

Introduction

Awakening does not mean you have come to the point where you say ... "I have arrived." It is not only seeing the bad, the dishonest, and the hypocritical, but rising above them to see the good, the honest, and the truth. For an awakening is not an armistice, nor should it necessarily be a call to combat; far more, it is a desire to meet the potential of the dawning of life.

Awakening is learning to accept our individuality, to build on it, and to act through it so that it can be a major step toward living a fuller life. Our awakenings—the subtle changes that make us different from day to day, the knowledge gained by our experiences, and the learning to know ourselves—these began the day we were born. Awakening is appreciating our personal identities and accepting the fact that "I've Got To Be Me."

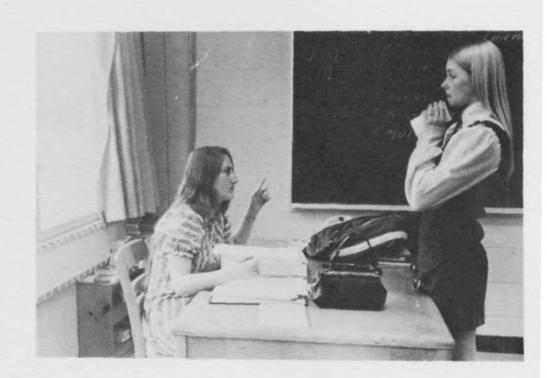

The most beautiful awakening comes when we see undefined faces turning into friends through shared experiences. It is learning to interpret the thoughts, feelings, and moods of others through their words, tones, inflections, facial expressions, and movements.

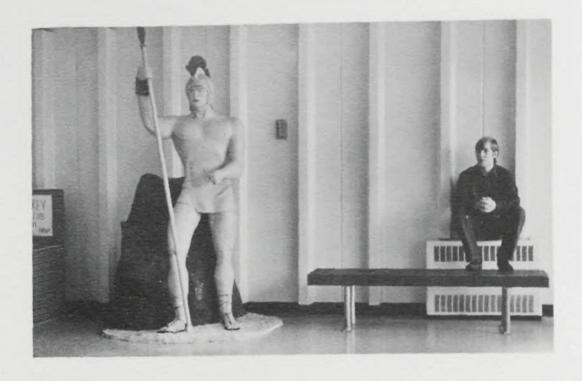

The slow comprehension and the final understanding, the pains, the joys, the laughter, the sorrows ... the emotions, all add and illuminate self-growth. For when we ask, we seek; when we help, we grow, and when we understand, we love. Thus, life offers so much more than surface reality, for our awakenings lead us to arenas unknown ...

Only that day dawns to which we are awake. The art of awareness is the art of learning how to wake up to the eternal miracle of life with its limitless possibilities. Henry D. Thoreau and Wilfred A. Peterson Seniors

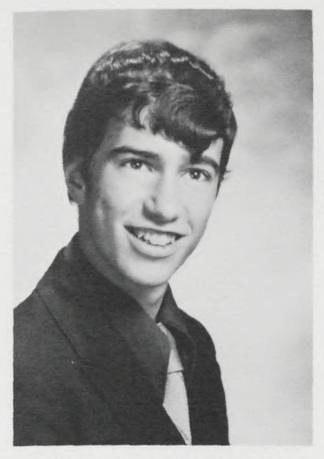

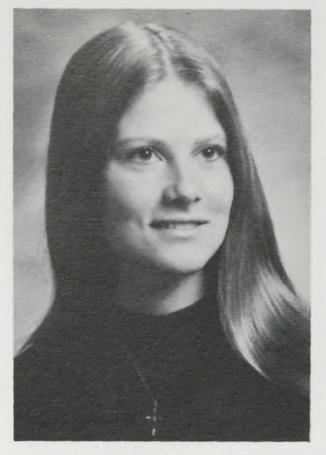

JOSEPH ORAVETZ, President

Senior Class Officers

RUTHANN HELLMICH, Vice-President

MRS. DOLORES TORRALBAS, Advisor

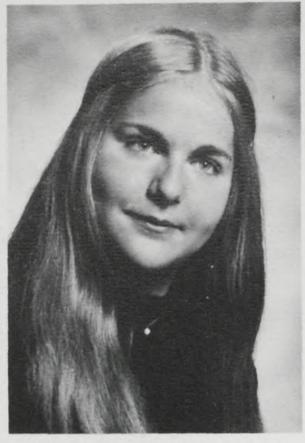

BEVERLY GLASSHOF, Secretary

The high school years are a time of discovery; they are an experience in which we become involved in relations with other people. The success of a class depends directly on the efforts and achievements of the students. The officers are responsible for instilling this initiative and awareness in each individual. Working together as a group can be a valuable experience—a time of awakening.

