The annual meeting included the reading of reports from committee chairmen, and in the absence of Robert O. Peterson, Chamber president, the meeting was headed by Matthew Zeigner of Zeigner's.

Approximately 60 members of the Chamber of Commerce attended the meeting.

The Chamber will elect the new president from its board of directors, who will be installed at the annual dinner held next February.

For the first time in many years, the program did not have a guest speaker. Following the brief reports from committee chairmen, the meeting was adjourned.

Allen Denies Any Flag Slur In Seat Shift

Dr. Robert F. Allen, Democratic candidate for Congress from the 12th District, last Thursday denied that a reversal of the seating arrangement in the Common Council chambers before his talk here a week ago last Sunday, carried any un-American implications because his audience sat with its backs to the American flag in the room.

Dr. Allen said the switching field in Summit on Saturday at of the seats was done to create 2 n.m. to take on Summit High a more intimate atmosphere in a Suburban Conference game the meeting room. He also Coach Howie Anderson's Summit pointed out that the meeting eleven will be out to end a two-opened with the singing of the same losing streak and even national anthem.

Dr. Allen made his remarks at a press conference held at 145 points in losing three games Plainfield prior to an address in this season. The Hillbillies lost that city during which he said to Madison, 75-0, and to Chat that an editorial in last Thursday's Summit Herald that questioned the reasons for reversing defeated Millburn High last Saturday due to illness and injuries "a vicious attack in the Republican — controlled Summit Herald."

"This is an example of the kind of extremism that is taking over the Republican Party," he said. "Before the meeting began the audience turned to the flag and sang the national anthem and the chairs were rearranged only for space reasons. The attack sounds like a joke but apparently the Herald means it."

"What it really means is that racism is a vital issue in our society and that anyone who speaks against it is in danger of having his loyalty questioned," Dr. Allen added.

Shortly after 4:30 a.m. on Sunday, Rodney Mitchell, 21, of 150 Broad street suffered an eye cut when his car apparently went into a skid on wet pavement and crashed into the front of a garage at 296 Broad street, owned by United Plumbing Supply. At the time of the accident, Mitchell was driving east on Broad.

Summit High Gridmen To Take on Verona

An embattled Verona High football team will visit Tatlock Field in Summit on Saturday at 2 p.m. to take on Summit High in a Suburban Conference game. Coach Howie Anderson's Summit pointed out that the meeting eleven will be out to end a two-opened with the singing of the same losing streak and even national anthem.

Dr. Allen made his remarks at a press conference held at 145 points in losing three games Plainfield prior to an address in this season. City Saved $135,000 by Ignoring Foe, Lehr Says

By ignoring financial advice from Ronald E. Williams, Independent — Democrat candidate for Ward 2 Council seat, Summit taxpayers were saved $135,000.

The statement was made this week by incumbent Ward 2 Councilman Frank H. Lehr, Republican, who is seeking reelection.

According to Lehr, Williams sent him a letter on March 19 (and also sent a copy which was printed in The Summit Herald) in which it was urged that Council through Lehr "consider most earnestly deferring the proposed issues (of $1,525,000 in bonds) until fall."

Mr. Williams, "with his self-proclaimed knowledge of financial planning," Lehr said, apparently felt at that time that interest rates in the municipal bond market would drop Lehr said that professional financial advisors told Council to move ahead with the bond issue.

"The rest is history," Lehr commented.

Summit Rates High

The financial community, Lehr declared, has a high regard for Summit's fiscal planning. Out of 565 New Jersey communities, Summit is one of the only 16 which enjoys a double "A" rating by both Moody's and Standard & Poor, Lehr reported.

This high regard for Summit's fiscal policies, Lehr continued, is evidenced by Standard & Poor's bond market letter of April, 1966, prior to Summit's sale in which it, the firm said: "The city's (Summit) overall debt load is still moderate. The debt structure is well-planned and the current account continues its long record of operation on a full credit basis."

Following the sale of the bonds, The Newark News commented on April 17, Lehr added, "Summit is held in high regard (by the financial community) . . . it is one of the few communities in the state with an AA bond rating. . . attracted an unusually high number of bidders, 20 in all. A municipal bond veteran in New York ventured the opinion that it was 'very rare' for a bond sale to draw that many bidders."

Lehr concluded his remarks by stating that New Brunswick, which also has an AA rating, on October 1 sold bonds at an annual rate of almost 1 percent higher, 4.3 percent as compared to Summit's rate of 3.48 percent last April.

Thus, Lehr stresses, "waiting until fall, as Mr. Williams proposed, would have cost the city almost $14,000 in additional interest the first year or more than $135,000 for the 20-year life of these bonds."

Spooks to Take Over Local Store Windows

After a five-year lapse, the Optimist Club with the support of the Summit Area Chamber of Commerce, will again conduct a Halloween window painting contest today for high school students in the city's central business district.

Art students under the direction of Arthur DeBrito, chairman of the Summit High School art department, will paint a total of 61 original Halloween pictures which will be placed on local store windows over the weekend.

PBA Sets Date for Annual Dinner-Dance

The annual Patrons of the Benevolent Association's dinner-dance will be held this year on November 14 at the Hotel Suburban beginning at 6:30 p.m. Following the dinner, there will be dancing to 12:30 a.m.

Dr. Donald Connors, chairman of the Optimist's Halloween committee, said this week that profits accrued from merchants' contributions for the paintings, will be presented to the school's art department for a scholarship.

Approximately 75 students will participate in the contest. The paintings will be made on manila paper.

Wanted: More Teachers

With the shortage of qualified teachers continuing here, the Summit schools have "an immediate need" for elementary teachers and reading counselors, Roland Wolcott, acting superintendent of schools, announced at the Board of Education meeting last Thursday night.

In addition, Mr. Wolcott pointed out that the schools also require a bookkeeping teacher in the High School and a mechanical drawing teacher in the Junior High School.

School Board Names Two to Teacher Posts

Two appointments to the teaching staff and three resignations were accepted by the Board of Education at its regular monthly meeting held Thursday night in the High School library.

Included in the appointments were Miss Natalie Forbes and Mrs. Lenore Ram, while resignations were received from Austin Beveridge, Miss Tina Federico and Miss Montie Pond.

Miss Forbes, who is teaching the second grade at Lincoln school, is a graduate of Pennsylvania State University, and studied at the University of Illinois last summer. Following her graduation last March, she taught a third grade at Harrisburg, Pa., for the balance of the school year.

Mrs. Ram, who has been working as a substitute teacher since the start of the school year, was appointed to teach English in the High School. She is a graduate of Boston University with an English major and received her master's degree through the Master of Arts in Teaching program at Columbia University. Previously, she had taught for six years at New York City, Great Neck, N. Y. and Millburn. Mrs. Ram has also been assigned the direction of the fall drama production at the High School.

Mr. Beveridge, whose resignation is effective December 1, plans to enter commercial aviation; while Miss Federico will enter Boston University as a full time doctoral student in reading. She will resign effective January 27. Miss Pond, who is planning to be married before Christmas, will resign as of December 9.

Schools to Close

In order to permit the educational staff of the city's public schools to attend the annual convention of the New Jersey Education Association at Atlantic City, school will be closed next Thursday and Friday, November 3 and 4.

With the shortage of qualified teachers continuing here, the Summit schools have "an immediate need" for elementary teachers and reading counselors, Roland Wolcott, acting superintendent of schools, announced at the Board of Education meeting last Thursday night.

New construction in the city last month took a sudden spurt upward for the first time this year, the monthly report from the building inspector's office revealed this week.

With new building here during September reaching $1,304,900, totals for the first nine months of 1966 now stand at $2,182,535, a decrease of $4,157,865 from the $6,340,400 reported during the comparable period last year.

Last month's total also represented a $1,235,000 increase over the $69,700 reported in September, 1965, and a boost of $1,274,000 from the $30,000 during August of this year.

Alterations-Additions While new building in the city was on the increase, alteration-addition permits were also on the upgrade. With permits last month at $185,000, totals for the year now stand at $30,840, an increase of $271,833 over the $59,007 of last year at this time. September's figures also represent an increase of $141,575 over the $43,425 during the same month last year, and $48,600 more than the $136,400 during August of this year.

Those given permits last month included Wigton Abbott, 556 Morris avenue, $21,000; Peter Olson, 40 Prospect Hill avenue, $4,000; Hait and Reed, 4 Greenbriar drive, $3,900; G. A. Nelson, 70 Pine Grove avenue, $1,500; J. W. Swenson, 33 Morris avenue, $500 and 40 Stanley (Continued on Page 18)

Federal Aid For Schools Strikes Snag

Although the Board of Education has granted Acting Superintendent Roland Wolcott permission to apply for Title I federal funds for continuation of science and physical education programs for students at St. Teresa's School, final planning has been delayed by curtailed physical education schedules at Roosevelt and Jefferson Schools and by a vacancy in the science department in the Junior High School.

Mr. Wolcott indicated at a Board of Education meeting last Thursday night that new conditions bear on the application which include use of an elementary gymnasium by St. Teresa's and the availability of qualified physical education instructors. He termed both problems as not appearing to be "insurmountable."

Because of a shortage of space, children in Roosevelt School grades four, five and six are being transported by bus to the Junior High School gymnasium for physical education each Tuesday. The primary grades have their physical education in the auditorium, the playground or the outdoor areas as weather and facilities permit. Each Friday physical education for all grades will meet at the school.

At Jefferson school, such classes will gather on a large outdoor play area until cold weather arrives. About December 1, it is expected that all pupils in grades one through six will be transported to the Junior High School gymnasium on Tuesdays and to the Lincoln school gymnasium on Mondays for physical education.

Mr. Wolcott pointed out that such an arrangement was necessary because there is no suitable interior spaces available at Jefferson school until new classrooms are available.

Summit's teachers will meet the newly-appointed superintendent of schools, Dr. Robert G. Salisbury of Aurora, O., at a special meeting for staff members on Monday.

Announcement of Dr. Salisbury's appointment to fill the vacancy created by the resignation August 1 of former superintendent, Dr. William D. Purcell, was made at a meeting held Tuesday at the High School and attended by school administrators and the press.

Dr. Salisbury, who is currently employed as superintendent at Aurora, where he has served for the last three years, will come to Summit as soon as his replacement is found. It is expected that he will join the Summit staff sometime early next year.

His salary has been set at $23,000. Before leaving in August, Dr. Purcell received $23,500.

In commenting on the new appointment, Mrs. Richard Oas, president of the Board of Education, said it was a "happy day for Summit." She said that acting superintendent Roland Wolcott did not apply for the position and that the board appreciated the work he had performed in the interim period.

Aurora is a suburban community of 6,000 population, with 75 teachers and is located outside of Cleveland.

A graduate of Ohio State University in 1948 after serving three years in the Navy, Dr. Salisbury subsequently earned his master's degree at Ohio State and was awarded a doctorate by Western Reserve University in 1965.

Prior to accepting the superintendency at Aurora in 1963, his professional experience included teaching at both the elementary and secondary levels, a high school principalship, and service as a curriculum director at Medina, O. and Wickliffe, O.

In Aurora community activities, he is chairman of a church board of trustees, director of the Kiwanis Club, secretary and director of the Community Improvement Corporation of Aurora.

