Traffic Clogs Wayne

This 4th the Parade Was on Route 23

BY FRAN FRIEND

WAYNE — The first heavy influx of traffic on Wayne's highways took place this weekend as residents and out-of-towners made their way upcounty to the lake areas.

Wayne police report that very heavy traffic snarled movement on Route 23 and tied up Route 46 for hours on Sunday afternoon. A total of 110 radar summonses was given out by local police on Route 46 alone while scores of motorists on Route 23 trying to bypass the backup were given summonses for driving on the shoulders of the highway.

Traffic in the northbound lane of Route 23 was backed up from the junction of Routes 23, 46, and 80 to the Ratzer Road circle. Vehicles came to a strandstill in the sticky heat and many of the cars overheated. On Route 46 where traffic moved freely, motorists were tagged for excessive speeding.

No serious accidents were reported over the weekend on any of the township's highways. Police said the heavy traffic of summer's first official holiday previews heavy traffic expected on all of Wayne's highways this summer. Wayne is the route used by most motorists to reach the lake country to the north and every weekend in the summer highways are jammed with motorists seeking relief from the heat of the cities. Traffic on Routes 46 and 23 is especially heavy.

Wayne officials emphasized again the need for widening and improving Route 23 through this community. Route 23 has carried the brunt of northbound traffic for many years in spite of its outmoded traffic circles. The highway has been the scene of numerous serious accidents and several fatalities. The widening and improvement of the roadway includes plans to add several lanes for north and south bound traffic and to divide the highway with a wide median strip. A number of years ago following several fatalities on Route 23, crossovers were closed down by the late Mayor Edward Sisco. The number of serious accidents dropped dramatically afterward.

NO PARADES

While no parades were scheduled for the holiday the local American Legion Post had a free fireworks display on Friday night behind the municipal complex. It was attended by several hundred Wayne residents. The program is held annually by the American Legion Post 174 in Wayne.

Question Urban Renewal Report

WAYNE — The report of the mayor's Blue Ribbon Panel on Wayne Urban Renewal Affairs came under fire last week in a memo to Mayor Newton E. Miller submitted by the local council with five specific questions on the content of the report.

As the Local Public Agency the council is directly concerned with the urban renewal project in Wayne.

The memo from the council asks the identity of the members of the panel, the area of their expertise, the authors of the report, whether the report represents the unanimous view of the committee and if the report is not unanimous if there is a minority report, and asks why the report is unsigned. The memo also asks why the committee was reorganized in December of 1971.

The report of the Blue Ribbon Panel charges that the project in Wayne "has moved at a snail's pace" pointing out that the first parcel of land in the project was acquired in October 1969. The urban renewal area in Wayne provides for redevelopment of approximately 95 acres. The entire project includes 1500 acres. The total assessment for the land to be acquired and resold for redevelopment is $4,838,720 with an annual tax yield of $159,644. It is expected to bring between $50 to $60 million in taxes annually after completion of the project.

Quadrants 3 and 4 have been acquired in part by the Farcal Realty Company. Several parcels are in litigation while others are still being negotiated. Several residents and businesses have been relocated by the project staff.

The project in Wayne has been unique in some respects. Unlike the typical urban renewal project, the Wayne project has sought sponsors before the entire area was assembled. The Wayne

Mayer, Miller Memorial Day Decision Next Wed.

WAYNE — A decision on a civil complaint involving Mayor Newton E. Miller and Eric Mayer of the Passaic County Peace Center will be handed down by Judge Alexander Fasoli on July 12.

The judge told attorneys for both sides that he will render his decision in July following an eight hour hearing last Friday in Wayne's Municipal Court which saw a parade of witnesses testify for both Mayor Miller and Mayer. Judge Fasoli heard the case in place of Municipal Court Judge James J. Murner who, as a Miller appointee, had disqualified himself.

Mayer charged Mayor Newton E. Miller with assault and battery; disturbing and obstructing an assembly; interfering and molesting. Mayer, 5 Wineshah Ave., Peace Center co-chairman, was charged by Detective Johnny Liebchen of violating a township ordinance by making, aiding and assisting a disturbance. Assistant Township Attorney Robert S. Meraff entered not-guilty pleas for the Mayor and John Fiorello representing Mayer also pleaded not-guilty.

Judge Alexander Fasoli of Midland Park who presided said he will carefully review the testimony and deliver his decisions in open court.

A letter permitting the Peace Center to parade to the Memorial Plaza with special conditions obtained after a request to a Council conference meeting was entered as evidence. The group was to assemble at the Wayne Mall Shopping Center at Hamburg Tpke. and Valley Road and follow one-quarter to one-half mile behind the regular parade. Later a vote was taken and the group drove to the A & P Shopping Center on Valley Rd. and Preakness Ave. and reassembled. The group of some 25 persons was mostly under 18 years.

Permit

When asked by Police Lt. Donald Pavlak if he had a permit,

Mayer said he went home to get it and after he exhibited the letter to Pavlak, he was told to "march in peace."

The regular parade ceremonies had ended when Mayer and Alvin Lubin, a member of the Peace Center, led the group carrying a 12 to 14 feet banner.

When they entered the exit "Y" leg of the Municipal complex roadway the Mayor who had just left his office, snapped a picture and told them to go to the school grounds as they had last year. Mayer refused and said he had no permit for that area. He testified that the Mayor pushed him back twice and he dropped the banner.

Mayor Miller said that Mayer had put his arm up to brush him aside and Miller said he had his hands out and Mayer brushed against his hand with his shoulder. Miller said he made a statement to no one in particular that "this man should be arrested, I think he is in violation of something." He said he was surprised later when he saw Mayer in a police car.

Apology

The permission letter which was shown to Det. Sgt. William Monzo by Lubin was given to the Mayor. After reading it, the Mayor told Monzo, "You will have to let them go to the flag site." He told Mayer "I'll have to apologize to you. Have fun."

The group walked to the flag and Rabbi Israel Dresner of Temple Beth Tikvah, a marcher, held a brief memorial service.

After the service Mayer went to Police Headquarters and filed the complaints against the Mayor.

Det. Liebchen who placed the complaint against Mayer said he raised his hand for the marchers to stop in the driveway and told them to go to the school area. He said his directions were not heeded and when they continued to march and the banner was wrapped around him nearly encircling him, he called for assistance.

At the request of both lawyers witnesses for both parties were sequestered. Fierillo called for testimony in addition to Mayer, Rabbi Dresner, and Lubin; Frederick Demier, township clerk; Ronald Pelieri, 58 Green Knoll Drive, Wayne Board of Educ.; David Waks, 38 Knox Terrace, councilman; Jack McGough, 20 Kimberly Ave.; Cesar Fernandez, 36 Normandy Dr.; and Neil Lampel, 98 Berkeley Court; marchers; and Robert Lanzetti, 40B Salisbury Rd; a reporter.

In their summations Fiorello said the testimony was overwhelming and Moraff said there was no criminal culpability as far as the Mayor was concerned.

Urban Renewal Report Questioned

council has interviewed all prospective sponsors. When the parcels were assembled the project was moved with the selected sponsor. Under the contract with the sponsor the land must be developed in conformance with the plan for the area.

The report of the Blue Ribbon Panel questions the need for widening Route 23 before construction begins. The council and the Urban Renewal Director have called for the highway widening before construction begins, pointing out that the development by Farcal Realty alone will dump an estimated additional 30,000 vehicles on Route 23 every day. They also cite a 1967 agreement with the state Department of Transportation which calls for widening and improving the highway.

A suggestion in the report that the township could "quick take" the land under negotiation was questioned since the policy of the township has been permit owners of property in the area to avail themselves of all legal means to protect their interests.

Some speculation has also taken place on whether the report which came out under a heading of the Mayor's Blue Ribbon Panel on Wayne Urban Renewal Affairs was prepared by any or all of the members of the Mayor's Blue Ribbon Committee on Wayne Urban Renewal. The members of the Committee include Donald Vander Mark, chairman; George Lodato, co-chairman; Mrs. George Lodato, secretary; John J. Cuff, Mrs. Edward De Boo, Andrew Frommelt, William Garafalo, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Holcomb, Lester Holdsworth, George Malstrom, Christopher and William Monahan, John Phelan, Jack Shepard, Mrs. Robert Wiltshire and George C. Mammola. Holdsworth and Mammola are new members who replaced George H. Sullivan and Rosemary Wines

Wayne Women Aid Wilkes-Barre

WAYNE — B'nai B'rith women of Wayne, in conjunction with Garden State Council, B'nai B'rith, are rolling truckloads of canned goods to Wilkes-Barre, Pa. flood victims Friday and Sunday.

Persons wishing to donate canned goods for flood victims are requested to contact one of three officers of B'nai B'rith, Wayne. Mrs. Ricky Hartman, president at 694-4528; Mrs. Adrea Cohen, civic affairs chairman at 696-8948; and Mrs. Deanna Blair, vice president at 696-1981. The women request donations be made Thursday and Friday.

Mrs. Hartman says the Wilkes-Barre victims were forgotten after the flood, and to date little state or federal aid helps them in their plight.

The Garden State Council, B'nai B'rith is composed of 20 chapters in Bergen, Hudson and Passaic counties.

'Agnes' Losses Deductible On Federal Tax Returns

NEWARK — New Jersey homeowners whose property was damaged by recent storms and floods may be able to deduct some of their losses on their 1972 Federal income tax return as casualty losses.

"Don't wait until next April to determine the amount of damage to your property by typical storm Agnes. Establish your records now." This advice is from Roland J. Nash, Jr., New Jersey District Director for the Internal Revenue Service.

Although the cost of debris removal, repairs and replacement is not an exact measure of the amount allowable as a casualty loss, it is helpful in making a final determination. Snapshots or other photographs of the damage as well as of the property before and after restoration will also be helpful.

Nash explained that the amount of a casualty loss for tax purposes is the difference between the fair market value of the property immediately before and immediately after the damage. The first $100 of any loss cannot be deducted and neither can any portion of a loss which was reimbursed by insurance.

Property owners with losses caused by Agnes are advised to obtain Publication 547, "Tax Information on Disasters, Casualty Losses and Thefts," from any New Jersey IRS office. It contains complete information on determining and reporting flood losses.

Edith Thomas, Wayne Aviatrix

BY FRAN FRIEND

When the annual powder puff derby takes off from California next month a Wayne businesswoman will be among the 105 women who will pit their skills against the clock in the 3,000 mile cross country race. The four day race will see flyers from all over the country competing for the honor of out flying records every popular make of airplane.

Wayne's Edith Thomas, who manages the North Jersey Meat Supply Company on Hamburg Turnpike, will leave the cares of the business world to associates when she takes off to participate in one of the most exciting races for women in the country.

Edith has been flying for the past seven years ever since the flying bug bit her after her first flight in a Piper Cub. Today she is the pilot of a Cessna 210 which she will fly in the race under the sponsorship of the Chatham Airport in Morristown.

Her interest since her first flight has increased over the years and her entry in the derby this year marks the fourth time she has pitted her skill against the top women flyers of the country.

"The first time I was invited for a ride in an airplane I made up my mind to take flying lessons," she explained. "I've been flying now for seven years and I love every minute of it."

Although many of the contestants will fly with co-pilots, Edith prefers to fly alone. "The idea of the race," she said, "is to try to beat the time the manufacturer thinks his plane will take to fly from San Carlos Airport in San Mateo County near San Francisco to Tom's River. The first pilot to touch down is not necessarily the winner. In fact, it may take some time to decide just who the winner is."

The pilots are permitted to stop to refuel or even to rest but there are two mandatory stops along the route. "It's very exciting," she said. "Of course, I don't know whether or not I will place this year. There's a lot of skill required and a little bit of luck. Some of the finest pilots in the country take part in the race and I'm so happy to be in it."