English is comprised of integrated courses of study ranging from the basic fundamentals of the language to the more abstract and creative uses of it. Each level of study advances along three common learning techniques: reception, reflection and expression. The goal in English is the mastery of the disciplined skills in thinking and communicating. In addition to the basic courses, the Department offers semester electives in Journalism, Public Speaking, and Drama as well as a Mini-course in units of ten weeks on Philosophy and Literature.

Language

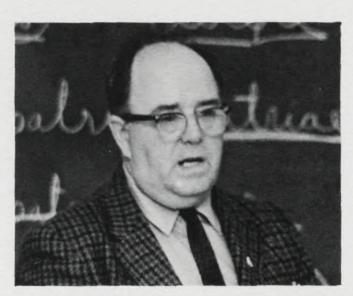

The study of a foreign language can enrich our knowledge of English. English is closely related to the Germanic languages which, together with the Romantic, originated from the Indo-European languages. Besides the appreciation of the derivations of English, a foreign language enables us to understand the thoughts and ideas of other cultures, thereby enabling a more effective effort towards international brother-hood and understanding.

The study of History is not limited to the study of one's native country. It is necessary to encompass the histories of other nations in order to observe differences, likenesses, and interactions between these various countries. History establishes constants, used as guidelines for present history. As Johann Wolfgang von Goethe said, "What you have inherited from your fathers, earn again for yourselves, or it will not be yours."

This year four Mini-courses, each extending over a period of ten weeks, have been added to the Department. These are Anthropology, Sociology, Psychology, and the Humanities.

Remedial Reading

There is a misconception existing that remedial reading is mainly for students with certain defects in reading. This is merely one of the concepts of this proggram. It has also been designed for the student who wishes to increase his comprehension of reading materials. It enables him to acquire speed and accuracy. It broadens a student's vocabulary as well as develops desirable study habits.

Business Education

Not only academic courses are responsible for better prepared individuals. Business Education develops in the students an awareness of his present role in life and his future involvement in it. Even if the pursuit of an academic life is chosen, certain business knowledges can still be beneficial. It is neccesary to be able to extract from one's resources maximum utilization and satisfaction.

The appreciation of music contributes to the production of a well-rounded intellect. Music is not only the ability to play an instrument or compose a major work. It requires the talents of being able to interpret passages and compositions. Music, like other arts, is the abstract appreciation of essential components of life: beauty, love, lyricism, and expression.

Physical Education not only emphasizes the need to be physically strong and competent. It can be an education in certain values and ethics. Physical Education promotes the capability to work with people with varying degrees of talent. A main quality that is instilled in students is good sportsmanship. The acceptance of a loss or a physical inferiority in a gallant manner is an asset to any person.

Industrial Arts

A school system does not operate solely to insure mental strength. The Industrial Arts Department offers courses to those students inclined to working with their hands. Skills in woodwork, metalwork, and mechanics are encouraged and strengthened. The use of tools to achieve desired results provides experience to those who plan to pursue a career in the industrial field. The department's main project, the field house on the football field, was completed this year.

In an era of constant changes and discoveries, there is a desire to achieve a medium for self-expression and creativity. Communication does not only exist in the form of words; it can take the form of images. Art interprets an experience through a visual production. Through art an individuality can be attained, that is, the exhibition of the artist's validity and an emphasis of artistic and expressive strengths.

In Home Economics, there exist numerous opportunities for experimentation and creativity. There are so many new boundaries that are available for exploration. Family Living, a part of the Home Economics program, emphasizes the aspect of human relationships. There is a necessity to resolve conflicts, between people and, more importantly, those which exist within one's self. Home Economics offers choices in self-fulfillment and in the direction of goals.