In addition, he was appointed by the Ohio State Board of Education to serve as a member of the advisory committee assigned to revise the Ohio high school standards and is currently serving as chairman of the Restructuring Project of the Educational Research Council of Cleveland.

His memberships in professional organizations include the American Association of School Administrators, the Ohio Association of Superintendents of Schools, but only understand them.

Rev. Wolenski added that no one was on trial, that no one was right or wrong. He issued the plea to "make an end to over divisions."

He added that it was necessary to continue and share the ecumenical feeling which would lead to the appreciation of others and the fraternal charity would lead to fraternal love.

Questions following the main body of the meeting were limited by time. However, questions concerning the future of ecumenism caused Dr. Bennett to answer that he did not visualize the establishment of one Christian church in the future because of the location of authority as viewed by Catholics and Protestants.

Other questions centered around "black power," which Dr. Bennett termed no worse than "labor power," but he pointed out that there were in the participants in the ecumenical movement were not trying to destroy each other's traditions, but only understand them.

Speaking in response to Dr. Bennett was Father Leonard T. Wolenski of St. Teresa's Church, who pointed out that the participants in the ecumenical movement were not trying to destroy each other's traditions, but only understand them.

Asia Cannot be Saved by America, Ecumenical Meeting Speaker Says

"Americans cannot go on saying they will save Asia," but China must be contained ultimately by Asian forces of all kinds, Dr. John C. Bennett, president of Union Theological Seminary, said at an ecumenical meeting held Sunday under the sponsorship of the Council of Churches of Christ in cooperation with the Holy Name Society of St. Teresa's Church. An estimated 600 persons attended.

Not participating in the meeting as originally planned was Rabbi William Horn of the Jewish Community Center who withdrew after the event was publicized elsewhere as a Catholic-Protestant dialogue, which was not the original intent, according to Rev. David K. Barnwell, D.D. of Christ Church.

Speaking on "Major Public Issues and Our Common Faith," Dr. Bennett maintained that no honest Protestant, Christian or Jew "can vote for a segregationist," and that churches should declare how they stand and should "interfere."

base, Dr. Bennett also said that the three religious communities have a common heritage and all have the element of a common faith based on a dynamic conception of God working in history, on a positive attitude toward the world with no escape, no private salvation, and on a transformation of social justice.

Pointing to historical references which highlighted anti-semitism within the daily teaching of churches, Dr. Bennett added that churches are now trying to change the manner of presentation of the Crucifixion of Christ, and he pointed out changes within the Catholic Church which have occurred as a result of the Encyclical which granted all persons religious liberty, even if they were "regarded as in error by the Catholic Church."

Speaking in response to Dr. Bennett was Father Leonard T. Wolenski of St. Teresa's Church, who pointed out that the participants in the ecumenical movement were not trying to destroy each other's traditions, but only understand them.

Introduction of a Title I program for St. Teresa's School include conditions in the Junior High School science department. According to Mr. Wolcott with a majority of new science teachers and a vacancy in the department, it has been necessary for the science coordinator to devote full-time to that school for the month of September. In addition to not having time for preparing a Title I proposal, science coordinator services to the seven elementary schools were "drastically curtailed during this period", Mr. Wolcott said.

Old Moore House Eyed as Historical Society Home

The old Moore home on Stan- week received a request from ley avenue, believed by some John N. May, jr., president of to be between 175 and 200 the Historical Society, that the years old, may possibly be- dwelling be preserved. The come a home for the Summit Historical Society.

The Union County Park Com- mission at its meeting last by the County Park System as the result of a purchase under the Green Acres Program for the proposed Passaic River Park that will eventually stretch from Summit to Berkeley Heights along the banks of the Passaic.

Mr. May told the Park Com- mission that if the house is pre- served the Society will under- take a fund raising campaign to restore the dwelling. The house is on a 5-acre tract adja- cent to the river.

Owner Died at 98

Miss Nellie Moore, the last owner, died at age 98 on August 23 and since then the house has been occupied by a niece, Miss Agnes Coleman, who is now in the process of selling its contents before she moves to New York City to live.

Miss Coleman said she is not sure how old the house is and also said that Miss Moore was not positive when it was built. Miss Coleman said it is believed that the house was built by Jonathan Bonnell as a wedding gift for one of his daughters and that later it was occupied briefly by the family of Msgr. Quirk of St. Teresa's Church and then by Miss Bertha Searles before it was purchased by Miss Moore, who for 70 years was its occupant until she died.

No Water, Electricity
The house is unique in that it has no electricity or running water. Water is drawn from a well in the yard. There is, how- ever, a telephone in the house.

The section where the house is located was once known as "Bonneltown" and later as "Stanley" when it had its own stop on the Lackawanna Rail- road. Bonnell operated a candy factory and also a saw mill in the Stanley section. An 1845 map of Summit by Little labels the site as "Bonnell Saw Mill, J.C. Bonnell, prop."

Tonight at 8:15 p.m. at the City Hall the Historical Society officers and committee chair- men are having a special meet- ing to discuss acquisition and plans for the Moore property.

Bartenders drink it at home.

Women Voters Mailing Out Voting Data

Next week Summit house- holds will again be aware of the extensive scope of the public service rendered by the League of Women Voters as non-partisan information about senatorial, congressional, coun- ty, and local candidates is put into the mails.

Addressing parties will be held in several homes on No- vember 2 as League members prepare three leaflets for dis- tribution to Summit voters.

A special red, white, and blue election edition of "The New Jersey Voter," published by the League of Women Voters of New Jersey, will be one of the leaflets mailed to Summit households. In addition to pic- tures and biographies of the Republican and Democratic Senatorial candidates, Clifford P. Case and Warren W. Wilentz, the publication carries their an- swers to questions posed by the League.

Information about Congres- sional redistricting and state legislative apportionment is also included, along with the text of the referendum that will face voters at the November 8 election.

It reads: "Shall the proposed revision and amendments to the state constitution agreed upon by the Constitutional Convention of 1966 relating to the representation of the people in the legislature be adopted?"

Biographies and statements from the four other candidates for the U.S. Senate are not in- cluded in the Voter because of space limitations. The informa- tion is available without charge from the League of Women Voters of New Jersey, 460 Bloomfield avenue, Montclair.

Another leaflet will include biographical information and statements from the Congres- sional candidates, Dr. Robert F. Allen (D), Mrs. Florence P. Dwyer — (R), and Howard Shersinger, Conservative, as well as for the nine freeholder candidates.

They are John Cirelli, How- ard Hoffman, and Richard Kochanski, Democrats; Walter Ulrich, Harry Osborne, and Edward Tiller, Republicans; and Harry Edwards, Peter Shimo- nis, and Robert Eckert, Con- servatives.

The third sheet contains in- formation about the local can- didates for Common Council.

These men are Robert S. Stafford — (R) and Anthony J. Ratichek — (R), both run- ning unopposed for Ward 1 Council seats; and Frank H. Lehr — (R) and Ronald Wil- liams — Independent, who are seeking a Ward 2 seat.

League members who wish to participate in the addressing of the sheets on November 2 may come to any of the follow- ing locations between 9 a.m. and 3 p.m.:

Mrs. Richard Allen, 79 Moun- tain avenue; Mrs. E. H. Epting, 25 West End avenue; Mrs. Arthur Mehling, 174 Colonial road; or Mrs. James V. Ryan, 19 Tanglewood drive.

Birch Society Lists Open Door Meeting

The public is invited to attend a film presentation of the John Birch Society on Thursday at the Sulphur Springs Inn, Berke- ley Heights, at 8 p.m.

The presentation is being spon- sored by the local chapters of the John Birch Society and there will be no admission charged.

Following the film presentation, James Fitzgerald, state coordina- tor for the Society, will conduct a question and answer period.

For the convenience of those wishing additional information on the various subjects discussed during the evening, the Ameri- can Opinion Library of Summit will supply books for purchase by the public.

All New Citizens Of Summit Area To Be Greeted

A new program that will bring an official welcome to new citi- zens of the United States has been announced by the Summit Area Women's Republican Club.

The club has formed an Americanism committee which will greet all new citizens of the Summit-New Providence-Berkeley Heights area. The committee will obtain the names and addresses of new citizens and turn the names over to the officials in their respective towns. New citizens will be given official welcomes at various times during the year.

Last week the Lions Club of Summit presented new citizens here with an American Flag. The Lions of Berkeley Heights and New Providence conducted similar programs in those towns.

New citizens welcomed last week were Mrs. Elizabeth J. Baker of 227 Mountain avenue, a native of Germany, and wife of John S. Baker, a native of Summit; Anthony Resca of 101 Ashwood avenue, a native of Italy and husband of the former Alice Corradi, also a Summit native. Mr. Resca is a tailor at Root's, and Carmine Nigro of 13 Sayre street, a native of Italy who is now en route to Viet Nam as a member of the armed forces.

At Berkeley Heights, Mrs. Brita Magalhaes of 125 Lincoln street, a native of Denmark, and Mrs. Sheila A. Macvicar of 258 Emerson lane, a native of Great Britain, were both welcomed. Mrs. Magalhaes is a nurse at Overlook Hospital and is married to a Bell Labs en- gineer. Mrs. Macvicar is a radio advertising sales person.

New Providence is presently arranging a program to wel- come its new citizens.

The new Americanism com- mittee consists of Mrs. H. Wade Reynolds, jr., Mrs. Brunswick Walker, Mrs. Alphonse Mecieau, all of Summit; Mrs. Robert Irwin of New Providence and Mrs. Donald Ludwig of Berke- ley Heights.

The GOP Women's Club was recently presented with a flag which had been flown over the capitol at Washington from Congresswoman Florence P. Dwyer. The club has requested that the flag be flown over City Hall for all national holidays and on special occasions.

Halloween Events Include Party and UN Collections

The annual Halloween party sponsored by the Board of Rec- reation will be held Monday night, October 31, at Memorial Field.

The program will begin promptly at 7:30 p.m. with a costume party. Prizes will be given for the funniest, cutest, ugliest and most original cos- tumes.

Contests for individuals and teams will follow with the win- ners receiving prizes. A giant bonfire will be lighted at 8:30 p.m., followed by dancing to a live combo. Refreshments of cider will be served. All Sum- mit residents are urged to at- tend.

City youngsters again will col- lect funds for UNICEF while making their "trick or treat" rounds. The traditional orange and black UNICEF containers may be obtained at church schools and from Oak Knoll and Kent Place Schools. The official containers are being donated by a Morristown radio station. Col- lections will be made Monday evening.

Last year Summit children collected a total of $1,354.07 for the UNICEF. Mrs. William L. Machmer, jr. of 22 Edgewood road, is chairman for this year.

Faith Lutheran Church To Sponsor Book Fair

New Providence — A book fair will be held at Faith Lutheran Church, Sunday from 3 to 5 p.m. It is being sponsored by the library committee of Faith Church and the Christian education committee.

Display tables are being created by members of Faith's church library committee to introduce the various aspects of the library. The displays will show the variety of books available on the library shelves. Although the library at Faith Church is a relatively new venture, a collection of 500 books is now catalogued in the library. Members of the church library committee who will be working on displays and assisting at the book fair include Mrs. Earle Pearson of Murray Hill, chairman; Miss Ruth M. Johnson, director of Christian education; Mrs. Eugene Harmony of Berkeley Heights; Mrs. Elmer Kern of New Providence; Mrs. Robert Frysinger of Berkeley Heights and Mrs. Malvin Lundeen of Berkeley Heights.

