if we could share but
one more moment,
keep ourselves together
one more day,
let ourselves abide just another hour—
we all would.

yet we can't;
time will not let us delay.
but in leaving we ask time to preserve
just one more memory:
we are the story of this book,
and the theme is "we."

MR. JOHN J. BURGUILLOS

Dedication

We proudly dedicate Shadows 1967 to a man who is sagacious, a man who is sensitive, a man who is sincere.

We have chosen a man who is zealous in all his efforts, devoted to school and community service, interested in promoting international understanding, and convinced of the value of an open mind.

Such a man is Mr. John J. Burguillos.

He has served his school as a teacher of Spanish for nineteen years, as head of the Foreign Language Department for nine years, as coach of the Bowling Team for seven years, as faculty advisor to the Audio-Visual Squad, and as administrator of the Book Room.

He has served his community as a member of the Verona Borough Council and as court interpreter.

He has promoted international understanding by his efforts to make Verona a good host to visiting foreign teachers and students.

He has not only introduced his students to the excitement of learning the language and customs of other peoples, but has also stimulated them to open discussion and free exchange of ideas on all topics.

Como prueba de nuestro agradecimiento, we respectfully dedicate Shadows 1967 to Mr. John J. Burguillos.

ACTIVITIES

This year's Student Council officers, President Jon Marchant, Secretary Paige Ulrey, and Vice-president Donna Micklus, pose with their faculty advisor, Albert Weissbach.

Student Council

Originally conceived as the intermediary between the student body and the Administration, the Student Council offers equal representation to all students at Verona High School so they may improve their school and community. The student government began the year with a new Council advisor, Mr. Albert Weissbach, and a Kick-Off Canteen. Throughout the year, the Council gave financial aid to several school organizations and helped to obtain new ideas for assemblies from the student body. A Student Exchange was instituted among the schools in the Suburban Conference and two new scholarships were donated by the Council in memory of Tucker Grim and Peggy Campbell. The council and its officers, Jon Marchant, president, Donna Micklus, vice-president, and Paige Ulrey, secretary, considered such novel proposals as a Computer Dance, a student activities card, a Council budget, a common, Council-controlled treasury for all extra-curricular activities, and how to dispose of a certain defunct change machine.

"I don't know what to do, he's not usually here."

Rene Vadeboncoeur shows a sign of life as Pat Connell, Nancy Massen, JoAnne Ditre, Chris Love, and Joan Morongell die of boredom; Dan Kraft and Ginger Hentz enter the early stages of hysterics.

Sam Kaplan, Matt Kramer, and Dave Roberts of the Class of 1965 speak with Mr. Willard and Mrs. Krupp at the Honor Society Wassail Party.

Honor Society

The Bulletin Board drafters Pat Connell and Tom Kovaric dispose of their odious task.

Consisting of thirty-one members of the top quarter of the Senior Class, the Verona Chapter of the National Honor Society judges candidates on character, service to the school, scholarship, and leadership. The organization performed such services as the daily delivery of the New York Times, providing a tutoring service, ushering for Commencement and Go-to-School Night, holding a Wassail party for alumni, posting weekly news on the bulletin board, composing scrapbooks for the two World Youth Forum delegates, and financing two scholarships. The members also conducted a light-bulb sale. Advisors were Miss Shockney and Mrs. Graef, and officers were George Martini, president, Pat Connell, vice-president, Jo-Ellen Sheets, secretary, and Donna Micklus, treasurer.

Fourth row: Clyde Bergstresser, Jeff Sherman, Barbara Kaye, Tom Kovaric, Art Pryde, Jane Schnetter. Judy Leuchter and Pat Connell are missing.

Shadows

In order to summarize the work of the Shadows staff, three terms immediately come to mind: money, deadlines, and Stan King. Comparable to the sighs of despair and frantic page-cutting that resulted from even the mention of the word "money," was the nail-biting and writer's cramp which seized a staff member upon hearing the word "deadline." As for the harried Editor-in-Chief, his sanity was maintained only by the great help of Mr. Dimmers, the publication's faculty adviser.

