Local school board candidates outline goals, qualifications

To help voters decide whom to elect to their local school board on April 18, Wayne Today asked candidates to complete a questionnaire sent via registered mail. The following responses were taken from the forms that were received by the given deadline.

Five candidates are vying for the three open seats on the Wayne Board of Education. Information from candidate Donald Monteyne was not submitted to Wayne Today.

THERESA CURRERI

Age: 44
Length of residency in the municipality: 17 years

Family: husband Paul; daughter Stephanie, 16; son Dominic, 14

Occupation: office manager, law firm of Paul J. Curreri

Newcomer or seeking re-election? Seeking re-election, have served three years

Why are you running? I am seeking re-election because I believe Wayne offers a world class education and I enjoy being an integral part of the process. I also believe that it is the responsibility of the adults in a community to be active and involved members of that community to help assure the best for its youth.

What are your goals? In the next three years on the board, I look forward to implementing a strategic planning process for long term planning, assuring high quality programs at a reasonable cost and establishing effective communication between the community and our schools.

What is the biggest challenge that faces your school district? The biggest challenge is the ability to continue the standard of excellence in light of flat funding from the state and federal government.

Lack of state and federal aid has the potential to have a tremendous negative effect on the budgets of districts such as Wayne.

List any non-profit, professional or community organizations to which you belong. Girls Scouts of America; George Washington Parent Teacher Organization; New Jersey School Boards Association

Students work to spread word on tobacco dangers

BY DEBRA WINTERS
Staff Writer

WAYNE – Worldwide, tobacco kills one person every 6.4 seconds – that's 599 people every hour and 13,400 every day.

New Jersey REBEL – Reaching Everyone By Exposing Lies – is a group of teens who voluntarily dedicated themselves to educating middle and elementary school children and community members about the perils of tobacco. REBEL involves both high schools while REBEL II includes two of the district's three middle schools. The program is operated in conjunction with Passaic County and the Wayne Alliance and is sponsored by the PTO.

Twenty-five students at George Washington Middle School take part in REBEL II, giving up their spare time to help spread the word that smoking kills. The program begins in October and runs through the end of the school year in June. Advisors, Wayne Police Det. Bill Jurewicz, the school resource officer and Donna Facciolla, a teacher at George Washington, act as mentors for the kids.

REBEL II members recently took part in the 11th annual "Kick Butts Day," a national day of awareness sponsored by the Campaign for Tobacco-Free Kids. It's a celebration of youth leadership and activism in the fight against tobacco use. Kids are collaborating in an effort to send two messages – to get tobacco companies to stop targeting them with marketing and to ask elected leaders to step up and do more in the way of protecting them from tobacco.

"It's novel when kids out and educate their community and families," Jurewicz said.

Throughout the day, REBEL II members wore white T-shirts emblazoned with the logo "1,200 All Day, Everyday" in bright red ink as a way to draw attention to the number. They also hung eye-

Debates, discussion, dissention lead up to budget vote

BY DEBRA WINTERS
Staff Writer

WAYNE – The hostility mounts as the school board election draws near.

Contentious issues have recently sparked heated deliberation. As Wayne has always been a fervent district when it comes to its children, some say that sentiment is lacking in this year's school budget.

Board members recognize this and have been vocal about their concerns while others continue to strongly support the numbers affirming that the budget reflects the lowest increase in eight years.

"It's a strong budget that includes several programs starting with pre-k up to the high school level. It covers both the socio and academic needs with a small increase," said Wayne school board president Theresa Curreri.

The issue over the property on Berdan Avenue near Wayne Hills High School that the board wants to purchase for $518,000 has caused much argument. Residents should be aware that if the budget is voted down because they don't want to purchase the property, the $518,000 will not be cut out of taxes, rather it will be kept aside. The house could still be purchased however the board would have to start from scratch.

"A combo of other initiatives will be addressed for instance academic programs, athletics and teachers if the budget is voted down. That's where the cuts will come from and the public needs to know this," explained Curreri.

Superintendent Dr. Maria Nuccetelli, in a last ditch effort to promote the budget, reminds residents not to let the issues regarding the property overshadow the importance of the budget. Furthermore asserting that whether there are negative views revolving around the budget, that it's no different than any other year.

"I welcome healthy discussions about initiatives. Everyone wants to see the issues addressed and people are very passionate about it," Nuccetelli said.

Calling the property purchase "political propaganda," Councilman Chris Vergano lashed out at the school board during a recent council meeting.

"I have always supported the school budget but not this one. When books are in dire need and buildings need repairs spending $518,000 is utterly ridiculous," said Vergano. "I've been looking for a good reason to buy the house but I haven't heard one yet."

Board member Michael Falso said he was surprised about Vergano's take but said he respects his opinion.

"I haven't heard anything negative about the budget personally," he said.

Regarding a clash at a recent board meeting reported by Wayne Today, Falso commented, "Between board members, though, there is some disagreement on issues, but we have to learn to leave it alone and not take it personally. I take my position and move on."

Unhappy with the article, board member Dawn Makowski said, "This is the type of negative press we don't need at this time. I feel the budget is solid and we're keeping the best interests of the children at heart is that's what's important."

She added, "It takes a mature adult to agree to disagree. We're not there for personal gain or an ego booster."

The fact that there are issues just proves that people are paying attention, said Curreri.

"If we remained stagnant and didn't move the district further ahead there wouldn't be any issues. Implementing new programs and initiatives causes concern versus just remaining status quo," she added.

For board member Jane Hutchison, focus is being lost on why they are there.

"We need to regroup collectively and do our best for the kids because overall everyone wants what's best for them," Hutchison said.

Anthony D'Apollito, board member, said he was disheartened with the recent media surrounding the board saying, "Board members vote to their discretion. It's never brought up as an issue."

Speaking collectively for the board, Curreri said ultimately she would like to see more community input in the way of meeting attendance.

"At the last public budget meeting, there wasn't anyone there to voice concerns," Curreri said.

A strategic planning group is also in the works for August, she said, involving parents from each school.

"The community is imperative in a district as large as Wayne where each area has its own set of needs," said Curreri.

Music class is hands-on, real world

BY DEBRA WINTERS
Staff Writer

WAYNE – Pop singer Richard Marx once sang, "It's never what but who it is you know. So easy to get stuck in all that California snow. Take a good look around and you'll find people tryin' to mess with your mind," in his 1987 hit, "Don't Mean Nothing."

Students in a William Paterson University public relations class are learning just that and more as they get a taste of the big time in a classroom-style setting.

The old school approach to teaching doesn't suit adjunct professor George Dassinger, who believes the hands-on tactic to be much more useful in his course Media Use in Music & Entertainment. Real world experience has proven to be a valuable commodity for his class.

"You guys are great," he told the class which sits in an informal roundtable manner. "I've had other classes that seemed to grasp what I'm up here preaching. But this class is different, you guys 'get' how this thing works. I can see it in your eyes," Dassinger said enthusiastically.

The semester's assignment is to generate publicity for an unknown group called the Josh Dion Band starting from the ground floor. Dassinger, who owns public relations firm based in Montclair, has millions of secrets and shortcuts to navigate through the media world that he lovingly shares with the students.

"I'm fascinated by how things work from behind the scenes and how good images are put forth. I believe in telling the truth and especially in the entertainment business. The truth always comes out," Dassinger told the class.

Back in January, the class of about eight students were introduced to their "client" (Josh Dion Band). The media campaign followed as did target media assignments both long range and immediate. Each student assumed numerous responsibilities for which they've accomplished outside the classroom. For the most part, students learn the importance of networking and competitiveness in a business that prides itself in being ruthless.

Josh Dion, the band's drummer, is joined with five friends and fellow jazz students from WPU including Dan Hindman on guitars; Pat Firth, piano and keyboards; Brian Killeen, on bass; Sarah Versprille, backing vocals; and Justin Wade, backing vocals.

Produced by Dion, the CD has a fresh, eclectic sound. Dion's funky voice – similar to Ace Young from this season's American Idol competition – is reminiscent to that of the Doobie Brothers' Patrick Simmons tied together with the sounds of Earth, Wind and Fire.

The band's manager, Phil Brennan, who has worked with the well-known jazz band Spyra Gyro for the past 28-years, is grateful for the work Dassinger's class has done. Brennan said he was put in contact with Dassinger through a friend in the business.

"That's such a great class. It's definitely a benefit. It's like having

Local artist keeps brother's legacy alive

WAYNE - Barbara Hall, a Wayne resident and amateur photographer, hadn't planned to co-author a book with her brother, Jon C. Hall.

Six years ago, she was busy with her pharmaceutical consulting business and real estate holdings, and recovering from a brain tumor. But in 2000, when Jon suffered a debilitating stroke, Barbara devised a recovery process that eventually allowed her brother to relearn how to walk, talk, read and write again. As Jon, a real estate lawyer and archaeology enthusiast, regained his strength, he also fulfilled a lifelong dream of writing. Barbara collaborated on a variety of literary projects with Jon, including her brother's first novel, an archaeological mystery called "Bokuru." Jon wrote three more books before dying of heart disease in 2005. "Bokuru" was published posthumously in 2005, and since then, Barbara Hall has been sharing her brother's story and books with the public.

"Bokuru" tells the story of an eminent paleo-archaeologist who dies mysteriously while on an African dig. His daughter and a lawyer representing the museum that financed the archaeologist's work set out to determine what really happened in the remote setting. His daughter and virtually everyone who knew the doctor and his work dispute the initial report of suicide as cause of death. As the complex story unfolds, the startling truth behind the doctor's death and excavation findings becomes more and more tantalizing, only revealed in the last few chapters.

While the story line is exciting enough, the extensive details and research infuse this mystery with a richness missing in many books of this genre.

"Bokuru," by Jon C. Hall, is available through Amazon.com and BarnesandNoble.com. More information can be found on www.ournaturematters.net.

CANDIDATES

VICTOR HAYEK

Age: 35
Length of residency in the municipality: six years

Family: wife Angela; son Jonathan

Occupation: Police officer for Wayne Township Police Department and adjunct professor of business at William Paterson University

Why are you running? I am running for the board of education because I believe that I can use my education (MBA in finance) and business expertise to keep the district on track financially and ensure long-term success for the district. Being a successful business owner and having 12 plus years of management experience including dealing with two unions, has given me insight into budgeting, balancing income and expenses, dealing with increasing costs year after year and achieving goals, while maintaining a permanent stage of continuous improvement.

What are your goals? 1) Development in the township has grown tremendously over the last five to 10 years. There appears to be continuing development as we speak. I would like to see the township adopt an ordinance that allows the school district to receive an impact fee from developers. This will greatly help the district in accommodating the increasing population.

2) I also believe that we need to be aggressive I seeking grants and innovative partnerships to provide additional resources for the district. This will help give our district some economic independence to make the right choices for the children of our community.

3) I would also like to re-examine the budget process.

What is the biggest challenge that faces your school district? Our biggest challenge is an ongoing one. We need to continue the balance between providing a quality education at a reasonable cost. As a board member, I will consider all needs - students, educators and taxpayers.

List any non-profit, professional or community organizations to which you belong. Member of Policeman's Benevolent Association #136, American Federation of Teachers, and the Society for Human Resource Management

JANE B. HUTCHISON

Age: 55
Length of residency in the municipality: 21 years

Family: husband Stuart; children Shelley, 32, Zackary, 27,

Dylan, 13

Occupation: associate director of instruction and research technology and graduate advisor, School Library Media program, William Paterson University

Newcomer or seeking re-election? Seeking re-election; have served three years

Why are you running? I have worked in public education my whole professional career. I believe quality education is the foundation of our democracy and our hope for our future. Having three children who have been in our public schools, I believe that we have an excellent school system with strong curriculum and athletic programs. I have expertise in lobby-ing for public funding, incorporating technology in the curriculum, and supporting plans and programs that give the district the most education for the least expenditure. I am knowledgeable and am an impartial decision-maker with experience in working with others and making the best independent judgments for our students and taxpayers. For more information, visit www.freewebs.com/janehutchison/

What are your goals? In this time of budget crisis in our state, it's more important than ever to be a watchdog on the legislative front, to demand the funding our Wayne students deserve. If re-elected, I will continue to serve on the legislative committee representing the 40th Legislative District to lobby for fair funding for our district. As an educational technologist for over 34 years, I want to continue the progress we've made to provide technology that is used as a tool by students, teachers and administrators. I would like to extend access to our parents so that they can retrieve their child's records and increase communication with their child's teachers and administrators. Third, I want to build on our programs that provide Elementary Prevention Intervention Specialists in the schools to support our students.

What is the biggest challenge that faces your school district? The biggest challenge is continuing to provide quality education with budgetary accountability. Board members have to choose priorities that bring the best benefits for our students. We can't be all encompassing, and we have to be selective in what we provide to our students. Now that we completed the new middle school and wings on the two high schools, we need to focus on upgrading our elementary schools and other middle schools to make them safe and secure for our students. This is a challenge given the cap that has been placed on our district by the Senate Bill 1701 legislation. We must budget for student success by setting our funding according to our district's learning goals, so key components of the instruction plan are present and supported.

