Elmer G. Ayers were instructed to co-operate with State officials. The mayor said the dog warden, who is also road supervisor, did not have time to discharge his duties in the former position. He added, "I didn't want Elmer to do both jobs, but we couldn't find anyone else."

Mrs. Raymond Howard of Union avenue and two other women from the same street asked for action against the dogs. Mrs. Howard said she had written the State Department of Health about the situation, which she described as "terrible." She declared "Packs of dogs have been running at large since the quarantine went into effect eight months ago."

Councilman A. G. Harms expressed interest "in why summations had not been issued." He continued, "On one piece of property, seven dogs were running loose. Elmer was notified and said he saw the dogs, but did not issue a summons. I want to know why. If two or three summations were issued and wide publicity given we could clean up the borough."

Councilman William F. Cunningham said he believed the offer of the State Board of Health to help "provided an ideal opportunity to clear up this situation."

Fear was expressed by the Union avenue women that unless something is done that some day child will be bitten.

Road Work Started
Councilman Harms, chairman of the road committee, said work had been started by the County Road Department on the section of Central avenue from Springfield avenue to the Passaic river. The work on the other end of Central avenue from Springfield avenue to South street, he reported, would probably be delayed until next spring. The road chairman declared that Madison avenue improvements are scheduled to start at an early date.

A request was received from the preschoolers through Rol C. Collins, road supervisor, asking payment of $1,291.15 for improvements completed on Union avenue.

Radio License Sought
Bell Telephone Laboratories through John G. Segelken asked a permit for a short wave two-way radio for installation in at least two and possibly six of their automobiles. The Township of New Providence has a similar request under consideration. Councilman Frederick A. Lorens, chairman of the law and ordinance committee, pointed out that Bell Labs could under the law apply for a license to the county as well as the municipality in which the firm is located. Mr. Segelken, whose firm has most of its buildings in the township, said he wanted to give the borough and township "a break" as far as collecting any fees for granting a license. Councilman Cunningham said that if the borough did grant a license, it would have no means of checking on the use of the radio by the labs.

Councilman Lorens indicated

BOROUGH—The New Providence Library celebrated National Book Week last week with six Lincoln School classes from the kindergarten through the third grade visiting the library. Mrs. William DeHart and Mrs. Joel Walker told stories. Approximately 100 new books were placed on exhibit. These included Christmas suggestions. Among the exhibits to catch special attention were "Tom Sawyer" and "Huckleberry Finn," together with Norman Rockwell's illustrations, as well as animal stories, easy books and mysteries for older children, and many others.

Boro Tax Sale Set For December 18

BOROUGH—Tax Collector E. G. Miller announces, as detailed elsewhere in this issue of the Herald in a legal advertisement, that he will sell at public auction at Borough Hall on Wednesday, December 18 at 3 p. m. a group of lots of land. The borough holds this property for liens for taxes chargeable up to July 1 last together with interest on said amounts from July 1 to date of sale and costs of sale.

Mrs. Howard Writes On Supervision Of Borough Dogs

BOROUGH—Mrs. Raymond Howard of Union avenue has given to the Herald an unsolicited letter addressed "To the Citizens and Taxpayers of New Providence Borough" about the supervision of dogs here. The letter follows:

"As one of the persons attending Council meeting Thursday evening, November 14, I was annoyed to hear from our Mayor that the dog warden was too busy as road supervisor to do his duty and that our Police Department did not have the time to issue summonses to owners of dogs running at large.

"The State will come in and 'clean up the town.' I assume the State officials do not work 24 hours a day.

"Now, I ask, who is responsible for dogs that are untied and allowed to run from dark 'til dawn, or early in the mornings? These dogs disturb the dogs that are tied and are the cause of many sleepless nights for many residents.

"Also, who will protect our children and ourselves from the negligence of the last eight months, if we have no one to execute the laws? Must we annex Trenton so that the officials have to perform their duties?"

"As rabies are far more prevalent in cold weather than warm, it is the duty of each one of us to see that the quarantine law is carried out."

Thanksgiving Day Advances Deadline

BOROUGH—Because all departments of the Herald will be closed on November 22, Thanksgiving Day, Monday, November 25 at 5 p. m. will be the deadline for all news copy for next week's Herald. News copy received over the week-end will be appreciated.

