Another successful year...

This year, our Marching Maroon and White placed second in the Roxbury Competition, first with the Highest Score in Show at the Verona Music Festival, and second at the West Orange High School Competition. The concert band was one of six bands from the Northeast selected to play at the Mid-Atlantic Wind Band Festival at Rutgers University. At the State Concert Band Festival hosted at VHS, our band received a gold rating and the Award for Outstanding Brass Section.

The Spotlight Players, advised by Mrs. Frances Young, began their year in the fall with a Night of Zombie Comedies featuring The 10 Ways To Survive the Zombie Apocalypse and All I Ever Needed to Know I Learned From Being a Zombie. These two one act plays, which mock the current Zombie Apocalypse infatuation, featured 29 actors and 38 stage crew members. The spring musical, Legally Blonde: The Musical, had one of the largest cast and crews in recent years: 32 actors, 61 stage crew members, and 12 instrumentalists made this show a major hit for the troupe. The One Act Festival followed, featuring six one act plays directed by nine students. All in all, the Spotlight Players' season was a theatrical success!

The Sisters

Look how the same possibilities unfold in their opposite demeanors, as though one saw different ages
passing through two identical rooms.

Each thinks that she props up the other while resting wearily on her support;
and they can't make use of one another,
for they cause blood to rest on blood,

when as in the former times they softly touch
and try, along the tree-lined walks,
to feel themselves conducted and to lead;
ah, the ways they go are not the same.

Written the night before their graduation from Lanning:

It seemed like yesterday we first walked you here scared, excited, and many things unclear.

These halls were barren their bricks seemed cold

This was going to be fun, or so you were told.

You all seemed too young to leave us already

We cried a bit, our emotions unsteady.

You walked through these doors with backpacks bigger than you

With minds and hearts open for all that would be new.

We wanted to call you back, maybe try next year

We knew you could do it, this was our own fear,

I look at all of you now, how much you have grown

The staff here has done well, their seeds they have sown

You have provided life to these bricks and color to these walls

With laughter and music and noise down these halls.

You have experienced so much, a love of learning has begun

To carry you forward as you take on the next rung

Of this ladder of experience in life and learning

That will make you want to know more, your curiosity burning

I will miss this part, and look forward to the next

Your life, thoughts and ideas will become more complex.

Know in your hearts and minds we are very proud of you

And our love and respect will always be true.

You are becoming great people, the kind I like to be with

Your next challenge after this a HB and grade fifth

To see you develop and know that learning's not a chore.

And as an adult and parent, nothing can please me more.

Love, Dad

Congrats!

As we turn the last page, shut this book and graduate, a new book will open before us: our futures. The pages are blank, and we are going to fill them with stories, memories, and laughs. We are going to fill them with a future. But, we will not forget where we came from. We will take our past with us on our journey. We will take who we have become as we become who we are meant to be. Here it comes. This is it.