Edith has made her home in Wayne for many years but she is a native of Germany as her very charming accent reveals. She has raised her family in Wayne and has enjoyed running her business on the Turnpike.

She is the mother of three children, Mrs. Edith Walther, Mrs. Harold Bailey and Diane at home. The family circle is completed by assorted dogs, birds and fish. All of them will be rooting for their favorite aviatrix in the four day grueling race ahead. Wayne joins in wishing this petite, charming lady a very happy landing!

Agnes Floats Habitat's Ark; Landfall July 15

WEST MILFORD — "Noah may have had some bad weather, but he didn't have a full week of Agnes," said R. Brian Hunt, President of Warner Bros. Jungle Habitat, as he announced the delay of the $10 million drive-thru wildlife preserve's opening.

Originally scheduled to open on a 1,000 acre site in West Milford, July 1, preserve officials have now set the opening date for Saturday, July 15. "Construction was on schedule until our crews were virtually immobilized by the storm's torrential rains. Agnes was definitely an unwelcomed guest," continued Hunt. "With hundreds of animals and birds in residence, our first concern during the severe weather conditions was their welfare," Hunt said. "Fortunately, every one of them came through in good shape, thanks to dedicated employees who worked around the clock taking care of them."

Hardest hit by the killer storm were the roads winding through the preserve. "Many of them were only partially completed," stated Hunt. "By the time Agnes decided to call it quits, you couldn't walk on the trail, much less drive heavy construction equipment on it."

The main road at Warner Bros. Jungle Habitat is the Safari Trail along which visitors will travel in their cars. A minimum of adjustments were made in the preserve's terrain since the site was originally chosen for its lush vegetation, and its similarity to the native homelands of many species of wildlife which will be housed on the site. Buildings on the preserve, including a 500 seat amphitheatre, restaurant facilities, and an Artifact Shop, were in various stages of completion when the rains began falling last week. In certain cases, windows had not yet been installed, leaving the interior of the buildings open for water damage.

"We're just now beginning to realize the extent of the damages, but barring a visit from one of Agnes' unruly sisters, there's no reason why we can't count on a July 15 opening," said Hunt. Hunt.

Flood Undermines House In Lincoln Park

LINCOLN PARK — Mrs. Marlene Albey feels that she has a legitimate complaint against the Township, one that has been brought to a head by the recent flooding.

Mrs. Albey, who has lived at 52 Riveredge Road for some 30 years, had no problems until the township installed a storm drain at the corner of her property. After that time, she said, the water has been washing away the front of her property with each rain, until now the house has begun to sag.

At her own expense she has moved in fill and installed it herself. "The city should be doing this work," she complained, "but they just laugh at me."

In 1968, before the drain was installed, she had no problems, but in the subsequent years, water damage has so damaged her house that she can no longer shut her front door, she said.

Mrs. Albey, who is a widow, says that she can't hire a lawyer to look into her claims, and says that the township has not given her anything except promises.

'SUGAR' — A 450 pound tiger, looks over construction plans with R. Brian Hunt of Jungle Habitat, the new drive-thru animal preserve in West Milford. Owing to excessive rains, the opening of the new family recreation facility has been moved to July 15.

Dampened Spirit

The spirit of Independence Day celebrations seems dampened in recent years. Town gatherings for parades, fanfare and patriotic speeches lose their appeal and sometimes vanish. Many persons would rather pile into the car for a long weekend vacation. The town becomes less of a center for the day's observance.

Some of the happiness has gone out of the holiday. We hear reports of traffic casualties. A cloud hangs over Wayne's observance as a scuffle is being decided in court between the mayor and an anti-war marcher during the Memorial Day parade.

Surely the issue of an unpopular war takes joy out of our patriotic celebration. Other "woes" of our country dampen that spirit. Problems of our cities such as crime, congestion and drugs and the spread of those problems to the suburbs.

But Independence Day and other patriotic holidays shouldn't bring gloom. The traditions these holidays celebrate have not been wiped away. The fundamental truths expressed in the Constitution and Bill of Rights still hold firm. We live in the most productive country on earth. Our political structure is most responsive to the public need. Our laws give the most equitable protection.

Today's America is more complicated, more tried, but its foundation is as strong as it ever was. Independence Day should renew our faith in the face of the trials our country undergoes.

Notes From a Friend

By Fran Friend

NOW THE OTHER SIDE OF THE COIN... There was a story in last Wednesday's edition about the George Baker family which had outfitted a bus as a camper. The Bakers you may recall wanted to park their bus somewhere in Wayne during the hurricane but were refused permission to stay anywhere. They eventually found hospitality across the line in Lincoln Park.

Yours truly got a call last weekend from Mrs. Antonio Calbo of 61 Riverlawn Drive and Mrs. Calbo had a story of her own to tell. It seems she and her husband have six children ranging in age from 15 to 2. They have had a school bus of their own for the past 2 years and have never had a problem finding somewhere to park it.

The bus has four seats which can be converted to beds and sterno burners but it is not used as a camper. Mrs. Calbo said they drove the bus to Anthony Wayne Junior High School and took shelter there for the duration of the emergency. According to her estimate there was room for twice the number of people who went to the school. There should have been no problem finding room for a few more.

The problem, of course, is not that the Bakers could not find shelter in the school. In their case they wanted to live in the bus, not merely use it for transportation, and that's where they ran into a snag. Mr. and Mrs. Calbo feel the story casts an unjust reflection on the town and they want the record cleared. So that's the story. O.K.?

MAROONED... or darn near. Where were you on Friday about 4 p.m.? When that rain came down again, believe me, a few people got worried. Including yours truly. For awhile I thought I'd have to spend half the night on Hamburg Turnpike. It was really wild. The roadway was covered with about four inches of water, maybe more. And would you believe, motorists were speeding through it? Quite a few of them lost their brakes and power steering and one hapless driver lost a hose from his car. It's probably still in the roadway near Jackson Avenue.

THE BIG DAY IS JULY 12... That's when the judge is supposed to hand down his decision in the first civil action between Mayor Newton E. Miller and Eric Mayer. That's just the first round. The hearing on Friday drew quite a few interested spectators and ran for eight hours. Seems like an awful waste of time, effort and money for an incident which should never have happened in the first place.

LOOK FOR MORE PRESSURE TO BE EXERTED... to acquire High Mountain for parkland. The local group pushing the project is determined to see the Mountain preserved. They are getting good support from other interested communities and stepped up pressure in Wayne looks like it will get them results.

COURT ACTION... on the Swiss Village development is no surprise. This case could very well go the way of the Meyer Brothers case...which means fight it long enough and you can change a lot of things. How the residents in the area will react is something else again but if the courts give the go ahead there isn't much else anyone can do.

The Governor's VIEW

By Gov. William T. Cahill

Just a little over a week ago I signed into law the 1972-73 budget which I have called a hold-the-line budget because it contains few new programs, and the increases in existing programs are held to an absolute minimum.

As with most things in government where strong opposing views frequently clash, the budget represents a compromise. It contains provisions, not for all the programs I would like to see in operation in the State, but as many of them as I felt we could afford at this time.

I am sure there are some people, whose project or interest was not included, who feel it was more important than some which were included. There are bound to be such people unless every proposal and project is included and no state could afford the billions that would cost.

There are others who feel that the budget now contains too many programs and, therefore, too much spending and that it should have been cut back. To them I can only answer that I submitted to the Legislature what I considered the bare necessities of what is required, and the Legislature added another million dollars of expenditures to it.

There are also some persons who believe that budgets can be reduced by some nebulous and unspecified economies in the operation of State Government. I can assure them that economies have been exhaustively pursued. One of my first acts after assuming office was the appointment of a management study commission whose efforts and recommendations in streamlining government operations resulted in savings of more than $50 million to the taxpayers of this State.

Governments are no different than businesses or even households in that they have to have the necessary funds in order to operate. First of all, there are obligations for which there are no options. These are commitments that previous governors and legislatures have made that must be met every year. It can be compared to the homeowner's mortgage payment that has to be paid every month, regardless of other demands or desires he may have. Secondly, there is the problem of inflation. The costs of the goods and services the State purchases are rising, the same as they are rising for every householder and every businessman and are beyond the control of the State.

To meet these increased costs, we have had to raise additional revenues and the primary source of State funds is, of course, taxes. We were able to reduce the amount of additional revenues required through application of $111,429,770 in funds raised by the State lottery. I won't go into an explanation of the specific distribution of those funds at this time, and I think there is sufficient public interest to make it the subject of a separate column.

The budget, as finally drafted, required $146 million in additional revenue. Rather than increase the sales tax, as some suggested, I elected to impose small increases on specific taxes, principally, gasoline and diesel fuel, corporation income tax, commercial vehicles and alcoholic beverages. I felt these would be less burdensome to our citizens and that the categories taxed would still be in line with similar charges in neighboring states.

These changes enabled me to present a balanced budget to the Legislature. It is one which provides for all of our essential needs in educational, transportation, our institutions, public safety and all the other services our citizens require and demand of State Government, and it provides the resources to pay for them.

This has been achieved with full regard for the citizen's legitimate concern for the cost of government, and further responsiveness to this concern in the administration of the budget will be our primary goal in the fiscal year ahead.

Wallace, the Last Rebel

By IRA BERKOW
WITH WALLACE CAMPAIGN — There have been some changes made in Alabama Gov. George Wallace, but most of them have been on the surface.

He dresses differently, for one. He is not exactly mod—his pants have cuffs, his black shoes are standard businessman's wing-tips—but his ties are wider and more colorful than ever. His second wife, Cornelia (a one-time runnerup in the Miss Alabama contest), seems more conscious of clothes than his late first wife, Lurleen. "I help George match his shirt and tie and suit," she said. "He couldn't do that himself to save his life."

His thinning auburn hair is still combed back in neat lines and parted high and still sprouts flecks of dandruff. But the hair is a bit longer than ever and he uses Sudden Beauty hair spray to keep it in place.

And he is still one of the hand-shakingest politicians around. Once he even shook the hand of a mannequin and went right on without realizing it. And he will go into an office and shake the hand of a surprised secretary who is speaking on the phone.

"But I don't run across the fields to shake one farmer's hand anymore," he said. "I found that you go on TV and look unhealthy—and you lose more votes than you gained."

And to the question, "Do you still use the word 'nigger,'" he said, "I never used that word—(lower) in public."

In his speeches, though, he talks about "welfare chisellers" and the audience knows who the man from the Deep South is talking about. He talks about not givin' foreign aid to every "hottentot country" and the audience understands the thinly coded reference, and he talks about being against busin', and all listeners understand who he doesn't want bused where and why.

He is the Last Rebel. He is never far from fighting the White Southerner's hundred-years-old fight. And he says he has been making the same speech ever since he first ran for governor in 1958.

He says he is not trying to say a harm word against any race, but he is for a segregated society, still. He says he has no apologies for the time he stood in front of the door at a University of Alabama building and refused in front of federal authorities to permit black students.

"The blacks wanted separation, too," said Wallace.

Then why, he was asked, are they working so hard for integration now?

"They changed," he said. Then his face scrunched up around the cigar in his mouth. "Why you wanna talk about something that happened 10 years ago? Why you wanna talk about that? Let's talk about the issues. Let's talk about all those millionaires who don't pay taxes because of loopholes. Let's talk about them false liberals."

He was asked what a false liberal is. He said, "A man who wants to give everyone freedom to do anything he damn pleases."

Does that make you a true liberal?

"Well, no," he said. "I mean, a liberal is just a word that the news media made up."