Nurse

An essential part of any school system is the school nurse. Her main purpose is to insure the health and well-being of the students. Not only in cases of accidents is the nurse valuable, but also in life, generally. With the demands that modern living is imposing on us, it is necessary to be made aware of how to care for one's self.

At one time or another, students may find that they are confronted with a problem that seems insoluble. Through representatives or alternates from the History or English classes, such a problem can be presented to the SCA which then examines possibilities to resolve such problems. Enthusiasm in the SCA was exhibited in the overwhelming support of the Care-Free Gum Contest which was for the beneft of the Joe Terry Fund.

Worry never baked a cake, built a bridge, won a battle, solved a problem, or prepared a yearbook for publication. Yet, somehow, the concern that accompanies worry finally leads to effective action and the hope that discovers what can be done instead of grumbling about what cannot. Thus, we set about the task of producing "Awakening '72".

We have attempted to communicate a portion of what student life means to us. In our effort to transmit the ideas and emotions of one person or group to the minds of others, we had to depend on the encouragement, support and cooperation of many people along the way. We were fortunate in having these.

Communication, at best, is a very chancy business since we offer to share with others a part of ourselves and thereby become vulnerable. That is, however, the price one pays for loving and giving. We experienced all the above plus the nagging doubts that perhaps our communication is not worth the risk of acceptance or rejection. But, we persevered and we present this sample of our progress toward true human development.

The Echo

Our school newspaper, The Echo, attempts to put into print a synopsis of all school activities and the reactions of students to these events. It offers the staff the opportunity to publish school news and features in good journalistic style. Other students are also given a chance to participate by expressing opinions and reactions to certain events on the editorial page. Published monthly, the Echo is the official newsheet of the school.

The Math Team is comprised of talented mathematic students who pit their abilities against those of students from over thirty other local schools in the Bergen County Interscholastic Mathematics League. Meets are held five times a year with trophies going to the three highest scorers in the county. The top scorer from each high school also receives a prize. The Waldwick team meets weekly under simulated meet conditions in an effort to sharpen mathematical skills prior to the actual meets.

Ski Club

The Waldwick High School Ski Club was organized to promote an interest and proficiency in skiing among the students of the high school. This year, the club made weekly trips to Vernon Valley Ski Area on Thursday evenings throughout the ski season. The final activity of the year was a three day trip to Lake Placid, New York, during the mid-winter vacation.

The WHS Ski Club attracted a total of one-hundred and fifty members with an average of one-hundred participating in the weekly trips to Vernon Valley.

DECA

The Distributive Education Clubs of America are student centered organizations whose program of leadership and personal development is designed specifically for students enrolled in Vocational Distributive Education programs offered by State Departments of Education and local school boards throughout the nation. Distributive Education identifies a program of vocational instruction for the field of marketing and distribution.

The DECA program of activities can complement, supplement, and strengthen the instructional program of Distributive Education. Combined with classroom instruction and significant projects, the DECA program of activities gives greater scope and depth to the total instructional program.

French Club

The purpose of the Advanced French Club is to stress the importance of French as a universally communicative and culturally prestigious language, and as a great intellectual and social influence on the rest of the world. Its goals are to further develop an appreciation for French culture, to provide an opportunity for students to practice the French language outside of class, and to enable former students of French to continue their interests in the language and culture.

This year's activities have included the presentation of scenes from "Le Bourgeois Gentilhomme", an International Christmas Party in conjunction with the other foreign language groups, a trip to New York for lunch and a French film, and the annual banquet at the end of the year.

Color Guard

R. Weisheit, Capt.

The Color Guard squad completes the performance of the band and majorettes with its colors and marching routines. This year the squad took part in the Herald News Band Festival and made a fine showing under the direction of its advisor, Miss Marsha Blum. The squad also participated in the West Essex Band Festival where it assisted the band in winning second place overall and first place in our division.

College. This year, spirits ran high and the squad was awarded the Spirit Stick.

The squad strives to keep the spirits of the spectators high so that this ebullience might be transmitted to the team. The cheerleaders' success in heightening the games' atmosphere greatly increases the drive toward victory. Aside from cheering at games, the cheerleaders lead chants and cheers around the bonfire, and sponsor the sock hop.

Marching Band

The Waldwick High School Marching Band is not really a separate performing group. Essentially, it is the Symphonic Band playing outside with a slightly different instrumentation. A regular rehearsal schedule is followed during football season and extra rehearsals later in the year are called as needed.