Books will be offered for sale during the book fair. A wide variety of gift books have been received on consignment and will be sold at cost. Included in the books for sale will be Bibles, devotional books and general reading books for all ages.

Children of the congregation, who are some of the most enthusiastic supporters of the library at Faith have been invited to participate in a poster contest to help publicize the book fair. Posters will be judged by a panel consisting of Mrs. Harry Johnson of New Providence, Mrs. Frank Surges of Murray Hill and Mrs. Richard Schaab of Murray Hill. First, second and third prizes will be awarded to the children submitting the best posters in each of three age divisions: grades 1-3; grades 4-6 and grades 7-9. Winners of the contest will be announced at the book fair.

St. Andrews Nursery School Plans Afternoon Sessions

New Providence — Due to the overwhelming requests for admission to the nursery school, St. Andrew's Church plans to offer an afternoon session beginning February 1. This session will be on Thursdays and Fridays from 12 to 2:45 p.m. St. Andrew's is located in a five-acre setting of natural scenic beauty complete with grassy and paved areas. The new building provides six well ventilated, sunny pleasant first floor rooms with sanitary lavatories for our nursery unit.

Imaginative, creative child-sized equipment, designed to help children feel at home in the adult world; a modern well equipped kitchen; and an enormous multi-purpose room are provided to enrich the child's nursery school environment.

The multi-purpose room is furnished with a grand piano and organ for musical explorations; as well as a versatile climber slide, walking boards, ladders, rocking boat for large physical activity.

Two separate areas for outdoor play are outfitted with a large hexagonal sandbox built around an apple tree, wooden stepping stones, monkey swings, a six foot work bench, a play house, a lookout tower, tables and climbing apparatus with wood chip "ground" to cushion falls.

The program offers concrete experiences based on the child's individual interests and readiness. Regular scheduled creative arts and crafts periods, music, story times, rest and refreshments alternate with outdoor play.

Children are eligible for the nursery school who are three by December 31.

For further information call the office at 464-4875 mornings, or Mrs. Joan Mongioi, director at 464-1913, afternoons.

Freeholder - ARTHUR C. FRIED

The County Welfare Board belongs to the community. It is representative of the public and is responsible in a broad sense to the whole community. The board is in an important position with respect to the staff, the clients of the agency, the community and other welfare agencies. Its characteristics include:

1. A responsible group commanding the respect and confidence of its staff and the community;
2. A knowledge of the purpose and objectives of the agency and its operations, and familiarity with the broad scope of its programs and services;
3. Representation of the various groups and interests which make up the community;
4. Acceptance of responsibility for analyzing and interpreting factual material as a basis for making decisions;
5. A disposition to establish and maintain a relationship or partnership with the executive and staff;
6. An interest in establishing and maintaining a working relationship with other governmental units which may have authority to determine certain of its policies and procedures; and
7. An interest in participating in general community organizations and agencies in order that the Welfare Board may be an effective partner in the social service and planning of the county and its municipalities.

Organization and Composition

The County Welfare Board is generally organized with eight members consisting of: 1. Five citizens of the respective County, not holding office of Freeholder, two of whom must be women; 2. Two designated members of the Board of Freeholders, and 3. The Director of Welfare.

Functions and Responsibilities

The County Welfare Board has a clear and significant responsibility for directing the administration of the assistance programs within the limitations fixed by law and regulation. Thus, it should make certain that the legal right of clients to file applications and secure prompt decisions are being observed. It should also ensure that complete investigations, re-investigations, and verifications are made within the time limits established by State regulation. The County Welfare Board shares with the State Bureau of Assistance responsibility for developing and improving programs, and in planning for the programs in developing policies and procedures. The channel for this activity is usually through the Director of Welfare. It may also take place through consultation with the Chief of the Bureau of Assistance, other appropriate department officials, consultants and other technical assistants, or by other means which may be developed to meet specific problems. Directors of Welfare frequently consult with the State Bureau as a group in developing proposals for statewide policies and procedures.

Cheat or Not To Cheat Is Student Poser

By Mabel G. Stolte
County Home Economist

Will I be more successful if I cheat? For many children this question represents a real conflict every school day.

Why is a child tempted to cheat on a test or in a game? He probably has been told by his parents, his teachers, and even his classmates that it is wrong to cheat and that one must conform to the rules. How the child identifies himself with well he has been taught not to cheat, will however, determine his honesty. Although parents and teachers want to prevent cheating, they may unwittingly encourage it.

What makes a child want to cheat? The motives are complex. On one hand he is supposed to conform to the rules he has been taught. He is not to cheat. On the other hand he feels the need to achieve, to succeed, to do well in comparison with others. The conflict is between honesty and achievement. The stronger motive will determine whether he resists the temptation.

"Cross-cultural studies" of the customs and character traits of many different societies further illustrate this problem. Children who have a stable family life, with both parents present, show a vigorous resistance to temptation but a strong desire for achievement. In such a family the child identifies himself with his parents and accepts their standards. However, too much pressure can change the balance, and obedient will do this.

The scale will swing to lower cheating, they may unwittingly encourage it.

heightens. One recent study made in the laboratory of Socio-environmental Studies, National Institute of Mental Health had definite findings in line with research expectations. I indicated that whether a child cheated when performing by himself did not depend to any extent upon his mother's influence. But when in the company of his mother her influence was great. Mothers of children who cheated actively encouraged cheating. Not knowing the rules, a matter cannot tell the child how to cheat but can guide him to an activity where he can demonstrate superior achievement. Even though this activity was against the rules, as the child indicated, pressured him to continue. She thus indicated "rule bending" was justified when searching for success and high achievement.

If the reward for achievement is greater than the reward of self-respect from resisting temptation, or equal in value, the child is likely to cheat, this study thus found.

For further information concerning ways to guide your family's attitude about cheating, attend a joint Cooperative Extension Service P.T.A. program to be held Tuesday morning, October 25 in Elizabeth. Call 353-5000 for time and place.

Special Care Required for New Carpets

By Carolyn F. Yuknus
County Home Economist

If you are shopping for a carpet or rug or have already placed your order, you may have some concern about how to care for your new purchase.

Immediately after installing a carpet or rug, and before the furniture is replaced, take the time to thoroughly vacuum the entire area. An upright vacuum or power attachment is the most effective tool to use.

The purpose of this vacuum cleaning is to remove or bring to the surface the excess lint and tufts that are embedded in the pile. This shedding is absolutely normal, and if the bulk of it is not removed immediately, you may become alarmed at the rolls of shedding that will collect.

A normal amount of shedding may be apparent even as much as a year after the installation.

Frequently, a single tuft or thread will come to the surface and extend above the pile. Do not pull this out, but rather clip it even with the rest of the pile.

Depending on the type of carpet, be aware that shading may appear. This is the result of the shifting of the pile and many people believe such shading gives life and interest to a carpet.

After a carpet or rug has been down for a couple of months, you may be disappointed about how much lighter the color has become and be convinced that it has faded. This is also normal and is not the result of fading, but rather, the shifting of the pile in relation to the light. Knowing this trait of carpeting, you may want to consider one shade darker in color in your shopping to compensate for this change in color.

A Solution for Junk Mail

We feel a bit of envy for the residents of Chicago where the Postmaster asked for and received permission to burn hundreds of tons of third class, or junk mail, that was clogging his office and delaying the delivery of regular mail.

We sympathize with the problems of post office staffs all over the country who are swamped with circulars and other junk mail that not only adds to the carrier's burden and work-load but also plunges staffs into costly overtime if it is to be sorted and delivered.

The crisis came at the Windy City Post Office when 113,000 sacks of third class circulars and other throw-aways, most of it addressed to "Occupant," jammed the normal routine of delivery. Added to this vast stack of junk mail was 5,600 bags of parcel post and 9,600 bags of second class mail, newspapers and magazines. The first class mail was delivered promptly. So, the Chicago Postmaster said he had no alternative but to burn hundreds of tons of the junk mail, or as it is termed by postal workers, "by-pass mail."

The Post Office Department does allow local postmasters to hold third class deliveries until all other mail is cleared but in doing this, as the Chicago Postmaster found out, the junk mail just kept piling up until there was a lack of space for the clearance of regular mail. So, he asked Postmaster General O'Brien if he could clear his building of the clutter by destroying the junk mail and refunding the postal fees to the mailers. Permission was granted and Chicago is now receiving its first class mail on time once again.

Practically every resident almost daily experiences the nuisances of junk mail jammed into the mail slot or mail box and quickly tossed into the trash can. There apparently is nothing the individual can do about stopping this nuisance but at least in Chicago a way was found.

The Post Office has a proud slogan that boasts that "Neither snow, nor rain, nor heat, nor gloom of night stays these couriers from the swift completion of their appointed rounds." Perhaps these days it might be necessary to add, "Except when delayed by junk mail."

An Unpleasant Forecast

The Port of New York Authority has been looking into its crystal ball and we don't like what it sees. The Port predicts many changes for suburban New Jersey, including Summit, in a study of population in the Tri-State Area during the next twenty years and it all adds up to more people and less space.

The Port's 32-page study, "The Next Twenty Years," forecasts a 48 per cent growth for North Jersey which means the present population of 17.8 million residents will soar to 23.1 million during the next two decades.

Where will we put them? According to the Port study, the influx will be jammed into new apartments that will erase much of the open space we now cherish. New highways will open up new regions, such as Chester and Mendham. The flight to the suburbs can not be checked, the study maintains.

This does not necessarily mean that these new residents will be flocking from New York City. To the contrary, the Port study claims the exodus from the big cities will be reversed and New York City will attract far more people than it has been losing. The new suburbanites will be the result of higher birth rates and the availability of more jobs in suburban areas.

It is predicted that Monmouth County will experience the most rapid and greatest growth, followed by Morris, Somerset and Middlesex with Union, Essex and Bergen trailing behind, simply because they lack open lands.

But it also is pointed out that the one-family home characteristic of most suburban towns will change to apartment forests as space becomes more and more of a premium.

We feel that the Port Authority study is a sound one and that the predicted changes are inevitable. Already we can note signs of their beginnings. Take a drive around the countryside and spot the new housing developments and the new highway construction. There's bound to be more of the same in a comparatively short time.

But the impact of millions of more residents can be met by proper planning and the setting-up of local zoning guides, a move that is being done at this time in many communities, including ours. Old zoning codes are being revised, new planning studies are being made, and this is as it should be.

Zoning and planning, however, will not keep Summit as it is now. Such municipal steps have not kept Summit as it was 10, 15 or even 20 years ago. But they have met the growth of Summit and kept it in the right channels in the past and can probably do much of the same for the future.

If any one has any doubt about the need for proper long-range planning and zoning, let them read this new Port Authority study. We'll be glad to loan our copy.

Vanishing Halves

When's the last time you saw a half dollar? Chances are that it was some time ago because that coin is becoming famous for its disappearing act.