But you use it. He thought for a moment.

"I reckon I'm bein' inconsistent," he said shyly.

There are three views of George Wallace. One is that he is a racist demagogue who would like to subvert human rights. Another is that he is simply a typical politician who will do anything to be elected. A third is that he is some kind of saint sent to cure the ills of "the average working man" (his oft-used phrase) against the all-pervasive tentacles of big government.

George Mangum, a Baptist pastor from Selma who is Wallace's chief factotum and master of ceremonies of his rallies, holds the latter view.

"He's like Jeremiah in the Bible," said the burly Mangum, who had on his hip a pistol and on his left wrist a George Wallace watch (with red band and a Wallace caricature wearing boxing gloves—Wallace was once an Alabama state bantamweight champion).

"The Guvnuh is tellin' people that if big government keeps pokin' in our lives, they gonna be a mess uh trouble," said Mangum. "Like Jeremiah said. Do you ever talk to God?" asked Mangum. "We all should. I do. The Guvnuh does. He's a strict Methodist from the old-time religion, not the modern days. He don't drink and he don't inhale them cee-gars."

(Mangum is glib—important for a preacher and an insurance salesman, as it turns out. He handed a reporter a small leaflet that urges various health and life insurance policies—and has a quote from the Bible backing them up.)

As a politician, Wallace has not been a total failure, obviously. He has built hospitals and junior colleges and trade schools in Alabama. "That's what I'm most proud of," he says. And his appeal to populism has not been hurt by his selling of all the state's official Cadillac and buying Fords, instead.

But the cloud of racism remains over his head. Not long ago, he made a speech at liberal Lawrence University in Appleton, Wis. It was a cold, snowy night. The chapel was filled with some 1,500 persons, mostly young people. He stood on stage behind a bulletproof podium and gave much the same speech he had given to crowds of farmers and workers, and to the joint legislative assembly at Nashville, Tenn., and, presumably, before a few people in front of a Clio barbershop and a courthouse in Selma. Now, the klieg lights from the television cameras lit up the stage and cast his shadow against the gray drapes behind him.

When he got to the part about law and order, about 50 students stood up in the front row and walked out. He stopped his speech and watched. Most of the other people stood up and applauded the departing students.

Wallace walked back to George Mangum. Was Wallace going to leave in a huff? No. He said to Mangum, "Tell them folks standin' out in the cold to come in."

Then Gov. George Wallace went on with his speech. The great arm-waving shadow looked ominous.

America Just Loves America

By MARY CAMPBELL

America is sweeping the country.

"America," the LP, is No. 28 on the best-selling charts of March 11 and climbing. America, the three-man group whose first LP it is, has been surrounded with a bit of confusion as well as sudden popularity.

They're just finishing a six-week tour of America where they were booked last December when they were unknown here, as an English group, under the theory that unknown groups go over better in America if they're English. The group is American but was afraid to tour in America because of all that crime and violence one hears about in England.

A single, "A Horse with No Name," is No. 9 on the chart and climbing.

To clear the confusion, America consists of Dan Peek, age 20, born in Florida; Gerry Beckley, 19, born in Texas, and Dewey Bunnell, 18, born in Yorkshire, England. Beckley's and Bunnell's mothers are British; Peek's mother is American. They all three are sons of American Air Force men and met in 1968 in a high school for Air Force dependents in England.

They aren't strongly opinionated about the military, pro or con, and aren't into politics, though they think most people their age are. They are strongly into music.

Bunnell says, "We didn't record or anything in high school. We played high school dances. We graduated from high school in 1969 and Dan went to college for a year and Gerry and I worked in a warehouse. Then Gerry joined a group that was recording and I went to drama school. Dan and I both got discouraged by college and drama school and started washing dishes. Gerry didn't like who he was recording with. We got together.

"In the meantime, we were writing songs, writing separately. In fact that is the way it still works. One of us brings a skeleton song to the rest of the guys and we kick it around and stuff and see what happens. Finally we thought we were somewhere near ready to meet a guy Gerry had met."

This was Jeff Dexter, age 25, who became America's manager. Beckley calls him "the key figure in exposing us to the world."

Bunnell says, "He put on a lot of shows at the Roundhouse in London. He put us on his Christmas show in 1970 with Elton John and the Who. We played with Pink Floyd three times. In the London area we were always on the bottom of the bill, with T. Rex, Traffic—a lot of people."

Beckley says, "A girl told me if she went to see a good act we were always supporting them."

"I don't know how influential that was as far as contacting the public," Bunnell says, "but it was important as far as our attitudes to the big business."

The breakthrough came with the record. The group cut it last April and May and it was released in September. Then, they also cut four more songs so that Warner Brothers could put out a single. In England, America says, a single and an album almost never happen together, so putting out a single was an afterthought.

Warner Brothers chose "A Horse with No Name" as the single and when America got back from a tour in Holland with Cat Stevens, it was on the charts.

Later pressings of the album in England have included "A Horse with No Name" and it's on the album here.

Bunnell says, "In England we've never been questioned about what 'A Horse with No Name' means. Over here everybody is picking our brains for what the lyrics mean. It's hard to cope. We try not to make it explainable. It's hard to write a poem and tell people what it means. We just say it's a trip through a desert on a horse."

The name America, Bunnell says, was chosen primarily for impact. "It was a little bit of nostalgia too. We took the name off a juke box where we were washing dishes, an Americana Deluxe Nickel Machine."

Peek says, about their fear to come to America, "We pictured everybody carrying around shotguns and it's not that bad. People come over to England and paint a bad picture of things here. It's not nearly as tense as we thought."

However, he says, the fact that the group was booked as an English act in order to get more bookings is adding up to too many. "It's rubbing us the wrong way now. We were really scraping to get the tour together and giving promoters their own way. Now that we're here we're doing three shows a day most days. We did 65 shows in our first four weeks and that's not including live radio and TV."

Peek says, "We think about having a percussionist, but America will always be just the three of us. Anybody else will be accessory. We've been playing together a year and a half constantly. It's hard to work in with somebody else. We're too rooted into what we're doing."

Each person does lead vocals on the songs he writes, so that's Dewey Bunnell on "A Horse with No Name."

Carpet Care Tips Make Job Easier

Carpeting is used everywhere in homes now-a-days. Kitchens, family rooms, bathrooms, and patios are getting the carpet treatment in addition to increasing use in living rooms, dining rooms, and bedrooms.

The carpet boom has brought with it a new array of cleaning products and equipment especially designed to help homemakers care for many varieties of carpeting now being used. Specialists at the Bissell Home Service Institute, one of the country's leading carpet care authorities, offers these helpful carpet care suggestions:

Emergency Cleaning
• Always keep an aerosol foam spot cleaner handy for cleaning up spills in a hurry. Used promptly, the cleaner will prevent stains from setting. New aerosol foam cleaners, such as Spot Away, come with a handy brush applicator head to clean the soiled area quickly and easily.

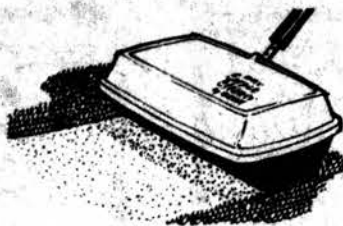

Release small amounts of the foam as needed while brushing over a small area at a time. Work the foam deep into the rug fibers for quick and thorough spot removal. After the area is completely dry, it should be vacuumed to remove dirt.

Immediate treatment of spills and spots helps make future overall carpet cleaning tasks much easier.

• For daily cleaning — to keep your carpets looking their best—use an all-purpose carpet sweeper.

A daily quick brushup in heavy traffic areas with a sweeper removes ash tray spills, crumbs, and litter. You will find it fluffs up carpet pile and removes the daily buildup of dirt and grit while it is still on the surface and before it becomes embedded into the carpet. Embedded soil cuts fibers and causes wear.

Modern carpet sweepers such as the Bissell Super Sweep work on medium pile, shags, kitchen carpets, and plush pile.

Dry Powder Cleaning
• Use a dry powder cleaner for cleaning heavy traffic areas because the area cleaned can be used immediately afterwards. Also, at any time during the cleaning process, the carpets may be walked on if necessary.

A "stand up" dry carpet cleaner powder applicator also is now available for home-makers. The applicator releases the proper amount of dry powder evenly over the area to be cleaned.

Using the right cleaning technique for each situation can make cleaning chores much easier and preserve your investment in carpeting throughout your home.

By ANDY LANG

If there is one frequently asked question which defies a specific answer, it is this:

Which is the best kind of floor?

There just isn't any such animal. Each type of floor has its own characteristics. If you know what they are, you can make a good choice, depending on whether you are looking for anything in particular or whether you aren't interested in practicality but merely want what suits your fancy.

Although resilient floors — sheets and tiles — are enjoying a great wave of popularity in recent years, there are those who insist on nothing but wood, maintaining that it has a feeling of warmth unmatched by any other material.

Hardwood floors are the ultimate, among them oak, birch, maple, beech, poplar and even walnut, hickory, cherry and teak. Pine is the most popular of the softwoods. Flooring comes in thin or wide strips, squares or parquet pieces. The wider the boards, the more the tendency to expansion and shrinkage under certain weather conditions. Wood has a fine appearance whether given one of the surface finishes, such as varnish, shellac, lacquer or a synthetic, or one of the penetrating sealers.

In the resilient flooring field, there is a wide choice, the most popular being vinyl asbestos, which can be used anywhere in the house or on a concrete basement surface. The most inexpensive kind, asphalt tile, can be used below grade or above grade where it is not likely to be subjected to spilled liquids, especially grease and oil. Care must be taken not to use paste waxes which contain solvents.

Vinyl tiles and sheets are resilient, comfortable, stain resistant and easy to maintain. If you see wide differences in the prices of vinyl flooring, it's because some kinds are solid and some merely have vinyl veneers; also, some have high quality backings, some have cheap backings.

Cork tiles are quiet, very resilient and luxurious, but are susceptible to stains unless given some kind of clear finish, preferably at the factory. Rubber tiles are excellent to walk on, but show marks from furniture legs more than most other types. Cork, rubber and the old favorite, linoleum, which is easy to keep clean, should not be installed over concrete below ground level.

Add to this list such floors as seamless, stone, brick, ceramic tile, terrazo and several other specialty types and you can see that the choice is almost endless.

(Sweating windows, marred finishes, balky doors and squeaky floors are among the 35 problems discussed in Andy Lang's handbook, "Practical Home Repairs," available by sending $1 to this newspaper in care of Box 5, Teaneck, N.J. 07666.)

WORLD OF WORK

Answers to Employment Questions by Secretary of Labor James D. Hodgson

C. F. of Milwaukee, Wisc., writes: I applied for a factory job but was turned down because I'm a woman. The work is dangerous, but I've done it before and feel qualified. Since this firm makes supplies for the government, shouldn't it be an equal opportunity employer?

Dear C. F.: Yes. Federal contractors cannot refuse to hire qualified women by using the type of work as an excuse. They must apply working condition standards equally to both sexes unless sex is an essential qualification for the work, as in the case of actors, models and similar occupations.

H. R. of Louisville, Ky., writes: I note that, in some cases federal child labor laws conflict with state laws. Please clarify this apparent mix-up.

Dear H. R.: Every state has its own child laws. Where state and federal standards differ, the higher standards must be observed.

C. E. of Groton, Conn., writes: Please provide some basic guidelines to follow in hiring young people.

Dear C. E.: Youths aged 18 and older may be employed in any job. At 16 and 17, they may be employed in any job except those non-agricultural jobs declared too dangerous for young people under 18. Those under 16 may not work on farms during school hours or at any time in occupations declared hazardous. In nonfarm jobs, they may work only between the hours of 7 a.m. and 7 p.m., except during the summer when they may work until 9 p.m. Their hours also are limited to three on school days, 18 during school weeks, eight on nonschool days and 40 during nonschool weeks.