This year, the Marching Band participated in the Herald News Band Festival. In the West Essex Band Festival, it garnered second place overall and first place in the division.

The Symphonic Band is the main performing group of Waldwick High School. Membership is limited to students who can perform from the Rubank Advanced Band Method Vol. 1 or the equivalent. In cases where the balance of sections must be a consideration, only the most advanced students will be accepted.

The Symphonic Band meets regularly during the school day, but the band's repertoire is extensive and difficult creating the need for many after school rehearsals during the course of a school year. When performances are scheduled, such as the Christmas and Spring Concerts, several after school rehearsals are called. Students who are placed in the Symphonic Band must attend these after school rehearsals as programs of the highest musical value cannot be developed without them.

Officers: (Row 1): V. WongWah, Woodwinds; M. Duggan, Vice-pres; E. Sam, Wardrobe Mistress; R. Gerster, Sec; (Row 2): T. Oelschlager, Historian; J. Carfello, Pres; J. Gray, Brass; J. Bruscino, Librarian; M. Morelli, Percussion.

Wind Ensemble

This year's Wind Ensemble consists of select members from the Symphonic Band. Only members of the Symphonic Band are eligible to try out for the Wind Ensemble. The group performed in the Christmas as well as Spring Concert.

Concert Band

The Concert Band is open to all students who have at least one year of lessons on a band instrument. The function of the Concert Band is to develop the student's technique, interest, and musical discipline to the point where he can join a more advanced group.

Choruses

Waldwick High School now has four separate vocal groups: the Senior Chorus, the Senior Vocal Ensemble, the Girls' Chorus and Odyssey. The membership of the groups totals one hundred and sixty-five students. Highlights of the year include the performance of Handel's "Hallelujah Chorus" by all four groups with accompaniment by a tape of the Moog synthesizer.

Senior Chorus

The Senior Chorus is composed of sixty-five students from all four grades. The activities of the group are wide. It presented twenty-three programs this year and participated in an exchange trip with Hasbrouck Heights. The enthusiasm and hard work of the members have contributed to the group's success.

The Odyssey, open to all eighth grade boys is a vocal group which meets twice weekly. Their Spring Program included songs by popular and current performers with instrumental accompaniment.

F.T.A.

Under the direction of Mrs. Anne Augustyn, the Future Teachers of America Club has set out to fulfill their purpose of acquainting students with what is involved with teaching and preparation for teaching. This year they visited the Waldwick grade schools to view the teachers and their techniques and to learn of the students' attitudes.

Health Careers Club

For those students who intend to pursue a health career in the future, the Health Careers Club offers a general idea of the different fields available to them. It tries to get speakers on different aspects of such a career. The club has funds to offer a scholarship to a member of the club who has been in good standing for at least two years and who is going into the health field. This year, the Health Careers Club assisted the Cerebral Palsy Center of Ridgewood during their annual campaign in collecting funds. Members participated in a field trip to the Veterans Hospital in East Orange in the spring.

The Science Fiction Club meets bi-weekly to discuss science fiction novels, stories, and movies. The club sponsors movies throughout the year, one of which was, "Burn, Witch, Burn". A fan magazine, known as a fanzine, is being contemplated with articles to be written by the members of the club and other interested students.

Science Fiction Club

"New wave" versus "old wave" is just one of the literate topics discussed by the imaginative Science Fiction Club. While traditionalists think of Science Fiction in terms of bug-eyed monsters and flying saucers, members of the Science Fiction Club have become aware of the more innovative works in speculative fiction. The club holds bi-weekly meetings to read articles written by the members and to plan special events. The first such special event was the showing of the film Burn Witch Burn. The members hope to spread interest in Science Fiction throughout the school community.

Sports Queen, Kim Anthony.

Sports Queen

The Boosters' Association held its Annual Sports Queen competition in the fall of this past year. A selected group of fifteen junior and senior girls were judged before an audience on their poise, appearance and response to the questions asked of them. At the end of the exciting evening, Kim Anthony was chosen Sports Queen for 1971-1972 with Chris Gill, Wanda Spayd, Sandy Hellmich, and Cathy Becker as her court.

