time it was,
and what a time it was,
it was . . .
a time of innocence,
a time of confidences.
long ago . . . it must be . . .
i have a photograph.
preserve your memories;
they're all that's left you.
— paul simon

time . . .

it is a word

and bad times.

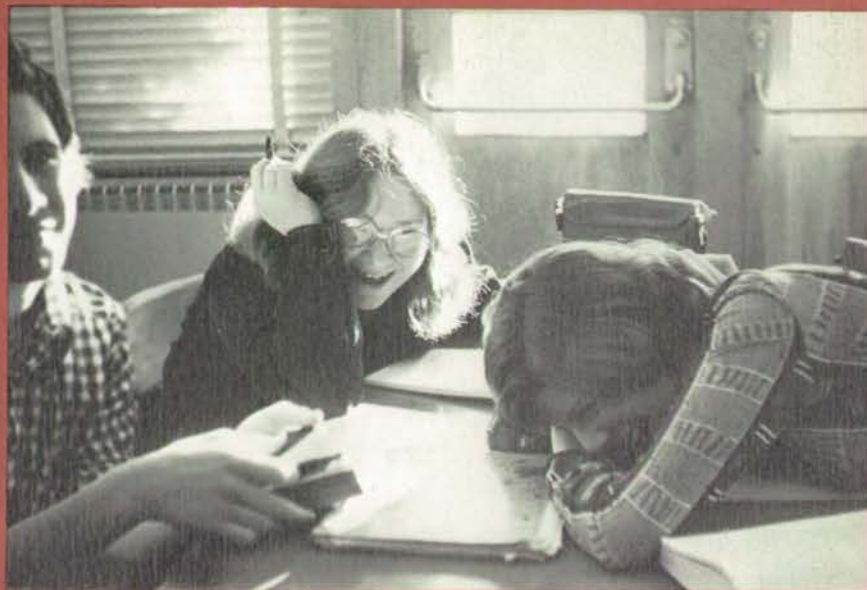

too much time

and

too little time;

of many meanings.