Lots Sell Well But Not to Man Starting Sales

BOROUGH—If he were paid a commission, John Holowaty of Maple street wouldn't be doing badly in his role as unofficial (and unwilling) salesman of borough property.

Holowaty has spent six months seeking a piece of borough property for a home he plans to build. The result has been nothing for Holowaty and sales for the borough of $2,715.

It isn't that the borough doesn't want to sell to him, because three times it has advertised property at his request. The catch is that Holowaty's hopes are outmatched by bigger pocketbooks at public sales.

Last May Holowaty saw a lot in Pitney avenue that seemed just right. Borough Treasurer Edward G. Miller told him $325 would pay for back taxes and all borough expenses for a public sale. The day of the sale saw Holowaty outbid and the lot went for $750.

In July he offered $500 for a lot in Springfield avenue, but the open bidding netted $975. Then the unofficial real estate man changed tactics.

The other lots had been close of all utilities and therefore desirable. Holowaty decided something inconvenient might be more readily purchased, so he picked out two lots in Elkwood avenue and in October offered the borough $530 for them.

Again Holowaty was second best in the bidding and this time the lots went for $990. That made a total of $1,375 offered by Holowaty and $2,715 realized by the borough in sales.

There are about 50 pieces of borough property still available and Holowaty is reported about ready to ask for bids on his fourth try.

"Maybe we should give him a commission," declares Miller.

B of E Approves New Report Cards; Boost Gets Thanks

BOROUGH—The Board of Education on Monday approved a new type of report card. In grades 1-6 symbols are used: E—excellent, S—satisfactory, N—not passing (borderline), U—unsatisfactory. In the Junior High School, using the same symbols, students are marked on personality traits including attitude, dependability, health, effort, and initiative. Two honor rolls are used for the junior school, one for citizenship in which an S must be received from all teachers, and the other, academic, in which the student must receive all A's and B's. The first marking period ended October 31.

The board received a letter from all employees expressing thanks for the $200 raise in salary granted retroactive to September 1.

Scout Bazaar Voted Success

BOROUGH—The bazaar held last Saturday by the three troops of New Providence girl scouts, was a social and financial success. It is reported by the committee in charge. While this event was an experiment, its success has insured its becoming an annual project of the girl scouts.

The movies proved one of the most popular drawing cards, with Verle Walters managing the projector. Sarah Jane Parcells and Betty Lou Ale loaned their horses for "pony rides," another money-making idea which paid off. Mrs. E. L. Ale and Alan Roberts were in charge. Miss Mabel Howarth won a hand-crocheted apron.

Contributions were received from many individuals, and the Chemaco Company gave plastic articles including doll furniture.

The girl scouts manned the booths and helped in many other ways.

Three Churches Will Join For Thanksgiving

BOROUGH—The United Thanksgiving service will be held at 10:30 a. m., Thursday, in the New Providence Presbyterian Church, three congregations joining in worship. Rev. Frank G. Roppelt, Rector of St. Luke's Reformed Episcopal Church, will be in charge of the devotional program. Rev. Herbert F. Dabnett, pastor of the New Providence Methodist Church, will preach on the theme, "The Giver and the Given."

County Approves Application for Boro Legion Post

BOROUGH—Application of a group of veterans for the establishment of the "Borough" of New Providence American Legion Post, was approved Thursday night by the County Legion. This was announced Saturday by Commander Larry May of Summit Post No. 138, which post he says "heartily approves the establishment of the Legion in the borough." Commander May said the application for the post here is now before the New Jersey Department for final approval.

To date the veterans here have held three meetings apropos the organization of a Legion post. The first meeting was held at the home of Harry G. Schmitt in Passaic street with representatives of the County Legion being present. The second meeting, as was the third meeting last Thursday night, was held in the Firemen's Hall.

The next meeting of the veterans, who are interested in the formation of the new post, will be held December 12 and 26 at the fire house. Local veterans interested in affiliating with the post are asked to contact Postmaster Anthony Clocci who is prepared to answer all questions. Frank A. Pratt has been named temporary chairman and William McIntyre, acting secretary-treasurer. Thomas Cleaver has been named director of public relations assisted by Rocco Villone and Anthony Zangara.