Runners-up: Fourth, Cathy Beck; Third, Wanda Spayde; Second, Sandy Hellmich; First, Christine Gill

Under the direction of Mr. Stewart Brush, an able group of juniors and seniors presented this year's class play, "The Courtship of Eddie's Father". This comedy was about a small boy who fiinally succeeds in matching up his widowed father with another woman after many futile attempts.

Junior Prom

King Ozzie Osorio and Queen Bonnie Niblette.

Court: R. Weber; K. McClatchey; B. Niblette, Queen; O. Osorio, King; C. Connelly; D. Cristiano; C. Zacharin; J. Tosto.

"Atlantis" was the theme of the Junior Prom held on April 15, 1971. After many weeks of planning and hard work, the underwater mission was complete. Dancing in the atmosphere of the ancient ruins, Junior couples enjoyed the music provided by the Bokenjo Trio. At midnight, Ozzie Osorio and Bonnie Niblette were crowned King and Queen.

It was a beautiful evening and one whose memories will remain for a long time in the hearts of all who attended.

The theme "Color My World", along with the elegance of The Manor in East Orange, made February 25, 1972 one of the beautiful memories of our Senior Year. Throughout the evening, couples enjoyed the music of The Continentals. At midnight, Mr. Wrenn announced the King, Queen, and their Court. John Ainley and Inger Katz were chosen as the Royal Couple. Their Court members were: Pat Bradley, Dave Cristiano, Christine Gill, Mike LePore, Ruthann Hellmich, Ben Mondello, Kathy McClatchey, and Pat Pantoliano.

for those who keep learning are opposed to the superficiality of the merely "learned" ... for they combine the expansiveness of vision with a sense of their own limitations ...