There has been research both by the Treasury Department and private organizations to learn what's become of the half dollar. Regrettably, no one so far has come up with an answer, only theories.

It is not true that the coin isn't being minted. Since March, 1964 more than 525 million Kennedy half dollars have been turned out but they remain just as scarce today as they were when they were first issued. And it isn't just the Kennedy half dollar that has vanished. Any half dollar has neared the point where it is becoming a museum piece.

One theory is that the missing halves are being hoarded by almost everyone in hopes that the day will arrive when the price of silver climbs to the point to assure a profit by melting down the coins and selling them as bar silver. There's a fly in that ointment. If some of those hoarded halves include coins of recent issue, the owner may find that he has been saving far more copper than silver. The silver content in coins has been reduced greatly.

The other theory for the "lost" coins is that collectors have been taking them off the market or out of circulation. There may be some truth to this premise but it can not be the whole answer. Why should one coin be singled out? Why isn't there a shortage of every other coin?

The silver half is a popular coin. It does away with the need of carrying a pocket full of smaller coins. It is convenient. In fact, it has everything to be said in its favor and little against.

Since there is little that can be done, we must bow to the inevitable. Eventually hoarders will have enough and the millions being spewed by the mint will again find their way into normal circulation.

Modern Fairy Tale

Editor, Summit Herald:
Your editorial response (October 20) to Robert Allen's campaign visit to Summit last week put me in mind of the following Fearsome Fairy Tale: "Once upon a time, not so very long ago, there lived a Little Old Witch on Bank street. She always wore Tennis Shoes and fancied herself the guardian of her town's Political Conscience. The Town Fathers and other Important People (otherwise known as the Establishment) listened faithfully to her, so she always told them what they wanted to hear. "One day a Handsome Prince came to town seeking the support of the citizens. The Little Old Witch would not listen to him, because she could not be seen with Those People. The Handsome Prince told the citizens Disquieting Things. The Little Old Witch learned of this from a friendly Dwarf, who was there. She did not dare tell the Establishment (who weren't there either) what the Prince really talked about, so instead she cried out, "He turned the sacred chairs around to alter the sacred Point of View. This proves he's not a Handsome Prince, after all, but a Frog!"

"Gross Recklessness"

Editor, Summit Herald:
I wonder if your readers fully appreciate, as yet, the extent to which the Democratic candidate in the 12th Congressional District has gone in his opposition to the Vietnam war. He has publicly stated he would vote against equipping American young men in Vietnam with the weapons they need to defend themselves. His views may be sincerely held, but they are an example of gross recklessness and irresponsibility.

I do not like the war in Vietnam and I share the hope of many - including Congressman Dwyer - that the Administration will take greater and more effective steps to bring the war to a peaceful conclusion. But Mr. Allen's position would expose Americans who are doing their duty to grave danger and would invite Communist domination over all Vietnam. I regret that Mr. Allen has not learned the lesson that tyranny

In all its forms must be opposed. Sam Levenstein

Editorial Was Absurd
Editor, Summit Herald:
The best that can be said about your editorial concerning Dr. Robert F. Allen's meeting with voters of Summit on October 16 is that it was absurd. What is particularly reprehensible is the Herald's plunge into yellow journalism and guilt by innuendo. A collection of people (including ourselves seeking to inform and involve themselves in community affairs by exercising their prerogative to hear a candidate for Congress were condemned according to your peculiar brand of reasoning by the fact that they sat in seats which had been turned around (for convenience sake,) thereby unwittingly placing their backs

No disrespect was meant by arranging such a seating pattern; as no disrespect was intended when the group in that pattern sang The Star Spangled Banner, nor when they listened to the clergy's invocation. Indeed, the only potential disrespect to American freedom would seem to be the Herald's smear tactics. A sense of fairness is expected from the Herald's editorial comment, but at least a policy which renounces sensational and gutter journalism should be evident.

Editorial Nit-Picking
Editor, Summit Herald:
Although I was not a party to the seating arrangements referred to in your editorial of October 20, it seemed to me that their purpose was to create a more intimate atmosphere between Dr. Robert L. Allen and his audience.

I certainly respect your right to make fair political comments based on your own interpretation of Dr. Allen's remarks; however, to impugn the patriotism of a man like Dr.

Allen because of an error in the location of the American flag with relation to the audience, was a vicious and offensive (not to say stupid) bit of editorial nit-picking. I am personally insulted (as well as may have been many of the members of the audience, among whom were some prominent Summit Republicans) to think that my character depends on my observation of the location of the American flag in a particular meeting room. I served for two years as an officer in a branch of the U.S. Army Intelligence, and apparently the Department of Defense found my character well considered; therefore I cannot be silent when it is criticized by the editor of a fribbling weekly newspaper.

Voting for Williams
Editor, Summit Herald:
This week's editorial, "Is This a Prudent Man?" relative to Mr. Ronald Williams was a shocking surprise to Mrs. Bryan and I since we have always felt in the nine years we have lived in Summit that The Summit Herald was a very honest, fair and impartial newspaper.

His ideas and plans for Summit as he expressed them were contrary to those you developed in your editorial and many other plans he has with particular reference to City Council meetings being better attended by the citizens were not even mentioned by your editorial. In reference to some of your statements as follows:
1 — Additional firehouse. Mr. Williams has visited other New Jersey towns our size and found that two firehouses were valuable and efficient.
2 — Police Department. We agree that more police are needed for foot patrols. Many women we know dare not walk a few blocks to the movies at night.
3 — Schools. Summit's population is changing. Older homes due to transfers are taken over by young people with children. Mr. Williams believes in functional but not extravagant the downfall of the Republican schools.

In conclusion we suggest that you invite Mr. Williams to your office to see what a fine and capable young man he is. We will vote for him.

Dr. Allen Replies
Editor, Summit Herald:
In an editorial published in the October 20 edition of the Summit Herald you have deliberately smeared my candidacy for Congress as well as my qualifications as "an American" all on the flimsy pretext that I, Bob Allen, personally "had the seats in the Council chambers reversed, so the audience would not be facing the American flag," at a meeting which I addressed in Summit on October 16.

Your statement is so patently false and so obviously designed to help the campaign of my Republican opponent that it is hardly worth answering. However, in view of the slur on the many fine people from Summit who attended the meeting, I feel I should set the record straight:
1. I arrived at the meeting one-half hour after it had gotten underway and, of course, had nothing whatsoever to do with the seating plan.
2. I have learned that before the meeting started the audience faced the flag and sang the National Anthem, a fact that your biased editorial and news story conveniently overlooked.
3. I have found out that the chairs were rearranged only for space considerations and not for the wild reasons which you have invented.
4. As a former U.S. Marine Corps Sergeant I have the greatest love and respect for the American flag, although I despise those who wave it for political gain.
I charge that your editorial is part and parcel of the type of extremism which has been construed to be an attack against the Summit Civic Foundation.

I think you will do your readers a great service if you will allow this explanation to be printed at the earliest possible time.

Explains Statement
Editor, Summit Herald:
While I uphold your right to attack a political candidate, I believe your paper has a duty to report with as much accuracy as possible the statements of others. I refer to your editorial entitled, "An Affront to Summit."
The article states that the "Allen rally produced an attack against the Summit Civic Foundation housing development on Dennis Place when it charged that new housing did nothing for the families forced to move from the condemned and very sub-standard Weaver Arms building replaced by the Dennis Place homes."

I must take exception to the foregoing statement because, as a member of NAACP I spoke on the subject of the problems facing Negroes in Summit and alluded to Weaver Arms. What I said was that the Mayor and Council should, among other things, set up an agency to deal with the relocation of families who are asked to leave because their homes are condemned.
I stated that I considered this to be a matter of great importance because of the hardships rendered when the Weaver Arms apartment was condemned and the tenants summarily ejected. A total of three years elapsed between the closing of the 'Arms' and the building of Dennis Place.
Meanwhile it is a fact that none of the tenants who were ousted from Weaver Arms are presently living in Dennis Place. Therefore the need for an agency such as I proposed is readily apparent. I can not understand how this can be raised a question about the such a plan. I certainly hope this will set the record straight.

What Williams Proposes
Editor, Summit Herald:

As a lifetime Republican interested in a better Summit, I am surprised to read that both the Summit Herald and the present administration feel that everything is fine and the election of Mr. Williams will spell disaster to Summit. Is it the one vote in seven that is feared, or is it the concern over the enlightenment of Summit promised by Williams through periodic reports, if elected?

Mr. Williams does not pretend to have all the answers, but has shown an interest in studying the problems and seeking the best answers. He proposes to utilize the experiences of other towns and the talents of Summit's residents. Summit is blessed with many people having special talents such as personnel, purchasing, insurance, consultants, accountants, etc. which Williams proposes to use.

Neither the City Council nor the Summit Herald has publicly recognized Williams' suggestion to reduce the reserve for uncollected taxes. This suggestion has already saved the Summit tax payers about $200,000.

Failure of either the Summit Herald or Mr. Williams' opponent to recognize the merits of having unassigned teachers in the grammar schools points out the negative thinking of both. A reduction in the pupil failure rate can effectively reduce classroom needs - a per cent failure rate can increase classroom needs by two.

Special teachers will permit a greater percentage of children to reach their full potential. In this highly competitive world, we need to harvest the maximum potentials of all. This concept is already employed by the renowned school system of Scarsdale and by neighboring Berkeley Heights.

With regard to the fire hours, all Mr. Williams has said is that prior to the Council adding more investment to the existing fire house, consideration should be given to a substation. As we are all aware, traffic congestion is on the increase. There are only six points where the railroad can be crossed in Summit (four in the highly congested downtown area). The first five minutes of a fire are the most critical. These points should all be considered before an decision is made.

Mr. Williams is aware of the future garbage disposal problem and has pointed out that the use of Morris County dumping grounds may not be a solution. As an alternate, he proposes consideration be given to a joint Union County garbage disposal plant. At a time when pollution and beautification of America are prime concern to all, the Council is pursuing an approach that is contrary to the public demands.

I recognize that Summit's police force has done an outstanding job. However, Mr. Williams' suggestion to add three to four men to permit a two man patrol car in the late evening hours, appears to be a worthy suggestion. This will permit a pair of eyes to look for trouble while the patrol car is safely driven through town.

In closing, I feel that the people of Summit should have the right to fairly select a council member. In this regard, I wish to thank you for the opportunity to express my views even though they are contrary to your, the owner and publisher.

C. B. Herman
32 Tanglewood Drive.

Re-elect the Incumbents
Editor, Summit Herald:

As a person who has had many years of experience and close association with municipal and county government my great concern has been the unbudgeted spending and waste which has sent our taxes soaring. I am sure taxes are the first and primary concern of all citizens.

It therefore is refreshing to me that my native City of Summit has thru good and efficient government blossomed into one of the most desirable communities in the State. This did not happen by accident but by efficient municipal government rendering to the citizens fair value for dollars spent.

Summit historically has supported a school system which is the envy of many communities, without over-burdening the taxpayers. In addition to good schools, the record shows that the City of Summit has provided a higher level of municipal services than most communities of its size.

For these reasons may I urge all citizens interested in the efficient, good government we enjoy in Summit to vote for the re-election of Councilmen Frank Lehr, Tony Raticek and Bob Stafford. They merit your support.