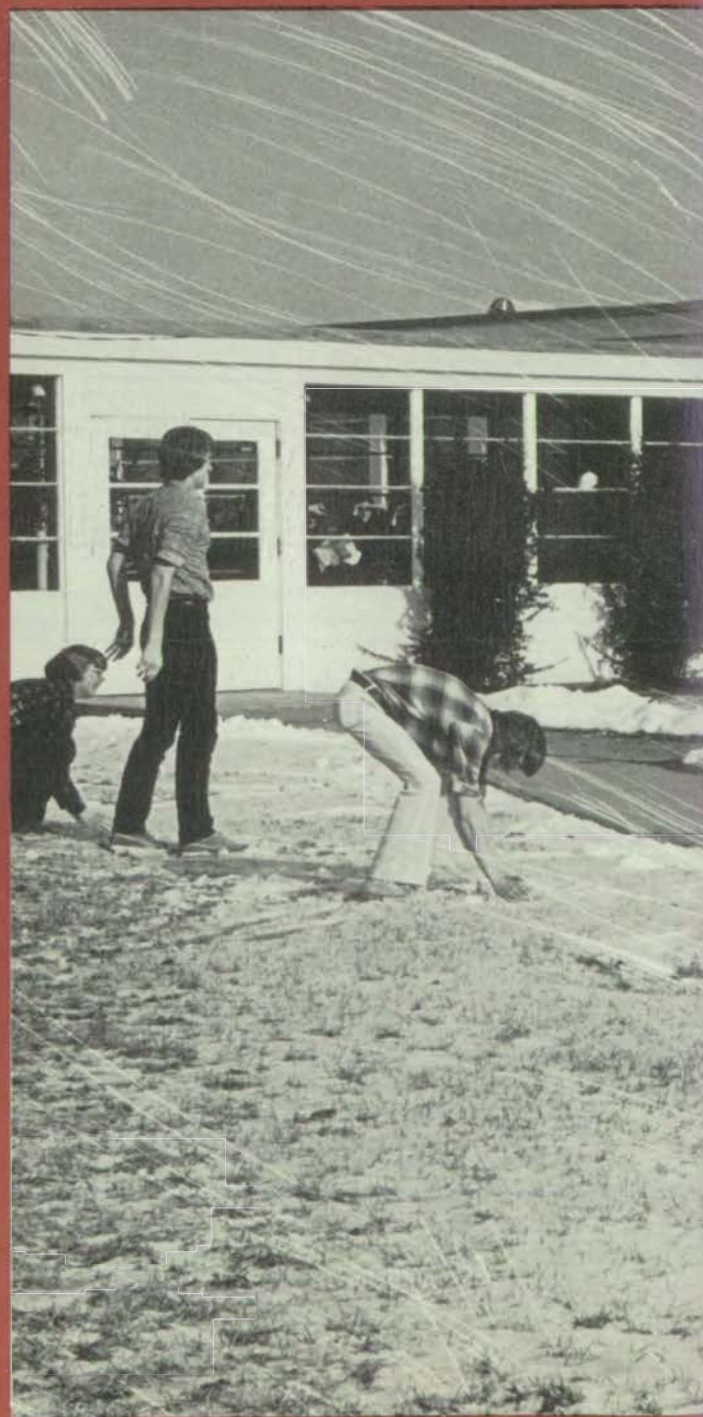

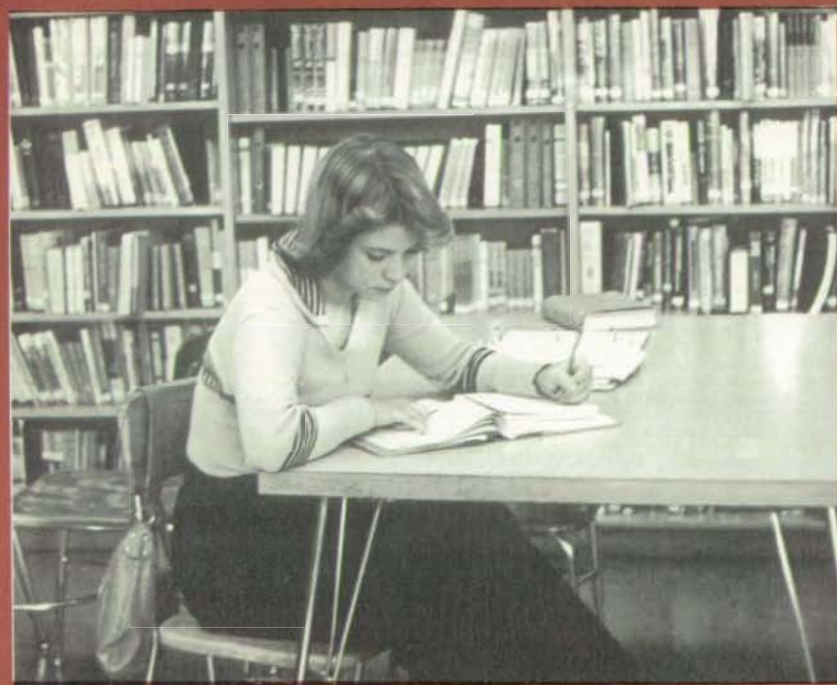

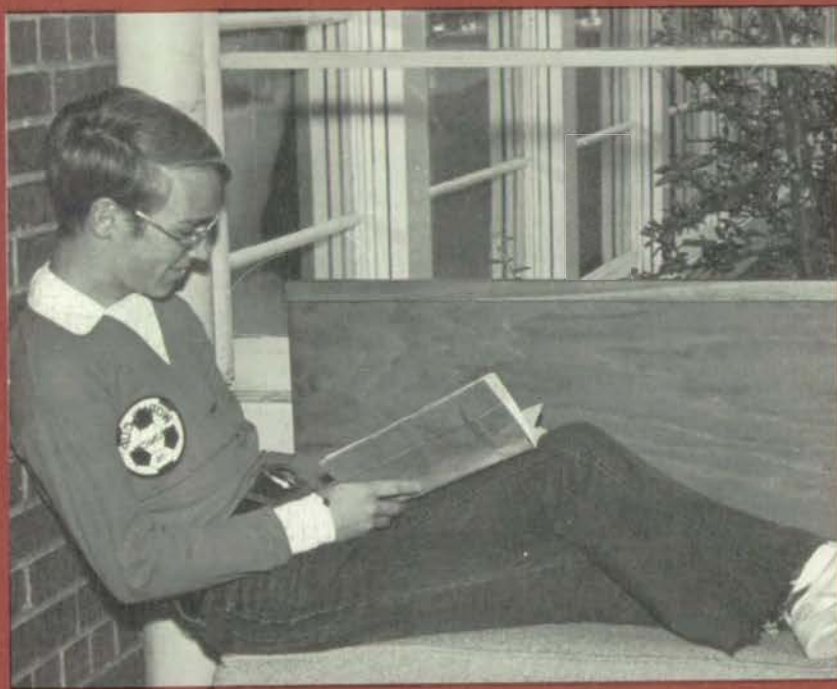

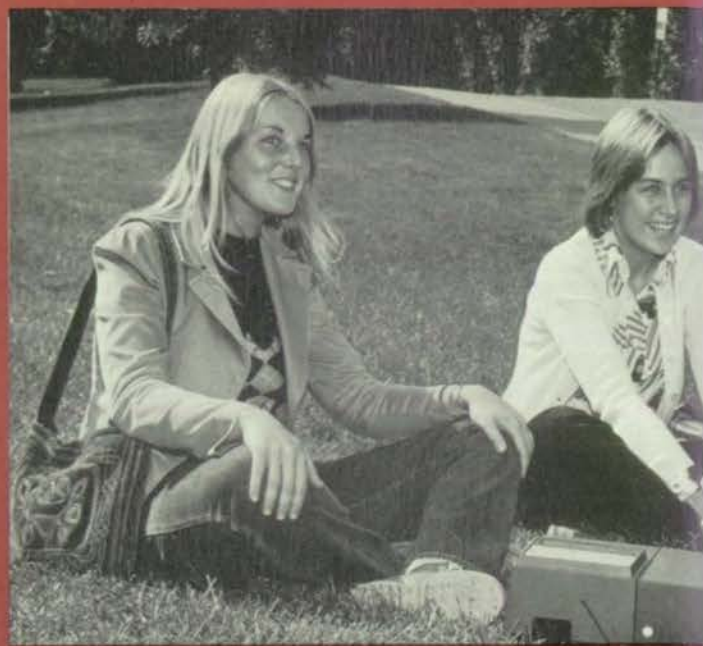