W. L., of Reno, Nev., writes: As an equipment dealer, do I have an obligation to insure my products meet safety standards?

Dear W. L.: No, not in your capacity as a seller. However, the Occupational Safety and Health Act places safety obligations on employers who might not purchase equipment that doesn't meet the act's standards. As an employer, you do have responsibilities to your employees for their on-the-job safety and health.

A. J., Rockville, Md., writes: Are employers now required to list job openings with the public employment service so they can be offered to returning servicemen?

Dear A. J.: You are partly correct. Under an executive order issued by President Nixon, most firms having contracts with the government, and their first-tier subcontractors, are required to list most of their job openings paying up to $18,000 with appropriate offices of the public employment service.

Editor's note: If you have a question regarding job training and placement, labor-management relations, job health and safety, equal employment opportunity, wages and hours, employment and unemployment, prices and earnings and other matters involving the U.S. Department of Labor, send it to:

DR. LAWRENCE E. LAMB Is Meat Needed For Good Diet?

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

Dear Dr. Lamb—My teen-aged sister and her friends don't like the idea of eating meat because it is a dead animal. I told her that your body needs the protein to rebuild itself. Is it possible to get enough protein from other foods to eliminate meat from the diet?

Dear Reader—Yes, it is. Strict vegetarians are living proof of this. Not only that, many vegetarians are in exceptionally good health. One reason for their good health is that eating a strictly non-animal product diet usually tends to eliminate a lot of calories, particularly those that come from animal fats. In general, individuals who avoid eating excess numbers of calories and excess amounts of fat in their diet are healthier than most of the rest of the general population, if they don't overdo it.

It is true that the body needs a variety of sources for protein. Studies have been done, however, that show that the body can get by on proteins from gelatin (which is an animal product) and the protein from wheat. It is usually better for the health to be sure that the body gets a variety of types of proteins. Some non-meat sources include the dairy products (and if you need to restrict the saturated fat intake, you would want to use non-fat and low-fat dairy products such as fortified skim milk and uncreamed cottage cheese). The whites of eggs are a particularly good source of protein. The mature seeds of the bean family usually contain a lot of protein. Soy beans are a principal source of proteins in the vegetarian diet. They are relatively rich in protein. People who don't eat meat, fish, or chicken need to know a lot more about diet than some young people following harmful fads do.

Dear Dr. Lamb—I would like to know if bleeding from the rectum can be the symptom of something more serious than just a very bad case of hemorrhoids. I don't mean just a showing of blood; he really bleeds, especially after a bowel movement. If he has had anything to drink, the bleeding is more.

Dear Reader—There are constant numbers of letters to this column concerning this problem. It is exceptionally important that everyone recognize that bleeding from the rectum can represent serious disease. In some instances, it is the first sign of cancer of the rectum, although there are many other causes for it including hemorrhoids. No case of bleeding from hemorrhoids, however, should be ignored. Each one deserves a medical examination because what is thought to be hemorrhoids may even turn out to be cancer. There is only one recommendation that I can possibly make to people with this problem: seek a medical examination as soon as possible. There is no other reasonable alternative.

Career Opportunities Abound in Health Services

By ERNIE HOOD

Many of our readers have been inquiring about career opportunities in health service occupations.

Hopefully, you'll find your answers in this "roundup" based upon questions raised in your letters.

CHIROPRACTORS—16,000 now, with average annual openings of 900 to 1980. Favorable outlook, although only a small growth in demand is expected.

DENTAL ASSISTANTS—91,000 now, with average annual openings of 9,200 to 1980. Excellent opportunities, especially for graduates of academic programs.

DENTAL LABORATORY TECHNICIANS—35,500 now, with average annual openings of 2,900 to 1980. Very good outlook. Best opportunities for salaried positions in commercial laboratories and in the federal government.

DENTAL HYGIENISTS—16,000 now, with average annual openings of 3,100 to 1980. Supply will continue to be inadequate to meet demands of the growing population. Very good opportunities both for full-time and part-time workers.

DENTISTS—103,000 now, with average annual openings of 5,400 to 1980. Very good opportunities. Limited capacity of dental schools will restrict supply of new graduates.

DIETICIANS—30,000 now, with average annual openings of 2,300 to 1980.

By ANDY LANG

Q. — Our house has one of those small cellars with a dirt floor. We have been in the house for seven years, but only recently has a musty odor invaded the cellar. How can we get rid of it?

A. — A musty odor is a sign that mildew is present. Mildew is a growth that occurs in damp areas where there is no sunlight. To get rid of the odor, keep the area well heated and dry for a period of three or four days. Sprinkle some chlorinated lime over the dirt floor and let it stay for a couple of days. Sweep up the lime, then repeat the treatment. This usually will remove the musty odor, but it may be back after a period of time unless steps are taken to get rid of some of the dampness. One way to do this is to have an exhaust fan in one of the cellar windows. On a dry day, open a window as nearly opposite the fan as possible, then turn on the exhaust for a couple of hours. Doing this periodically on dry days should eliminate most or all of the dampness.

Q. — I plan soon to put a 50-gallon drum into the ground to use as a dry well, filling it with large rocks. How deep should it be?

A. — You should make a hole large enough for the drum, plus about one foot between the top of the drum and the surface of the ground. Be sure there is a solid top on the drum, made of concrete or heavy planking. Fill with dirt around the sides and over the drum top and pack tightly.

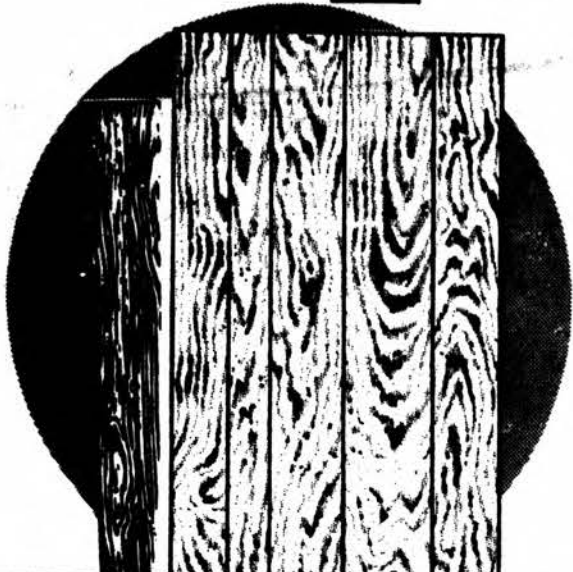

Q. — I am putting up some galvanized downspouts at four locations around the house. I want to paint them, but seem to remember reading somewhere that new galvanized iron should not be painted until it has been washed with vinegar. Is this true or is it just an "old wife's tale?"

A. — Regular household vinegar has been used for many years as a wash for galvanized iron which has just been installed. But it is now generally conceded that it may or may not accomplish the purpose of weathering the metal before it is painted. Sometimes it seems to work — that is, prevent future peeling of the paint — and sometimes it doesn't. It is better to let the galvanized surface weather naturally for six months before painting. Even better is to coat the galvanized iron with a primer of zinc dust or zinc oxide. Tell your dealer what it is for so that he can select the right kind for the job. After this has thoroughly dried, you can go ahead with the painting even though the galvanized downspouts are new.

Q. — We have a large gilt frame that needs touching up in a few places. I'm afraid that regular gold paint won't be a good match. How can I get the proper color match?

A. — Artist materials stores (and some hardware and paint stores) carry a gilt powder that can be used. It comes in various shades and you can probably find what you want.

They're living just down the road at Warner Bros. Jungle Habitat. Drive through and see them all. The 1,500 animals and birds from around the world that now call West Milford, home.

Through the windows of your people cage — your family car — you'll see the animals living just as they do in the wild. Except here they're protected. The zebra, ostrich, and gnu safe from the lion. The water buffalo and camel safe from the tiger. And all of them safe from man's relentless hunt for trophies.

You Can Escape Sports—Just Lie!

By BETTY CANARY

It was a cold and snowy day when I came upon a solution. I figured out how to escape from the Summer Sports.

It was only a month ago. We'd had a late blizzard and I was fending off a friend who wanted me to play golf (her cart has a snow plow) when inspiration struck.

For years I've been evading summer sports with excuses and little lies. Now I tell big lies.

I began my personal campaign by ordering a surfboard. It is now beside my front door. On it is inscribed, "Congratulations—University of Miami."

When I am invited to go surfing or water-skiing, all I have to do now is glance at the board, sigh a little sigh, point to my knee and say, "Look, dear, let's not talk about it. O.K.?"

I lovingly fondle a tennis racquet. I lounge in my wicker chair. I drink iced tea. Once in awhile I touch my elbow and wince painfully. Sooner or later, somebody asks to look at the racquet and they ooh and ahh in delight at the engraving. It says, "With sincere appreciation, Gussie M." They don't ask me to play. They respect a wounded champ.

I played the golf game by buying a set of clubs at a pawnshop, then giving them a permanent home in our family room. When somebody asks, "Why don't I ever see you at the club, Betty?" I smile sweetly and say, "Actually, ever since the day both Ike and Dick borrowed my mashie at Burning Tree, well, I sort of keep my clubs as a little shrine."

When it comes to swimming, I'm the kind who gets queasy when I pull the plug in the bathtub. But nobody bothers asking me to go for a dip any more. Not after I tell them, "The doctor won't allow it—not after that last deep dive off the Mexican coast."

POLLY'S POINTERS

Storage Space for Toys Made of Old Bookshelves

By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR POLLY—S. W. who needs help with planning storage for her kid's toys could utilize the old diaper bags she has on hand by using them to hold small toys. They could be attached to the outside of the toy box like big pockets. Another space saver is to attach a big cloth pocket on the inside of a large toy box. A big, old purse or school satchel could also hold small things and just be tossed in the box. If shelves are to be made for such storage use, measure the heights of the items to be stored and space the shelves so they fit. This will save space as well as one's temper and the item can be removed without everything else falling out. A half shelf on one side would leave space for taller things on the other.—ALVA

DEAR POLLY—I am answering S. W. who is worried about shelf space and a toy container for her son's room. Old bookshelves can be used quite effectively to solve such a storage problem. These can be bought reasonably at second hand stores, auctions, bargain shops, etc. She should buy those of a height that her son could easily reach. Paint them white or a preferred color to match the room's decor. Buy colored plastic dishpans in the desired color or colors that would fit between the shelves. Smaller toys could be stored in these pans and the larger things placed on the shelves. If her son cannot read, she could cut out and paste on magazine pictures of toys similar to those that go in each dishpan so he can tell at a glance which toys are where and also know where to return them. I do hope this helps S. W.—MRS. R. E.

Polly's Problem

DEAR POLLY—One pair of my slacks always come home from the dry cleaners with a ruined elastic waistband. I have replaced this several times and wonder if anyone has a solution for such a problem.—MRS. D. M.

DEAR POLLY—My Pet Peeve is with the newspapers that have no regular spot reserved for features like Polly's Pointers, Dear Ann or Dear Abby and the television schedule. If that is impossible a listing on the index or front page would aid us in finding those columns we want to see first.—A NEBRASKA READER

DEAR POLLY—Fasten a long pipe cleaner on the neck of a long pipe cleaner and find it will keep the neck collar and find it will keep the neck collar from wrinkling.—MRS. H. H.