Although thousands of spaghetti-lovers were disappointed this year's book is the largest and, we think, the best ever published.

Fairviewer

As Craig Lawrence turns to leave, Carol Shefrin puts the finishing touches on the News page of Fairviewer.

Stan Kaplan and Larry Hershoff both refuse to own up to the outrageous Fairviewer editorial.

The Fairviewer is Verona High School's student-published newspaper. Appearing ten times a year, the Fairviewer seeks to inform, amuse, and provoke thought through its regular pages and special features, while affording its staff members the opportunity to learn journalism and writing skills.

The Fairviewer belongs to two student publication organizations, the Columbia Scholastic Press Association, and the Scholastic Press Association of New Jersey. The Fairviewer this year won a First-Place Award at the Columbia Scholastic Press Association Convention.

Under its advisor, Mr. Alan Teplitsky, its Co-Editors-In-Chief, Stan Kaplan and Larry Hershoff, the Fairviewer has continued its tradition of fine journalism and personal enjoyment.

Editor Larry Hershoff learns that the Fairviewer has just folded.

Perspective

Editor Wendy Rader and Literary Board members Pat Connell and Lynn Barrett try to make sense out of garbled student literature submitted to Perspective.

"Perspective" is Verona High School's literary publication. Through the publication of such a magazine, student talent is not only presented to the student body, but also young writers are encouraged. The magazine includes short stories, essays, poetry, drawings, and photographs, and student material has been supplemented by faculty-written pieces. After being submitted, the articles are carefully discussed and evaluated by the Literary Board which consists of fifteen members from all the classes. The past few years, the size of the magazine has increased and this year's issues were the largest yet. The magazine's editor this year, Wendy Rader, was aided by a new "Perspective" advisor, Mrs. Horn.

Front Page Club

The Front Page Club publishes "all the VHS news that's fit to print" every Thursday in the Verona-Cedar Grove Times. Included among the items published are features on student activities and teachers and comments by John Peapod, special correspondent with a unique point of view. Although the column has been limited to a maximum of 750 words, all the news is published. Larissa Hordynsky and Pat Vitale are the editors of this publication; Diana Noll is the associate editor, and Miss Caprio is the faculty advisor.

Language Clubs

FRENCH CLUB members Eric Douge, Amy Cohen, Sharon Ger, Debby Calice, Sue Hancock, and Marcia Dixey attend annual Christmas party of the Societe Francaise.

French Club

The French Club, or La Société Française, has held meetings bi-monthly in the Little Theater. The members have heard talks about France by VHS travelers and have had a gala Christmas party and an "April in Paris" spectacle. The officers of the club, advised by Mme. Adams, were Danny Kraft, president; Stan Kaplan, vice-president; Larissa Hordynsky, program chairman; Wendy Rader; and Joan Morongell, treasurer.

Latin Club

With club advisor Mr. Kleisler, several students have formed a Latin Club. The officers, Louis Seagull, president, and Edith Dixon, vice-president, preside over the meetings which are held several times a month at which English derivatives from Latin roots and Latin novels are discussed. Besides being helpful to Latin scholars in this way, the club also organizes the annual Latin banquet.

Meridians

Last of the great candy-jackers, Marilyn LaBrunda and Judy Hahn.

The Meridians is an organization interested in both international and human relations. This year, they have continued to sponsor the International Weekend and support a foster child in Hong Kong. VHS was also host to five Latin American students through the Open Door Program. In order to raise funds and to be of service to the school at the same time, the Meridians sell candy, paperback books, and UNICEF cards and calendars. This year, also, the Meridians have begun working with the homeless children at the Essex County Children's Shelter. Whether they are aiding a destitute child in Hong Kong, or caring for a homeless child in Essex County, the Meridians members have found their experiences rewarding.