Why are you running? I have enjoyed and learned much from my last 10 years of PTO involvement in the district. I hope to benefit and impact more children at the board level. I am passionate that our children continue to receive the best education possible in these times of fiscal crisis concerning the funding of our schools.

What are your goals? Continued support for the necessary resources required to enhance our curricular offerings. Enhance and further safety initiatives in all our schools. Maintaining a prudent and responsible sense in fiscal matters.

What is the biggest challenge that faces your school district? Maintaining the quality education Wayne expects in lieu of the last five years of flat state funding. Handling our own in-house costs of energy, building maintenance, insurance and salaries. The board must look at ways to keep these under control. Creating the safest environment possible for our students. Enhance security measures at all schools.

ELECTIONS

Three candidates are vying for the one open, one-year seat on the Wayne Board of Education.

ROBERT CEBERIO

Age: 52
Length of residency in the municipality: six years
Family: wife Carol; children Matthew, 29, Luke, 23, Katherine, 7

Occupation: executive director, New Jersey Meadowlands Commission; adjunct professor at various colleges and universities concentrating in master's degree programs in public administration, management sciences and business administration.

Newcomer or seeking re-election? Newcomer to Wayne; previously served on a school board, as president and finance committee chairman, in a Bergen County community

Why are you running? As a parent with a child in the school system, I am pursuing the best way to contribute with what I have to offer. As an executive of a state agency that finds ways to serve residents and offers award-winning educational outreach through the Meadowlands Environment Center – all without using tax dollars – I feel I can bring practical, large-organization, financial experience to put students needs first, as well as, addressing the rising burden on taxpayers.

What are your goals? Most importantly, to reduce taxpayer burden by creating alternative funding sources such as an educational foundation, business roundtable and corporate sponsorship, while at the same time reviewing each and every line item in the budget to make sure that the right resources are delivered directly into the classroom. I believe it is practical to look at system-wide equity in the areas of support and facility management. It is important that we have a very specific five-year capital plan for each and every school. We must make certain that we provide the best technology tools for our students and teachers. We must empower the principals of our schools to implement programs and innovations that fit the needs of that particular school. We must give each school PTO a larger planning voice in annual needs assessment of each school. Lastly, we must address the spiraling cost of utilities for all schools, not just a few. I would implement a renewable energy initiative which would be more comprehensive than the cogeneration plan.

What is the biggest challenge that faces your school district? The biggest challenge Wayne schools face is the same one other schools face state-wide: we will not be able to rely on state tax dollars to bail us out, therefore, we must exercise better discipline with the dollars we have and become innovative in attracting more dollars we need from non-traditional sources. Otherwise it will become increasingly difficult to provide a high quality education that taxpayers can feel good about and support as years go by. This will be the challenge until such time that the State addresses the property tax issue and the method in which schools are funded annually.

List any non-profit, professional or community organizations to which you belong. Association of Governmental Accountants – certified government financial manager; American Society of Public Administration; American Planning Association; trustee, Meadowlands Conservation Trust; Workforce Investment Boards in two counties

MICHAEL FALSO

Age: 41
Length of residency in the municipality: 12 years
Family: wife Rosann; children Julianna, 9, Christina, 8, Victoria, 4
Occupation: metals importer, CMC Commonwealth Metal
Newcomer or seeking re-election? Seeking re-election; have served three years

Why are you running? I am running to continue with the work started during my first term, in areas such as personnel, budget, curriculum, and facilities. I am seeking the one year term as I am not prepared to make another three year commitment at the present time.

What are your goals? Keep the board focused on its role as a policy and oversight body. Manage an extremely disciplined budget that optimizes our resources and provides the best educational value for the residents. Develop a curriculum that prepares our children to effectively compete in the global economy. Create a learning environment in which all children can thrive.

What is the biggest challenge that faces your school district? To establish an affordable budget that allows us to achieve our district educational goals. This challenge has been made particularly difficult given the relatively small amount of state funding our district receives combined with escalating energy and healthcare costs.

List any non-profit, professional or community organizations to which you belong. Parishioner,

Our Lady of the Valley Church; University of Notre Dame Alumni Association; New York University Stern School of Business Alumni Association

WAYNE LOUGHEED

Age: 42
Length of residency in the municipality: 42 years
Family: wife Janice; son Sean, a Fallon first grader

Occupation: Lieutenant with the Wayne Township Police Department in charge of the 9-1-1/Communications Center

Newcomer or seeking re-election? Newcomer

Why are you running? I want to be a part of my child's education through the early years of his life. I have been active in the community as a police officer and feel that I can positively contribute by being a trustee on the school board.

What are your goals? To maintain the high quality education that Wayne is known for. To support the budget and ensure that its distribution is fair and equitable. Working hand in hand with the teachers to produce the best results for our children.

What is the biggest challenge that faces your school district? The biggest challenges are maintaining our current curriculum while being faced with continually shrinking amounts of state aid and ensuring that our schools are safe and drug free.

List any non-profit, professional or community organizations to which you belong. Member of the New Jersey Honor Legion, PBA Local 136; the International Association of Chiefs of Police, West Point Command & Leadership alumni association, Association of Public-Safety Communications Officers, Society of Accident Reconstructionists, the New Jersey Association of Accident Reconstructionists, Preakness Reformed Church, and past member, Tri-County Chamber of Commerce.

TOBACCO

catching posters at George Washington.

According to statistics, 1,200 people die nationwide every day from illnesses generated from smoking.

"Before the start of classes, kids were told to ask REBEL II members what 1,200 meant. We also told them that they would be very surprised to find out the answer. We feel it's important to reach kids when they're young," Facciolla said.

Every puff is perilous.

A single cigarette exposes the body to more than 4,000 chemicals typically found in rat poison including arsenic and cyanide. Other deadly ingredients include ammonia, carbon monoxide, acetone, which is found in paint strippers, formaldehyde, used to preserve dead frogs, toluene, an industrial solvent and polonium-210, a highly radioactive element.

In New Jersey, 11,200 adults die annually from smoking. And 175,500 kids under 18 in New Jersey will ultimately die prematurely from smoking, according to www.tobaccofreekids.com.

This being said, the tobacco industry annually spends about $15.4 billion on marketing ads, with an estimated $314 million spent in New Jersey.

Upon learning such statistics, REBEL II members have a grasp of how dangerous smoking is. Both Jurewicz and Facciolla say they are fascinated by the amount of information the kids have ingested.

"I'm totally impressed by the kids' dedication. They really believe in the cause. Walking down the hallway, you can hear the REBEL II kids stating statistics and numbers to the other kids. It's also a way for the kids to have fun socially especially for the shyer children. It helps to bring them out of their shell," Facciolla said.

In addition, REBEL participants make visits to the elementary schools throughout the district to educate the younger children.

"Kids are encouraged to have fun and enjoy themselves. We're like a big family," Jurewicz stated. "On many occasions, we've had kids come to us saying they wanted to join REBEL II because we came to see them at their school and it looked fun."

For GW sixth grader Steven Lennon, joining REBEL II was more of a personal choice.

"You can make a big contribution to get kids and adults to stop smoking or to even start. My grandfather smoked and he died from it," Lennon said. Pointing to his T-shirt with 1,200 printed on it, he added, "See this number, I want this number to go down."

When asked in one word to describe smoking, Lennon replied, "terrible."

Julie Weiss, an eighth grader, said REBEL II is a fun way to help keep friends away from cigarettes.

"It's interesting to learn about tobacco so many people need to know how bad it really is," Weiss said.

As for fellow classmate Marissa Merker, her choice to join was more health conscious.

"I'm allergic to the smoke from cigarettes so I'm all for trying to spread the word about its dangers. And not to mention it smells awful. I just wish people would just stop smoking," Merker said.

Both girls agreed that REBEL, as well as delivering a solid message about tobacco, also affords young kids the opportunity to stand up for their beliefs and not give into peer pressure.

"Being part of REBEL II isn't like viewed as being a nerdy thing to do. Kids in our school (George Washington Middle School) think it's really cool," said Weiss.

It's your money at work – take time to vote

Next Tuesday, April 18, is an important day for our local school districts. It's Board of Education election day, when voters are given the chance to have their say on new school board members and spending plans for 2006-2007.

Three of the five school boards in our coverage area have contested races – Wayne, West Paterson and Passaic Valley High School. Totowa and Little Falls are uncontested. It's great to see newcomers stepping up to try to make a difference in their community.

The individuals who serve on our school boards work tirelessly to devise and revise key school policies such as safety guidelines and discipline and make important decisions on hiring staff and administration.

It is vital for every resident to take a vested interest. This is your school system, for your children and those of your neighbors.

With crowded classrooms, low test scores and keeping up with state mandates, school board members have their work cut out for them.

Many candidates feel one of the biggest challenges is to provide the best education possible for students at a reasonable price to taxpayers.

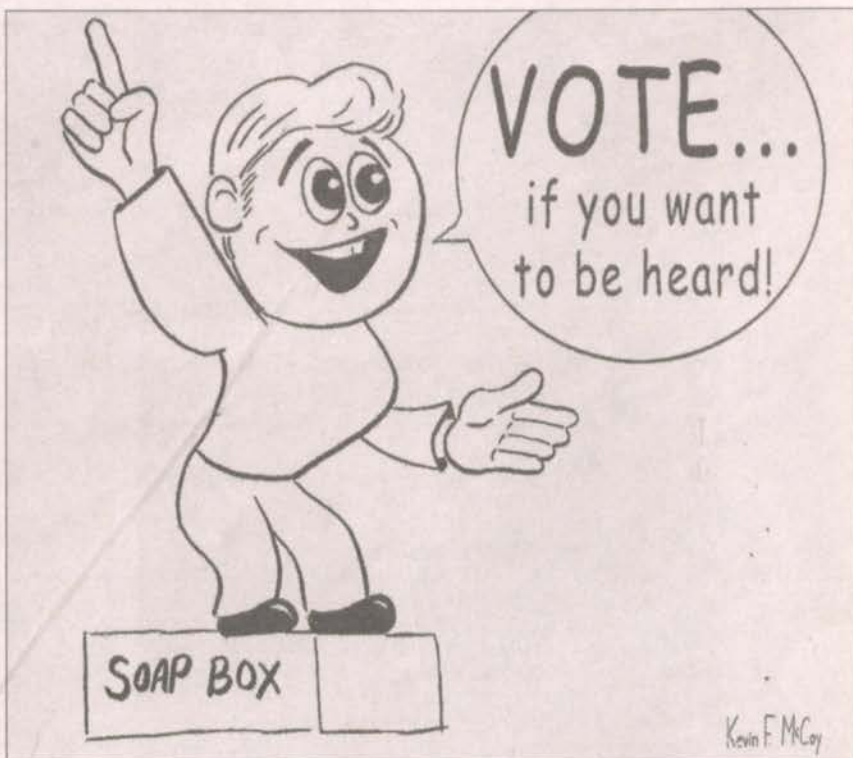

Other challenges are dealing with minimal state aid, student transportation and special education costs and student safety.

Not having children in the local school system is not an acceptable reason for not voting in school board elections.

The money at work there is everyone's money and the students are the community and business leaders of the future.

According to the New Jersey School Boards Association, an average of only about 15 percent of registered voters come out for the April vote for school board members and budgets.

Whether for or against your school district's current spending plan, if you have registered to vote in this election, make an effort to vote on Tuesday and let your voice be heard.

Like life, when you get it all, it's discontinued

There's an unsettling feeling you get when your china pattern is "discontinued." And when your crystal and silver patterns also become discontinued, it's a double-edged message.

First, if you do own sterling place settings, you are probably as old as I am and they were bought as wedding gifts when each five-piece setting was well under $30. Today, it costs that much to replace a spoon, if you can find it on e-Bay because, like mine, yours is probably also discontinued.

Those prices require counting every piece you put through the dishwasher, before and after a wash cycle, because you know you aren't going to spend that kind of money to replace any lost silver, even if you can find it to buy it.

We bought our stemware, Orrefors Rhapsody, when it was about $4 a wine glass. Now, it's $55 a glass, a price that should demand that it be filled with a fine, expensive wine – never decanted from a raffia-wrapped bottle of Chianti.

At a dinner party long ago, eight of us sat around our dinner table rubbing our partially filled glasses with a wet finger, causing a harmonious humming. Of course one glass broke from too much rapid rubbing and another was smashed midair as it collided with the wine bottle being offered for refilling.

Nancy Rubenstein
BELIEVE ME

Our china was bought many decades ago when we were on an island vacation. The entire 12-place setting was $180.

I fell into a $100 win a short time ago so I bought the accompanying butter dish of my china pattern for a bit more than I won. Not only does that serving piece showcase my extravagance, it's rectangular-shaped, like an 8-ounce bar of cream cheese, and my supermarket butter comes in whole blocks or quarters. However, a year after hosting brunches so I could use the butter dish, I have discovered 8-ounce, cream cheese-shaped bars of butter imported from Europe. It's far more expensive than American brands of butter, but appropriate for the new, extravagant serving piece.

Next, I foolishly bought the coffee pot in my discontinued china pattern. It's lovely but it's too tall to fit into the cabinet.