Disavows Dr. Allen
Editor, Summit Herald:

I don't know Dr. Robert F. Allen, but it seems, in light of recent happenings, that I'm getting to know him, whether I like it or not!

My first knowledge of Dr. Allen came through a recent phone call made to me by a person introducing himself as Dr. Allen's campaign manager. The caller said that Dr. Allen had had several threatening anonymous phone calls relative to the proposed meeting to be held in Summit. The caller went on to say that, knowing of my reputation as an 'influential' person in certain circles supposedly referring to Conservatism, he was calling to ask if I perhaps knew who had made the threatening phone calls, and that if I did, would I exert my influence to see that they were stopped.

He went on to mention a group calling themselves the TACT (Truth About Civil Turmoil Committee). I replied that, if anyone truly representing the TACT Committee had called, he would have fully identified himself before making any suggestions or criticisms. I also said that the tactic of anonymous threats is in fact used by the left wing to discredit its opposition.

My first impression of Dr. Allen, as a result of this confrontation, is that here is a man who employs a campaign manager who is ready, willing and able to incriminate Conservatives - no matter what the facts may be.

My second impression comes as a result of the actual meeting held by this man in the Council chambers on October 16, as reported by the editor of the Summit Herald. As stated in the editorial, the chairs in the council chambers were reversed so that the audience had its back to the American flag. During the meeting many wild charges were made about Summit schools and other groups in Summit.

Elsewhere in the same issue of the Herald it was reported that "Allen spoke before a group of about thirty persons ... at a meeting which included music and protest songs and clasped hand unison singing of 'We Shall Overcome', an anthem of the civil rights movement." I would like to point out that the song 'We Shall Overcome' is identified with much more than the so-called 'Civil Rights' movement in the U.S. It is the battle cry of the Communist revolutionists who are fomenting anarchy, riots and revolt in country after country.

In Chile, Venezuela, in Cuba - from the lips of Castro and his followers, and more recently during the Communist-inspired and-led strike among the grape pickers in Delano, California, the cry was "Venceremos" which is "We Shall Overcome" in Spanish!

I have a distinct feeling from all of this that Dr. Allen prefers to be identified with the Left Wing rather than with Conservatives. I would like Dr. Allen to know that I am glad he recognizes the fact that there are such people as Conservatives. I wish, however, that he would not impute to these loyal Americans the gutter tactics that are so common among members of the Left Wing.

When I make phone calls or write letters, I am only too happy to identify myself, and I am certain this is true of the majority of Conservatives.

I would invite Dr. Allen, his campaign manager, and any of the 30-odd people that attended the meeting in Summit on the 16th to learn the truth about the infiltration and the use being made of the legitimate civil rights movement in this country by the Communists. I will be glad to arrange a showing of the well-documented film 'Anarchy-USA' to suit anyone's convenience, as well as provide written material.

Dr. F. G. Ruhl

Defends Williams
Editor, Summit Herald:

The Summit Herald's editorial of October 20 states that Ronald Williams' proposal for a firehouse substation was a use of less waste of money but Mr. Williams' views at a recent coffee meeting, suggest instead of spending the proposed $300,000 for an expansion to the existing central firehouse, the "alternative solution of a substation should be built, but that the idea should be intelligently considered."

The Herald editorial chastised Mr. Williams for not considering problems in Summit other than schools or firehouses, which are attractive to the voters, and therefore brought up the topic of the replacement of Summit's dump and garbage disposal facilities. The editors should seek out Mr. Williams' ideas. Mr. Williams idea is a county-wide garbage incinerator for use by more than one community as is presently being investigated by Bergen County.

Someone didn't do their homework. Mr. Williams did. The Herald criticized Mr. Williams for proposing an increase in the size of the Police Force since the size of our population is not expanding too greatly, why increase our police protection. The Herald merely overlooked the rapid rate of increase of crime and delinquency in Summit, or is this something 'Anarchy-USA' to suit anyone's might hurt Summit's puritan nations top economists made the same mistake; but he is willing to act, to move, to investigate, to talk, to seek ideas, to stir up thinking people. All I have seen from Frank Lehr, his opponent is that he will let his record speak for itself, but he neglects to itemize his own personal record, not that of the Council as a whole; he refused

Mr. Williams is not proposing spending tax dollars just for the sake of spending. He is proposing getting Summit into shape, in a timely fashion, in the most sensible way. All growth costs money, and I am sure that, shown the need, the Taxpayers will contribute their share without too much complaining, after all they are the beneficiaries.

Mr. Williams may be inexperienced in political life, and he may make mistakes, like his prediction of the movement of interest rates (but many of the

TODAY'S INVESTOR

BY THOMAS E. O'HARA
Chairman, Board of Trustees
National Association of Investment Clubs

Q. Your column makes investing seem easy, but I've shied away from visiting a broker because it sounds as if there would be a lot of red tape and technicalities involved.

A. If you ever opened a charge account at a department store, you are in for a surprise when you get around to visiting a stock broker: opening an account with him will be very much the same, and maybe even simpler. Most brokerage houses have the same requirements. You must be at least 21. You must supply your name, address, business association if any, a credit reference (Usually a bank, and your social security number.

Subsequently, you simply call him, place your buy or sell order and that's that. The complexities of the stock market lie more in arriving at a decision as to what stock to buy or sell, and when.

O. I am a reasonably small investor and I want to know how I get meaningful information on the management of firms in which I might invest. When I ask my broker about a firm, he says, "Oh the management of that company is conscientious and dedicated to making money for the stockholders." I want something more.

A. And right you are in demanding to know more than generalities about a corporation's top management before you invest with it!

We all recognize that judging management is important. We might think we need to meet and talk personally with the corporation brass, but this isn't the best way at all. Actually, a personal interview, besides being out of the question for all of us (when would management have time to run the firm?) also could confuse or mislead us. We might, for example, be taken with the charming personality of a corporation president who was inept as a manager, while a particularly good chief executive might turn us away from a good investment by his brusque manner.

In addition, there is the fact that not many small investors know what questions to ask in order to learn the most about a firm. There is, however, a way open to all of us to put top management of any corporation under the financial microscope. There are figures available to all of us which represent the record, management has established and these figures make it possible for each of us to get a good idea of management's ability and aggressiveness. Here is how the National Association of Investment Clubs suggests that its member clubs arrive at a decision as to whether management is the kind to interest us to invest in a particular corporation:

1. Check the rate of sales growth for the last five to ten years! Does the management have a record of increasing sales at a rate faster than the economy is growing and faster than his competitors.

2. Check the rate of increase of earnings per share. This will tell you whether management is controlling the cost of its increased sales and production so as to show a profit for the shareholders. And whether earnings growth is keeping in line with sales growth.

3. Check the percentage earned on sales, and the pre-tax profit margin and compare this with the company's competitors.

4. Check the firm's earnings on invested capital. This is related to No. 3 and will show if management is using the corporation's assets properly. Your study should be based on a 5 to 10 year period.

Have you a question about your own or your club's investment program? Mr. O'Hara, National Association of Investment Clubs, Dept. S, Box 1056, Detroit, Michigan 48231, enclosing a stamped self-addressed envelope.

to consider education as a topic of discussion, but it surely is; and he and his Republican friends are merely chasing after Mr. Williams trying to tone him down. I, for one, should like to read Mr. Lehr's ideas for the future, not the past.
I think the Republican establishment is scared that an outsider might get in. They are ridiculing Mr. Williams, but not one of them has offered any new or better ideas. Why should they, they're resting on their laurels.

Mr. Williams, not necessarily the person, but the cause, should, win or lose, continue his campaign long after the elections are over. The other ward in town, my ward, is still closed to outsiders. Maybe someday the two wards will be broken up into four, six, or eight wards. This would certainly move things around a bit. We might even get a community swimming pool.

No Doubts on Flo
Editor, Summit Herald:
Congressman Florence Dwyer's opponent claims to be a candidate with a "conscience" who will bring a new and fresh look to Congress.
I resent the implication. For 17 years in Trenton and in Washington, Mrs. Dwyer's conscience has been a 24 hour a day call to public duty. It's the kind of thing "The New York Times" referred to when it quoted an observer as saying of Flo Dwyer, "she has the highest standards of personal integrity I've ever seen."
For instance, Mrs. Dwyer was the only member of the New Jersey delegation to vote against and other congressmen. Flo Dwyer was the one who started, and followed through, the investigation of the corrupt activities of Billie Sol Estes in Texas, which landed him in jail.

It was Flo Dwyer's strong and consistent support for an effective code of ethics for Congress and a requirement that Congressmen disclose their incomes and business interest that led a New Jersey newspaper to praise her editorially and point out that any action to improve ethical standards in Congress will be due to the fact that the Flo Dwyers don't give up.

Life magazine's September 23 editorial about Mrs. Dwyer is another case in point. In a rare and remarkable tribute, Life credited Flo Dwyer with single-handedly blocking an attempted raid on the Treasury that could cost $750 million in unjustified, damaging subsidies.
For Flo Dwyer, "conscience" is not just a campaign slogan. It's the day-to-day fight to bring integrity into government, to assure fair play to all, to guarantee that laws are equitable and effective and properly enforced.

That is what her constituents like and respect in Flo Dwyer. To keep Mrs. Dwyer serving us with her conscience, her courage, and her conviction, we ask that you vote for her on November 8.

Reader Is Puzzled
Editor, Summit Herald:
Readers of The Summit Herald must be puzzled by a curious contradiction when they read in a news item how the Anti-Defamation League publicizes a talk it is sponsoring by defaming another organization in its announcement. (See "Birchism - Polarizing the Haters" - October 20 issue of the Herald).
This name-calling technique (The Haters) makes one wonder (1) why the Anti-Defamation League uses the prefix "Anti" in its title; (2) is there a double meaning of the verb "defame;" and (3) why does the ADL seek to malign an organization whose well known purpose is to fight communism?

Old Math vs. New Math
Editor, Summit Herald:
The hero of your editorial, "The Not So New Math", insisted in 1758 that "When speculation has done it's worst, two and two still make four."
Those who depend on Dr. Samuel Johnson's old math might find themselves paying 20 cents for 15 cents worth of electricity. His ideas about roots and originals are about the same as considering "Four" the basic number of the world's winds.
An Electrical Catechism printed 1908 states, "Ordinarily, 10 and 10 equal 20. In the case of a two-phase line 10 and 10 can equal 14 and 14 one hundredths." It all depends on which direction you are looking!

YMCA Signs Up 25 New Staff Volunteers

The YMCA has named 25 adults to its part-time staff to serve as program aides for the 1966-67 season. There are also 150 volunteer leaders who take an active role in YMCA programs such as boys' clubs, swim and lifesaving classes, and special skills training classes.

Assisting Howard Merrick, youth director, is Thomas Newell of North Plainfield, a teacher in the New Providence school system. He is providing leadership for the fifth and sixth grade boys' Pathfinder and Voyageur clubs, as are Robert Pinhero and William Rork of Summit and Raymond McCann of New Providence for Junior Hi-Y and Hi-Y clubs. Teaching skills classes are William Calnan, archery; Richard Vitthum, nature science and tumbling; Toby Stevens, scrapwood fun; Robert Sellers, copper craft; William Symons, woodworking, all from Summit. James Gardner of Berkeley Heights is instructing in ping-pong and Thomas Stoddard of South River, riflery.