Mary Anne Esser and Marcia Dixcy confer on Meridians' economic plight.

Miss Fricke and her Meridians: Joan Grissing, Pam Murray, and Sue Levine.

World Youth Forum

This year, Verona High School was privileged to have two delegates from the World Youth Forum. Michael B. Keys, of New Zealand, and Sunita Oberoi, of India, attended classes at VHS for four weeks as a part of their three-month stay in the United States. Their hosts were Pat Connell, for Michael, and Wendy Rader, for Sunita. At a panel discussion moderated by Mr. Iuso, Mike told the student body of his distinct impressions of American girls, while Sunita related her expectations of an automated American society. Upon their departure, Mike and Sunita were presented scrapbooks donated by the Student Council and the Honor Society. These scrapbooks included clippings of their activities in the United States and pictures of their experiences at Verona and other places.

Michael and Sunita, VHS World Forum Delegates pose in the center hall.

Michael Sherry, Sunita Oberoi, Wendy Rader, Mr. Iuso, Barbara Kaye, Michael Keys, and Pat Connell pause for a moment of contemplation as Hetty Kadison introduces the panel for the World Forum Assembly.

Pat Connell, Michael Keys, Miss Howell and Mr. Willard pose for the line-up.

Open Door Exchange

For the past two years, Verona High School participated in the Open Door Program. This program allows interested students to live in a Latin American country for the purpose of bettering their knowledge of other peoples. The program enables the student to become a member of his host family and also to attend school daily. In addition to spending a summer in Latin America, the North American youth opens his home to a Latin American student for ten weeks during fall and winter.

This year five South American students attended VHS: Monica Roeschmann, Vicky Behncke, and Ximena Crisostomo from Chile, Nora Wolfzun from Argentina, and Maria Monzon from Colombia. Their hosts were Barbara Jaffe, Roz Libermann, Sue Levine, Barbara Kaye, and Joan Grissing, respectively.

International Weekend

Verona High School was host for thirty-two students from Chile, Argentina, Costa Rica, Colombia, Germany and France, February 3 through 5 during Meridians' fourth annual International Weekend under the chairmanship of Sue Kanas and Nicky Polifroni. Friday afternoon there was a formal registration, and that evening a welcoming party was held at Amy Cohen's home. Our foreign guests discussed national customs and political views at the panel discussion moderated by Mrs. Krupp on Saturday afternoon. A dance, "Across the Seven Seas," was held in the Little Theater that evening followed by a party at Roz Liberman's home. Sunday morning, Ken Krasner gave a brunch which climaxed an exciting weekend for all.

Assembly Committee

Under the chairmanship of Barbara Kaye and the direction of Madame Polifroni, the Assembly Committee has led all the programs this year. The Club's purpose is to introduce the assembly with an appropriate piece of literature, lead the student body in the National Anthem and the Flag Salute, thank the participants after the program, and lead the student body in the Alma Mater.

This year, for the first time, the committee has organized assemblies produced entirely by students. Some of this year's more memorable programs were: The Thank-giving Assembly, and a Rock and Roll Assembly.

Bobby Meyer backs up Ray Barret as The Q. E. D. perform at VHS rock-and-roll assembly.

Audio-Visual Squad

AV squad members Russ Muter, Steve Eisenberg, Mark Rosenbluth, and Doug Muter "hang" in the AV room.

Whenever a teacher needs a projector, tape recorder, record player, film or any other audio visual equipment, the AV squad fulfills his need. Under the leadership of Steve Eisenberg, chairman; Dave Lenkowsky, vice-chairman, and Mr. Ellicott, faculty advisor, the members of the squad run the sound for announcements, assemblies and football games. In Room 130, films are reviewed and ordered, equipment is distributed, and projectionists and mechanical repairmen are on hand.