Pecca Club Plans For Borough Kiddies

BOROUGH—The Pecca Club is completing plans for the establishment of an outdoor skating rink for borough youngsters at Marlon and Livingston avenues. Plans are also underway for the annual Christmas party for borough boys and girls by the club. President Cosimo Cordillo announced these plans Thursday night.

N. P. Garden Club To Make Christmas Wreaths for Lyons

BOROUGH—Members of the New Providence Garden Club planned at their meeting Monday evening at the home of Mrs. W. J. Hallock, to make 100 Christmas wreaths for the patients at the Veterans' Hospital at Lyons, an annual custom of the club. The request for the wreaths was presented by Mrs. Elmer High, was service chairman. Some tray ornaments will also be fashioned.

The wreaths and bouquets will be made at Borough Hall on Monday and Tuesday, Dec. 16 and 17.

Reports on the New Jersey State Garden Club convention at Asbury Park in October, were given by Mrs. Clifford Borden, president, Mrs. George Silveira and Mrs. H. F. Dabnett.

In her talk on china, Mrs. J. S. Lavery said that much of the knowledge of pre-historic man would have been lost if it had not been for the potter, who pictured life on his wares which are found even today. She traced the making of pottery to its modern production, and the steps in its glazing, decoration and forming.

Mrs. Lavery described in detail the two American wares especially suited to garden club arrangements, Lenox and Franciscan. She told of being shown through the Lenox Pottery at Trenton last week, and said that this china is the only American kind shown at the Sevres Museum, France. She showed china of various countries from her collection.

Hopeful SHS Eleven to Tackle Millburn Saturday

Summit-Millburn 17th Annual Game Stirs Fans

Summit and Millburn High School football teams, frustrated in their October 12 regularly scheduled game because of rain, are expected to clash in their 17th annual grid classic Saturday on the Millers' field starting at 2 p. m. Over this period of years Summit has been returned victor eleven times while Millburn came in ahead on four occasions. The 1944 game was a 0-0 tie.

If Saturday's weather is favorable, Millburn officials expect more than 2,500 fans because Summit has shown continued improvement as the season progressed, while Millburn is believed to be past its peak of power. Had the game been played when originally scheduled, the Millers had a pronounced edge. However, past records count for little in the Summit-Millburn rivalry. The only discouraging note in the Summit picture for Saturday is the injury to Don Guida, who suffered a dislocated elbow in the Caldwell game. He has been one of Summit's most consistent ground gainers and his loss will be felt.

With the exception of Guida, Coach Elwood C. Cornog of Summit expects to have his charges at full strength for Saturday's game which will end the season for the Hill City aggregation.