Assisting Louis T. Choquette, physical director, is Peter Yantotta of Berkeley Heights who is assistant physical director and advisor of the Junior Leaders' Club. Mrs. William Reed is teaching women's gymnastics; Mrs. Grant Lavery, girls' swimming; Mrs. Gerald Vush, judo;

Mrs. William Robey, girls' gym; Robert Pinhero, boys' basketball, all of Summit.
From New Providence are Mrs. Joseph Caporaso, women's and girls' swim instructor; Mrs. Albert Goedde, women's swim teacher; and Elwood Talbot, divine coach. Henry Buntin of Middlesex Borough is coach of the boys' and girls' swim teams. Life guards include John Brady, Paul Paytas and Miss Leslie Robison of Summit. Jack Russell of Chatham and Miss Ruth van de Sande through nine.

Allan R. Devenney, General Secretary, stressed the fact that the YMCA would not have its programs for the community if it were not for its part time aides and its volunteers to augment the work of the three professional Y secretaries. In addition, over 100 more local people serve on committees, or as trustees or directors.

He invited more people to participate in YMCA leadership and stated that one of the immediate needs is for men who can provide leadership for Junior Hi-Y and Hi-Y groups. Until leadership is found, no additional clubs can be formed. Interested persons are urged to contact the Y secretaries, 273-3330.

Area Mayors Give Boost To UN Week

In recognition of the nation-wide observance of United Nations Day Monday, the mayors of Summit, New Providence and Berkeley Heights appointed three local women to serve on a joint United Nations Committee.

Mayor David E. Trucksess of Summit selected Mrs. Frederick Whitney, while Mrs. Fay Longacre of New Providence was appointed by Mayor Francis Farley, and Mrs. Sheldon Sprague was chosen by Mayor David Dally of Berkeley Heights.

To promote understanding of the work and the purposes of the United Nations, the public affairs committee of the YWCA and the League of Women Voters of the three towns have jointly sponsored the committee. Information about the UN, its structures, members and agencies may be obtained at a booth set up at the YWCA this week.

In addition, UNICEF Christmas cards, in a choice of 13 different designs may be bought at the booth and will be available at the YWCA from now until Christmas. Profits from these moderately-priced cards go directly to the United Nations Children's Fund.

Working with the UN Committee are YWCA members Mrs. John Stochaj of Berkeley Heights, Mrs. William Houpl, Mrs. David McGregor, Mrs. Russell Walker, all of Summit; and Mrs. George Schindler of Murray Hill. League of Women Voters members working on the Committee are Mrs. William West of Berkeley Heights, and Mrs. Rowland Kelly and Mrs. Alexander Stark of Summit.

Fourth Graders Set Up Class Weather Bureau

Hurricanes beware, when the barometer starts to fall in the fourth grade weather station at Washington School. Mrs. Margaret Thurler's class will be able to record any sudden changes in the weather by using the instruments installed outside its classroom window.

Mrs. Thurler enlisted the carpentry skills of a neighbor, Thomas Coffey, who, with the help of a photograph, constructed a wooden, louvered box, open on the side which faces the classroom window. Inside is a thermometer and a barometer. Atop the box is a weathervane and directional signs to show the points of the compass, also made by Mr. Coffey.

Philip Carlson, a member of the class, asked his father, Charles Carlson, to construct an anemometer for the weather station, so that the students could measure the speed of the wind. Using a skateboard wheel to make it free spinning, Mr. Carlson fashioned metal cups and welded them on to copper tubing.

Steven Merrick and David Rosen then wrote a news article for the Washington School PTA newsletter, describing the weather station.

Dance for Cirelli

Postmaster Robert M. Dunsmore announced this week that soon carriers will be delivering to all homes a "no postage needed" card which has blank spaces for the writing of addresses used most often but for which individuals do not know the proper ZIP code.

For instance, if you write a weekly letter to Uncle Ben in Houston, Texas, but do not know Uncle Ben's Zip code, then simply write his address on the card that will be delivered to your home and it will be returned.

to see it, mainly because of constant interruptions to show us new automobiles, but even the interruptions did not destroy what has to be the best film that Mr. Lean yet has made.

The "Bridge over the River Kwai" deals with the destructiveness of the human being at war (on others and himself). The British commander (Alec Guinness) is compelled by his own code and interest in discipline to aid the enemy as a prisoner of war in the construction of a railroad bridge. His counterpart (Sessue Hayakawa), a Japanese general, a basically decent man, is brutal under the compulsion of his orders and the Eastern concept of saving face. The pawns in this struggle are the countries inhabitants, the ordinary soldiers under Mr. Guinness' command, and a handful of rangers (including William Holden and J. Hawkins) who try to undo what is being done. As Mr. Lean states clearly and emphatically at the end of "Bridge over the River Kwai" the death of thousands, the loss of touch with the human condition and what should be the goals of life is "madness, sheer madness".

Wars to make or unmake military points, wars to save face or to adopt particular posture, military action to uphold discipline, the taking of lives and destruction of cultures for "general principles" is insane. This most assuredly is what the "Bridge over the River Kwai" is telling us.

The "Bridge over the River Kwai" is perhaps the most successful large scale anti-war, morality film ever made. There are, however, a few sacrifices to popular appeal included in this splendid motion picture which in retrospect certainly were unnecessary. I refer, for example, to the instant bravado of the British general upon being removed from torture (his unbelievable ability to down scotch after suffering days of barbaric inhumanity, not to mention lack of food). I refer also to the ridiculous inclusion of a rather lewd Japanese general's hut. What possible significance this can have except to cheapen a finely drawn presentation of an Eastern man is beyond me. These faults, as I said earlier are few and, fortunately, do not mar what Mr. Lean is getting at or how he goes about it.

The essential quality of "Bridge over the River Kwai" is its timelessness. Made about World War 2 ten years thereafter, it seems to apply perfectly to the world of today. I believe that, probably without realizing it, the sponsor of this memorable television evening, the Ford Motor Company, has made a statement about Viet-Nam. It is up to the viewers to draw the parallels. I certainly believe they are there, as they will be, I feel, recurrently in other situations through my lifetime, my children's and their children's.

Perhaps, and I offer no panacea, the answer lies in the strength of our individual interrelationships instead of the acquisition of riches and power, as suggested by Mr. Lean in the moments of the "Bridge over the River Kwai" in which the soldiers form a non-verbal but real link of understanding with their native (Burmese) female guides.

I can only feel despondent when I think about the world about which the "Bridge over the River Kwai" was made and the world of today. No amount of puffing or patriotic back-slapping has been able to alter my conclusions.

Grass sledding is an unusual, but popular, sport in the Hawaiian Islands. For sliding down mountain slopes covered with thick, slippery grass, the islanders use sleds made by tying together the long, slick leaves of the ti palm. These grass sleds are called holuas,

New Non-Stick Coatings Need Tender Care

By Mabel G. Stolte
County Home Economist

Today non-stick finishes are available on a vast assortment of housewares. Pots, pans and utensils, most of them aluminum and a few steel, enamelware, glass and ceramic now are available in a rainbow of colors.

Non-stick coatings are also used on removable oven panels, coffeemakers, irons, can openers and waffle bakers. "Changing Times" researchers say there are more items to come. Non-stick lawn mowers and snow shovels are two items on the way!

Is the finish worth the extra cost? You may pay up to $5 for the nonstick coating. Whether it is worth the difference depends upon how you rate the benefit of nonstick cooking and no-scrubbing compared to the special care and handling involved.

DuPont scientists accidentally discovered this finish in 1938 and they remain the chief domestic supplier. "Teflon" is DuPont's trademark.

Care is important: Teflon does scratch. Nonstickness does decrease and Teflon can stain if it is not properly cared for. Burned food does come off easily but you should apply only low (200°F.) to medium heat (450°F.) when cooking food. High heat slowly degrades the finish. That is why it should not be used in a broiler or placed under a direct flame. Heavy gauge cookware is also best.

Grease may bake on to overheated cookware. Grease builds up over a period of time and may impair the qualities of the "Teflon". It also causes unsightly staining.

Improper cleaning can cause staining and scratching. A detergent, plastic mesh pad or cellulose sponge is best. Never use steel wool, metal pads or scouring powder.

Minor stains may be removed from light color items. Use 2 tablespoons of baking soda with a half cup of liquid household bleach and a cup of water. Pour the mixture into the stained utensil. Boil 5 to 10 minutes — no longer. Wash thoroughly, rinse and dry. Pre-season before using the utensil again by wiping with salad oil. Beware! This treatment will lighten dark colors. If it boils over it will stain the outside.

You may buy a commercial stain remover. Commercial stain removers for Teflon will not stain metal but, if used extensively, they may cause blistering.

Non-scratch, non-stick surfaces are now being developed. Harder finishes have greater resistance to scratching. Cookware bearing labels such as Boeclad, Golorcast, Discoflon, Perma-Loc, T-Fal, Tri-clad, Tri-Point, Trifram, are coming onto the market. Special rubber-covered or wooden kitchen tools are not as important for these utensils. If you must cut down into nonstick coated pan do use a dull-edged table knife or a plastic one to avoid gashing the surface.

Buying Boots Not as Easy As It Seems

By Carolyn F. Yuknus
County Home Economist

Although boots have been the fashion rage for several years, everyday usage is now popular for the average woman.

Whether they be boots to complete the outfit with a short, short skirt, boots to wear over other shoes, or boots for bad weather, it is important to know what to look for when buying boots.

You can select from a variety of boots made of leather, rubber or plastic, or other man-made materials. And they are made to wear with or without other shoes.

Styles also include varying heights. Some are ankle-length, others are knee high and even above-the-knee. Some are lined with napped fabrics or even fur, and some have a regular leather lining.

Boots are available with flat, wedged, stacked, or high heels. And there are laces, zippers, elastic inserts or straps for closures, as well as color in many shades of the rainbow in addition to the basic black or brown.

In looking around you may be able to decide which general type of boot you want. That is whether you want the type which will fit over regular hose, over heavy socks or over other shoes.

When you go to buy, come prepared with the necessary shoes or socks to help determine the fit of your final choice.

Try on both boots, for as with shoes, your feet are usually different sizes. The best solution is to fit the larger foot and use an extra inner-sole in the smaller one.

If you are in the market for bad weatherboots, know the difference between water repellent and water proof. Water repellent will keep your feet dry in damp weather, but water proof will let you wade through a down pour.

For boots worn over other shoes, check for reinforced heels. Otherwise the heel of the shoes will wear through the boot heel almost immediately.

Examine the inside construction of both boots for smoothness without extra bulk or roughness.

Look at the back seams of both boots to make certain they are straight and placed evenly at the center back.

Thursday, Oct. 27, 1966

Check for the care required to keep your new boots in working condition; if they are made of leather they will require saddle soap and boot polish; or if man-made materials are used, how do you keep them clean and new looking?

The brain grows until about the 20th year in the average male but stops slightly sooner in the average female. From then on, it diminishes gradually in size, according to the Encyclopaedia Britannica.

An estimated 600 of the more than 1,200 stringed instruments made by Antonio Stradivari and his two sons between 1666 and 1737, at Cremona, Italy, are extant today.