At 8:25 A.M. the Public Address system begins the day. Under the direction of Miss Anne Welham and co-chairmen Barbara Griffiths and Stanley Kaplan the most important aspects of the news are broadcast. The newscasters obtain their information on International, National, and metropolitan news from the New York Times News Summary. Over twenty students participated in this club.

Future Physicians

The Future Physicians Club members, with president Ken Olinger, have already begun to learn about their preferred vocations and have tried to gain a realistic view of the medical profession. Under the direction of Mr. Axel Johnson, the group of fifteen members has heard a lecture by Dr. Olinger, taken tours of Mountainside and Overbrook Hospitals, viewed movies, and attended a Health Careers Conference at Veterans Hospital under the auspices of the Essex County Medical Society.

Art Club

The Art Club, under the direction of Miss Tonner, has promoted an interest in art in VHS. The club has sponsored art trips to museums both in New York and New Jersey. The club has also had exhibits in the lobby and breeze way.

Dramatics Club

—that's the mystery."

The set of "J.B."

Marcia Dixcy tells Ken Olinger next line.

Besides treating the student body to an annual performance of fine drama, the Dramatics Club offers all students the opportunity of being a part of the enormous preparation behind the production. From Props to Programs Committee, Dramatics Club members share an enjoyable experience and take pride in dramatic productions which have earned an outstanding reputation for the Club and its unmatched director, Mr. William O. Jacobs. This year's play, "J. B.", by Archibald MacLeish, was considered to be the most difficult play yet. Miss Helene Zierold presided over the Makeup Committee and the Club's officers were: Tom Kovaric, president, Carol Shefrin, vice-president, Barbara Jaffe, recording secretary, and Wendy Moore, corresponding secretary.

"Are those the staring stars I see . . .?"

"My sin, teach me my sin, my wickedness."

Red Cross

The functions of the Red Cross Club are to provide service to local hospitals and the School Student Directory. Under the direction of Mrs. Harriet Holloway and officers: Jo Ellen Sheets, president; Mary Wiren, secretary-treasurer; and Pat Vitale, directory chairman; these functions have been well accomplished.

Future Nurses

The Future Nurses Club affords girls interested in nursing and other health careers the opportunity of learning what nursing is like through speakers, records, and movies on that subject. Under the supervision of Nurse Kaminsky, the Club gave a Halloween Party for the children at Mountainside Hospital. The Club officers are: president, Estelle Lucciola; vice president, Janet Wilde; recording secretary, Moreen Moore, and corresponding secretary, Jaque Beltz.

Borough Health Officer, Michael C. Festa, discusses public health nursing with Estelle Lucciola and school nurse, Mrs. Kaminsky.

The Theater Club

The Theater Club's purpose is to interest people in going to the theater. The Club feels that living so close to New York as we do, it is a shame that so few people have the "theater habit." By organizing trips to the theater, the Club hopes to correct this. Last year, the Club saw "The Apple Tree," a musical. Barbara Kaye and Gail Sigman are the Club's co-chairmen and Mrs. Horn is the faculty advisor.

Traffic Patrol

Members of the Traffic Patrol can be seen during assemblies ushering in students to their assigned seats, and patrolling the school grounds during fire drills. The faculty advisor of the patrol is Mr. Axel Johnson.

Lost and Found

Under the faculty advisor, Mr. Scelba, Cathy Burguillos and Sheila Purcaro manage the Lost and Found where students may redeem lost items for ten cents. All unclaimed articles are sold at an auction at the end of the year. Book covers are also sold every morning and afternoon.

"His name is B."

Debating Society

The Debating Society strongly emphasized research on the National Debate Topic, The U. S. Foreign Aid Program, throughout the year. Major successes were scored when the club placed first in a Suburban Conference Debate Tournament and when a two-man team won an unprecedented three-out-of-four victory at the Columbia University Invitational Debate Conference. Late in the year, the Debating Society sponsored a tournament and assembly concerning the draft. The year's officers were: Richard Seltzer, president; Joan Grissing, recording secretary, and Elena Randazzo, corresponding secretary.