there are good times

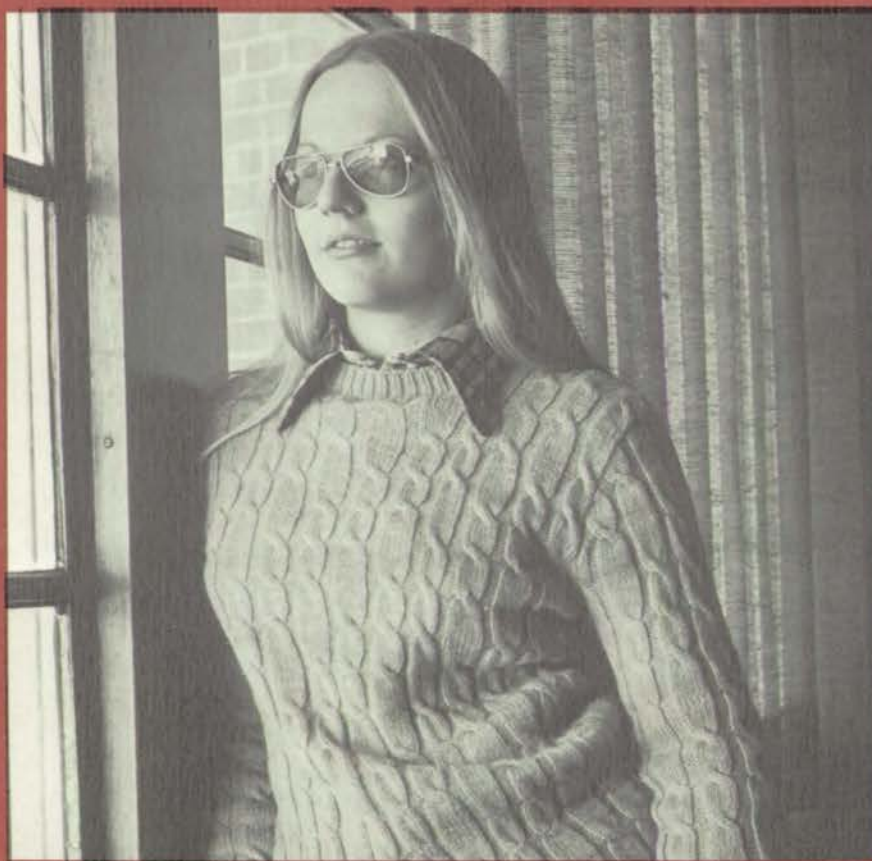

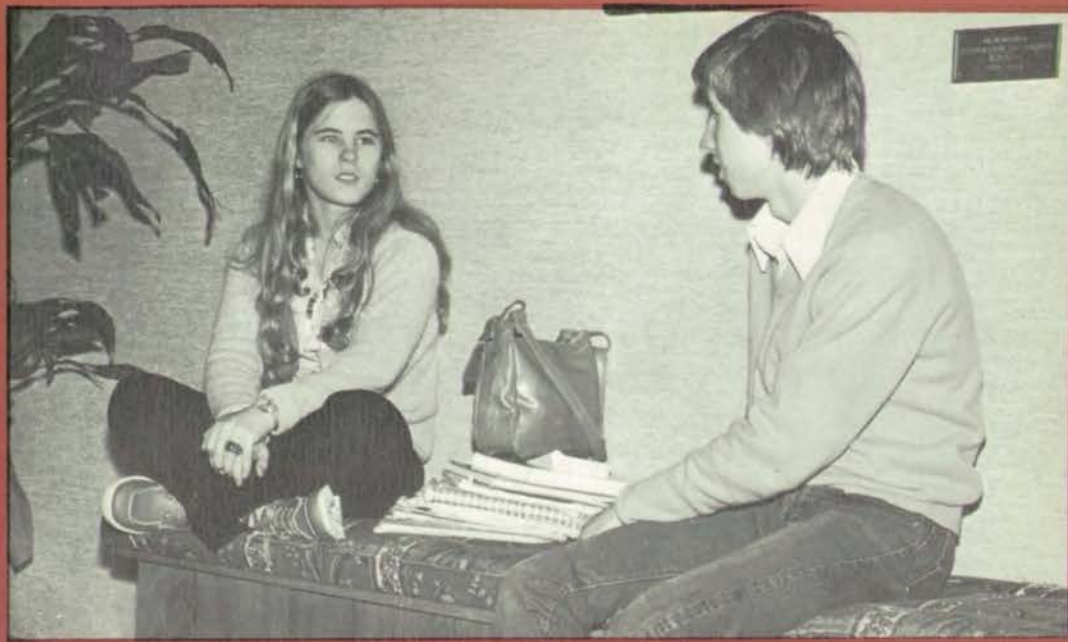

*a time
and a
place for
everything.*

*we may use our time
in many ways . . .*