If we were to set up house-keeping today, we'd be selecting stainless flatware and probably look at Fiesta-style dishes. When we were first married, we had Russell Wright pottery. Had I kept it and not chipped or broken most of its pieces, it would probably bring a huge "collectors" price on e-bay, along with my china and crystal now listed at hefty prices.

Do you think that maybe this is why plastic utensils and paper

Mumps outbreak shows vaccine's failings

There is a mumps epidemic sweeping across Middle America. It appears the outbreak started on the college campuses of Iowa and quickly spread to neighboring states. As of this writing, nearly 300 people have come down with this viral infection of the salivary glands. It is the biggest outbreak of mumps in decades and scientists are baffled. Almost 80 percent of the mumps-sufferers were vaccinated against the disease. Why are they getting it?

"We're trying to figure out why it's happening," said Iowa state epidemiologist Dr. Patricia Quinlisk. "The vaccine certainly was made to cover this particular strain, because it's a fairly common strain of mumps. The vaccine is working."

She had me up until that last part. Clearly, the vaccine is NOT obviously amiss. This is a common stance among medical professionals (it must be taught on Day One of medical school) – defend the vaccine and immunization schedule set forth by the Centers for Disease Control and the American Academy of Pediatrics at all costs.

Rob Errera

But you don't need an outbreak of mumps to see that the vaccine program in America is not effective.

In some cases it's downright dangerous, full of unnecessary exposure to harmful chemicals, preservatives, and diseases. Kids are being vaccinated too young and too often. The vaccination schedule endorsed by the American Academy of Pediatrics is driven by the pharmaceutical companies which profit from these vaccines, not by public safety. Rather than investigate the safety of their products, the Big Pharm giants instead chose to lobby congress for protection from vaccine damage lawsuits.

Since 1988 the mumps vaccine has been coupled with the measles and rubella (German measles) vaccines in a single shot called the MMR.

The MMR shot is administered around one year of age and, coupled with a booster shot, is supposed to protect children from these diseases for the rest of their lives.

Obviously, something's gone wrong.

In 1998, British scientist Dr. Andrew Wakefield published a report linking the MMR shot with the onset of autism and other developmental disorders in children. The medical community rebelled against Wakefield, and the report was later rescinded – most likely because British officials feared the bad press would cause parents to stop vaccinating their children, opening the door to an array of public health issues. Despite the fact that Wakefield's studies have been replicated in both the United States and abroad, the MMR shot continues to be a regular part of the American vaccination schedule.

I can tell you from personal experience that my son Rocco got the MMR shot shortly after his first birthday. He got the chicken pox vaccine the same day. He was never the same again. Shortly after receiving these shots he stopped talking and stopped pointing. He retreated into a solitary world of repetitive behaviors and sensory confusion. Six months later he was diagnosed with autism.

My son's story is not uncommon. There are thousands of parents who will tell you the same thing about the MMR vaccine and how it damaged their children. But, while the MMR's link to developmental disorders remains in question, the mumps outbreak in the Mid-West shows one thing for sure; the MMR vaccine doesn't work very well at protecting against mumps, either.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

A flat budget would not be that bad

DEAR EDITOR:

The proposed 2006-2007 Wayne school budget makes the point that: "This year's increase to the education budget is the lowest in recent years," but we should all ask whether that is enough of a reason to make us approve it on April 18.

From the facts listed in the budget brochure sent out this week, total increases in the last four years have been 28 percent. In reality, because each successive increase is based on the previous budget, the entire school budget has increased by approximately 32 percent in the last four years. I only wish my salary had increased that much!

I would ask, "How much do the schools really need?" In a time when we all need to show fiscal responsibility, it should not be a given that the school board budget must increase every year.

When so many people are forced to live with minimal to no increases to their annual salaries, I would like to see the school board live within realistic means. I wonder how much the education of our children would suffer if the school budget remained flat for several years. I sincerely doubt that it would make much of a difference in the quality of their education. I ask all of you to think about this when you go out to vote on April 18.

Keep in mind the challenges of BOEs

DEAR EDITOR:

By now, New Jerseyans know about Gov. Corzine's proposed austerity budget for 2006-2007. The budget resulted from hard choices at the state level. At the local level, boards of education also faced difficult financial decisions as they prepared school budgets for the April 18 school election. Like it or not, the state's financial picture is a major part of the dynamic that determines what a community spends on its schools and the amount of money it must raise in property taxes.

This will mark the fifth consecutive year that the state's budget has either flat funded, or provided negligible increases in, aid to education. The five-year funding freeze has occurred at the same time that school districts must serve an increasing number of students statewide and pay sharply escalating prices for necessities.

In this climate, school boards have directed limited resources to the classroom through increased efficiencies and shared-service arrangements. Today, more than 70 percent of New Jersey public school expenditures go toward classroom instruction and instructional support services, according to the U.S. Department of Education. Creating a school budget in this financial environment is no easy task. It involves balancing the community's education goals with the resources available from the state and from local property taxpayers. As citizens go the polls on April 18, I urge them to keep in mind the challenges facing their local board of education in determining the financial resources

a team that we never had before. And it's not easy to get publicity for a band to begin with so I'm very pleased," Brennan said.

Ultimately, the class is gearing up for a show that the Josh Dion Band is playing at WPU's Shea Auditorium on April 20. WPU alumni Easy Fold will be opening up.

The show is actually part of an end of the semester fiesta starting at 7 p.m. in Shea room #101, which is free with the purchase of a ticket to the concert. There will be Mexican food available and raffles to win Chevy's gift certificates.

Students circulated budget tidbits and press agendas as if they were nothing short of public relations pros at the height of their game. A lot goes on behind the scenes they said regarding the WPU show as they vented to each other about university guidelines.

"It's amazing how much politics is involved, it's absolutely ridiculous," said a vocal Tracy Michaels, the band's liaison. Michaels is also the president of the Music and Entertainment Industry Student Association at WPU.

The one duty that the students found to be intimidating was making calls to press outlets to gain publicity on the band.

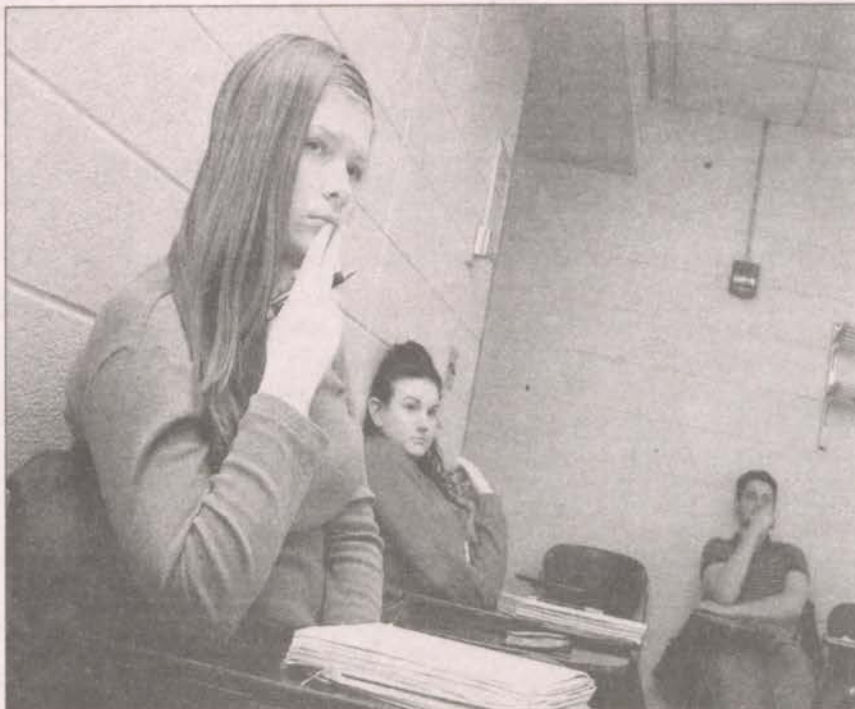

"I definitely felt apprehensive in the beginning but it's something you get used to once you build up confidence," Danielle Firrincili said.

Julie O'Brien, who was in charge of several tasks including gaining press for the show in the Wayne Today, said she has gained a lot of knowledge as far as how things operate.

"This class is different than anything I've taken so far. And I've learned so much just by doing as opposed to reading something on paper," O'Brien stated.

The Josh Dion Band is currently on tour. For information log onto www.myspace.com/joshdionband. Tickets to the WPU show can be purchased by calling (973) 720-2371. Easy Fold goes on at 8 p.m. with Josh Dion following at 9.

Briggs gets nominated for 41 DWI arrest count

BY TINA PAPPAS
Correspondent

LITTLE FALLS — Out of the 93 driving while intoxicated (DWI) arrests made last year by the police department, 41 one of them were made by Officer Jim Briggs. He was the Little Falls police's highest drunk driving apprehension producer for 2005.

As a result of his achievement, Chief Gerald Hunter had nominated Briggs for the Mother's Against Drunk Drivers (MADD) DWI arrest award as the top officer for 2005. The winner will be announced later this spring.

"He's a very assertive and aggressive officer," said Hunter.

"He's also fair, yet firm and very conscientious. We're very proud of him and happy to put him in the running for this recognition award. He deserves it."

An officer with the department since 2003, Briggs said he was happy with being attributed to making the roads around town safer.

"Working the 7 p.m. to 3 a.m. shift is an advantage to catching individuals on the road who have just left bars or other venues where alcohol was served," he said. "I look for certain things like a car swerving, or operating without headlights. Some of the arrests were accident-related."

However, Briggs said many of his stops have been encouraging lately.

"I've stopped vehicles several times around Montclair State University and each time, the students inside have had their one non-drinking designated friend in the driver's seat. It's a good sign that they're getting the message."

This month, Passaic County will join others in the state to implement a new breath test called Alco-test, which will replace the current one which has been used nationwide since 1954. Briggs will oversee the implementation of the new test and handle its maintenance. The new alcohol test is more sensitive than the previous one and will provide results in about four minutes, according to Little Falls police.

Hunter said Little Falls' DWI arrest ace will play a key role in implementing the innovation.

"I can't see anyone being more qualified to oversee the new Alco-test than Briggs."

According to the New Jersey Division of Highway Traffic Safety (DHTS), nationwide, alcohol-related crashes account for approximately 40 percent of all traffic fatalities each year. In 2003, New Jersey accounted for 275 alcohol-related fatalities. However, the last couple of years have been more encouraging.

"On a national level, fatalities in alcohol-related crashes have decreased for the second year," said Roberto Rodriguez, director of the DHTS. "In 2004, alcohol-related deaths accounted for dropped to 270 for New Jersey. We believe the figures for 2005 will show a continued decrease once we get final numbers back. The state has historically been several points below the national average."

Rodriguez attributes the tri-state public service campaign started in 2005 of "You drink and drive...you lose" of helping to further push the message and the crackdown has law enforcement using a zero tolerance approach, as with the Little Falls police department.

Rodriguez also said that majority of New Jersey residents support tougher enforcement and rank drunk driving ahead of healthcare, poverty, the environment and gun control as an important social issue, based on state-wide focus group data sampling.

Wayne's finest sponsor boating safety seminar

BY TOM BOUD
Staff Writer

WAYNE - It's all about helping local skippers get clear sailing on complying with a new nautical requirement.

The Wayne Police Department and the Office of Emergency Management will be hosting two six-hour boating safety certificate courses. Both are intended for prospective and current boat owners to meet a new marine safety law enacted in January 2006 by former Gov. Codey.

"It's something that everyone who plans to operate a boat has to have."

The first 7 to 10 p.m. session is scheduled for May 3 and May 4 at Wayne Municipal Complex in health room 2. The second same place and hour seminar is slated for May 23 and May 24. The instruction will be given by the Coast Boating School, an institution recognized by the New Jersey State Police.

All enrollees will take a written exam. A passing grade is necessary to earn a state police boating safety certificate, the sergeant said.

Cost is $65, payable directly to Coast Boating School. Seating is limited; registration is required. Call (877) 262-8723.

Martello said 100 hours or plus experience boaters could take a safety certificate exam at Troop B Headquarters in Totowa for $25.

For more information, contact Martello at (973) 633-3540.

WPU to host family business presentation

WAYNE - Neil Koenig, an internationally renowned family business and management consultant and author of "You Can't Fire Me, I'm Your Father: What Every Family Business Needs to Know for Success," will share practical strategies for family businesses during an interactive presentation at William Paterson University in Wayne on Tuesday, May 9. His presentation serves as the kickoff for the new Center for Closely Held Business at William Paterson University, which is dedicated to the success of family and closely held firms in the northern New Jersey region.

The event, in the university's building at 1600 Valley Rd., begins at 6 p.m. with dinner, followed by the program at 7 p.m.

The cost is $50 per person.

It is appropriate for all members of family enterprises and for business owners thinking of bringing family members into their firm.

The Center for Closely Held Business at William Paterson University was developed by and for successful closely held and family business leaders.

It draws on the strengths of the Christos M. Cotsakos College of Business at William Paterson University-including faculty expertise and research, the College's world-class facilities and the Russ Berrie Institute for Professional Sales-as well as local closely held and family businesses.

Among the resources to be offered are practical hands-on workshops, real-world case studies, presentations by industry experts, peer-to-peer problem solving and peer mentoring.