Mountain Historical Society

The year 1967 has brought a dynamic new activity onto the VHS scene. Under the direction of Mr. Dennis Buss the Second Mountain Historical Society was formed. This organization is affiliated with the state historical society known as the "Jersey-men." The officers are Bill Fried, president; Danny Kramer, vice president, and Robin Rader, secretary. Though the membership is small it is bound by a keen interest in local and state history. This year has been one of organization. However, the goal is to publish a complete history of Verona. This goal is many years from completion. Unlike many clubs our historical society is attempting to serve our community by investigating Verona's history.

In its first year at Verona High School, the Stock Club has prospered under the leadership of Bob Sherman, Bob Coad, and their advisor, Mr. Bleiweiss.

Shares in the Club were sold in the fall at \$10 for one share (one vote), and \$5 for a half-share. The Club bought Argus Inc. at 6 and sold out at 7 $\frac{3}{8}$  and then re-invested in General Battery and Ceramics at 5 $\frac{1}{8}$ . GBC rose to 8 $\frac{7}{8}$  and the Club sold it. More stock market speculation followed in an already successful year.

The Girls' Leadership Organization has been organized this year. The purpose of GLO is to offer opportunity for leadership and service to fellow students. The girls selected for membership assume the responsibility of making constructive contributions in physical education classes. Assisting in small group organization, teaching, and officiating are among the variety of experiences acquired as a leader in GLO.

The Verona Model U. N. Club culminated a year of activity by attending the Tenth East Coast Model U. N. Conference, April 21-23, at State College, Pennsylvania. Preparations for representing France at the Conference included holding work sessions, hearing reports of French history, politics, and culture, interviewing Richard Hottellet, CBS correspondent at the United Nations, and visiting French consulates and embassies in the metropolitan area.

Verona had the distinction of representing France at the three committee sessions and one General Assembly Plenary Session. Miss Jacqueline Bloom served as the club's advisor, and Richard Seltzer as Ambassador.

Dashing Pete (Stein) Erickson leads the one hundred and twenty members of the Ski Club down the challenging slopes at Bellayre on one of the annual ski trips. Mr. Thomas Nedrow, advising the Club, prefers to stay at home as the busload of skiers heads off for a day of cool fun snow-plowing, parallel turning, wedelning and . . . falling. From novice to expert, Ski Club members are an eternal worry to any ski patrolman. But that feeling of gathering speed and sheer panic with the wind just can't be beat!

Color Guard

Under the supervision of Mr. Owens, the Color Guard worked closely with the twirlers to work up routines for football game half times and parades. The Color Guard also held flags at assemblies.

Bumper-Pool Club

The Bumper-Pool Club was perhaps Verona High's strangest club. In any case, it was the most short-lived. It was organized rather spontaneously one night at Pat Connell's house during a party. Almost everyone at the party was an active member during the course of the evening. The Bumper-Pool Club made one fatal mistake, however: it failed to make provisions for its self-perpetuation. Now no one can go to a meeting because no one knows when the next meeting is.