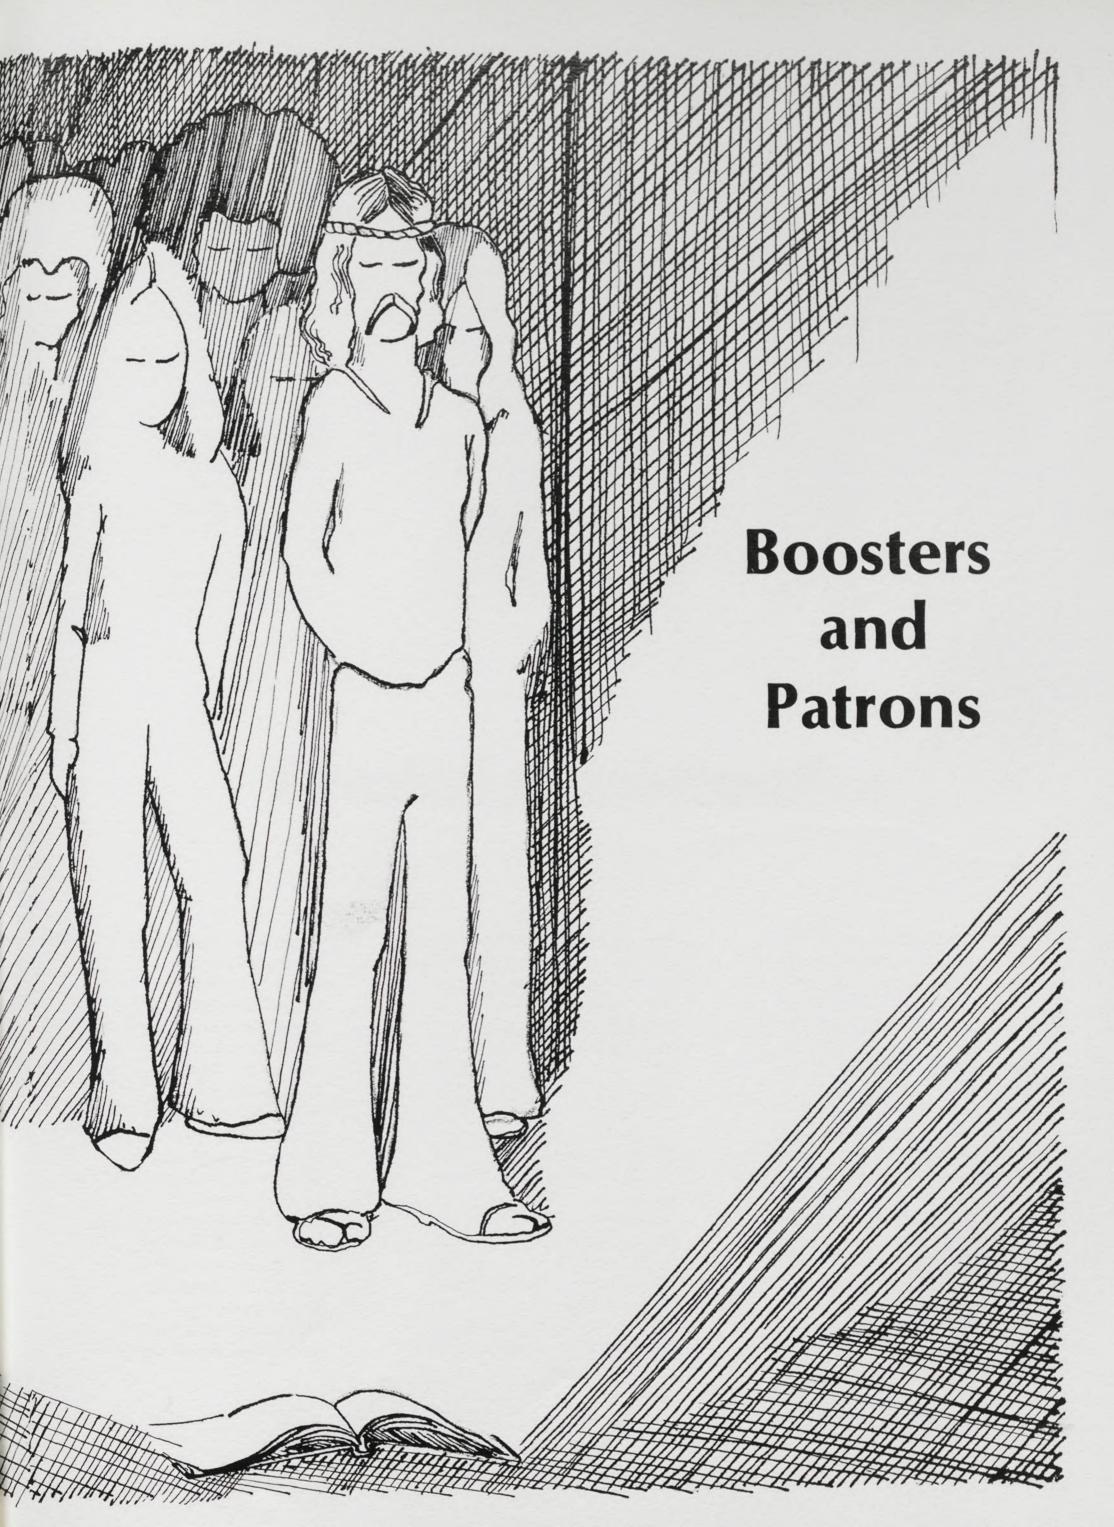

And furthermore by heeding Shakespeare's advice, "To thy own self be true", one not only awakens to knowledge of himself, but he is unafraid to say, "This is who I am!"

As we begin to understand our individual selves, we realize that the most important awakening occurs when we accept ourselves the way we are. This realization then leads us to a better understanding of our peers.

Through my involvement and dedication to this yearbook, I have learned that working with other people in harmony is a result of mutual understandings. Thus, we decided upon the theme of Awakening '72.

Now that the work on this book is complete. I would like to give my sincerest thanks to those who have worked so diligently. To Randy White, whose initiative in the business section helped bring about this yearbook; Sue Koehler, whose aid and moral support helped me through the discouraging times; to my section editors for their patient and timely work; to all those who helped in the production of this book; and finally to Mr. Murray, our advisor, I extend my warmest thanks.

P.C.S., Editor

We wish to express our gratitude to those who have contributed their artwork. Marianne Cenno: Title page, Seniors, Faculty and Administration, Underclassmen. Diane Perry: Sports
Patricia Griffin: Features and Organizations
Kevin Grimsdale: Epilog
Beverley Bolding and Mr. Heidloff: Boosters and Patrons

Special thanks to Barbara Silvan for her patience with her printing pen, and to Ruthann Hellmich for her willingness to help.