For more information or for reservations, call (973) 720-2615 or e-mail chb@wpunj.edu.

Why Have So Many of Your Neighbors Moved to Cedar Crest?

Ask Helen Szarawarski

Helen moved to this 62+ community for many of the reasons you may be thinking about a move. In particular, she had grown weary of the maintenance her house required. Cedar Crest offered:

- A spacious, 100% maintenance-free home
- Multi-million-dollar amenities like a pool, Fitness Center, bank, and restaurants
- A full continuum of wellness and health services as needed

And the clincher? The location

Cedar Crest's close proximity was also a deciding factor. "Moving here was easy for me, because nothing has really changed—except my address!" says Helen.

Wayne Hills High School
is site for WalkAmerica

WAYNE - March of Dimes WalkAmerica, the popular fundraising event, is taking place on Sunday, April 30 at Wayne Hills High School in Wayne to help the March of Dimes fight prematurity - a growing crisis that now affects half a million babies born in the United States every year. The number of babies born prematurely each year has increased by 30 percent since 1983. In New Jersey over 14,000 babies are born prematurely every year. Premature birth is the leading killer of newborns and a major cause of disabilities.

WalkAmerica in Passaic County is six miles. Check-in begins at 8 a.m. and the walk begins at 9 a.m. The Blue Knights New Jersey Chapter XIII, a local motorcycle club from Wanaque, will lead the walk through Wayne. Afterward, walkers will enjoy lunch, music, prizes and various family activities.

The money raised in WalkAmerica supports the research and programs to find out how to prevent premature births and local programs that give hope and help families who experience it.

For more information, or to register, visit walkamerica.org or call 1-800-525-WALK.

Daytime TV star to kick off MG walk-a-thon

WAYNE - Chrisell Stause who plays the part of "Amanda Dillon" on ABC's Popular Daytime Drama "All My Children" will officially kick off the Ninth Annual Myasthenia Gravis (MG) Walk-A-Thon on Saturday, May 13 in Wayne. This three-mile walk will benefit those who suffer from Myasthenia Gravis (MG), a chronic disabling autoimmune, neuromuscular disease of severe crippling weakness and possibly death. Participants are requested to arrive at Immaculate Heart of Mary Church parking lot, 580 Ratzer Rd., by 9:45 a.m. for registration and the walk promptly begins at 10 a.m.

For wrestling fans, "Crowbar" from East Coast Professional Wrestling (ECPW) will also be in attendance. Applebee's Grill & Bar and Trader Joe's both will be at the walk providing free food, drinks and giveaways. A raffle will immediately follow the walk with prizes donated by Liberty Richter, Linen's 'N Things and the New Jersey Nets. Additionally, free T-shirts will be handed out to the first 400 walkers. All proceeds will be used for research in the fight against MG, patient services, public education and information.

MG results from a defect in transmission of the nerve impulse to the muscle at the nerve-muscle junction. The disease is characterized by abnormal weakness of voluntary muscles and increases with activity and decreases with times of rest. Symptoms include but are not limited to, difficulty breathing, moving, chewing, swallowing, speaking and seeing. The symptoms frequently create such a diagnostic dilemma, that physicians unfamiliar with the disorder may not recognize the characteristics to make an appropriate diagnosis. MG can be controlled with the proper treatment. If left untreated, it can be fatal and there is no cure.

The MG Foundation is a non-profit organization and all donations are tax deductible. Those who would like to make a donation or would like to participate in the walk-a-thon can call (973) 835-4444 or log onto www.mgnj.org.

Chilton's Sleep Institute to host sleep seminar

POMPTON PLAINS - Identifying behavioral and lifestyle changes and treatment options that can be made to improve sleep will be the primary focus of a free seminar sponsored by Chilton Memorial Hospital's Sleep Health Institute at 7 p.m. on Monday, April 24. "Tips for Getting a Better Night's Rest" will be held in the hospital's boardroom at 97 West Parkway in Pompton Plains.

"Although everyone encounters an occasional sleepless night, 40 million Americans suffer from sleep disorders that can make them irritable, fatigued, slow down their reaction time, cause impotence and lead to weight gain," said John Penek, MD, FCCP, board certified in sleep medicine and medical director of the Sleep Health Institute at Chilton Memorial Hospital. "Sleep disorders also may be symptomatic of a life-threatening disorder that can cause heart disease or stroke."

A sleep disorder can be the result of irregular eating patterns, irregular sleep schedules and certain environmental conditions. People can learn specific steps to take to alter these factors, making them feel more rested and more energized. Sleep studies that can pinpoint sleeping disorders and identify treatment options for these disorders will also be discussed.

Sleep disorders are easily diagnosed and treated. However, the vast majority of people suffering from a sleep disorder complain about sleepless nights to friends and family, but never discuss them with a physician.

"Left untreated, sleep apnea can lead to high blood pressure and other cardiovascular disease, memory problems, weight gain, impotence, and headaches," Dr. Penek said.

If you are unable to attend the seminar, call (973) 831-5351 for more information.

Dr. Voight receives optometry award

WAYNE • Dr. Darryl Voight recently received a certificate of achievement for completing a symposium on new intra-ocular lens implants that allow cataract patients to reduce or totally eliminate the need for reading glasses.

Voight, who practices optometry in Wayne, was presented this award by Dr. Michael Tortorici of the Phillips Eye Center.

Until recently, the best option for correction of cataracts was a "monofocal" lens implant, typically aimed at providing good uncorrected distance vision. Reading glasses or bifocals were then needed for near vision.

The FDA has now approved several new lens implants that allow the recipients to focus on both distance and near objects without correction. These "bifocal-type" of implants reduce or eliminate the need for reading glasses.

Dr. Hadley Phillips of the Phillips Eye Center is one of the few ophthalmologists in the area who is certified to use both the Crystalens and the ReStor lens implants. Phillips, who specializes in cataract removal, performs the outpatient procedures for candidates in the Elmwood Park ambulatory surgical center.

Patients usually adapt quickly to these lenses. They have been shown to be especially suitable for those who are avid readers. At times some visual rehabilitation may be helpful in transitioning to this new bifocal-type of vision. Voight now has the specialized training to facilitate this.

To learn more, contact Voight at (973) 616-2737 or the Phillips Eye Center at (201) 796-2020.

Use nasal sprays with caution for allergies

As spring arrives, many people think about warmer temperatures, blossoming flowers, and relaxing activities; however, for 40 to 50 million Americans, this season is also associated with allergies.

According to Kenneth F. Garay, MD, FACS, medical director for The Centers for Sinus and Nasal Disease, although the use of over-the-counter (OTC) nasal sprays provides immediate, satisfying relief, the benefit is short-lived, which leads to an almost continuous need for the nasal spray just in order to breathe.

"OTC decongestant nasal sprays quickly ease discomfort by shrinking nasal tissues and alleviating serious allergy symptoms," states

Garay, a board-certified otolaryngologist, "but the use of such products comes with a serious medical risk."

A few squirts of nasal spray may not sound unsafe, but after three or four days of continuous OTC product use, nasal tissues can swell up again, creating a pattern of overuse and dependence for the user that may result in chronic nasal obstruction. Garay recommends that allergy sufferers consult with their physician before using OTC nasal sprays.

"Some nasal disorders are caused by structural irregularities in the nose, and no OTC product will help correct the fundamental problem," explains Garay. "Other nasal and sinus conditions are more responsive to certain prescription medications that only a physician can order, following careful examination and diagnosis."

Garay asserts that because OTC products are not regulated to the same rigorous standards of prescription drugs, consumers mistakenly assume that OTC products are harmless. He suggests that allergy sufferers seek the aid of a specialist to diagnose the specific problem, limit the use of OTC remedies to a few days, and read package warning labels carefully.

Two Wayne Hills students honored

WAYNE • Frank Markowick, principal of Wayne Hills High School, announces that two students, sophomore Eric Baum and senior Dennis Tirri, have been honored for exemplary volunteer service with a President's Volunteer Service Award certificate and a letter from President Bush.

The award was presented by The 2006 Prudential Spirit of Community Awards program on behalf of the President's Council on Service and Civic Participation. This program is sponsored by Prudential Financial in partnership with the National Association of Secondary School Principals and recognizes young people across America for outstanding community service activities.

Baum formed a cultural exchange program between the Wayne community and two island schools in Tobago. The goals were to enhance education and gain an understanding of different cultures. Shipments of books, computers, software and sewing machines were sent to the schools, and Eric with his team from Wayne traveled to Tobago several times to assist in the set-up and implementation and share in the culture of the students there.

Tirri traveled to Jamaica for two weeks with the organization Students Crossing Borders.

He raised the funds for the trip on his own and extra funds for a local school which was built inside a garbage dump. During his visit, Tirri volunteered his time at schools, orphanages and nursing homes.

Theunis Dey students get education in life and wildlife

BY CYNTHIA BURNS
Correspondent

WAYNE — Fourth and fifth graders at Theunis Dey School are playing the stock market.

Kevin Byrne, the father of a fourth grader, is an investor by profession. He mapped out the stock market game for fourth and fifth grade classes.

Byrne held a workshop for teachers on how to conduct the program in the classroom and provided the classes with a list of stocks.

Each class builds its stock portfolio with $100,000 of "fake" money. The program began April 3 and runs through the end of May. The class whose stock portfolio makes the most money will receive a trophy. There are a total of six fourth and fifth grade classes.

On April 20, the fourth and fifth graders will participate in a career conference. Parents who are in service professions, including a nurse, teacher, social worker, police officer, fire fighter and a corporate vice president, will discuss their careers during an assembly program and the education needed to pursue them. Dr. Ronald Frederick, school principal, said the students would work collaboratively to come up with two questions from each class for the guest speakers.

Things will get a little wild on May 25 when a representative from the Weis Ecology Center in Ringwood visits the school.

Fifth graders will be treated to two special guests: a red-tailed hawk and a screech owl. "These are raptors that hunt in New Jersey," noted Dr. Frederick. "The students will be able to get pretty close up to these birds." The program is part of the fifth grade science curriculum.

Essay contest

A gigantic, 75-foot high hot air balloon may be coming to a school near you this spring as part of the third annual PNC Bank American Patriot Essay Contest. PNC Bank and the Quick Chek New Jersey Festival of Ballooning are inviting school children in second through 12th grades to take part in the contest by writing a short essay on "What the American Flag Means to Me."

The grand prize is an appearance at the winning student's school by a hot air balloon, one of 125 that will take part in the 24th annual Quick Chek New Jersey Festival of Ballooning, July 28-30, at Solberg Airport in Readington. The first-place winner will also receive four Blue Sky Club VIP tickets and a hot air balloon ride for two at the festival.

The essays should be 100 words or less. They will be judged by a panel of representatives from PNC Bank and the festival. ## Automotive technology students pass test

WAYNE - Two Wayne Township automotive technology students, Dan Cheuvront and Chris Engler, recently passed their ASE certification tests. ASE certification is a voluntary certification process designed to identify quality automotive technicians. This is a tremendous feat for any experienced technician let alone a high school student, as the ASE test is the national standard for all automotive technicians.

Wayne Township's automotive program consists of students from Wayne Valley and Wayne Hills High Schools. It runs at Wayne Valley and is taught by two ASE certified instructors.

The program has grown in recent years and continues to grow. There is an active advisory board consisting of local businesses and secondary education institutes. The program recently earned the nationally recognized NATEF certification making Wayne one of only a handful of comprehensive secondary schools in the state to achieve such an impressive accomplishment. Wayne Township auto strives to introduce students to the ever-changing world of automotive technology and then to prepare these students for a variety of options after high school. While a large number of the automotive students choose four-year colleges after high school some also choose to advance their education at one of several quality trade schools or community colleges which offer automotive technology degrees.

Students who choose not to immediately continue their education are prepared to enter the workforce. Local dealers and independent shops employ several of these students directly out of high school each year and offer them promising careers. For more information regarding the program, e-mail waynetownshipauto@yahoo.com.

Wayne Valley FBLA placed at conference

WAYNE - The Wayne Valley High School chapter of Future Business Leaders of America (FBLA) attended the State Leadership Conference held in March at the Raritan Exhibit Hall in Edison.

The conference was designed to promote competent, aggressive business leadership for the 2000 local members and advisers in attendance. The various events were judged by business people and educators and offer members an opportunity to achieve this year's theme of finding "The Combination to Your Success."

The following members, accompanied by advisers, Donna Bykowski and Jocelyn Jury, placed at this year's conference: Michael Yaroshesky, first place in Computer Concepts, Who's Who in FBLA Award; Paul Harraka, first place in Introduction to Business; Anthony Marzocca, second place in Public Speaking II; Jacki Jaskot, third place in Marketing.

The first place winners are now eligible to represent the state of NJ in competition this summer at the National Leadership Conference in Nashville, Tenn. Adviser, Donna Bykowski, was selected as New Jersey's Outstanding Local Adviser and will also represent New Jersey at the NLC. This award is based on the level and quality of service given to the local chapter.

Michael Yaroshesky, a current sophomore at Wayne Valley High School, was reappointed to the position of New Jersey's State Webmaster. For further information, or to visit the NJ FBLA Web site, go to NJFBLA.org, or visit the national site at www.fbla-pbl.org.