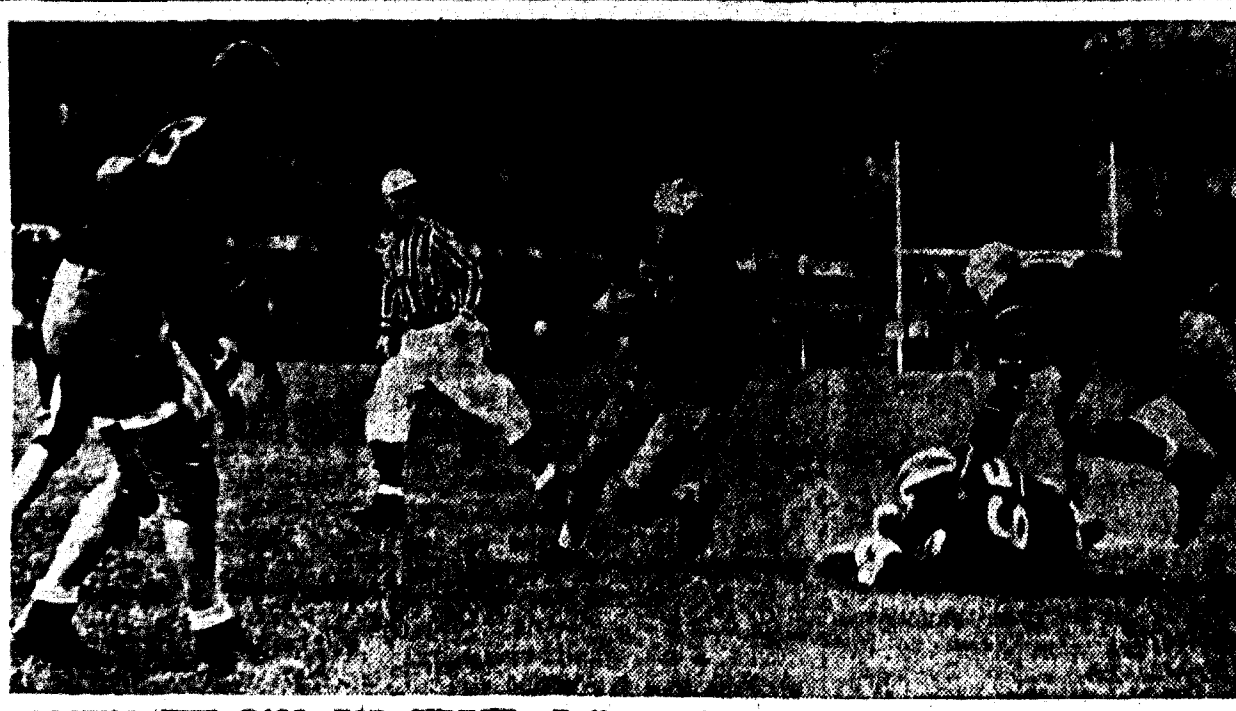

Coach Paul Cherin of Millburn also expects his team to be at full strength for the Summit game including his star passing combination of Miller to Franke who have accounted for much of Millburn's scoring this season.

Although the actual play in Saturday's game will provide the "piece de resistance," other attractions will be presented in the afternoon's program. The Millburn student band will put on a demonstration as will the Summit student band before the game and during the half. Cheer leaders of both schools, young women and attractive too, if you please, attired in garments of their schools' colors, will add to the occasion. Whatever the result of Saturday's classic, about one-half of the fans will leave the field exuberant over the outcome, while the rest will add the old Brooklyn sequel, "Wait 'til next year."

The world's altitude record for two-place gliders, set recently in Florida, is 18,700 feet above the point of release.

Legion Gives Dinner to '46 Softball Champions

Visions of enlarged recreational facilities for Summit were held before the American Legion softball team, 1946 title holders in the City Softball League and regional champions in the County Legion League, as they were guests at dinner of Summit Post No. 138, team sponsor, Saturday night in the post's home at Broad and Elm streets. President Ernest P. Patten of the Board of Maitre de Hote Fred Berg for his Recreation, one of the speakers, said he hoped that "in the not too far distant future we can offer you more facilities... and if it is a building, it will be a memorial, and you fellows will have a lot to say about it."

Mr. Patten, who is also a member of the War Memorial committee that has charge of the memorial board opposite the post office, spoke with considerable feeling about his work in that respect, as he expressed on behalf of the Board of Recreation "a welcome home" to all "your comrades in arms." In congratulating the team on its sportsmanship and team play, the Board of Recreation head also stated the hope that "we will have a building in which to exhibit the prizes you have won and many more."

Harlan S. Kennedy, director of recreation for the city, said he had

Summit in Final Home Game, Jolts Caldwell, 19-13

Sophomore Lean Cross, Summit High's rangy fullback, carried the ball three times in the final quarter of Saturday's Suburban Conference football game against Caldwell on Memorial Field. At the end of his 20-, 12- and five-yard dashes, Cross hit pay dirt for Summit's winning margin in a 19-13 mild upset of the Chiefs from Essex County. Cross was halted in his attempt to rush the Caldwell line for the extra point.

A few moments after Cross did his scoring, it looked as if the visitors had tied the score with the possibility looming that they might gain the extra point that would mean victory. A 60-yard pass play from Caldwell's stellar right half, Dick Charpentier, to George Braue, left end, seemed to give the visitors a touchdown. Officials ruled Caldwell off sides in the play.

After a scoreless first quarter, Summit came to life in the second quarter, when Cosimo Pedicini intercepted a pass from Charpentier and reversed the field for 70 yards to the visitors' 10. Dave Kietzman then faked back and tossed to Pedicini in the end zone for Summit's first touchdown. Kietzman failed in his attempt at conversion.

Caldwell tied the score in the second when Pell Collins ran Steve Henzler's kick-off back 19 yards to his own 39. Charpentier then scooted around his own left end for 46 yards to the 14 and in three plays bucked over.