Banker Sees Mortgage Thaw After January

"While the immediate outlook is bleak, I am optimistic that mortgage money will be somewhat easier to get after January 1," said Robert E. Scott, president of R. E. Scott mortgage company, Elizabeth, before the joint mortgage lending conference sponsored by the New Jersey Bankers Association and the Mortgage Bankers Association of New Jersey at Cherry Hill Inn, last Friday.

Speaking before nearly 300 bankers and mortgage men, Scott declared that competition from other forms of investment yielding higher returns, has hurt the mortgage business. He also pointed out that most life insurance companies with money to lend are temporarily interested only in loans to corporate borrowers at 6 1/2 to 7 percent, or to individuals at 7 to 7 1/2 percent in states outside of New Jersey having higher legal interest ceilings.

"Most mortgage companies have been playing it very close to their vests," he said. "They've been working off their inventories, getting into a more liquid position, and cutting down on expenses."

Nevertheless, Mr. Scott declared that the new 6 percent rate on FHA and VA loans has cut discounts by 1 and 2 points, and made them more attractive to investors.

Shoemer Regional Standout

Berkeley Heights — Sophomore Glen Shoemer scored a goal in each game last week as Governor Livingston Regional High School's soccer team enjoyed its most successful week of the season.

Coach Reiss Hunchars Highlanders blanked Hillside, 2-0 in a Watchung Conference game and then played Kenilworth Regional to a 1-1 tie.

The Highlanders have a 2-5-3 record for the season. Shoemer scored in the first period against Hillside. The Highlander protected the lead until the final quarter when Mike Dayton scored an insurance goal.

Shoemer scored in the second period against Kenilworth to give Governor Livingston a 1-0 lead. Kenilworth tied the score five minutes later.

World Community Day Is November 4

New Providence — "Laity: Rights, Resources, Responsibilities" is the theme of World Community Day, Friday, November 4, which will be observed by the women's department of the Tri-Community Council of Churches of New Providence, Murray Hill, Berkeley Heights and Warren Township.

At noon, a service of worship will be held in the Presbyterian Church at New Providence. This will be followed at 12:30 p.m. by a covered-dish luncheon in the parish hall of the church.

Representatives of the seven member churches of the Council who will participate in the service and serve on the committee are Mrs. Melvin H. Lundeen and Mrs. Vernon Larson, Faith Lutheran; Mrs. Bernard F. Keppeler and Mrs. Arnold Hof, Diamond Hill Methodist; Mrs. Frank J. Saxton and Mrs. Irving Weed, Westminster Presbyterian; Mrs. James Jump and Mrs. Leonard C. Blessing, New Providence Methodist; Mrs. W. Blon Moore and Mrs. J. R. Gade, St. Andrews; Mrs. Dewey Dykes and Mrs. Richard McMane, Union Village Methodist; Mrs. Robert J. Woerner and Mrs. John L. Mathers, New Providence Presbyterian. Mrs. A. Laighton Seaver, Jr. is Chairman of the Women's Department of the Council.

The organist at the service will be Mrs. William Ward and the soloist will be Mrs. Walter R. Tennyson. The Rev. Gerald S. Mills, minister of the host church, will pronounce the benediction.

Guest Speaker

Following the luncheon Rev. Robert B. Sheldon, minister of Westminster Presbyterian Church, Berkeley Heights, and advisor to the women's department, will introduce Rev. Manuel Rodriguez, assistant minister of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian Church in Plainfield, who will speak on "Our Responsibilities and Relationship to Cuban Christmas." Mr. Rodriguez was born in Calabar, a port on the northern coast of Cuba, where he attended the Presbyterian Day School. There he joined the church and became interested in the ministry. He had his high school training at "La Progressive," the largest Presbyterian Mission School in Cuba (now seized by the government) and came to the United States to attend Warren Wilson Junior College in Swannanoa, N.C.

When the Methodist, Episcopal and Presbyterian Churches started the United Seminary in Matanzas, Cuba, Mr. Rodriguez returned to Cuba for his seminary training.

To help the women of Asia, Far East and South Africa, local church women are making personal hygiene kits, and filling them with basic necessities such as soap, face cloth and hand towel, toothbrush, toothpaste and comb. Sarongs and simple blouses for women are being made. Cotton piece goods, yarn, blankets and towels are being collected.

The offering on World Community Day will make possible two major projects: a new program in family planning and responsible parenthood, to be started by United Church Women, through Church World Service, in India and West Pakistan; and a new center for the training of women in the highlands of New Guinea in the South Pacific. United Church Women will build the center and the Australian Trusteeship Administration will staff and equip it. Then United Church Women will provide scholarships to bring women to the center.

During the service and luncheon a nursery will be provided for young children who have been fed at home beforehand. Each person is asked to bring a covered-dish or salad.

Come in and drive a Pussycat wild.

Believe it or not, our Volkswagen Karmann Ghia has a lot in common with expensive sports cars.

(We named it the Pussycat to attract attention, not little old ladies.)

To start with it has a stick shift with four forward gears. And to slow down you can down-shift, just like a race car driver. And to stop in your tracks, the front of every Pussycat now comes equipped with disc brakes.

Also (like on many racers), each wheel has its own torsion bar suspension system. So if you're rounding a curve, or cruising along at 82 mph, a bump bumps only one wheel while the rest of the car sticks to the road.

Of course, if you'd rather not stick to the road, you can drive off with less chance of getting stuck, because a VW engine is in the rear. It bears down on the rear wheels, giving them extra traction in mud and snow.

A lot of people buy our Pussycat strictly for its looks.

Later they find out that it's more car than they bargained for.

Caldwell High Runners Explode on Summit

Injuries Hamper

Summit — Caldwell High's offense, though seriously hampered by injuries to its two star running backs, was at times spectacularly successful. The Hilltoppers could not move much on the ground as tailback Nick Caputo was forced to sit out the game and fullback Les Wilkerson was seriously injured on a first-period kickoff return and was carried off the field on a stretcher.

Jim Moore's passing was off in the first quarter but picked up later in the game. He threw two touchdown passes to wingback Rick Lang. Lang played his best game, catching five passes for 81 yards; throwing a 37-yard option pass, and making a fine open-field tackle on Nager to prevent a first-half touchdown.

Caldwell scored early in the first quarter, the second time it had the ball. On a first down play, Moore hit Lang, who was Swanson again went outside for a 46-yard run and the score. Fred Melillo booted his kick. The kick was missed but Caldwell's defense held the Summit runners to the goal for seventh straight conversion of well led 26-13.

a 65-yard touchdown. Len Charpentier converted to make the score 7-0.

A pass interception by Nager on Summit's 25-yard line set up the Chief's second score midway through the second period. Four plays later, fullback Dan Kifer plunged through the line for a five-yard score. Charpentier missed the extra point.

Summit returned the ensuing kickoff to its 25 and marched to the Caldwell 18, where a Moore-to-Lang pass was intercepted by Bob Mallinak on Caldwell's 3-yard line. The key plays in the drive were a pass-interference penalty and two Summit surprises involving second-string quarterback John Spangler — a halfback pass from Spangler-to-Lang for eight yards and a fourth-down pass from punter Tom Specht to Spangler, who ran 24 yards.

Poor Punt

After holding Caldwell for downs, Summit took over on interception, this time on his own the Chiefs' 21-yard line after a poor punt. On Summit's second Nager sprinted for 25, and then play, Moore hit Lang, who was Swanson again went outside for a 46-yard run and the score. Fred Melillo booted his kick. The kick was missed but Caldwell's defense held the Summit runners to the goal for seventh straight conversion of well led 26-13.

the year and Summit trailed 13-7.

Summit tied the score early in the third quarter and looked to be in a good position, but Caldwell came right back to virtually wrap up the game. Summit's score came after Caldwell punted to its 46. Runs by John Marcelliano and "Skip" Schroeder and a Moore-to-Lang completion lacked one yard for the first down. On fourth down, and one Moore faked a handoff to Schroeder and passed to Lang in the clear for the touchdown. Melillo's kick was blocked and the score remained 13-13.

Two plays later, however, Caldwell struck back. In what was the turning point of the game, Swanson swept left end for a 65-yard touchdown run almost identical to Nager's earlier dash. Charpentier faked the kick and threw a pass to Dave Zell for the extra point.

Caldwell's next touchdown was set up by Mallinak's second interception, this time on his own the Chiefs' 21-yard line after a 25. Kifer ran for four yards, 1-0 Boston has a 1-1-2 victory. Philadelphia outscored Detroit, 4-1, for its first victory. Philadelphia has a 1-1-2 mark, while Detroit is 0-3-1.

On the second play after the kickoff, Lang received a hand-off and then threw a 37-yard pass to John Wennogle, who made a fine catch on Caldwell's 38 while surrounded by two defenders. This put Summit in good field position, but the Hilltoppers were unable to move and were forced to punt.

Nager received the punt on his ten-yard line. In his finest run of the day, Nager broke through the Summit defenders and raced to Summit's 46 where Tom Specht made a diving grab causing him to stumble. On the next play Kifer broke clear and went all the way to the Summit 5. Two plays later Swanson scored his third touchdown, from the eight-yard line on a dive play. This touchdown rounded out the scoring. Both teams substituted freely at the end of the fourth quarter.

This week Summit hosts Verona and there shouldn't be any doubt about the outcome if Verona can field a team. The Hillbillies, formerly a Suburban Conference powerhouse, have lost 23 straight games. Verona forfeited to Millburn last Saturday because they could not field enough players due to illness and injuries.

New York Team Tops Boro Soccer League

New Providence — New York (3-0-1) leads the Recreation Department's Boys Soccer League after blanking runnerup Boston, 1-0 Boston has a 1-1-2 victory. Philadelphia outscored Detroit, 4-1, for its first victory. Philadelphia has a 1-1-2 mark, while Detroit is 0-3-1.

Regional Overpowers Clark Eleven, 32-0

Berkeley Heights — Dr. Roger B. Saylor of Penn State University, who rates New Jersey high school football teams' relative strength on the basis of record and opposition, did Coach Jack Bicknell of Governor Livingston Regional High School's football team a big favor last week. He rated Clark Regional, despite an inferior season record, as "slightly stronger than Governor Livingston among Group 3 teams in North Jersey, Section 2.

With this added incentive, the Highlanders mauled the hapless Crusaders, 32-0, at the Governor Livingston field. It was the third Watchung Conference victory in four games for Governor Livingston and left the Highlanders in a tie for second place with Cranford High.

The victory also moved Governor Livingston within one game of taking the Union County Regional School District title. The Highlanders have now whipped Springfield and Clark and will be heavily favored to defeat Kenilworth Regional's first-year eleven next month.

To Play Rahway

Sporting a 3-1 record for the season, the Highlanders will play host to Rahway High on Saturday. It will be the Highlanders' final contest before what looms as a showdown battle for second place on November 5 at Cranford. Rahway has a 2-3 record (1-2 in the Watchung Conference) after bowing to pace-setting Westfield, 28-13, last week.