The Wayne Valley Chapter of FBLA also walked away with several chapter awards which are designed to recognize the efforts of all members for activities performed throughout the year. This year's chapter awards include: Gold Seal Chapter Award of Merit; Gold Key Chapter Award; Membership Expansion Award; and March of Dimes Award.

The following students also attended and competed at the SLC: Roshan Vora, Emerging Business Issues; Frank Visaggio, Emerging Business Issues; Rob Margolies, Java Programming; Aileen Fernandes, Business Ethics; and Ali Buonpastore, Business Ethics.

Shomrei Torah awarded two scholarships

WAYNE - Scholarships were recently awarded by two endowment funds maintained at Shomrei Torah - the Wayne Conservative Congregation.

The Ben Pittel Youth Scholarship Fund and the Carol S. Jacobs Fisher Memorial Fund were created to offer scholarships to young people wishing to attend Jewish camps, conventions, travel programs, Israeli study programs, and other youth activities.

Cory Gordon received his scholarship to defray the cost of his attending the "March of the Living," a program that takes thousands of Jewish young adults from around the world to Poland and Israel. The group retraces the infamous death march from Auschwitz to Birkenau on Yom HaShoah (Holocaust Remembrance Day) and then takes them to Israel on Yom Ha'Atzmaut (Israel Independence Day).

Raffi Mark received a scholarship to attend a summer program known as "USY On Wheels." In this six and a half-week excursion from coast to coast, United Synagogue takes its youth on an experience they will never forget, as they connect with people and places across the continent.

Through the Wheels program, participants enrich and develop their awareness and appreciation of Conservative Judaism, performing good deeds, all the while seeing the historical and exciting sights of North America.

Shomrei Torah is located at 30 Hinchman Ave., Wayne.

Those interested in making a donation or to learn more can call (973) 696-2500, or e-mail office@ShomreiTorahwcc.org.

Ed Keane of Pack 108 retires as Cubmaster

WAYNE — After six years of dedicated service to the scouting community, Ed Keane has passed the torch on as Cubmaster of Pack 108/Our Lady of the Valley to Jim Scheidemann.

Keane has been instrumental in providing a strong foundation and love for scouting to each of the Cub Scouts throughout the community. He has developed a program that encompasses all the ideals of scouting. He has created and encouraged an environment that is turned to character development, spiritual growth, citizenship and outdoor awareness. Through his leadership, Pack 108, sponsored by Our Lady of the Valley, has been recognized as a quality unit for the past five years.

Keane was recognized as the recipient of the 2004 Cubmaster of the year Black Bear District Award. His background started as a scout himself whereby, he received the Arrow of Light Award and served as a Boy Scout for five years then onward as an Explorer Scout for two years. As a leader he held such positions as pack committee chair, troop committee chair, and various den leader roles from Tigers to Webelos.

Keane's role in Pack 108 will be missed.

Patriot softball turning the corner in NBIL play

WAYNE - The inclement weather last week may have been the most difficult opponent area softball teams faced during the first full week of the 2006 season. But despite a delay to the spring season, Wayne Hills didn't waste much time starting off at home on the right foot.

The Patriots battled the weather and Bergenfield in their home opening game on Monday, April 3rd and used power, timely hitting, good pitching and defense in an 11-1 route of its Bergen County rivals.

The Patriot offense banged out 9 hits led by Holli Bastinck's two home runs and 4 RBI's and Samantha Levine's two hits and 3 RBI's. Kristen Anderson also chipped in with two singles and two RBI's, while Vanessa Andrial added a couple of hits, including a double.

Brittany Stockdale went the distance on the mound and earned the victory by scattering four hits on a cold and rainy day.

Hills head coach Joelle Dawson feels the team is headed in the right direction, despite a 10-0 loss to conference giants Ramapo this past Wednesday afternoon in Franklin Lakes.

"We've been building as a team for the last two years," said Dawson, whose team defeated NBIL rivals Demarest, 5-1 this past Friday afternoon to even its overall record to 2-2. "I believe that we're finally ready to have a breakthrough year and can make a statement in the NBIL. We will definitely be competitive this year and will give a lot of teams in the league some good games."

Trailing 1-0 in the bottom of the first inning to Bergenfield, Levine laced a double to right-center and Bastinck followed with a blast over the left field fence to give Hills a 2-1 lead. In the following inning, Hills' Kate Abate reached on an error, stole second, went to third on a throwing error and scored on

Rigoglioso's bat powers Wayne Valley to NHC split

BY DOUG SCANCARELLA
Correspondent

WAYNE - Rivalry week for the Wayne Valley baseball team did not go according to plan. The Indians were anxious to meet up with both Wayne Hills and Passaic Tech in the Greater Wayne Tournament.

But Saturday's rain storm forced the double-header to be postponed. It has been rescheduled for this weekend. Despite the intra-town cancellations, Valley was able to take the field against its two neighboring rivals. First they lost to Pequannock, 15-5 on Thursday, but were able to follow-up the next day with a 5-4 victory over rivals Passaic Valley.

The split pretty much played out Jeff Hoover's preseason prediction. "We only have two seniors," he said. "I thought we'd go through some rough periods early. I like the way we're hitting the ball. We should hit our stride as the season goes on."

The scoring margin in the Pequannock loss, according to Hoover, doesn't tell the entire story. The Golden Panthers are a veteran outfit. They are the defending Northern Hills Suburban and Morris County champion, and Bill Arata, the team's coach, thinks they can challenge for both again.

"We went against a great team and a great pitcher (Justin Bencsko)," Hoover said. "We're a young team and they had us down 6-0. We came back and made it 6-4."

The Villanova-bound Bencsko escaped a bases-loaded, one-out

LITTLE FALLS - Despite unrelenting winds and pelting hail and rain, the Wayne Valley boys track team ran, jumped, and threw their way to the Passaic Boverini Memorial Relay championship title this past weekend at Passaic Valley High School in Little Falls.

Led by solid performances from their distance runners and hurdlers, the Indians mustered 77 points to outscore the field of 14 local teams. With wins in the 6400-meter, the Distance Medley, and the Triple Jump relays, coach Doug Flower's boys fought off a persistent Kennedy team by five points to earn their first county relay championship victory since 2001.

Juniors Tony Salvatore, Stephen Abate, and Alec Marshall led the way, each playing key roles in Valley's success. Salvatore anchored the victorious distance medley as well as the 3200 meter relay that placed second behind a tough West Milford team.

"It's a great feeling knowing we can come into this meet and not let the weather effect our performances that much," Salvatore remarked, content with his teams hard earned victory. "I just hope we can carry this success with us all the way through June."

DePaul Catholic also had a solid showing as they took first place in both the high jump and sprint medley. Junior Nick Miehle used a splendid kick to bring home his Spartan teammates and himself in a time of 3:51.9, good for the win. Jumper Greg Gillespie had the highest leap in the high jump to help DePaul to a victory in that event as well.

Passaic Valley's George Abyad showed why he is the favorite to win the Passaic County championship in the shot-put as he led all competitors with a toss of just under 46 feet. Abyad's throw was jam thanks to a sensational double play by Jay Bionde, the second baseman.

From that point on, it was all Pequannock. Benscko pitched a complete game with seven strikeouts and just five walks. He also went 3-for-4 with three runs scored and a pair of RBIs. Both Benscko and Brian Kim belted two run homeruns. Frank Van Duyne led with 3 RBI's. Sean Early and Doug Jennings also knocked in two runs each.

John Kruse went 3-for-4 for Wayne Valley with a double and run scored. Mike Palumbo had two hits and drove in three runs. Kruse, Tory Marino, Mike DiCenso and Greg Sciametta slapped doubles. John Tolerico banged out a triple. Fortunately for Wayne Valley, they beat Passaic Valley the following night.

Charlie Rigoglioso homered, tripled and knocked in two runs to lead the Indians (3-2). Evan O'Connor and Pat McHugh also had RBI's.

John Kruse earned the win by allowing just five hits and fanning eight. Jesse Santo had two RBI for the Hornets (0-4).

a wild pitch. After Anderson & Andrial singled, Levine continued her hot hitting and lined a double to right center, driving in two runs, giving Wayne Hills a 5-1 lead.

"We're more mature offensively & defensively," said Dawson. "With seven starters returning and a great freshmen class, we're ready to take more chances and win some games."

In the fourth inning, Bastinck capped off her first varsity home game by hitting her second home run of the game, a solo shot, far over the center field fence. The next inning saw Bastinck and Stockdale drawing back-to-back, bases loaded walks for the team's final 2 runs.

Spring season clouded by weather

BY RICH STAMBOULIAN
Correspondent

WAYNE — The baseball season got underway last week with TODAY are teams experiencing mixed results.

Wayne Hills was the first to see action. Despite the inclement weather on opening day, the Patriots hosted NBIL favorite Old Tapan on Saturday, April 1.

The Golden Knights (4-0 at the end of the week) rode lefty Nick Vallillo's three hit, 12 strikeout pitching performance to a narrow 4-3 victory, despite junior Frank Franco's three-run homer in the seventh.

The Patriots fell to (0-2) with Monday's 11-2 loss at Bergenfield (2-2) in which they were held to four hits and again committed three errors. Franco and junior Dave Ogden drove in runs. The Patriots rebounded to square their record at (2-2) with a pair of victories later in the week.

On Wednesday, they earned their first win of the young season and dealt Ramapo (2-2) its first loss, 9-6 on the Berdan Avenue field. Ramapo took a 2-0 lead in the first inning, but the slumbering Patriot bats awoke to score all nine runs in the second through fourth innings. Ogden led the offense with four RBI and senior Mike Peischl added a pair. Franco continued his hot start with his fifth RBI and seniors John Ihne and Alex Gibson also had RBI. Defensively, they played errorless ball.

Two days later, the Patriots traveled to Demarest and defeated the winless Norsemen, 3-1 behind Ogden's strong pitching. Franco had his team-leading sixth RBI and senior Sean Colligan had another to back Ogden's first win. Hills held Demarest (0-4) to four hits and again did not commit an error.

Saturday's rain interrupted the Patriots' momentum as the Annual Greater Wayne tournament was postponed. After hosting Fair Lawn (2-2) Tuesday, Hills will return to the diamond on Saturday for the rescheduled event.

Passaic County Tech was not as fortunate with the weather as their scheduled game against Pequannock on the opening Saturday was a washout. On Monday, the Bulldogs lost at Montville 13-5 as the Mustangs overcame PCT's early 5-0 lead with a ten-run fourth inning. Benedy Meija, Kevin Scully, Jon Marichal, and Kevin Ross each had an RBI for the Bulldogs. Edwin Galarza took the loss.

Wednesday brought a pleasant turnaround for Jim Lentine's club as they enjoyed a shortened, five-inning 10-0 romp over Orange (0-2) in the Bulldogs' home opener. Ross and Galarza each drove in two runs to lead the offense and Jose Rodriguez allowed only one hit to earn the win.

PCT fell to (1-2) at home on Friday when they ran into a hot Lakeland team, falling 9-1. William Garcia drove in Tech's only run in the first, but Lancers' ace John Sloomaker shut them down, allowing only four hits on the day. Lakeland enjoyed a 13 hit attack. Junior Onix Ortiz (0-1) took the loss in his first start for the Bulldogs. Tech was back in action on Monday at Wayne Valley (3-2), then hosted West Orange (1-2) on Tuesday and travel to Passaic Valley (0-4) today. The Bulldogs face Wayne Valley on Saturday in the Wayne Tournament's first round.

half of a foot clear of the next competitor, and looks to be right on pace to capture the county title come May.

The Hornets further proved their depth in the field events as they had three of their long jumpers post marks over 18 feet.

On the girls' side, Wayne Valley used a near sweep of the throwing events to help them to a respectable fifth place showing.

Sisters Emily and Cathy Sauce-do blew away the field in the discus, out-throwing the third place athlete by nearly 15 feet in leading the Indians to a winning effort. Caitlin Heffern had the furthest throw in the javelin and along with teammates Sue Barrows and Lindsey Tiers took the gold in that relay.

A second place showing in the rain shortened pole vault made for an exceptionally strong day for Wayne Valley in the field events.

Wayne Hills placed a healthy fifth overall in the team standings, aided by a victory in the high jump relay. Both Mary Diduch and Michelle Lala cleared 5'10" to lead the field with the best marks in the high jump.

Hills also took home a pair of third place medals in sprinting events, running 2:00.4 (800m relay) and 4:46.5 (1600m relay). Freshman Arianne Bakelmun challenged Kennedy super sophomore Kristin Crawford in the anchor leg of the Distance Medley, but Crawford was not to be denied, as Hills had to settle for second in an impressive time of 14:15.6.

WEATHER

DePaul (3-0) got off to the hottest start among area teams. Veteran coach Joe Lennon expected his veteran team to hit well and the early results have been encouraging. The Spartans sandwiched a pair of home wins over Passaic Valley and Caldwell around a 16-9 slugfest at Madison.