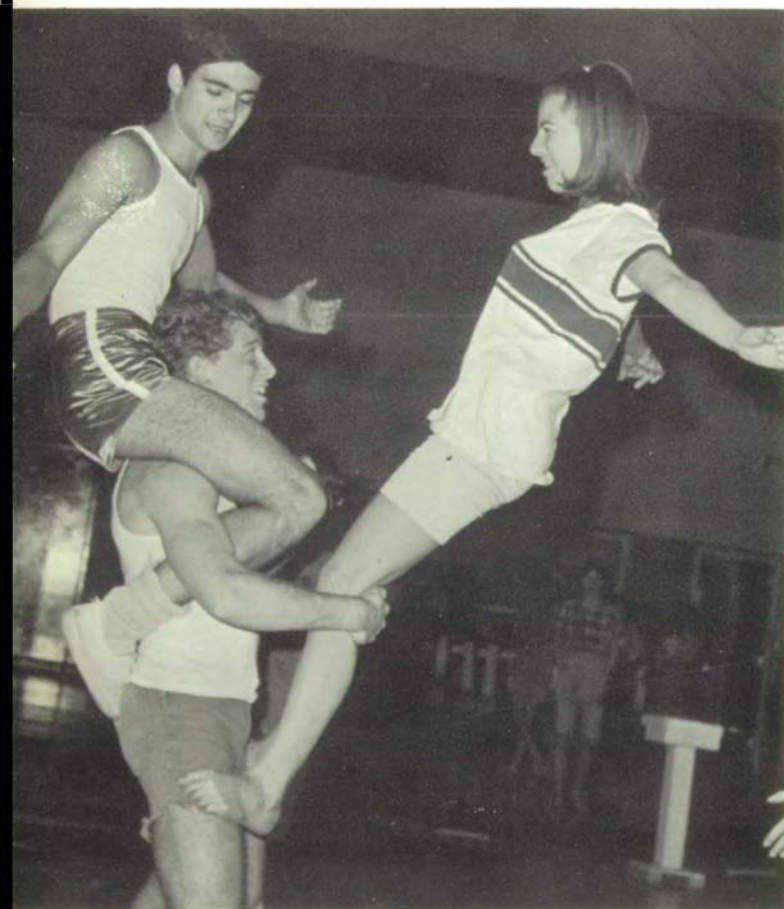

Mike LaBrunda and Larry Hershoff demonstrate how they can get the ball in the pocket every time.

Gymnastics Club

For the early athletic risers of VHS, the Gymnastics Club offers a morning workout. 7:30 a.m., Tuesday and Thursdays, finds students climbing all over the gym equipment scattered throughout the gym. Use of weights, ropes, the horse, even and uneven bars, tumbling mats, and the balance beam strengthen the body, coordination, and skill in gymnastics. Miss Coomer, Mr. Stiefboldt, and Mr. Peterson are there to assist in complex routines. Gymnastics Club members usually arrive faithfully every-week—the boys working out, the girls trying to lose weight or preparing for the G.A.A. Show. Whatever the reason for attending, every member has a great time.

Football

The 1966 football team was unable to sidestep countless gridiron misfortunes and endured a winless season. First-year coach Morris Sutter saw a basically strong squad fall prey to illness and injury. So depleted did the team become that, for the first time in Verona football history, the Hillbillies were forced to forfeit a game. Despite the unenviable circumstances surrounding the team, the players never failed to display the hustle necessary for a winning spirit.

Soccer

"He can't see it either, Gordon!"

Soccer again highlighted the Hillbillies' fall sports program. Led by tri-captains Jim Benson, Steve Hess, and Dan Rowe, Verona copped its fifth Group II state championship in the last ten years, overcoming strong Tenafly and Morris Knolls squads in tournament play. In regular action, the Hillbillies placed third in the perennially strong Suburban Conference. Verona compiled a 10-5-3 record, and was 7-4-3 in the Conference. Seven members of the squad received honors for their consistently good performances. Jim Benson, Steve Hess, Ed Morehouse, and Dan Rowe were selected as first team, all-Conference players, with Steve and Dan also achieving first-team, all-county recognition. Ed and Jim were second and third team choices, respectively, and Gordon Price, Skip Chesnut, and Paul Levinsky received honorable mention on the all-county listings.

Bowling

Coach John Burguillos' varsity bowling team underwent a rebuilding year, using only two seniors to complement its five underclassmen. The Hillbillies notched a ten and twenty-nine record, good enough to finish thirteenth in the fourteen team league. The seniors who competed for Verona were Jeff Sherman and Larry Hershoff. Sherman compiled a 147 average and had the distinction of bowling Verona's first "200-plus" game of the campaign. The Hillbillies' second highest score in league competition was recorded by Hershoff, who carried a 154 average.