In crushing Clark Regional Governor Livingston posted its third shutout triumph of the season. Westfield is the only team to score against—and defeat—the Highlanders this season. Governor Livingston scored in every period as it put on its

Summit Kickers Lose Two

Summit — With a 4-4-3 record and four games to play, Coach Bob Greenwald has started revamping his Summit High School soccer team with an eye towards next season.

Coach Greenwald intends to give the sophomores and juniors most of the action in the remaining games and still try to finish with at least a .500 record.

The Hilltoppers lost two tough games last week, bowing to Caldwell, 1-0, on a fourth-period goal and to Madison, 2-1. Sophomore Gordon Hartley, just promoted from the junior varsity, scored the Hilltoppers' goal.

Caldwell Edges Boro Runners

New Providence — The illness of John Kufel, the team's No. 3 runner, was primarily responsible for New Providence High's cross-country team dropping a 26-29 decision to Caldwell High last week. It was the third loss in nine meets for the Pioneers.

Ed Cross and Bob Marsh gave the Pioneers a 1-2 finish in the meet with Kufel sidelined; Caldwell took the next four places and clinched the meet by placing unbeaten team in the league. The Titans have a record of 1-1-1 after a recent turn game with Plainfield on Saturday, November 20 on the Lewis ninth and Barry Gardner Tatlock Field gridiron. This shapes up as the biggest game of the season and should decide the NJFL title race.

Paul Griswold placed seventh for New Providence, with Gary Lewis ninth and Barry Gardner tenth. New Providence will run against Chatham High tomorrow afternoon.

Long Kick-Off Returns Key to Oratory Defeat

Summit — Coach Joe Gardi of Oratory School is drilling his team on defense on kick-off returns this week as he prepares the Rams for their final home game on Sunday, November 6, with Immaculate High of Somerville.

Two long kick-off returns by John Caputo of St. Mary's High of Rutherford made a big difference as the Gaels ended Oratory's two-game winning streak by a 35-20 score last Sunday in Rutherford. Caputo returned Oratory kickoffs for 82 and 75-yard touchdowns.

Fedeckj Scores

His first long runback came after Myron Fedeckj had scored on a 15-yard run for Oratory to put the Rams in front 7-0 in the first period. Bill Shea placekicked the extra point after Fedeckj's ninth touchdown of the season.

Caputo immediately tied the score for St. Mary's. The Gael's Charlie Backus then ran for three touchdowns in the two middle periods to carry St. Mary's to a 28-7 margin after three periods.

Oratory got back in the game in the final period when Pete Fiory and John Capella collaborated on a 50-yard scoring pass and Shea placekicked the extra point. Oratory's hopes for a comeback, however, were dashed immediately when Caputo took the ensuing kickoff and ran 75 yards for his second touchdown.

Oratory, however, showed its mettle by fighting back for a third touchdown. This score came on a 20-yard pass from Fiory to Ernie Vetushi. Shea's kick for the extra point missed.

St. Mary's won its second straight game after losing its first three contests. Oratory also has a 2-3 record.

Goal: 5-3 Record

Despite the loss, Coach Gardi has high hopes of matching last season's 5-3 record. This would be quite an achievement since Oratory started the season with a very inexperienced squad.

Oratory's next opponent, Immaculate High of Somerville, is a first-year team that has lost all four games and has scored only one touchdown. Pope John of Sparta has a 1-4 record, with its only victory coming over Immaculate. Harrison has a 2-2 record, but the wins have been over winless Bergen Tech and Weehawken (1-3).

Falcons Triumph, 26-0; Lead Warner League

New Providence — New Providence P.A.L. Falcons (4-0-1) moved into a half-game lead over Bernardville (3-0-1) in the Mountain Valley Pop Warner Midget League race with a strong second-half performance in defeating Manville, 26-0, at the loser's field last Sunday. The Falcons have three games to play.

The first period was dominated by Manville as the Falcons could not move the ball with any consistency. Manville put a scare into the Falcons with a drive to the Falcons' 1-foot line, but center Jack Cadmus stopped the Manville fourth-down touchdown rush and the period ended, 0-0.

Manville continued on the offensive in the second period, but key defensive efforts by Falcons' linemen and defensive backs prevented any serious Manville threats. Notable Falcon defensive plays were contributed by Cadmus, safety Frank Alloco, cornerback Frank Dill, linebacker Bruce Montigney and tackle Rich Ray.

The teams went to halftime, 0-0.

Change Strategy

Several strategy changes made during half-time resulted in the Falcons being a new team in the second half. The complexion of the game started to change in the third period when Falcon linebacker John Cattano intercepted a Manville pass on the Manville 40. This set up a 30-yard touchdown run around right end by quarterback Steve Roemer. He followed excellent blocking, broke into the clear and outran the Manville defenders. Fullback Bruce Montigney drove off-tackle for the extra point and the Falcons were on top 7-0.

Later in the period, Roemer passed to end Peter Paradise on the Manville 10 and Paradise went in for the Falcons second touchdown increasing their lead to 13-0. The Falcons then worked the ball to the Manville 7 as the third period ended.

Fullback Montigney opened the final period for the Falcons with a 5-yard off-tackle thrust for the Falcons third score and Frank Dill ran for the extra point, making the score 20-0. A short time later, Manville tried a pass that Falcon defensive safety John Schlerman picked off on the Manville 25 and ran unmolested for the Falcons' final score.

Coach Lou Pennino then inserted the Falcon reserves into the game. They played Manville on even terms until the game ended.

Roemer Stars

Offensively the Falcons picked up 124 yards rushing, led by Roemer with 60 yards in seven carries; Frank Alloco, 35 in 10, and Montigney, 26 in eight. Roemer also completed four of four passes, two to Paradise.

We took in over 3 billion dollars last year, and didn't make a dime.

But business has never been better.

Because we profited where it really counts. Over 8 million of our members were able to enter hospitals last year and say, "here's my Blue Cross card."

We think when somebody enters a hospital, the last thing he should have to worry about is money.

So we got together and started Blue Cross. Now there are 62 million of us. About a third of America. And we contribute to pools of money which are ready to be drawn on when we need to pay hospital bills. It's not very complicated.

And of course, it's completely nonprofit. Like your local library, university, or church. We're just not in it for the money.

After all, Blue Cross is. And you don't make money on yourself.

And if you joined us, we wouldn't make money on you. Because then, you would be us.

New Providence High Gives Madison Battle

New Providence-New Providence High School's football team has lost its first five games this season but has high hopes of coming up with a victory on Saturday when it journeys across the Passaic River to take on neighboring Chatham Borough.

The Pioneer's fifth loss, third in Suburban Conference play, came last Saturday when Madison High finished strong to post a 26-12 victory here.

In Chatham, the Pioneers will be taking on one of two conference foes they figure to have a chance of defeating this season. High finished strong to post a 26-12 victory here.

Despite their lack of success, the Eskimos have been strong offensively. They have scored 94 points in five games, averaging almost 19 points per game.

The Panthers came up with two scores the first at the outset of the final period and the second late in the game. Jimmy Sellers showed his open field running ability with two of his dashes bringing the ball to the one-yard line. He scored both touchdowns on sharp cutbacks.

The final Summit touchdown was scored by Papio on a seven-yard run on a keeper play.

The defensive standouts for the Titans were Jim Monahan, Sam Champi, Joe Dudash, Jerry Thornton, Sal Manuri, Bob Korlesky, Don Jupa, George Hinds, Vern Henderson and Dick Moyer. The offensive linemen who were outstanding were Trembulak, Tommy McLaughlin and big Ray Ransom.

Men's League To Meet Nov. 7

Summit — The Summit Board of Recreation has announced that it is sponsoring a basketball league for men for the fourth year.

An organization meeting will be held at 8 p.m. on Monday, November 7, at the Edison Recreation Center, 100 Morris Avenue. All teams wishing to enter league play must have a representative present at the meeting. All men who live or work in Summit are eligible to participate.

The Edison Recreation Center will be open for basketball following the meeting. Bring your equipment.

For further information concerning this program call Mr. Swanson, Assistant Director of Recreation, at 277-4119.

Summit, Highlanders Favored to Triumph

Governor Livingston Regional High School's football team will continue its quest for at least a second-place finish in the Watching Conference this season when it plays host to Rahway High at 2 p.m. Saturday in Berkeley Heights.

It will be the Highlanders' final home conference game. The Highlanders of Coach Jack Bicknell have a 3-1 record, all against conference opponents. Rahway has a 2-3 mark and is 1-2 in the Watching Conference.

Summit and New Providence also are slated for conference games. Summit will try to even its Suburban Conference and overall records in a game with hapless Verona High at 2 p.m. at Tatlock Field in Summit.

Winless New Providence faces a tougher test in traveling to Chatham Borough to meet the Eskimos (1-3-1). Coach Frank Bottone's Pioneers are hopeful of winning their first game, but must contain a strong Chatham offense. The Eskimos' big problem has been weak defense.

With a 3-1 record on last week's predictions, our overall mark rose to 12-6 for the season. The forecasting has been 7-1 the past two weeks so here goes:

Governor Livingston — 20; Rahway — 0. Highlanders' offense has jelled behind Bruce day against heavily favored Madison. New Providence led 6-0 and 12-7 in the first half before Madison's superiority began to show.

Rick Flanagan stunned the Dodgers with a 70-yard punt return for a touchdown in the first period. He took a handoff from Ron Smith, who caught the punt, and raced all the way to the goal line. Before the period ended, Madison took the lead on Bob Kimball's four-yard touchdown run and his run for the extra point.

New Providence regained the lead when Bob Woodruff directed an 80-yard, 18-play touchdown drive that carried into the second period. Woodruff scored the go-ahead touchdown in a six-yard run.

Madison moved in front 14-12 before the half ended when Steve Natale passed to Drew Baker on a play covering 80 yards. Spencer Hoppin ran for the extra point.

The Dodgers took charge of the game in the second half, with Hoppin scoring touchdowns on runs of five yards in the third period and 35 yards in the fourth quarter.

Madison had 19 first downs to New Providence's 12 and rushed for 305 yards. The Dodgers completed five of 15 passes for 84 yards. New Providence ran for 169 yards and Woodruff completed 12 of 25 passes for 107 yards.

Thank You, Flo Dwyer

— FOR STAYING ON THE JOB AND WORKING FOR US AS LONG AS CONGRESS WAS IN SESSION. THOUGH 200 OR MORE CONGRESSMEN QUIT EARLY, YOU HAD THE COURAGE AND CONVICTION TO DO YOUR JOB.

And Here's What You Helped Accomplish for New Jersey and the Nation in Just these Last Few Days —

- Creation of the Department of Transportation with your amendment designed to strengthen the urban mass transportation program for New Jersey commuters.
- Blocking in a Senate-House conference committee another $500 million in needless, damaging subsidies, in addition to the $750 million you defeated in the House committee.
- Approval of project to improve shipping channels in Newark Bay, essential to further development of Ports Elizabeth and Newark which bring hundreds of millions in payroll and investment to New Jersey.
- Passage of major advances in the fight against air and water pollution.
- Creation of a House Select Committee on Standards and Conduct, the first step in the effort you have long made to insist on high ethical standards for Congress.

These Few Examples of Your Great Legislative Record Show Why, Now that Congress Has Adjourned, We Take Great Pleasure in Saying—

Welcome Home, Flo Dwyer