*in friendship,
in study,
in enjoying
ourselves with
others,*

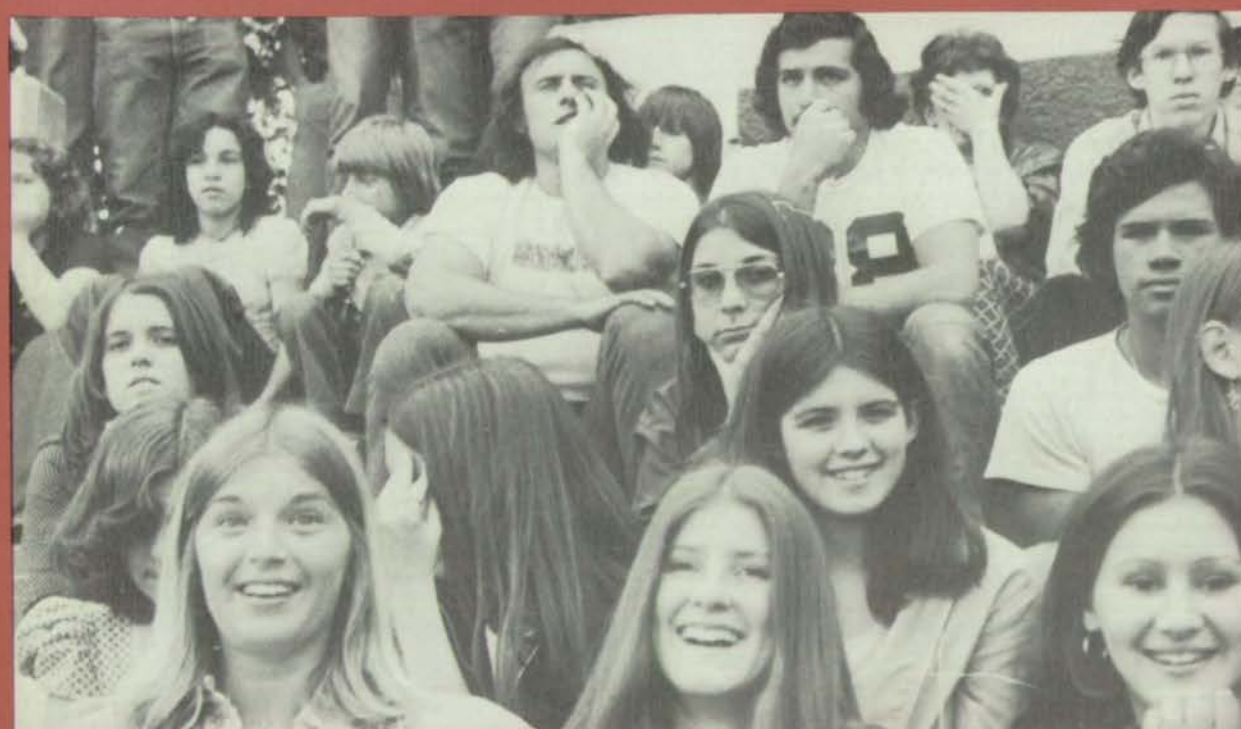

*or in just spending
hours alone in
thought.*

as we reach
at v.h.s. we can
only sensed
time is
a neverending
past, present
on leaving
high school
new kind

our final days
see what we
before . . . that
infinite

chain that links
and future.