MASTERING MESSAGE

In starting a massage you will find that few object to your starting with the head. It is one of the safest areas as most people are nervous about being touched. We feel the least force of our culture's taboos against physical contact in the head, the hands and the feet. To start, stand or kneel facing the top of your friend's head. Apply only a few drops of oil to fingertips since the face area is small. Start at the top of the forehead, work down to the chin, ears, neck and finally do the scalp. First to accustom your friend to your touch center the forehead with the heels of your hand. Now begin massage with the forehead with the balls of your thumbs. Start at the center of the forehead just below the hairline, glide both hands at once in either direction outwards along the topmost strip. Press moderately. Continue to the temples and end there by moving your thumbs in a single circle about half an inch wide.

The main stroke which covers large areas of the body surface easily and quickly and is one of the most effective strokes in massage. With slight variations, it can be done on the chest and stomach, the arm, the front of the leg, the back of the leg and the back.

The chest and stomach are part of the main relaxing massage. First spread oil over the areas including the sides of the torso and the shoulders.

Stand or kneel above your friend's head. Place your hands with palms down in the middle of the chest. Rest heels of hands just below the collarbone with fingers pointing to the feet and thumbs lightly touching each other. Glide both hands slowly forward, pressing firmly on the chest and then more lightly on the stomach. Keep hands together until you reach the lower half of the stomach; then separate them, moving both hands straight to the sides. Bring both hands over and down the hips all the way to the table or floor surface.

Weather Warfare Warning

Weather has been added to the arsenal of the U.S. military.

But, according to Edward Epstein, head of the University of Michigan's department of meteorology, "geophysical warfare, or the manipulation of weather for military purposes, most certainly cannot be compared to the apocalyptic weapons now available to modern armies."

Causing severe storms by cloud seeding could hamper enemy movements, while dispersing clouds and fogs can be used to aid bombing.

There have been rumors that the military is also interested in more potent weather-warfare aids such as using earthquakes and giant tidal waves as weapons.

But, like other of our super-modern, ultra-effective weapons, the results of their use remains highly unpredictable.

Causing earthquakes or giant waves, Epstein says, "is far too hazardous for all concerned. The results are unpredictable and could just as easily affect friend as foe."

Kids' Timing O.K. -for Them

By BETTY CANARY

I don't care what the feminists say, women are basically different from men. There is, for example, the unwritten rule, the natural law, which says a woman is never disturbed while doing hard, manual labor.

If this isn't true, then why don't children appear and ask for cookies when mother is mopping a floor? Why do children instinctively know to disappear when mother is heaving boxes of rubbish in the garage or rearranging hundreds of heavy paint cans in the basement or moving furniture in the dining room?

I can't explain the scientific principal; I only know what happens.

If you are quietly washing woodwork in the front hall, your children play quietly in the backyard. If you think about stopping for a cup of coffee (you've said nothing aloud, you're only thinking) those same children suddenly appear at your elbow to demand bandages for scraped knees, dimes for shoelaces, etc.

If you find yourself cleaning the basement, mumble softly to yourself, "I'll call the kids so they can carry this stuff to the curb." And instantly the entire neighborhood will be enveloped in silence.

After you have carried all the stuff to the curb, they suddenly reappear. In line with requests.

When I was less experienced in the ways of work and motherhood and children, I thought of this as a purely personal phenomenon. But I have learned otherwise.

A friend called me the other morning and said, "I just finished cleaning my cupboards and thought I'd sit down and talk with you." In the background I heard her children. "I'm ready to read to you now, mother!" "Will you take me to the drugstore?" "My blister popped!" "What's for dinner?" "Listen to me, mother, listenmotherlistenmotherlistenmotherlistenlistenlistenlisten..."

Fans Out of Date? Not So

By MR. FIX

You would think that with the popularity of air conditioning, especially by way of one-room units, that the electric fan would be obsolete.

It isn't.

If anything, fans come in a wider variety of models, in sizes that vary from tiny desk models to giant exhaust fans that will empty an entire house of its stale air in minutes.

Not everyone wants air conditioning and not everyone needs it. In moderate climates a fan will provide all the relief you need from the heat.

Use portable fans to give quick comfort in a small area. For larger areas consider exhaust fans. There are small window mounted units or big ones that can be placed in the ceiling. Installed and used properly, they can move cool air through an entire house.

The exhaust fan is used throughout the night when outside air is cooler and is used to replace the warm inside air.

Once the house is cooled off in the morning, the fan is turned off and window shades and windows are kept closed on the sunny side of the house. The idea is slow up the heating process until night rolls around again and you can pump more cool air in again.

Most people can make do with window fans. The fan is placed in an open window. Sometimes the removal of a window unit is required.

Don't put the fan just anywhere. Best place is an upstairs window on the sunny side of the house. Open a window on the shady side so that you replace hot air with cool air.

Windows adjacent to the fan must be closed. Leaving them open will short circuit the air, moving it from the window next to the fan right through the fan without ever moving the air through the house.

Attic fans are bigger and more efficient. Install the fan high in a central location so that it draws air through the whole house.

There must be exhaust openings in the attic. These can be in the roof, gable ends or under the eaves. You may have to put in a special louver. Openings should be screened.

Whatever fan you use, keep doors and windows on the lower level of the house open during the night. This allows cool air to enter to replace the warm air that is being exhausted.

HOT LINE

Now is the time to make your move. If you've owned your present home for a substantial period of time its value has increased & so has your equity. This should give you a nice sum to use for your downpayment on your new home. Furthermore long term mortgage money is abundant & interest rates are lower now than their likely to be in the future. These rates are now about to climb. Reports have it that Federal Reserve Board Chairman Burns indicates that the federal reserve system is no longer trying to expand credit or lower short term rate. That's why it pays to buy your new home now.

Person To Person

We were reminded of this tremendous difference between communism and ourselves: (Concluding paragraph of our Declaration of Independence) "... and for the support of this Declaration, with a firm reliance on the protection of Divine Providence, we mutually pledge to each other our lives, our fortunes and our sacred honor." When you think about that foundation you can see that there is not one part of it that could possibly be applied to communism. Thank God for America! And a SAFE and happy 4th of July to you!

A STRONG GUARANTEE IN PLAIN ENGLISH.

When you buy a new 1972 car from an American Motors dealer, American Motors Corporation guarantees to you that, except for tires, it will pay for the repair or replacement of any part it supplies that is defective in material or workmanship.

This guarantee is good for 12 months from the date the car is first used or 12,000 miles, whichever comes first.

All we require is that the car be properly maintained and cared for under normal use and service in the fifty United States or Canada and that guaranteed repairs or replacements be made by an American Motors dealer.

It's only a convertible when the top's down.

The Volkswagen Karmann Ghia convertible is a nice car for fresh air.

But when the fresh air is 30 degrees, just put the top up. And it's a nice coupe.

Watertight. And weatherproof.

It takes two men four hours just to make one top. And a couple of hours alone go into making the one-inch-thick hand-padding.

This keeps the wind out and the heat in. And prevents shiny metal bars from showing off.

No extra charge for the coupe.

A Boston Warehouse Becomes an Apartment

By VIVIAN BROWN

Many old buildings are being razed because some cities consider them useless. But foresighted people buy such structures as wise investments.

In remodeling an old waterfront warehouse, Boston architect Gerard R. Cugini, converted it into a triplex living arrangement above two floors of offices.

It earned him first prize in the 14th annual S.M. Hexter awards program as the "Interior of the Year."

"One purchasing an old structure and helping to preserve it gives a city a sense of continuity," says Cugini. "It is also a great way to acquire a lot of space in a building."

His award winning living interior is 21 x 40 feet with three major balconies of plaster leading into rooms. The painted walls are on the original old brick. Flooring is white oak. The main living area with music center is 21 x 37. At the same level are a master bath and bedroom 21 x 15.

"Warehouse construction is almost the easiest to deal with as there is no tricky demolition, but major site factors often must influence design solutions," Cugini explained.

Water, providing the only good view from the warehouse, was the stimulus for the multi-level design for the living area. The water can be seen through a large expanse of glass. He also made great use of natural light coming from a skylight 35 feet above the living area. There are flattering patterns of light throughout the room.

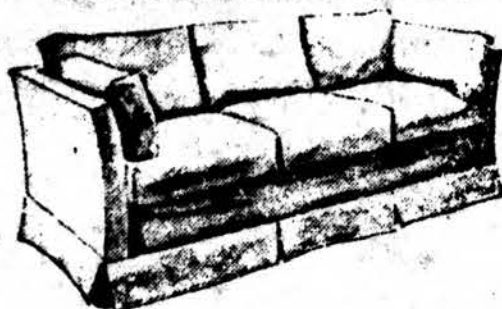

The rear view of the building shows the north end of Boston and other warehouses.

Before buying such a structure, engineers should check out roof, floors and foundation. Cugini points out.

In South Dakota, He's Still 'Ole George'

By TOM TIEDE

MITCHELL, S. D.—Sen. George McGovern may be, as Robert Kennedy suggested, the most decent man in government. He may be, as his employees insist, a kind of political second coming. He may even be, if the hopes of millions of American voters are justified, the next (38th) president of the Union. But here in Mitchell, the man's hometown, George McGovern is still just George McGovern, "ole George," nice fella, a little big for his britches maybe, but, well, "Say, that looks like a thunderhead don't it?—my, oh my, it's been a wet spring here."

The 14,000 residents of this comfortable community on the eastern edge of South Dakota's ocean of prairie are not given to hero worship. They are plain and laboring folks, "Giants in the Earth" as author Ole Rolvaag called them, people who tend their lawns and churches with equal dedication, men and women who even if they want to loaf will get up—for an early start. There's just no time for stargazing.

Not that South Dakotans have had many stars to gaze at. Home-grown luminaries have always been a premium. There were some famed early Indians like

Chief Crazy Horse. Former Gov. Joe Foss was a distinguished World War II air hero. And Mitchell's own Joe Robbie is now the owner of the pro football Miami Dolphins—"Or is it the Sharks?" asks a local, "I never get the nicknames straight."

So maybe this is it: Maybe George McGovern isn't heroized here, because, as a woman feeding her chickens puts it, "We haven't had much practice at heroizing."

In any event, Ole George, nice fella, is just another potato in this town's patch. There are not many suggestions in Mitchell, as there are elsewhere in the nation, that the junior senator from South Dakota is headed for sainthood. There is a small highway sign announcing this as "The Home of Sen. George McGovern," but there is also a sign announcing it as the home of Ordell Braase (a one time Baltimore Colts linebacker). McGovern's small office next to the Woolworth building remains quiet and decidedly uncrowded; his $7.65 biography is not for sale on the main street; and the only political announcements on auto bumpers are "America—Love It or Leave It."

In mostly Republican, mostly conservative South Dakota, the liberal-radical Democratic frontrunner is liked, but not loved. "McGovern?" says Gus Swanson, 83, a veteran of World War I, "I think he's all right. I mean he's done good by himself. But he shoots his mouth off too much. I don't think a public official ought to go around criticizing the government the way he does. And I don't like all this anti-war stuff. It aids the enemy, is all. If you ask me, I think George has killed more people over there in Vietnam than everybody else put together."

Still, even in this lukewarm atmosphere, even without the hoorays and hoopla, there is in Mitchell and throughout the state fair respect for the 49-year-old onetime preacher, professor and insurance salesman. "I mean he's done good for himself" is another way of saying "wow." As a leftist peacenik he may be, as the Democratic county chairman here says, "Like Jesus in Jerusalem," but even his political enemies admit their awe. Says one GOP leader: "When ole George was a kid he was so poor he went barefoot. Now he's become one of the most respected and admired men in the country. Gawd Almighty, who would have ever thought it possible?"