Both teams scored again in the third period and each added the extra point this time. A 40-yard pass from Charpentier to Braue put the ball on Summit's 13. Charpentier hit tackle to the one-foot mark, then plunged over. He added the point with a placement kick. Kietzman on a reverse from Pedicini, carried 32 yards to Caldwell's eight and the former tallied a moment later on a quarterback sneak. Pedicini barely made it on a wide end sweep for the tying point making it 13-all going into the final period.

Emil Bontempo, playing at right half for Summit after Don Guida was taken to Overlook Hospital for treatment to a dislocated shoulder, won the plaudits of the fans for his ball-toting.

Sports' Sidelights

EDUCATORS PROBE ATHLETIC CONTROLS
A report that control of athletics in New Jersey schools "appears to be slipping from school administrators into the hands of pressure groups," has been turned in by a special investigating committee named by the Department of Superintendents of the New Jersey Education Association of which Dr. William A. Kincaid of Summit is a member.

The report made November 9 at the NJEA convention in Atlantic City urged superintendents to "assume the prerogative from which they have so willingly abdicated and that we individually in the coming year assume an active participation in the New Jersey Scholastic Athletic Association."

The committee also said scholastic athletics throughout the State at present were "catering to spectators without proper regard for needs and rights of the student," and added, "standards of sportsmanship among adults who patronize high school contests appear to be deteriorating."

SUMMIT BASKETBALL MAY SET NEW RECORDS
Basketball is now easing into its position as the number one sports in the life of Harland S. Kennedy, director of recreation for the Summit Board of Recreation, sponsors of the eight-team Community Basketball League which started its 1946-47 season Monday night in the High School gym. Kennedy is highly pleased by the tremendous amount of interest shown in the campaign just inaugurated. Although the task of conducting the local basketball program is likely to be a job which will occupy Kennedy considerable of his time at least two days a week, he is highly enthused.

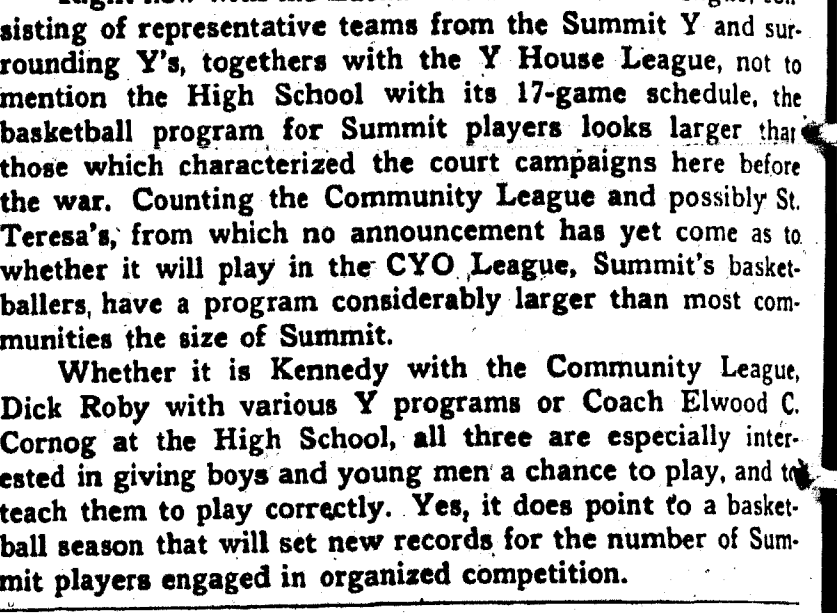

Right now with the Lackawanna Basketball League, consisting of representative teams from the Summit Y and surrounding Y's, together with the Y House League, not to mention the High School with its 17-game schedule, the basketball program for Summit players looks larger than those which characterized the court campaigns here before the war. Counting the Community League and possibly St. Teresa's, from which no announcement has yet come as to whether it will play in the CYO League, Summit's basketballers, have a program considerably larger than most communities the size of Summit.

Whether it is Kennedy with the Community League, Dick Roby with various Y programs or Coach Elwood C. Cornog at the High School, all three are especially interested in giving boys and young men a chance to play, and teach them to play correctly. Yes, it does point to a basketball season that will set new records for the number of Summit players engaged in organized competition.

Kenely, Mrozek Win Pro-Amateur at Baltusrol With 64

Dan Kenely, Galloping Hill pro, proved himself a cold weather golfer Friday over Baltusrol's lower course as he teamed with Joe Mrozek to post an eight-under par 64 and capture the weekly pro-amateur tournament over a field of 52 teams.