verona

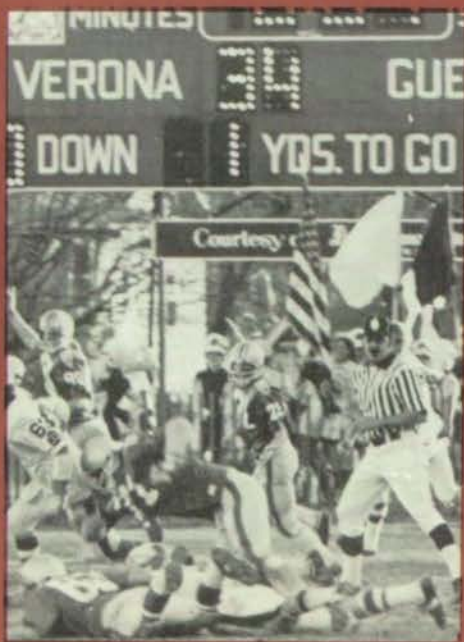

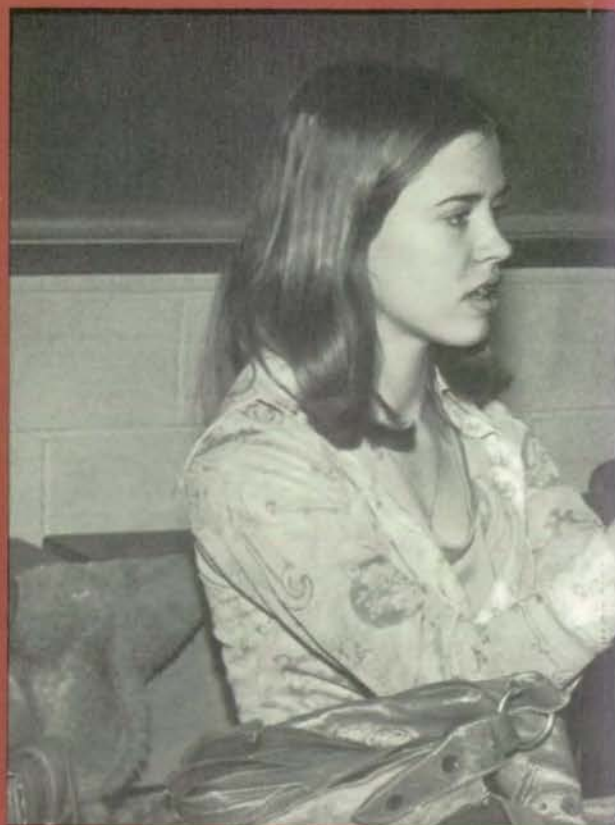

we face a
of time

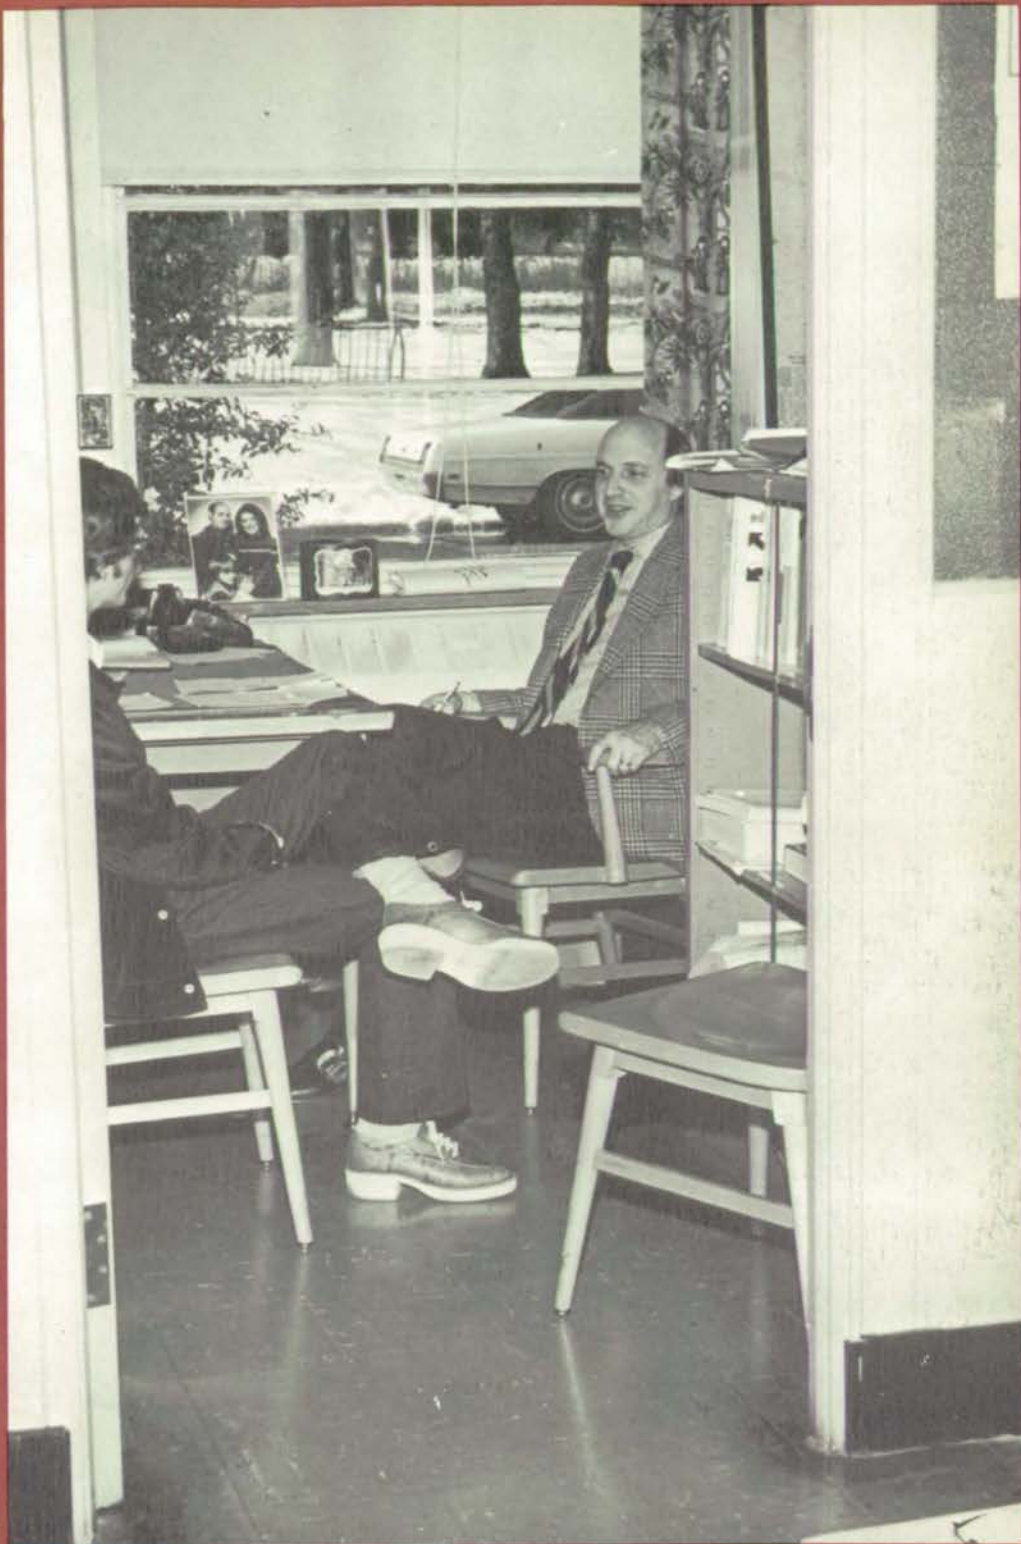

one unplotted and
unscheduled.

*the things that we've done,
the ways we've expressed ourselves will always remain alive in our memories*

*just as the future
is with us
in dreams.*

*with these thoughts in mind,
shadows 1975
has been molded into something more than
a picture book memory.
instead, it is the capturing
of a little bit of
time . . .*

. . . for eternity.