Who indeed? Apparently nobody. People who remember McGovern as a lad say he was common as chickweed. Born in Avon, S.D., (current pop. 600) McGovern was one of four Depression era children of a respected but somewhat itinerant fundamentalist minister. As such, he was not only poor, but giggled at. The family religion, Wesleyan Methodist, was in those days hinted as the Holy Rollers. Services were highly emotional. Amens. Hallelujahs. Screams and faintings. McGovern was raised on the proposition that to blaspheme was to risk eternal damnation.

Success Story Begin In Minneapolis

By ERNESTINE GUGLIELMO

A MODERN FAIRY TALE—Joyce Everson, a 26-year-old dental assistant who sometimes modeled, was "discovered" at a party in Minneapolis.

Rod Stewart was at the party, where Joyce was singing by herself. Rod liked what he saw and heard and Joyce, who had never done any serious professional singing nor had been out of Minnesota, was thrust into another world. She now has a contract with Warner Bros. and a debut album, "Crazy Lady." Rod Stewart said, "She never really believed we meant any of it, but it happened anyway."

MAKING MONEY—If you're one of the many kids without jobs this summer, better start thinking of ways to make some extra money.

Besides the traditional odd jobs, like mowing lawns, washing cars and filling in for vacationing gardeners, try putting some of your regular hobbies to work for you.

You can get a group of people together and have a craft fair, selling homemade jewelry or macrame belts and things.

Or if you're good with a camera, you might want to take pictures of amateur theater groups or sports teams. You may be able to sell some of the shots to individual members.

We'd like to hear about any ways you've discovered of making some money during the summer. Unusual activities will be shared with the rest of the readers. And albums will be given to the best ones.

CISCO KRIS—Kris Kristofferson plays a has-been musician who has turned to dealing drugs in the movie, "Cisco Pike."

The movie, which has been one of the season's sleepers, also stars Karen Black and Gene Hackman.

Besides giving an insight into the rock musician's life, there are some lines aimed directly at the audience. Kris says to another over-the-hill musician, "Man, they're not interested in your body. It's your soul they want."

DOING SOMETHING ABOUT DRUGS—Neil Diamond donated $3,000 to N.Y.C.'s Phoenix House and another $3,000 to the Los Angeles Free Clinic, both drug rehabilitation centers. The money came from Diamond's recent U.S. tour and the sale of souvenir programs.

James Brown gave $5,000 to Georgia Gov. Jimmy Carter for a drug rehabilitation program.

TIMELY QUOTES

The challenges facing our society today are so big and exciting that this is the moment for women to be widening their horizons, not narrowing them. Let us get ourselves obsessed with something bigger than sexual politics.

—Barbara Castle, member of the British Parliament, charging the U.S. women's liberation movement with wasting its time on trivialities.

Newsmen are like insecure young ladies. They keep asking us (the administration) if we love them. If you don't know, don't ask.

—John D. Ehrlichmann, domestic affairs adviser to President Nixon.

I think it was an extraordinarily thorough and enlightening statement. The only regret is that he didn't make it publicly so all the country could have heard it.

—Sen. J. W. Fulbright, praising an explanation of the arms-limitation agreements by Henry A. Kissinger.

The fear is that people think the entire Black Hills was devastated by the floods and that's not true. The roads are open and the natural beauty of the Black Hills is still there.

—Gov. Richard Kneip of South Dakota, expressing concern over the effect of the Rapid City flood on tourism.

When hundreds of millions of dollars are given to bankrupt railroads, failing defense manufacturers, shipping interests and the like, the words "welfare" or "relief" are not used. Instead, such things are done to "strengthen the economy." Perhaps welfare to needy individuals can someday be discussed with the same particularity and with the same equanimity.

—Former Chief Justice Earl Warren.

Packanack Woman's Club Involved with Students

WAYNE — The Woman's Club of Packanack have assisted three young ladies in furthering their education in various ways.

The Mary Wall Community Service Award was presented to Miss Marilyn Albanese, a 1972 graduate of Wayne Valley High School recently. This award is given in honor of the founder and first President of the Packanack Woman's Club. Mrs. Mary Wall, recently deceased, had always been ready to serve the needs of people in the community touched through tragedy or disaster, as in fire and flood.

Miss Albanese, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Albanese, 124 MacDonald Drive in Wayne, has been active through out her school years in numerous activities. She was a Varsity Cheerleader Captain. In the Girls Athletic Association, Marilyn was captain of the Blue Marching Team and Treasurer for G.A.A. As a member of Zonta, a school service organization, she helped collect toys for children of Hope and gave aid to the ill and elderly at Alps Manor Nursing Home. She was vice-president of the Sparks who give assistance when needed within the school and a member of the Mask and Gavel, which is responsible for announcements on the public address at Wayne Valley. Marilyn was also a member of the National Honor Society. She plans to further her education at Villanova University, Villanova, Pa. majoring in mathematics.

ROBYN WEINGARTEN

Miss Robyn Weingarten was chosen by the scholarship and honors board of the Wayne High Schools as the Junior to be sponsored by the Woman's Club of Packanack Lake for the 25th Citizenship Institute. This was held recently at Douglass College, New Brunswick, where Robyn met with 400 high school students sponsored by the New Jersey State Federation of Woman's Clubs. The theme of the sessions was on women's role in the coming decades. Robyn's many activities and interests during her high school year made her eligible to be chosen as a delegate.

Robyn has been co-editor of Smoke Signals, the Wayne Valley school newspaper and will continue in that capacity in her senior year. She has actively participated in many school drama and musical productions; a member of the chorus in Mame, a part in Hello Dolly and helped with make-up for The Crucible. In her Junior year, she had larger roles in

The Impossible Years and Fiddler on the Roof and directed the Theatre Arts class production of Plaza Suite. In the community Robyn is a working member of B'nai B'rith Girls and the Jewish federation of Temple Youth. Following graduation from Wayne Valley, 1973 Robyn plans to major in Speech Pathology. Her justly proud parents are Mr. and Mrs. K. Weingarten, 30 Tuxedo Drive, Wayne.

FRANCES MOORE

Through Care, the Woman's Club of Packanack Lake help with financial support of a teen-aged Indian girl, Frances Moore. Frances, a member of the Passamaquoddy Tribe, living in Perry, Maine, is thus able to continue her high school education. The club members also remember Frances with gifts for her birthday, at Christmas and on other special occasions which prompts letters of thanks and appreciation. Save the Children Fund had suggested her name as a deserving candidate. Frances had lost both her mother and baby brother in a fire. Her father has since remarried and now has two large families to support. In one of her letters Frances urged her correspondents to visit during the Annual Passamaquoddy Tribe Indian Ceremonial Day held in August.

Summer Gardening

WATERING HOUSE PLANTS IN SUMMER — The water required by indoor plants can change during the summer.

Air conditioning units can lower humidity as well as temperature. Both foliage and soil lose moisture rapidly in a very dry atmosphere. The long summer days and bright light usually result in rapid growth. The plants which are growing rapidly require more moisture.

PREPARE SOIL WELL FOR SODDED LAWN — Sod can give you a new lawn within a few hours, but you'll waste time and money if you don't prepare the soil properly to receive the sod pieces.

You can expect to be disappointed if you place your sod on an old lawn or on compacted, infertile soil carelessly prepared.

You must provide the same basic needs for sod as you do in preparing the soil for a needed lawn.

To be successful with a newly sodded lawn, you should:
-Provide the soil with adequate amounts of lime and fertilizer, the best guide to use is a soil test on a sample of soil from your lawn area. On sandy and heavy, clay-type soils, add organic matter. Incorporate all these materials into the soil at least 6 inches deep.

-Rake the seedbed level and smooth, and firm it slightly with a roller. Fill the low spots. It will be hard to correct rough areas after the sod is in place. Soil prepared in this manner is ideal for placement of the sod.

-Water the soil lightly if it is extremely dry.

-Place the sod, making sure that the pieces fit together tightly and evenly.

Don't wait to finish the job before you water. Lay several pieces, roll lightly, and water so that the sod is wet all the way through to the soil below.

Your job is by no means finished when the sod is in place. The few days after the laying of the sod are critical ones. Don't let it dry out.

Keep the sod pieces completely moist, and check on the adequacy of moisture by lifting a corner of a sod piece occasionally.

With this kind of treatment the sod should "knit" to the soil within 10 days after placement.

Then water and care for the sodded lawn about as you would any established lawn. A sodded lawn will only be as good as the care you give it.

REGULAR SPRAYING HELPS KEEP APPLES WORM-FREE — Homeowners interested in growing worm-free apples this year should control codling moth infestations now.

This is our advice to homeowners who have been troubled with wormy or deformed fruits in past years.

Methoxychlor or malathion are satisfactory insecticides for controlling this pest.

Repeat this spray every two weeks until the end of August. Otherwise, foliage and developing fruits will not be protected when the ever-present codling moth and other apple pests appear.

JAPANESE BEETLE TIME AGAIN — Once again it's time for the annual battle against Japanese beetles, which damage or destroy many trees, shrubs and plants.

Immature beetles are called grubs. Wormlike, they feed on the roots of lawn grasses. Adult beetles come out of the ground in June and July. The females deposit their eggs in the soil during the summer. The eggs hatch into grubs that feed until cold weather makes them go deeper into the soil. During the spring, the grubs move closer to the soil surface and again begin to feed.

About two weeks before the adult beetles emerge, the grubs enter a stage in which they make the change to adults.

Carbaryl (Sevin) is an effective insecticide for protecting ornamental plants from beetle attack. Repeated applications are necessary.

SINGULAR-LEE
By Leland Laceren

Leland Laceren is an author, poet, musician who in his middle forties, after more than twenty years of happy marriage, found himself stranded by the untimely death of his wife. He suddenly found himself to be a "Formerly Married," person.

The old order certainly did change. After years of roaming the world, living the good life, he had to settle down to taking care of a home, finish raising the children, and then try to find a new life for himself. From dining with kings and millionaires to cooking franks and beans is quite a transition.

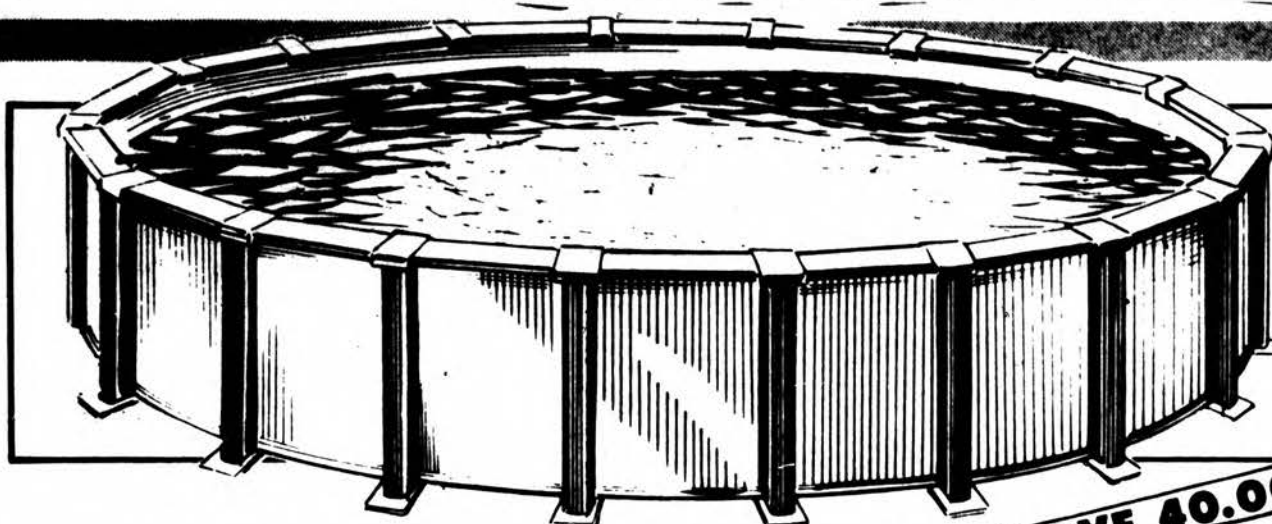

Through his own experiences he feels he has gained insight to the problems of the formerly married. He believes that the Singular life was a form of ostracization. He felt cast out from the normal, and familiar social patterns into a strange new world of lonely, sometimes bitter, most times strongly independent, formerly married people. His observations made him apply his analytical powers to his and their problems.