The late Fran Coakley's successor at Galloping Hill had one of his standout rounds of the season as he raced over the championship layout with an individual two-under par 70, and received the aid of six strokes from his amateur partner. Mrozek assisted on two holes with his own ball score and four with the stroke helper.

Evelyn Wyckoff Wins New Laurels In "Sally" Role

During its seven year career as a leading theatre in the presentation of operettas, the Paper Mill Playhouse at Millburn has seen rare occasions when the debut of a new star on its stage has met with instantaneous acclaim and such is true of Evelyn Wyckoff's current appearance in "Sally," which begins the third week of its engagement Monday, Nov. 25.

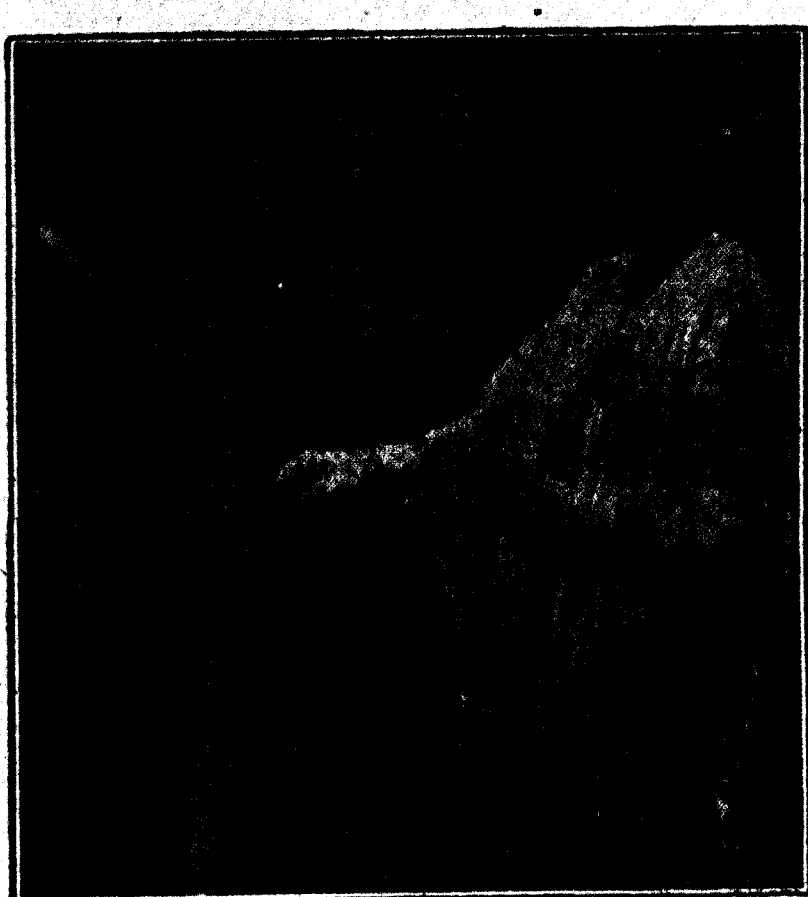

Sharing the spotlight with Donald Gage and Clarence Nordstrom, who hold favored spots in the hearts of Paper Mill audiences along with Charles Yearsley and George Britton among the men, Miss Wyckoff has gained the applause which has made popular favorites year after year of Andria Kuzak, Dorothy Sandlin and Rosemarie Brancato at the Millburn Playhouse.

Miss Wyckoff, a native New Jerseyite from Red Bank, has already gained the plaudits of Broadway for her starring lead in "Oklahoma" and in other musical productions and in important operetta engagements in St. Louis and Detroit among other cities. Her first appearance in her home state has driven home the talent that has made her a universal favorite on the musical stage.

Speaks at Convention

Channing R. Dooley, president of the Training Within Industry Foundation of Summit, was principal speaker at the annual meeting of the Agency Management Association held November 12 through 14 at the Edgewater Beach Hotel, Chicago. Mr. Dooley addressed the gathering on the subject, "Management's Responsibility for Training."

Puerto Rico was known as Borinquena by its Indian inhabitants before Columbus' time.