dedication

mrs. dorothy lozauskus

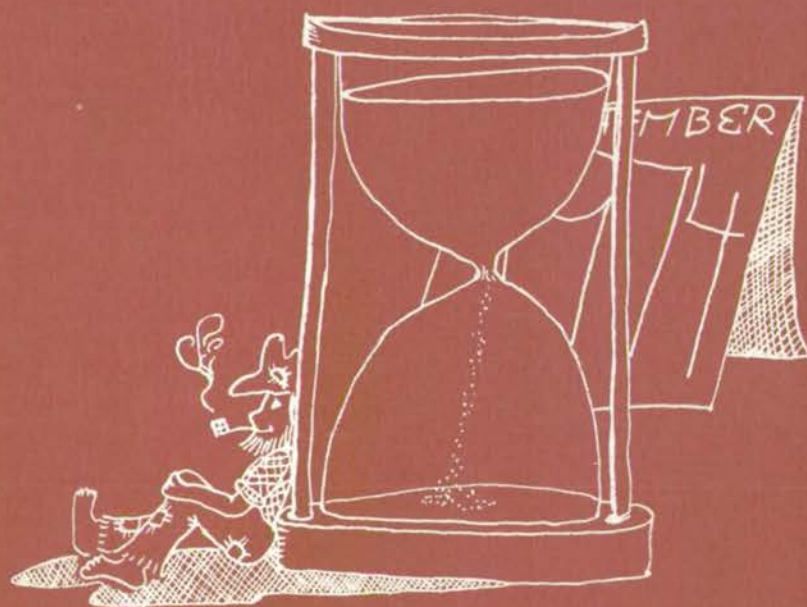

as comfortable running a junior prom as she is dissecting a frog, her bright smile and personality have touched just about every member of the senior class at one time over the last four years. those of us lucky enough to have been in her classes have had the chance to see a real teacher at work, while the rest of us know her as the terrific person she is. the editors of shadows 1975 take great pride in dedicating this yearbook to the woman who has advised our class since we entered verona high school four years ago — mrs. dorothy lozausek.

*you are a child of the universe, no less than the trees and the stars you have a right to be here. whether or not it is clear to you, no doubt the universe is unfolding as it should.
therefore be at peace with god, whatever you conceive him to be and whatever your labors and aspirations in the noisy confusion of life keep peace with your soul. with all its sham, drudgery and broken dreams, it is still a beautiful world. be careful, strive to be happy.*

i tell you that the children of yesteryears are walking in the funeral that they created for themselves . . . but the children of tomorrow are the ones called by life and they follow it with steady steps and heads high. they are the dawn of new frontiers, no smoke will veil their eyes and no jingle of chains will drown out their voices.

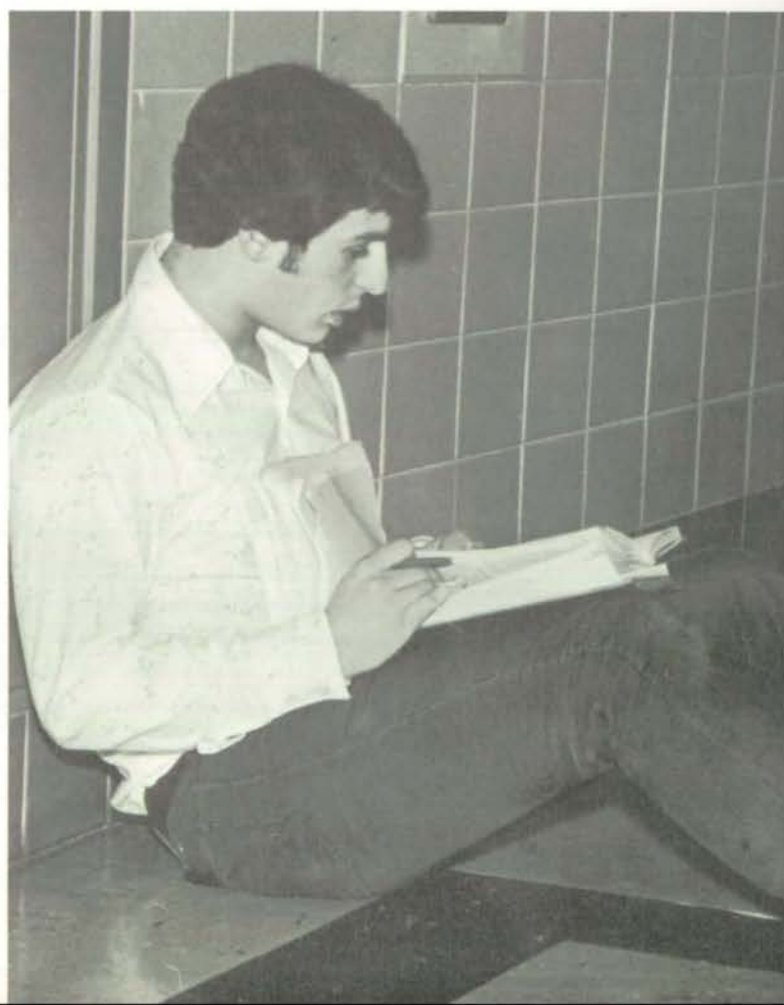

— kahlil gibran

as the years grow on me
i find that growing up
is also growing away
that with each new song i learn there is a tune that fades away with each new friend i meet i'll begin to forget the old and the feelings that i've always felt will drift away with time because with every today yesterday dies
and i find that growing up
is also growing away.