Leland Laceren invites your comments, opinions and even your criticism...Watch for his column on these pages.

A character analyst once claimed that a man's personality can be determined by the way he likes his eggs. For instance, scrambled eggs suit the artistic, nervous, and passionate. Omelets are preferred by the sturdy, reliable, and conservative; and sunny-side up are the choice of the happy, healthy, and wise. However you like your eggs, you'll be happy to hear that they're on the Plentiful Foods List issued this month by the U.S. Department of Agriculture. So indulge your personality—eat eggs.

Male Liberation

FREE THE MALE MAN! By Shepherd Mead. Simon and Schuster. $5.95.

Men of the world unite! You have nothing to lose but your chains! At least the ones placed about you by women.

With women's lib so loud on the lip these days, it was foregone that humorist Mead, who seems to publish a dandy little book annually, would turn to the subject of male liberation. And so he has in this funny volume, which gets immediately to the point by noting, "Remember, you are more than 'man' — you are a Male Man! 'Mankind' includes womankind. 'Man' can mean all human beings, and includes women. We of Men's Liberation are for freeing all Mankind, including women — but our first task is to free the Male Man, who needs liberation far more than Female Man at this moment."

Exhorting his male readers to "be proud you're a Masculist" and to join the "Men's Organization to Uplift and Support Each other (MOUSE)," Mead presents a male manifesto which includes, among other demands, equal work from women, earlier retirement for men, an end to sexually segregated draft laws, and sexual equality for men.

Mead, best known perhaps for his "How To Succeed in Business Without Really Trying," writes pithily and well and as he warms to his subject the material gets hotter and the humor better and better.

His chapters cover the route from "How to Resist Your Mother" to "How to Avoid Becoming a Sex Object," to "Can Freud Help Us?" and at the very end his final, yet rallying, cry is, "Set men free!"

Firemen in Dallas answered 24,115 calls during 1971.

The Dallas fire department responded to 1,132 heart attack calls and 26 drownings in 1971.

TAMING THE NILE
WASHINGTON — Egyptians are learning it will take more than the Aswan High Dam to tame the Nile.

Because of the dam, the muscle of the mighty river flexes with new vigor, threatening to undermine 550 bridges built within the last 19 years as well as three diversion dams, old but still needed.

The dam has strained out the silt, washed down from Ethiopia and central Africa. Without this burden — 110 million tons a year — the river surges through the valley of the Nile with new force, chiseling out river banks more than ever.

Ten new but smaller dams, costing about $22 million each, are planned downstream to slow the water on its way toward the Mediterranean. Otherwise, engineers say, damage from erosion will be severe in 10 to 15 years.

FAMILY NEED $11,090
NEW YORK — A family of four — working father, mother and two children under 14 — needed $11,090 a year to maintain a moderate standard of living in New York City last October, says the Community Council of Greater New York.

The social-welfare planning group said this was an increase of 3.7 per cent over October, 1970.

HORSE PAPER CLOSES
NEW YORK — After 139 years as a newspaper specializing in past performances of thoroughbreds, The Morning Telegraph has ceased publication.

The paper, which sold for $1, was struck by union printers in April and one week later publisher Stewart Hooker announced the end of publication. The paper was owned by Triangle Publications which will continue to publish The Racing Form for the nation's thoroughbred and harness racing fans.

The National Weather Service provides detailed forecasts two and three days in advance.

U.S. Spending To Rise Above Expectations

Federal spending seems likely to exceed the $246.3 billion projected in the Federal budget for fiscal 1973 and current budget proposals signal a continued sharp rise in expenditure for the years ahead, Tax Foundation, Inc. reports.

In a new study of the future implications in the budget proposed for the year beginning July 1, the private, non-profit research organization says that more than two-thirds, or $174.6 billion, of the spending total is classified officially as "relatively uncontrollable."

Moreover, new or expanded programs in the budget, estimated to cost $11 billion in fiscal 1973, would require outlays of almost three times that amount by fiscal 1977.

"These and other factors should alert officials and taxpayers to the need for exercising greater discipline over Federal expenditures," said Alfred Parker, Executive Director of the Foundation. "Loose control of government spending with resulting deficits is one of the chief causes of inflationary pressures that have brought the cost of living to new highs."

grants account for more than fiscal 1973 will total almost one-fifth of state-local revenues, $290 billion. The Foundation's analysis concludes that recent attempts to control Federal spending with "rubbery" ceilings on expenditures and the recent "full-employment" budget ceiling have been a failure to date.

Built-in and legislated increases in existing spending programs "tend to use up any budget margin which might result from revenue growth and limit opportunities for desirable new initiatives," the study says.

When new spending authority is added to amounts remaining available from prior years, the amount available for expenditure as of the end of

Beyond Control?

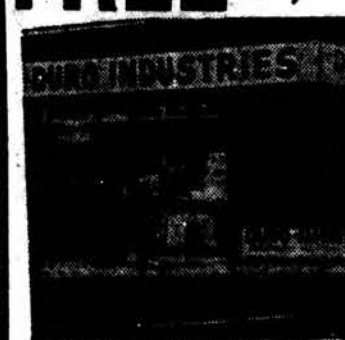

The study raises questions concerning the expanding definition of "uncontrollable" and its implication that neither Congress nor the Executive can curb spending.

The study points to two areas of Federal spending as being most susceptible to "reasonable control" by Congress and the Executive. These are personnel costs and Federal aid to state-local government which together account for more than 40 percent of projected Federal expenditures in the coming fiscal year.

Civilian and military personnel costs, including a $3.5 billion pay increase, are estimated at $59 billion for the coming fiscal year, second only to outlays for Social Security and related benefits.

Federal aids to state and local government are estimated to total $43.5 billion in fiscal 1973, nearly four times the amount provided for such aids as recently as fiscal 1965. These

by Dick Schweighardt

The 1972-73 N.J. game code was finalized at the regular monthly meeting of The Fish and Game Council held June 13. The seasons established are: Upland and small game- November 11 to December 2, and December 11 to February 3 (with exceptions); archery deer - October 7 thru November 9; firearm deer (antlered) - December 4 thru December 9 and a special deer of either sex day will be held on Wednesday December 13. For full details, sportsmen can consult the new compendium available from license agents in August.

Two new regulations were also set into the Fish and Game Statutes. This year anyone taking a deer will have to bring it to one of the 75 checking stations that will be operated during 1972 archery, firearm and special day deer seasons. Sportsmen will also be asked to assist the Bureau of Wildlife Management in their research by delivering the jaws, reproductive tracts and other data, of deer killed during the season to one of the checking stations. This is especially important during the special deer day. Locations of the stations and additional information will be published at a later date.

The second regulation concerns the individual who will secure his first hunting license this Fall.

Legislation passed in 1971 makes it mandatory for any prospective bow or firearm hunter, regardless of age, to take a hunter safety course. Until now the applicant would contact an instructor to arrange for a course, but this is a thing of the past.

Applications will now be secured from license agents, conservation officers or from The Division of Fish and Game, in Trenton. The forms will then be completed by the applicant and mailed to the conservation officer whose name and address appears on the reverse side. The C.O. will then send this form to a county coordinator for processing and lining up of the courses. Applicants will then be notified by phone, or mail as to time and date of his scheduled course.

Some agents now have applications, and all will have them by July 1. It should be remembered that a separate application is needed for archery and firearm. Act now and prevent the usual log jam that occurs just prior to opening day.

It might be interesting to note that about 150 sportsmen showed up at the Council meeting to speak out against the special deer day. This would seem to shoot down the anti-hunting crowd's claims that anyone who goes afield with a gun, is a blood thirsty butcher bent on "mayhem and murder." But I suppose we'll hear and read more of this tripe before opening day.

Study Shows N.J. Residents Approve of Deer Hunting:

An unpublished poll conducted in New Jersey indicates that the majority of residents of the nation's most populous state approve of deer hunting and nearly one fourth of them have hunted at one time or another, according to Wildlife Management Institute.

The study was conducted by the Eagleton Institute for Practical Politics for the Rutgers University Wildlife Biology Department.

MICHELIN STEEL BELTED RADIALS MEANS THIS FOR YOU

EXTRA LONG TREAD MILEAGE It's definitely a proven fact. Under the same driving conditions (same car, same driver), the Michelin "X" Radial tire lasts at least twice as long in many cases much longer than ordinary tires. That's why we can guarantee it for 40,000 miles of tread wear.	FAR FEWER PUNCTURES Steel plies beneath the tread shield against road hazards. You get fewer punctures and a higher degree of safety.
FULL GRIP. FULL TRACTION IN ALL WEATHER In tests it proved unmatched for retaining traction on wet roads and resisted sliding on rain-slick curves. It also proved to give as much snow-grip as a snow tire plus more ice-grip. You may never need snow tires or chains again!	VIRTUAL ELIMINATION OF HEAT BLOWOUT RISKS Because of their radial design, Michelin "X" Radials run cooler. Your chances of casing failures or heat blowouts are virtually eliminated.
ACCURATE BRAKING ACTION The extra large "footprint" and the presence of steel cords do not allow the braking force to distort and pinch the tread pattern. Your braking action keeps it full force where you need it most.	MEASURABLE FUEL SAVINGS Because Michelin "X" Radial tires provide less rolling resistance, your car uses less energy and goes further on a gallon of gas.
MORE CAR CONTROL You can steer with less effort and your car won't wander on straightaways. It's like riding on rails.	UNSURPASSED DRIVING COMFORT Michelin "X" Radial tires absorb bumps and jolts like no other tire on the road because radial cords flex in the same direction. It's like having an extra set of shock absorbers!

Monmouth Camp Set; Pro Stars to Attend

WEST LONG BRANCH, — Dennis "Mo" Layton, former University of Southern California All-American, and now a "super guard" with the Phoenix Suns, and Cleo Hill, formerly of the St. Louis Hawks, headline the coaching staff for the New Jersey All State Basketball Camp being held at Monmouth College.

First session of the two-week camp is scheduled to start Sunday July 2, while the second session begins Sunday, July 8, according to Jack Drury, former basketball coach at Newark's South Side High School, who will direct the camp.

Layton, the Suns' rookie sensation, will "spend an entire week in camp as an instructor with the individual campers," Drury said. He will specialize in defense and driving to the basket.

Hill, who was a member of the National Basketball Association's All Rookie team, is now coach at Essex County College, and will be available for lecturing and individualized instruction.

Ron Kornegay, former All-American at Monmouth, and now an assistant coach at his alma mater, will serve as an instructor for both weeks of the camp and will specialize in working with the ball handling and outside shooting.

Two of New Jersey's most respected college basketball coaches, Bill Boylan, mentor of Monmouth's Hawks, and Ollie Geiston of Montclair State College, will also be featured as camp instructors.

The New Jersey All State Basketball Camp is open to boys between the ages of 9 and 17. Campers may register for one week or for both weeks. A combination of two weeks is available at a reduced rate.

A special feature of the summer camp will be an "individualized developmental, remedial, or speed reading course which will be available for all campers upon request," Coach Drury explained.