Monday's opener against PV was a wild 15-7 six inning affair that DePaul pulled out by exploding for 12 runs in the last two innings, including an eight spot in the sixth. They had trailed 5-1 after four innings before their bats got hot. Six different Spartans drove in runs with senior Doug Kalinows-ki's five RBI and junior Bryan Gambuzza's three leading the 11 hit attack. Junior Mark Tanis earned the mound win and also contributed a pair of RBI.

DePaul rapped out another 14 hits against Madison (1-2) as they ran up a 12-0 lead in their first three turns at bat, and then coasted to the win. The balanced attack had eight batters knock in runs with Eric Titus and Eric Hill each having three. Steve Rodriguez, Tanis, Kalinowski, and Gambuzza each contributed a pair. Hill was the winning pitcher.

Caldwell (1-3) cooled off the hot DePaul bats a bit, but they still produced seven runs on nine hits to earn the win.

'New folk' musicians charm audiences

RUTHERFORD – Somewhere behind the wall of mega-commercial music, there is a treasure box full of extraordinary musicians. These "new folk" – guitar, banjo, mandolin and fiddle in hand – travel from town to town charming intimate audiences with beautiful original and traditional songs, enlightened and sometimes provocative. They are troubadours spawned from the work of Woody Guthrie, Leadbelly, Pete Seeger and the Weavers. Time to open the treasure chest.

Two veteran New Jersey performers have made it a mission to give a broader platform to these wandering minstrels – to encourage 9 to 5ers to catch a glimpse of a burgeoning movement which once held center stage in the heyday of Peter Paul and Mary, Dylan and others.

The Uncle Floyd/John Dull and Friends Show, now in its 15th year of various form, will take the stage at the William Carlos Williams Center for the Arts in Rutherford, on Saturday, April 22 at 8 p.m., with a new entourage of top folk acts from the tri-state area.

Scheduled to appear are: Spook Handy, who has performed over 3000 concerts in his career, has written hundreds of songs, and recorded 3 CDs with a 4th due out in the coming months; Leslie Ritter, who projects forward as an "evocative vocalist/songwriter with earthy presence" and has garnered significant acclaim, partnered with Scott Petito, a Grammy nominated producer, composer, multi-instrumentalist, who has worked with James Taylor, the Band, Michael Franks, among many; Ted Clancy, whose extravagant guitar interpretation and color are his forte; John Dull, known for depth and warmth in original lyrics and performance, he's been an integral player in the regional folk scene for the past 18 years; and Floyd Vivino – headliner.

Guests will need to leave preconceptions at the door before entering the theater for The Uncle Floyd/John Dull and Friends Show. It is markedly unique each time it sprints onto stage.

The audience will tap their feet, sing and be challenged during an evening of laughs, variety, exceptional acoustic music and folk talent.

Reserve early – seating is designated. Tickets are $15 and $20.

The William Carlos Williams Center for the Arts is a private, not-for-profit, multicultural performing arts complex located in downtown Rutherford.

The Center is completely handicapped accessible, and the Center complex is supported, in part, by the Bergen County Board of Chosen Freeholders. Call the box office at (201) 939-6969.

'Steel Magnolias' opens at Smiling Rhino Theatre

POMPTON LAKES – Smiling Rhino Theatre, located at 247 Wanaque Ave., in Pompton Lakes, presents the critically acclaimed live stage presentation of "Steel Magnolias," which was recently on Broadway.

Revolving around Truvy's Beauty Parlor in a small town in modern-day Louisiana, Steel Magnolias centers around a group of eccentric women who, laugh, cry, gossip and survive the hardships and splendors of life. Filled with humor and heart-break, these "Steel Magnolias" make us laugh and cry as the realities of their lives in tiny Chinquapin Parish unfold. It is a tribute to the charm and wit of Southern women and the bonds of friendship. These southern belles soon learn that the power of their friendship and laughter is the one thing that helps them heal.

A comedic tearjerker, "Steel Magnolias" will steal your heart.

Show dates are April 21, 22, 23, 27, 28, 29 and 30. Thursday, Friday and Saturday shows are at 8 p.m., and Sunday shows are at 2 p.m. Ticket price is $20 for adults and $18 for students and seniors. Group rates are available.

Children to perform with Hanover Wind Symphony

WHIPPANY – The Cantamus Children's Choir will perform a concert titled "Heroes, Legends, and Icons" at 7:30 p.m. on Wednesday, April 26, with the Hanover Wind Symphony.

The concert will be held at the Memorial Junior School Theater, at 61 Highland Ave., in Whippany. The choir, founded and directed by Albert E. Ganter, is comprised of 75 children between the ages of 8 and 12. The concert will also feature works by David Gillingham, Mark Camphouse, John Williams, and others.

The students, according to conductor Ganter, are excited to be working with a semi-professional group. The children will sing several classics and crowd-pleasers, including: "America, The Beautiful," "I Hear America Singing," "You Raise Me Up" and "Dry Your Tears, Afrika." The interesting programmatic element of these works involves the interplay between the Wind Symphony and the children's choir.

The band accompanies the choir, and vice versa, in an exchange of musical phrases and ideas, made all the more powerful by lyrics and the purity of children's voices.

Hanover Wind Symphony conductor Jason Noble said, "This will definitely be a unique, interactive concert unlike anything we have done before."

The group has done children-specific concerts, but this is the first time we are performing with a children's group.

It will be a dramatic and effective musical presentation. We hope to bring together young people and inspire them to continue music making at this event dedicated to heroes."

The concert theme, according to Noble, was chosen as an eclectic blend of tunes and tone poems that honor some sort of hero, legend or icon. "Heroes, Lost and Fallen" is a monumental symphonic work by David Gillingham, dedicated to soldiers lost in Vietnam.

Other works are iconic in some form or another, including "Yosemite Autumn," a tone poem written by Mark Camphouse that was inspired by the Yosemite National Forest.

'Dracula'

TEANECK – The University Players, the student theater group on FDU's Metropolitan Campus, Teaneck, will present the classic thriller, "Dracula," on April 21 and 22.

The production's director, Professor James Rana, has created a vivid, intense adaptation of Orson Welles' Mercury Theatre production of "Dracula" for FDU's University Players. Rana's conception remains close to the style and spirit of the Bram Stoker novel, "Dracula," which had both its first publication and stage debut in 1897.

The play, like the original novel, is constructed in the form of letters and diary entries. It chronicles the vampire's journey from Transylvania to London where he seeks the human blood that he needs to remain alive, while Dr. Seward and Dr. Van Helsing struggle to destroy him and free the world of his horrific power.

Performances are in FDU's Experimental Theatre, University Hall, on River Rd., Teaneck. On Friday, April 21, the performance is at 8 p.m. On Saturday, April 22, there is a matinee at 2 p.m. and an evening performance at 8 p.m. Tickets are available at the door at $8 for general admission, $5 for students and seniors, and $3 for children under 12.

Civil War reenactment

KINNELON – The Kinnelon Library will host Trish Chambers, a Civil War re-enactor, in period costume to bring to life a story that will take us into the world of Civil War women. It was a world that became more complex than darned socks or baking bread. The women were left behind to fend for themselves, to manage homes, businesses and plantations – roles that up until the war had been performed by men.

Trish Chambers will discuss changes in society, economics and traditions that would redefine the roles of women forever. She will also explore the remarkable accomplishments of these brave women of the North and South who supported the war as nurses, soldiers, spies, government workers, authors, lecturers and fundraisers, and how their legacies would pave the way for American women of the future.

This performance will take place on Sunday, April 30 at 3 p.m. at the Kinnelon Library, 132 Kinnelon Rd. It is offered by the Library's Center for Lifelong Learning (CLL) as another in its "Lectures at the Library" series. Admission is free.

'If You Ever Leave Me'

ENGLEWOOD – BergenPAC is delighted to announce the upcoming performance of Renée Taylor and Joe Bologna's "If You Ever Leave Me...I'm Going With You!" This legendary, Oscar-nominated duo's show first ran at Broadway's Cort Theater in 2001 and is coming to bergenPAC on April 21 at 8 p.m.

"If You Ever Leave Me...I'm Going With You!" is the creative couple's answer to the traditional, one-person, autobiographical show. It is a two-person celebration of Taylor and Bologna's 36-year marriage and artistic collaboration. During one of the couple's earliest tiffs Taylor screamed at Bologna to pack his bags and get out. Bologna obliged...and, after a moment, Taylor got out her suitcase too. Bologna asked her what she was doing, and she shot back with the title of the show.

ATLANTIC CITY

By Ellen Burke Rawls

It's not your old Atlantic City Pier anymore

Atlantic City is rapidly coming to rival Las Vegas as a destination resort, and this summer will see some exciting new attractions, both along the Boardwalk and at the Marina.

Watch for the opening of The Pier at Caesars by mid-summer. The former Ocean One mall, located mid-Boardwalk across from Caesars, has undergone a $175-million gut renovation, and will be home to some of the world's most prestigious high-end retailers including Tiffany, Gucci, Armani, Burberry and Louis Vuitton. We'll also be tasting some gourmet creations at the half-dozen or so fabulous high-end and trendy restaurants created by celebrity chefs including Las Vegas restaurateur Jeffrey Chodorow, Boston nightlife maven Patrick Lyons, and Buddakan's Stephen Starr. A new concept at The Pier is VINO Noir, an open wine bar where guests can select from over 100 wines while accessing information about each wine's aroma, grape history, region, and vineyard of origin via touch-screen web pad computers. The limited food menu will offer high-end cured meats and cheeses, artisan breads, olives, peppers and other light fare to complement the wines served.

Strollers will marvel to The Pier's $6.5-million "Dancing Waters" display, complete with animatronic statues. The dramatic watershow will rival the fountains at Bellagio in Las Vegas, featuring a high tech lighting and sound system to enhance the world's first "articulated rain curtain." More than 250 jet nozzles will provide the muscle for the elaborate water choreography, producing distinctive patterns and geometric shapes of water shooting 60 feet into the air above a 19,000-gallon fountain pool. The Pier will even offer a romantic Wedding Chapel which is sure to draw happy wedding parties and eloping couples from throughout the region.

Open barely three years, the massive Borgata already has a new tower under construction which will add nearly a thousand guest rooms and suites to the existing 2,000 rooms in the original tower. Although the guest tower will not debut until late next year, the first phase of Borgata's $525 million expansion has a projected opening this summer. Included in the new totals $200 million and will feature 36,120 square feet of casino floor space including 36 table games, approximately 500 slot machines, an 85-table poker room (AC's largest poker facility), three fine dining restaurants by renowned chefs Wolfgang Puck, Michael Mina and Bobby Flay.

Riding a wave of success following his recent performance on NBC from Turin at the Winter Olympics, Andrea Bocelli will be making only his third appearance in Atlantic City with the famed Boston Pops at Boardwalk Hall on June 16, sponsored by the Trump casino properties. He'll be touring behind his latest release "Amore," which debuted at number three on the Billboard Top 200, the highest debut ever for an Italian tenor, and has already achieved platinum status. It was his hit song "Because We Believe," from the album which created the stunning moment at the Olympics closing ceremony. Tickets are $275, $195, $125, and $75.

About the only headliner playing AC over the Easter weekend is Paul Anka, who's playing out his third year of an exclusive contract with Borgata. Anka, who's performed at just about every casino property in town since the beginning of gaming in 1978, is still luring sell-out audiences who are captivated by his charm in live performance. Showtimes at Borgata's Music Box are Friday, Saturday and Sunday at 9 p.m. Tickets are $39.50 and $49.50.

FOOD ~ HOME COOKING

Historic Harlem church sings with 'Food for the Soul'

LISA MESSINGER
Copley News Service

"Food for the Soul: Recipes and Stories from the Congregation of Harlem's Abyssinian Baptist Church." Introduction by the Rev. Dr. Calvin O. Butts, III, Pastor (One World/Ballantine, $28).

Whether or not you are in a choir, there's a lot to sing about in the offerings found in "Food for the Soul: Recipes and Stories from the Congregation of Harlem's Abyssinian Baptist Church" (One World/Ballantine, $28).

If this is truly food for the soul is a judgment best left to a higher power. What it certainly is, though, is food worthy of loosening your belt over, food that will bring smiles to the faces of you and your guests.

The menus, as well as the chuckles and tears caused by the endearing stories, come courtesy of the second oldest African-American church in the United States. The Abyssinian Baptist Church will celebrate its 200th anniversary in 2008.