PITFALLS FOR A BRIDE

Claude Rains, head of an enemy underground movement in Brazil, welcomes his fiancée, Ingrid Bergman, into his home, while his mother, Leopoldine Konstantin, looks on with thinly veiled disapproval. RKO Radio's Thrilling "Notorious" co-stars Cary Grant and Miss Bergman. The suspenseful drama was produced and directed by Alfred Hitchcock, with Rains heading the featured cast.

Chopin Music Sets A Popular Trend

"The Polonaise A flat major started the trend when they re-wrote it as 'Till the End of Time.' Ever since then, I've had more requests for Chopin than I can handle," Seymour Greene, pianist at Carousel, Essex House, Newark, claims.

"Not so very long ago, everyone wanted either popular ballads or old songs in new arrangements. Now the Minute Waltz and Valse Brillante are just as common on the request list as 'Star Dust' and 'Begin the Beguine,' Mr. Greene notes.

"There's a movie coming out based on Rachmaninoff's life and music. Soon his C sharp minor Prelude will be as well known as 'Dark Town Strutters Ball,'" he commented.

Mr. Greene declares this is great for the people and good for pianists for it adds much to the possible repertoire.

U. S. movie fans constitute 65 per cent of the world's film audience.

Union County Hiking Club Will Go to Allaire Sunday
 Sunday's hike will cover 10 to 12 easy miles along country roads and sandy trails, with the principal point of interest the ghost town of Allaire. Members will meet at the administration building, Warinanco Park, Elizabeth, at 8 a. m.

The name Japan is a corruption of the Chinese word Zapang, meaning source of the sun.

Worship Freedom Rev. Ross' Topic At Rotary Luncheon

Rev. Charles Alexander Ross expressed himself as not being particularly interested in what form of religion one practices, but if we have the spirit of worship inculcated in us and are traveling the same road of merging traffic we will eventually swing in with others on the broad highway leading to the city of God.

Mr. Ross is pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Elizabeth and was speaking on the topic: "Freedom to Worship" to members of the Rotary Club at their noon luncheon in the YMCA on Monday.

In starting his talk Mr. Ross said he heartily to talk on the subject because it made him "hot under the collar" for he had seen freedom to worship so much abused by some that they have turned it into freedom not to worship. He said a man had the right to choose not to eat if he wanted to do so, but he should choose wisely if he did eat.

He said there are geographical lines on the map of the world and there are the same lines in life and one should make the most of the latter and of himself; choose wisely and he would grow morally and spiritually; the wise man finds out about these things, which constitute the real man.

Three Stages of Progress
 Mr. Ross likened man's advance to a three-story house. The first he called the animal floor—where greed, brutality, passion ruled. The second story was where man began to think, became intellectual and realized that he was more than a procreator. The third story was where he had more time to look out on the realms of existence; where he learned to love the beautiful and to become more serviceable; where he found that the heart realizes something the mind does not; that there is a divinity that shapes destinies. He said it was a wise man who gets to that point.

He said that the way some people prostitute their freedom makes his heart bleed.

Visitors were introduced by Henry Glowka; Fred Craig and Ralph Seymour, Millburn; Joseph F. Rusicka, Madison; James Boyer, Roland E. Stimson, Plainfield; Romley Fell, Newark; Stanley A. Gibson, Bound Brook; Richard Roby, guest of Allen R. Devenney.

Summit Symphony Orchestra Names Its Committees

Members of the executive committee of the Summit Symphony Orchestra were chosen at a recent meeting of the group. Robert Stafford will be chairman of the committee, which will determine the policies of the orchestra and coordinate its activities.

Mr. Stafford stated this would be a "working committee," and named the following as heads of the various sub-committees: Milton Fleming, membership; Wells Clynes, house; Thyra Backer, librarian; Elsie Koch, secretary; Dorothy Danielson, information. Other members are William Bennett, Sr., and William Singleton. All are residents of Summit, except Miss Koch, who lives in Chatham.

Plans are underway for the first concert to be given by the orchestra on Dec. 17. This will feature a variety of orchestral pieces, including the works of some modern composers as well as traditional Christmas airs. J. Fred Muller, director, has issued a call for additional members in the string sections, and says those who enter now will be able to play in the Christmas concert. Musicians who play viola, cello, or violin are invited to attend the next rehearsal, which will be held Tuesday at 8 p. m. in the Summit High School auditorium. Old Guard Visits Pipe Factory

On November 14 six members of the Old Guard—Roy Baker, Francis U. Voss, George Courtenay, Charles Hall, Frank N. Waterman and Harry Guest made a trip to Paterson and inspected the factory of Smoking Pipes, Inc. The factory is the larger and the only one in the east of two in this country producing briar smoking pipes by the molding process from wood flour.