Returning lettermen are expected to bring Verona fine seasons for the next few years.

Concessions

Unnoticed cameraman catches Concessions staff in action.

The Concessions staff, despite such drawbacks as Friday morning food cancellations, had a successful season. Directed by Chairman Larissa Hordynsky, Co-chairman Doug Super, Assistant-chairman Danny Kraft, and advisor, Miss Scheer, the Student Council's fund-raising activities made a large profit.

Tireless workers.

Basketball

The varsity basketball team compiled a four and thirteen record for the 1966-1967 season. This record, however, is not a true indication of the team's ability. Led by seniors Art Pryde, elected captain, Clyde Bergstresser, and John Landara, the Hillbillies gave a respectable account of themselves in every game. In many cases, a fine Verona team effort created exciting play which fell just short of victory. Art, Verona's leading scorer and a top clutch performer, earned a berth on the third team of the All-State selection.

The Hillbillies notched cage wins over Summit, New Providence, and Madison, defeating the latter twice, in a season which featured the coaching debut of Mr. Doug Gaffney as varsity basketball mentor of Verona.

Baseball

Danny Rowe comes through with another clutch hit.

Verona's baseball team foiled pre-season predictions for a mediocre season by quickly jumping into the Suburban Conference lead. Seniors responsible for the team's success, besides tri-captains George Martini, Ed Morehouse, and Art Pryde, were Steve DiRoma, John Landara, Chet Mattia, Dan Rowe, and Steve Russalesi.

The fine showing of Coach Tom Morris' squad can be traced to excellence in the game's three basic departments. Hitting-wise, Morehouse provided many clutch hits, Martini always came up with the big play on defense, and Pryde was the stopper from the bullpen of the strong Hillbilly pitching staff.

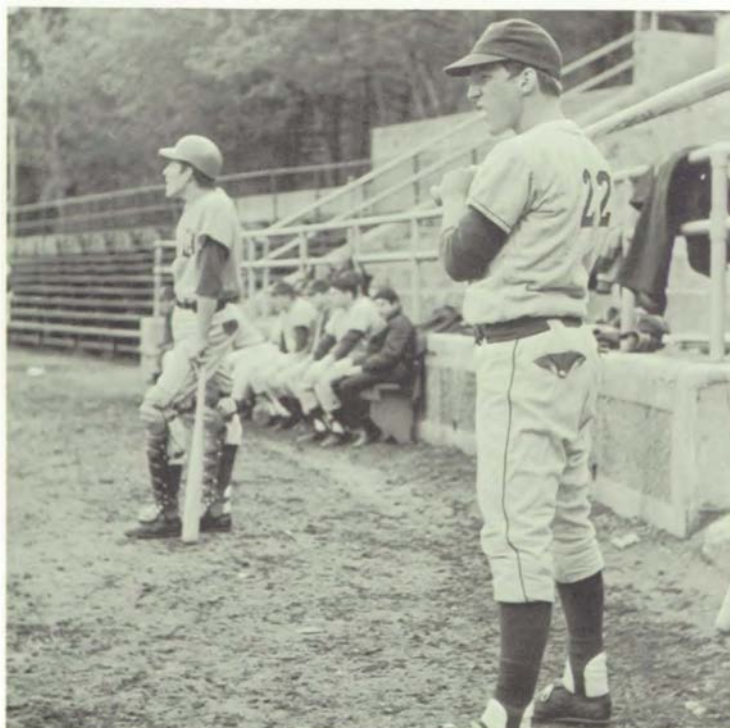

Key underclassmen on the squad were Bill Anderson, Mario Baeza, Tom Courtney, Pat Sullivan, and Bob Zazzali.