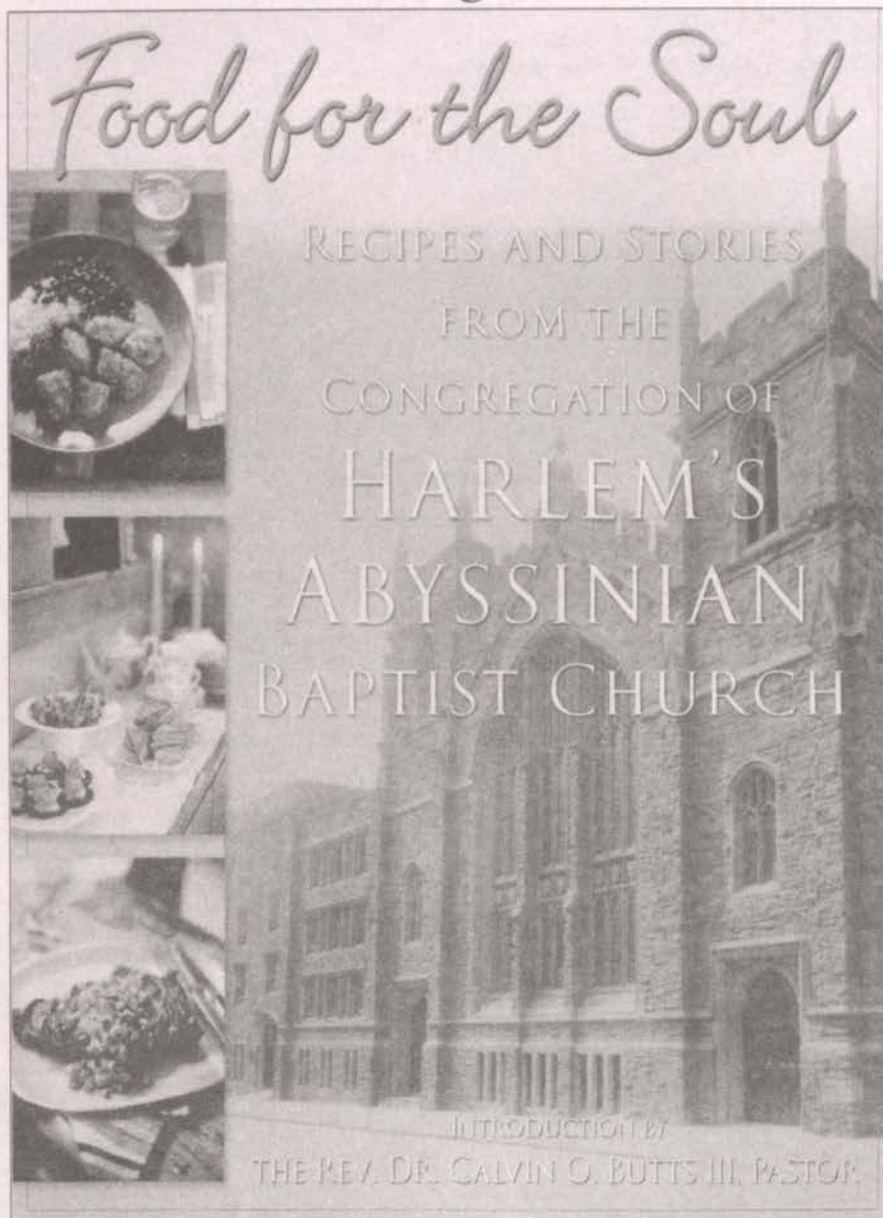

This is one eclectic melting pot of both food and experiences, given that the church congregation includes worshippers from well beyond New York's borders, including Kenya, Jamaica, Uganda, Ghana, the Bahamas, Honduras, Panama, Egypt, South Africa, Grenada, Trinidad, Nigeria, Brazil, Ireland, England, Holland and Japan.

The stories and recipes come to life even more due to the captivating photographs of church members and their specialties.

As in the best of these types of books, the food itself tells stories. It includes gourmet favorites of young Harlem chefs who have hit it big with their first restaurants like Brian Washington Palmer, who contributes Native restaurant's Lamb Tagine Harlem-Style, which represents the French-Moroccan-Caribbean cuisine he created.

Also found inside is Booba's Saturday night special one-pot meal - a Spam, white flour, canned vegetable, evaporated milk and ketchup concoction from Eunice Newkirk, the youngest of 14 children, who still takes pride in this budget-stretching recipe of her mother.

There are other gourmet stunners, like salmon with amaretto sauce and escoviteched fish. There are more recipes from Palmer - who, judging from his delicious showing here, could be next in line for his own cookbook - like grilled sirloin with Dominican Creole sauce and pan-seared duck with parmesan risotto and orange-tomatillo sauce.

'FOOD FOR THE SOUL' - Recipes and stories from Harlem's Abyssinian Baptist Church will give you something to shout about. CNS Photo.

Additional down-home treats include Justin Hay's five-alarm South Bronx Chili; Hattie Pennington's North Carolina-style ham hocks; Ma Eartha's meatloaf; Kevin McGruder's brown paper bag fried chicken; and Mama Georgia's Sweet Potato-Banana Pie.

The book delves into the rich history of the church's longtime food ministry, as well as how and why the African-American community should keep a watchful eye on good nutrition.

Mostly, though, it includes strong memories, like this one from Carole Darden Lloyd about her family favorite, chicken fricassee with drop dumplings:

"At one point while I was growing up we raised chickens in our backyard, so the recipe first included catching a chicken. It was considered a special treat if an egg was found in the cavity. We would (crack the egg) and add (it) to the pot just before dropping the dumplings."

As one reads memory after memory, it is quite easy to imagine chatting merrily at a church potluck with Lloyd, or members like Palmer, an adult transplant from California, or Hay, a member since his christening five decades ago. Their cookbook is certainly the next best thing.

LAMB TAGINE HARLEM-STYLE

8 lamb shanks
2 teaspoons fresh thyme
2 teaspoons fresh rosemary
2 tablespoons onion powder
2 tablespoons garlic powder
1 beef bouillon cube
1 (16-ounce) jar thick and chunky marinara sauce

Cooked rice or couscous, for serving

Olives, for garnish

Orange slices, for garnish

Blanched almonds, for garnish

Yields 4 servings.

Place lamb shanks in large pot over medium heat and add water to cover, plus an additional 2 cups. Add thyme, rosemary, onion powder, garlic powder and beef bouillon cube. Bring to a simmer and cook for 2 hours. At this point, the meat should practically fall off the bone; if it doesn't, cook it another 30 minutes. The stock should have a nice rich brothly flavor. Add marinara sauce and cook for another 30 minutes, until sauce is very thick.

Serve over cooked rice or couscous and garnish with olives, orange slices and blanched almonds.

MAMA GEORGIA'S SWEET POTATO- BANANA PIE

2 large eggs, separated
1 cup sugar
1/2 teaspoon ground cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon ground allspice
1/2 teaspoon ground nutmeg
3 medium sweet potatoes, cooked, peeled and mashed
1 cup heavy cream
1/2 cup (1 stick) unsalted butter, melted
1/4 cup mashed ripe banana
1 (9-inch) unbaked prepared or homemade piecrust

Yields 6 to 8 servings.

Preheat oven to 450 F.

Place egg yolks in large bowl of electric mixer and whip until thick. Reserve egg whites. Add sugar, cinnamon, allspice and nutmeg and mix until sugar is dissolved. Add sweet potatoes, cream and melted butter and mix well. Add banana and mix.

In separate bowl, beat egg whites until stiff peaks form. Fold egg whites into sweet potato mixture and pour into piecrust. Bake for 10 minutes. Reduce oven temperature to 350 F and bake for 30 minutes, or until toothpick inserted in center comes out clean.

There are smart ways to save on homeowners insurance

So, you've resolved to reduce expenses this year. Fortunately, this resolution may be easier to keep than you think. Take another look at your homeowners insurance. In many states, companies offer policy discounts, credits and reductions. To trim costs, combine insurers' inducements with smart strategies.

Inquire about discounts. Ask if you qualify for any of these types of premium reductions:

New home: If your home is less than six years old, you may be entitled to a discount. Some insurers will slash eight to 15 percent off the premium.

When shopping for a home, keep in mind that companies consider various factors when evaluating a home's eligibility for a reduced rate. These may include the home's proximity to emergency services such as a fire hydrant or fire station, type of construction, location and age.

Companion policy: Insuring your home with the same company that insures your life or car may entitle you to a discount. Some companies reward customers by cutting the premium five to 15 percent.

Protective device: Depending on the type, a fire or burglar alarm or sprinkler system installed in your home may generate a premium discount. Before purchasing an expensive system, check with your insurer; not all systems qualify for the discount. Then weigh the cost of an approved system against the expected savings on the premium.

Mature homeowner credit: Retirees age 55 or older may be eligible. Companies realize that retirees tend to stay close to home. As a result, homes are better maintained, and a potential loss, due to fire or burglary, could possibly be averted by a quick response. Some companies reward seniors with as much as 10 percent off.

Secured community credit: Residing in a fully secured (entry protected on a 24 hour basis) or partially secured (card activated entry) community may be all you need to take advantage of this premium credit. Home improvements: Making improvements to your home, such as upgrading plumbing, replacing roofing, decreases the possibility of a loss and just might give you a greater return than you imagined, a reduced premium.

Lifestyle: With 23,000 smoking-related fires a year, companies tend to reward nonsmokers with a two to five percent discount. Loyalty discount: In recognition of their customers' loyalty, some companies reduce premiums by five percent after three to five years and by 10 percent after six years or more.

Resist over-insuring. In the end, it only inflates the premium. The Better Business Bureau suggests that you determine how much your home and possessions are worth. Start by itemizing your possessions then have an agent help you estimate the cost to rebuild your home. Also, don't make the mistake of insuring the land. Although your home could succumb to fire and other calamities, the dirt will remain.

Increase your deductible. Low deductibles cost plenty. By raising the deductible from $250 to $500, you may rack up 12 percent in savings; increase it to $1,000, and you could pocket up to 24 percent.

Warren Damiano
ABCS
OF REAL ESTATE

And a $5,000 deductible may reduce your premium by up to 37 percent. Keep in mind that savings vary, depending on the insurer.

A word of caution: Before opting for a higher deductible, check with your mortgage lender. You may be required to carry a low deductible.

Consider an inflation guard endorsement. Your coverage will be automatically adjusted to inflation each year. If you elect this coverage, check with your agent that the amount of increase accurately reflects the cost of replacing your home.

NJAR seeks artwork for fair housing poster contest

The New Jersey Association of REALTORS (NJAR) Equal Opportunity/Cultural Diversity Committee is seeking fair housing artwork from New Jersey students in grades three to six for its fourth annual "Fair Housing Poster Contest." NJAR is promoting the poster contest throughout the month of April in honor of Fair Housing Month.

"Every year the children bring a fresh perspective and element of creativity to the Fair Housing Poster Contest," said NJAR President Bonnie Fitzgerald. "The calendar demonstrates fair housing through the eyes of New Jersey's young students who are our vision for the future."

Students are asked to submit artwork depicting, "What Equal Opportunity in Housing Means to Me" or "Keeping Fair Housing in Mind, What Changes Would You Like to See in Your Neighborhood?" Twelve posters will be chosen by the NJAR Equal Opportunity/Cultural Diversity Committee to be featured in the 2007 "Housing for All" calendar, which will be available in fall 2006. All proceeds from the calendars go to the NJAR Housing Opportunity Foundation, Inc., a 501 (c) (3) charitable organization that seeks to create greater home ownership opportunities for New Jersey residents.

NJAR must receive poster submissions by June 30. Entries may be sent to NJAR, P.O. Box 2098, Edison, NJ 08818. Posters may also be submitted to local boards/associations of REALTORS participating in the contest. Contact Maria Schlesier at (732) 494-4706 with any questions.

Entry rules:

Posters must be no larger than 18x24 inches.

Posters must be produced in color.

Please refrain from using materials such as buttons, cotton, etc.

All entries must be labeled with the following information on the back of the poster: Student's name, age, home telephone number and address; and teacher's name, school, telephone number and address.

All winning posters become the property of the New Jersey Association of REALTORS for production of the 2007 calendar.

TODAY welcomes photos from readers

Pictures submitted should be in sharp focus and depict local events and close-up shots of local people involved in those events. Preferred are photos that reflect action, reaction, motion and emotion rather than posed photos. Questions? Call the editor, Christa Limone at 973-569-7393.

Impressive homes at Hidden Cove Estates

POMPTON PLAINS - Century 21 Crest Real Estate announces that it is working with Bryce Builders to bring the public four magnificent new homes, designed by architect James P. Cutillo. Hidden Cove Estates is nestled on the edge of Hidden Cove Pond, a beautiful fishing pond of 20.29 acres in Pequannock Township in Morris County. These homes are stately center hall colonials, with four bedrooms and 2+ baths. The homes range in size from approximately 2500 to 3800 square feet, and sit on approximately 7-acre lots.

Some of the exceptional features of these homes are airy, ultramodern eat-in kitchens with designer cabinets and granite countertops, formal dining rooms, large family and living rooms, with nine-foot ceilings on the first floor. The master bedrooms on the second floor have vaulted ceilings, with large walk-in closets and dressing areas. The master baths contain a Whirlpool tub, and ceiling skylight. Flooring throughout the homes are ceramic tile in the bathrooms, hardwood floors in the common rooms and carpeting in all bedrooms. Each house boasts a roomy two-car garage, and has two-zone heating and cooling systems.

The D.T. Allen Company began in the construction field as an earthwork contractor. In 1990, the company began infrastructure construction, building site improvements for residential subdivisions, and doing site work for major development projects, such as the Newport Center Mall in Jersey City. By the mid-1990s, the company, along with its wholly-owned building company Bryce Builders LLC, began construction of custom single family homes. In addition to custom homes, D.T. Allen also began constructing affordable housing developments. In 1995, D.T. Allen began acquiring property for real estate development. As of 2005, the company owns in excess of two hundred approved housing units in locations such as Franklin Lakes, Ringwood and West Milford, residential holdings in Morris County and commercial holdings in Hudson and Bergen Counties. To date, D.T. Allen has completed in excess of $100 million in various construction-related projects.