Of particular interest to the visitors was the fact that the factory was not started for profit as a business enterprise but to give employment to older or disabled men and women. Edward Levy, a retired president of the Flak Tire and Rubber Co., was the developer. Over half of the employees are over 60 years old, and several are physically handicapped, either through birth, illness or accident.

During the tour the visitors were told that the machines for grinding the flour were made in Summit by the Pulverizing Machinery Co. of Chatham road.

While the plant has capacity for turning out 14,000 pipes a day at present the production is 12,000. It takes 35 operations before the finished product is ready for shipping department.

Mr. Levy presented the visitors with an assortment of pipes and these will be distributed by lot to the lucky members at the meeting next week.

PREEN

As PREEN waxes—it cleans the floors—cleans them without injury to the finish or the wood as do soap and water. It does not strip and dry out the floors as do turpentine and naphtha. The cleaning agent in PREEN was scientifically and specifically made for wood floors. Instead of injuring the floors, it helps to preserve and protect them.

PREEN is so easy to use. Spread it on the surface with a piece of cloth, turning the cloth as the dirt is loosened. When dry, polish with a few brisk rubs of a dry, clean cloth. With each application PREEN adds a new, clean, lustrous film of protection.

YOUR NAME PRINTED ON ALL CHECKS AT NO COST TO YOU

The Morristown Trust Company of Morristown, New Jersey, is pleased to announce that, effective immediately, all checking account customers of the bank are to be supplied, at no cost to them, with specially imprinted and numbered checks. Within a few days all those who do not now use imprinted checks will receive a supply by mail. Those who already use them will in the future be supplied with whatever quantities they need at no charge, it being the intent of the bank to absorb all normal costs for checks and imprinting. Illustrated here are the three styles of check books which will be available and, needless to say, each style has been chosen because of its wide popularity and established national acceptance.

To the best of our knowledge and belief, the Morristown Trust Company is the first bank, not only in Morris County and the State of New Jersey, but in the entire country to provide fully imprinted and numbered checks without charge to all customers regardless of the size of their balances. This added service is the result of mature thought and we believe it will prove to be a worth while investment because it will materially speed up our sorting and filing operations. Checks circulate widely and wherever they go people must read them. Obviously it is easier to read checks bearing printed names, and so, in a way, they extend a courtesy to all who handle them. Further, bank checks are the most important printed forms used daily by individuals. They constitute their personal currency, issued in the exact amounts required when needed, and they should be truly personalized with the printed names of those who sign them.

Pocket Check Book
This distinctive pocket size check book is compact to carry and convenient to use. It has a perfectly flat writing surface and records of all transactions may be stored in a very small space. You will receive eight pads of twenty-five checks each, all bearing your printed name and all consecutively numbered. On future orders if you wish to show your street address you may do so.

Newport Check Book
This type of check book is designed for the professional man, the business woman or the home manager. There is a full page of stub space for recording the details of every transaction. It is compact and provides a perfectly flat writing surface from cover to cover. It contains two hundred and fifty checks attractively bound.

Business Check Book
This is the conventional three-on-a-page business check book. It is available in several styles and colors. It is bound in a flat-opening, eight-ring refillable binder and is available in quantities of three hundred checks or more depending upon the needs of the customer.

Advantages OF PERSONALIZED CHECKS
Some of the advantages accruing to the individual who uses imprinted checks are:

1. Added prestige is given to his financial transactions.
2. He is provided an opportunity to display his business connection and thus utilize them as an advertising medium.
3. He is assured that the payee will properly credit his account even though his signature may not be perfectly legible.
4. He has an additional means of identification and if his check book should happen to be lost he is more apt to have it returned.
5. He can with less trouble file and refer to his canceled checks since their numbering makes it easy to keep them in an orderly manner.
6. He is saved the trouble of writing his address when cashing checks in establishments where he might not be well known.
7. He extends to all who handle his checks the courtesy of legibility.