Golf

The Golf team has quickly become one of Verona's most successful squads this year, qualifying for the state tournament. Under Coach John Le-naeus, the team has received consistent play from seniors Joe Freda, John Sabates, and Andy Wolf. Underclassmen have also contributed, as Gary Kelly, Mike Mancini, Jeff Ochs, and Bob Sherman have played key roles in the team's success and are expected to anchor more strong Hillbilly golf teams in the near future.

Tennis

The Hillbilly tennis team, although it did not compile a winning record, benefited from this year's schedule as many of its underclassmen gained valuable experience under Coach Bob Graham. The squad only had one senior, Captain Dave Kriedt.

Juniors Steve Kraus and Sheldon Waxman and sophomores Rusty Bershad, Eric Gustafson, and Dave Oremland are expected to form the nucleus for next year's team. Frank Carleton has been Verona's most consistent winner this year and should be a strong point for the next three years.

"What do you want of me?" asks Steve Kraus.

Track

The Track team, under the direction of Coach Bill Pecoraro, was able to record only a mediocre record despite many outstanding individual performances. Senior captain Bill Osmun has been the hub of VHS Track Teams for the past four years and has scored more points than any other cinderman in Verona track history. Bill has managed to escape defeat in every meet this year, a tremendous record. The Hillbillies have also had consistent winners in Seniors Gordon Price, Paul Bennett, Glen Hedden, and Steve Hess. Other Seniors who have contributed are Dave Peterson, Rich Rolandelli, Jim O'Meara, Al Marinaro, and Rich Volkert.

The Track team should be strong next year as there will be many returning lettermen, the most promising of which are Juniors Skip Chesnut and Bernie Weich and Freshman Bob Scharling.

The Girls' Athletic Association is the only organization designed to provide physical fitness and enjoyment for girls. This Association is divided into several clubs. In the fall there were clubs for field hockey and soccer. In the winter, basketball and modern dance clubs predominated. Then softball and track teams were formed in the spring.

The highlight of the year was the G.A.A. Show which summed up the year's activities with a grand exhibition. To conclude 1967, the senior members went on a weekend camping trip. Under the direction of Miss Carleen Coomer, Miss Wendy Myers, and the G.A.A. officers, President Barbara Kaye, Vice-President Sharon Comiskey, Secretary Arlene Prager, and Treasurer Anna Buonomo, the G.A.A. attained new goals never before reached.

Cheerleaders

Cheerleaders have the responsibility of publicizing V.H.S. sporting events as well as encouraging enthusiasm and spectator participation. This includes varsity football, soccer, and basketball as well as freshman football and basketball. Highlighting the year's activities were the planning and staging of three pep-rallies by the varsity football cheerleaders and the basketball cheering clinic. The twelve football, eight soccer, nine basketball, and eight Freshman cheerleaders were chosen at May try-outs.

Freshman Class

The Class of '70, headed by President Ted Loewenthal, Vice President Pepper Redd, and Secretary Edith Dixon, experienced an eventful year. It began with the Frosh pen sale which was under the supervision of Miss Nancy Harmon and Mr. Harry Palmer. The proceeds received from this fund raising activity will be used to sponsor the Freshman picnic to be held on June 8. The Freshmen proved themselves not only in the scholastic world but in the athletic world as well. Frosh boys participated in such sports as football, soccer, track, tennis, baseball and basketball. In the last, they attained the position of first place in the Suburban Conference.

The following are photographs of the various activities in which members of the Class of '70 participated.

It's hard to have doubts about the Sophomore Class after seeing how well this year went! Both the dance and the renowned candy sale were successful, and many clubs in the school saw Sophomores take important positions as officers, actors, active members, or first-string players. No matter how you look at it, the Sophomore Class is assuming a more prominent role in Verona High School.

The years have been passing slowly, faster, quickly—
Until now we've just one year left.

There have been some great times, maybe not at all times,

But moments have always been grand.

And we'll have time away,
Time to wander, stay in
Youth's frightened, care-

So we will seek the answers, tumble, trip, and scramble

In Youth's intrepid way.