He said a college campus was chosen to house the campers because "it is modern, attractive, and quite accessible from all parts of New Jersey."

Alo, the director added, the campers "will be exposed to life on a typical New Jersey college campus and live and communicate with summer students studying at Monmouth."

And the coach pointed out, the New York Giants of the National Football League, will be arriving on the Monmouth campus during the second week of the basketball camp for the start of the club's pre-season training camp being held on the West Long Branch campus.

The Giants will be working-out on the Monmouth campus daily until Labor Day and will be living in college residence halls.

A brochure describing the basketball camp, and more information or application forms, may be obtained by contacting Jack Drury, 16 Wychview Drive, Westfield, 233-8713, or Ron Kornegay, at Monmouth College.

Tom Fleming Set For Olympic Run

San Juan, Puerto Rico — Tom Fleming, William Paterson College's premier distance runner with Olympic aspirations, is looking more and more like he might be headed for Munich, Germany. This past weekend skinny Tom, as the Puerto Ricans came to know him, won the biggest race of his running career. The race was the second annual 450 Marathon of San Juan, Puerto Rico.

Two-hundred runners from 50 countries participated in what will be an annual race. The race was run in 90 degrees heat which took its toll on many of the top runners. Fleming took the lead at the eight mile mark and was never seriously challenged by any of the runners as he opened up a 300-yard lead.

Fleming's main challenge came from the heat which was the hottest yet in the recorded history of San Juan. Fleming stated, "I was very surprised not to be challenged, but at times I was not sure if I could go another step because of the heat."

This win could help Fleming move into the spotlight for the U.S. Olympic Trials to be held July 9 in Eugene, Oregon. His coach, Dean Shonts, stated "If it is a hot day in Eugene, Tom will be at a distinct advantage over any of the other runners, since he spent a week running in temperatures over 90 degrees and ran the best race I have ever seen him win. Right now Tom is ready for anything and should definitely be considered as a contender for one of the spots on the Olympic Team."

Fleming's time of 1:42:39 was one minute and forty seconds ahead of Gaspar Garcia, the outstanding Mexican who has placed very high in past Boston Marathons.

Pine Brook Set For Friday

PINE BROOK — Rained out the past two Friday nights with his three-quarter midget car racing programs, promoter Jack Dowie of Union will attempt to present the third Friday night weekly series of auto racing this week at the Route 46 and Bloomfield Ave. junction track.

Following two successful opening programs earlier this month, Pine Brook since has been a rain victim and Dowie now is hoping for a break in the weather.

Fred Holz of Philadelphia and Tony Romit of Cliffside Park are the only two 35-lap feature race winners at Pine Brook and both drivers turned in commendable performances while winning the open-cockpit main events on separate Friday nights.

Four heat races begin the weekly auto programs every Friday night. Two semi-events follow with a Class "B"

The results are especially interesting in that a handful of people have obtained a court injunction halting a proposed public deer hunt on the Great Swamp National Wildlife Refuge in New Jersey. Refuge biologists had requested the hunt to reduce the number of deer and prevent further habitat and private property damage.

The study shows that 54 percent of New Jersey's residents approve of deer hunting, 38 percent disapprove, and 8 percent are undecided. Some 24 percent had hunted, 76 percent had not. When asked if they would vote for a referendum outlawing deer hunting in the state; 41 percent said they would, 47 percent said they would not, and 12 percent didn't know. Responding to whether there are a "lot of deer" in New Jersey or "not many," 29 percent said there are "a lot," 37 percent said "not many," and 34 percent were undecided. There are about 46,000 deer in the state. Asked what the coat of a newborn fawn looks like, only 29 percent answered spotted, flecked, etc.; 71 percent had no idea.

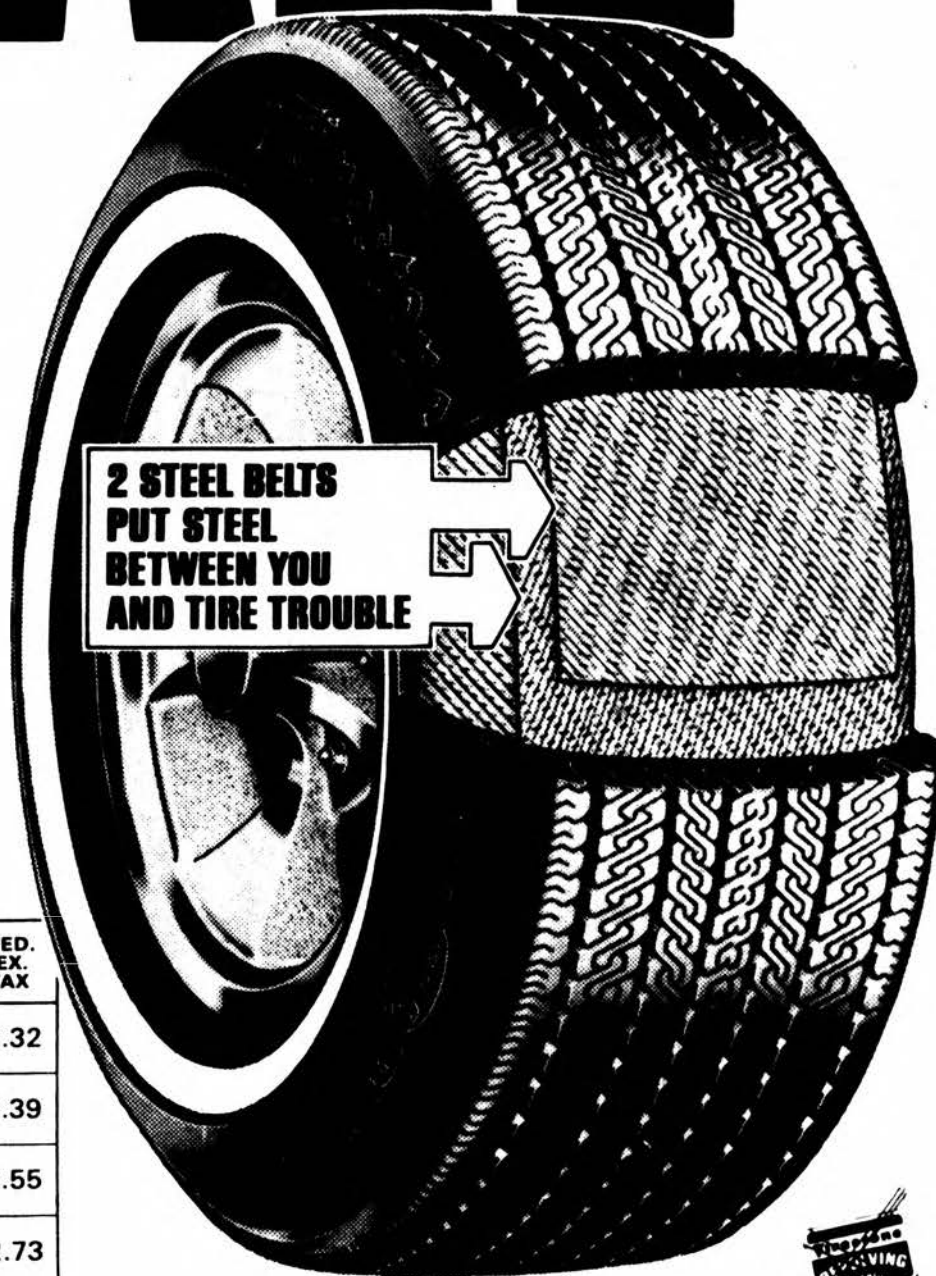

After looking in disgust at the swollen streams and lakes in the area, the other day, I returned home and picked up a detailed description of the Muskalonge hatchery operation in New York. After hatching the eggs, the fry are fed daphnia, and minnow fry. As the fish progress in size the diet is changed to fathead minnows and small carp. From mid-spring, the time the fry emerge, till the end of August, the youngsters will have attained the size of 8-9 inches. Many of these fish will be stocked in Chautaugua Lake near the hatchery.

The part of this story that will make you sit up and take notice is - although only one angler in four will take a Muskie from this lake, and spend an untold amount of hours before success is achieved; 40 tons of Muskies will be taken, each averaging 34 inches in length and weighing in at about 10 pounds—eat your heart out.

Firestone 500 Steel Belt

It's really tough... tough because it has two armor belts of steel under the tread. These steel belts give excellent protection against impacts, cuts and bruises. Steel belts resist tread "scrubbing" on pavement to give long tire wear.

Steel cords in the two belts are set so close together it takes 805 feet to make just one tire. This steel is so strong a single cord will pull a car!

Steel—along with modern polyester body cords and a deep, rugged, wide tread—make this the tire to put between you and tire trouble.

Wayne Valley Recmen On The Move

In Met League Action, Packanack Lake 5 Emerson-Westwood 4

Packanack Lake improv'd it's record for the season to 8-6 with a four run rally in the fifth and hung on to upset the Emerson-Westwood, 5-4.

Mick Rafferty, ex-Butler High star, hurled a six-hitter for the Sportsmen and made the lead stand up, though Emerson threatened to overtake the Sportsmen as they tallied single runs in the last two innings. Things got really hairy in the last inning when Emerson-Westwood loaded the bases with two down but Rafferty, noted for his cool, retired the last man to pick up his second win of the season without a defeat.

The big hit in Packanack's four run rally was a line shot two run single by Dave Wisbauer.

The win moved the Wayne entry within one-half game of the Southern Division lead, currently held by the Clifton Phillies.

In Big League Action, Wayne 2 Pequannock 0

John Brelus pitched Wayne Big League to it's first win of the year after two losses, with a nifty one-hit shutout.

Brelus hurled hitless ball for six and two-thirds innings before Pequannock could muster a safety. Pequannock's catcher Dymone reached safety in the last inning on a 'humped-back' liner and was stranded as Brelus got the last out to complete his masterpiece.

Wayne picked up the only run Brelus needed in the fifth and added an insurance run in the same inning. Dennis Atieth knocked in the 'gamer' with a long double to left field.

Kevin Cheval turned in a superlative effort at second base on defense for Wayne as he made four fantastic stops on sure base hits.

Wayne Rec Lakers Totowa PAL 3

Totowa PAL rallied for the tying run in the top of the fifth and a pitcher's battle ensued for the next five innings as Totowa and the Wayne Rec Lakers battled to a 3-3 deadlock. The game was called after a frustrating ten innings.

Skip Wolf and Mark Aiello combined for an airtight relief job for Wayne after starter John Rundin was relieved in the fourth and Totowa's Jim Novack and Dave Strasser did likewise.

The Lakers tallied once in the first and twice in the third for their day's attack as doubles by Rich Sheeler and Kevin Gilman highlighted each rally.

In Connie Mack Action Wanaque Rec 9 Albino Tool 4

Wanaque Rec continued along merrily on it's winning ways as Mike Redner picked up his fourth win of the season, in relief, a 9-4 verdict over Clifton Albino Tool. Wanaque grabbed a 3-1 lead after 2½ innings but the Clifton squad jumped on Joe Perin for three in their half of the third to take a 4-3 edge.

The Recmen rallied for three in the top of the sixth to retake the lead at 6-4 and put matters away with three more in the seventh. In the sixth inning rally which produced the winning runs, Bo Houser got things going with a triple. With one down, Jake Townsend lined a double to tie matters up. After the second out was recorded, Tom Gabelman came through with a clutch hit, a run scoring double that brought Townsend home with the winning run. Gabelman showed once again that he's a double threat—on the mound and at bat. Kip Webster then ended Wanaque's splurge with an RBI double.

Redner did a magnificent job in relief, shutting off the Clifton attack from the moment he stepped on the mound.