The Township of Pequannock is located in Eastern Morris County, along State Highway Route 23, approximately five miles north of the interchange of Route 23 with Interstate Route I-80 and U.S. Route 46. Interstate Route 287 crosses the northwest corner of the Township, with a full interchange just north of the Township in the Borough of Riverdale. The Township is a political subdivision of the State of New Jersey and encompasses two communities, Pequannock and Pompton Plains, each served by its own post office. The Township is primarily residential with a population of 13,888 residents (latest available - 2000 U.S. Bureau of the Census estimate). It covers a land area of just under seven square miles.

Century 21 Crest Real Estate, Inc. is located at 142 Professional Center, Route 23 north. This center offers a full array of independent real estate related companies including mortgage lenders, insurance, appraisal and title.

Recorded history of the Township dates to 1695 when the area was originally settled. The Township of Pequannock was incorporated in 1740, making it older than our nation itself. Population growth was greatest during the 1950's during which time the population more, than doubled.

Commercial development includes two well-defined local business centers, Pompton Plains and Pequannock, as well as regionally-oriented retail commercial development along Route 23. Municipal sewers have been constructed through the Pequannock business district which has already spurred some redevelopment of that area. There are several established industrial areas in the Township, including a ten lot Industrial Park. To date, nine of these lots have been developed or are currently under construction.

Weichert promises performance guarantee

Once a sales contract is signed, one of the biggest concerns for homebuyers is meeting the closing date. Will the mortgage financing be in place in time? Will the title search be completed? What about homeowner's insurance?

Weichert Financial Services, an affiliate of Weichert, Realtors, not only pledges to take care of those key purchase-related needs by the contract closing date, but backs up that promise with a performance guarantee. Recently, the company raised its closing performance guarantee on all eligible transactions from $1,000 to $5,000. Subject to certain restrictions and availability, generally residential homebuyers who elect Weichert Financial Services' package of mortgage financing, homeowner's insurance, and title insurance for purchase transactions through Weichert's company-owned offices on or after Feb. 15, 2006 are eligible for the $5,000 performance guarantee.

Fred Watkins, president of Weichert Financial Services, said, "The Performance Guarantee is an important part of the popular one-stop shopping program we call Weichert Gold Services. Raising the amount of the Performance Guarantee is our way of underscoring to home buyers that, with Gold Services, they can feel relaxed and confident that the three items that we believe most likely delay a closing - financing, homeowner's insurance, and title insurance - will be there at the settlement table on the day scheduled."

The increase to a $5,000 performance guarantee reflects a five-year record of reliable performance that is virtually unmatched in the industry. In 2005, approximately 99.9 percent of transactions in the Weichert Gold Services Program closed on schedule. In fact, Gold Services' closing packages typically arrive at the designated settlement office 24 hours in advance of settlement.

The Weichert Gold Services Program was created to provide a time-saving, one-stop source for taking care of just about every need that might arise related to a home purchase or sale, from getting a mortgage to arranging for moving services, and changing door locks. Customer surveys universally indicate a high degree of satisfaction with having their purchase-related needs conveniently met in one place.

Home buyers or sellers can readily initiate those services by meeting with a Gold Services Manager. Weichert Financial Services offers more than 360 mortgage products, thereby ensuring that qualified buyers can select the mortgage that best meets their financial needs. Homeowner's insurance is facilitated through major carriers.

More information on Weichert Gold Services and the performance guarantee is available at any neighborhood Weichert office and on the Weichert Gold Services Web site, www.weichertgold.com. Certain qualifying terms and conditions apply. The $5,000 performance guarantee applies to certain loan products and single-family, owner-occupied, residential properties only.

For more information, call Weichert's customer service center at 1-800-USA-SOLD or visit Weichert's Web site, www.weichert.com. Each Weichert franchised office is independently owned and operated.

Seven tips for making a decision homebuyers won't regret

We've all gotten pretty good at impulse purchases. Our rapidly globalizing, technology-obsessed society has seen to that. Indeed, our economy thrives on the principle of providing consumers with any product at any time - just click a mouse, swipe a credit card, instantly transfer funds from one bank account to another. So in a frantic, fast-access, it's-all-disposable world, how does one even begin to make the decision to purchase something of great and lasting value - like, for instance, a home?

If you're a first-time home shopper, you're probably feeling a bit out of your element. But don't worry. While buying that Tudor, ranch, or brownstone is a bit more complex than buying say, a latte, it is doable. Just gather your thoughts, turn on your reading lamp, and take some advice from real estate and financial gurus Eric Tyson and Ray Brown.

Co-authors of "Home Buying for Dummies, 3rd Edition" (Wiley, January 2006, $21.99), the newest version of America's number-one best-selling home buying book, Tyson and Brown insist that although the idea of purchasing a home for inexperienced buyers can appear daunting, it can be done painlessly if you follow the Boy Scout motto "Be prepared."

"When people have bad experiences buying a home it usually isn't due to lack of intelligence or good intentions," asserts Tyson, who has decades of experience in dealing with real estate. "Rather it is a result of not knowing the right questions to ask and the proper steps to take. That's why we have provided the essential tools for anyone ready to leave leases and landlords behind or trade up."

Clearly, America agrees. Countless consumers have already found Tyson's and Brown's wisdom an integral component of their home buying experiences. Holistic, objective, and in plain English, their latest book covers everything from financing to credit scores to closing the deal. If you're undecided, it will even help you determine whether you're really ready to move out of Renterville.

Among other surprises, there is a brand new chapter devoted to the Internet's new role in real estate. "Home Buying for Dummies" walks you through the entire purchasing process, from browsing to buying, and outlines any possible scenario likely to occur. Read on to sample a few insights directly from the book.

Keep an eye out for a cosmetic "fixer upper." A lazy seller may not even clean or repair their property for prospective buyers. So keep in mind that repainting, tearing up old carpet, replacing worn out appliances, and landscaping can be relatively cheap projects once you purchase. Just be sure you are realistic when assessing whether these defects can be corrected in a cost-efficient manner before you buy.

Look for the ones motivated to sell. It is easier to buy a home at or below fair market price if you find what is known as a motivated seller. The best way to find a motivated seller is simple - ask questions! "A huge amount of prospective buyers never ask why a seller is selling, but it immediately determines their level of motivation," Brown says.

Ride the real estate wave. Real estate sales go through remarkably predictable busy and slow periods. It can be beneficial to shop and buy during the slower times because there is far less competition from other buyers - plus you can often get an even lower price if you find a motivated seller. Make your credit more credible. Most of us need a loan to purchase a house and a great credit report card can ensure that you get a loan with good (low) interest rates. Most credit lenders today consult a FICO (Fair Isaac Corporation) score to determine what risk a loan candidate carries. Therefore, it is necessary to keep good credit good and work to improve less than perfect credit before trying to buy.

A few ways to improve your FICO score: Pay your credit card bills and other monthly payments on time; don't open multiple credit accounts in a short period of time in an attempt to improve your score because rapid account buildup looks risky to loan officers; know that closing an existing account doesn't erase the account completely - it all remains in your history; do your rate shopping for a specific loan within a focused period of time. FICO scores distinguish between a search for a single loan and a search for many new credit lines, in part by the length of time over which inquiries occur.

Enter: Net. Tyson and Brown insist that newer technology is highly beneficial to the savvy prospective buyer and suggest that home shoppers take the initiative to do at least some of their research online. "The Internet is a very useful untapped resource when it comes to buying a home," they assert.

Negotiate your best deal. Negotiation is the key factor in getting the home you want at a fair price. The term negotiation means coming to the table with all the information you need and need to know close at hand.

Do your research and have a good idea of the fair market value for the home you're interested in and determine your own personal upper limit of cost.

Especially with well-priced homes in popular areas, put yourself in the seller's position and remember that they have probably had several inquiries regarding their home already and will eventually choose the candidate with the best combination of price and terms of sale. Getting pre-approved for a mortgage offers the seller tremendous peace of mind that you're serious about buying a home and financially qualified to do so.

When you decide the time has come to buy a home, rest assured that after some well-spent research and exploration, sooner or later you will find your dream home.

Applying the formula outlined in "Home Buying for Dummies" delivers guaranteed results, Tyson and Brown insist that being patient and educating yourself are the best steps you can take to prepare yourself for this exhilarating rite of passage.

Carlike bikes: Two-wheelers range from ABS to air bags

JERRY GARRETT
Copley News Service

Riding the sinewy road from Palm Springs, Calif., to the top of the Palms to Pines Highway, there was plenty of time to think.... To think about the new Star Stratoliner cruiser I was testing. To think Stratoliner would have been more accurate a name for this plush ride. To think about the fact motorcycles seem to be getting more carlike, with every new wave of models.

The Stratoliner, made by Yamaha, features an easy-shifting five-speed transmission with carlike ratios and a fuel-injected 1,854 cubic centimeter engine that is bigger than the powerplant in many automobiles. The motor generates 101 horsepower and 124 foot-pounds of torque - both very carlike numbers.

It has a cushy new seat, a powerful radio, a catalytic emissions converter, etc. Whatever happened to kick-starters and chain drives?

The Stratoliner is the most carlike bike of any I've ridden. But it is hardly a showcase for automotive features. Other bikes have their own unique car-based attractions. Here is a list of some of the new or expanding uses of those features (this is by no means intended to be an exhaustive list):

ANTI-LOCK BRAKES

BMW created a revolution in motorcycle braking in 1988 when it put ABS brakes on its K100RS. Since then, BMW has perfected the system and extended it to all the bikes in its lineup - even offroad bikes (ABS can be switched off when wheel slip is

STAR STRATOLINER - Yamaha says its Star Stratoliner's styling was influenced by streamlined cars and other industrial products of the 1930s.

Honda Gold Wing touring bikes and Silver Wing scooters and some sports-touring models now offer ABS, as does Star on its sports-tourers (but not on the Stratoliner).

ABS is also available on sport-bikes, including Ducati's ST4.

So far, Harley-Davidson has refused to offer ABS, although it did make the system available on its police bikes (and the systems were subsequently recalled).

The California Highway Patrol says ABS is a key reason its officers ride BMWs. "It's saved countless officers' lives," one patrolman told me.

SATELLITE RADIO

For 2006, Harley-Davidson began offering XM Satellite Radio as an option on its bigger bikes. The XM system works well in my test of it.

A small antenna is the only visible clue that the bike is XM-equipped. The satellite band is incorporated into the existing radio system.

The external speakers mounted in the fairings may be used, either while the bike is parked or on the road. Speaker sound was surprisingly audible even over the roar of our Ultra Classic.

The system, understandably, works a lot better with helmet-routed earphones; the regular intercom system integrates it all.

Several manufacturers already offer such amenities as six-disc CD changers and navigation systems.

AUTOMATIC TRANSMISSIONS

Honda experimented with automatic transmissions in the mid-1970s. They worked, but back then the average biker thought they were sissified, and without a lot of popular support for them, Honda soon stopped offering the automatic.

But now it has been confirmed that it has been developing an automatic that might appear in production on some sport bikes later this year or next. Details about the system are scant, but reportedly it is air-assisted.

Air-shifter systems have been developed for drag racers, in past years (they are illegal - but only if you get caught!).

A few years back, Honda started offering reverse gear on its Gold Wing tourers, but it operates within a manual shifting system.

ADVANCED LIGHTING

Motorcycle lighting used to be a joke, although not a very funny one for those caught riding at night. But lighting overall has gone from flashlight-quality to as powerful as aircraft landing lights.

My favorite system is on the Honda ST1200 sport-tourer, which absolutely bathes the road ahead in pure white light; oncoming motorists must think the end is near.

Recent advances in motorcycle electrical systems have allowed the extra juice required by systems such as ABS, stereos and high-intensity lighting. HID lights, projector beams and LEDs have been appearing on more bikes, including the Stratoliner.

AIR BAGS

Yes, even air bags have come to motorcycling.

On the 2006 Gold Wing, Honda introduced the Motorcycle Airbag System, which includes the air bag and inflator; crash sensors, which monitor acceleration changes; and an ECU, which performs calculations to instantly determine when a collision is occurring.

When a severe frontal collision occurs, the four crash sensors mounted on the front fork measure the change in acceleration caused by the impact and convey this data to the ECU, which determines that a collision is occurring and whether or not it is necessary to inflate the bag.

Honda says the air bag can absorb some of the forward energy of the rider, reducing the velocity at which the rider may be thrown from the motorcycle and helping lessen the severity of injuries caused by hitting the pavement or another object.

Honda says the air bag can absorb some of the forward energy of the rider, reducing the velocity at which the rider may be thrown from the motorcycle and helping lessen the severity of injuries caused by hitting the pavement or another object.

HEATED SEATING, GRIPS

In Germany, where BMW enthusiasts ride no matter what the weather, it just made sense to offer heated seats on touring bikes.

BMW has since extended heated seating to other bikes in its lineup; most have heated hand grips as well - some offer it standard.

Honda and Yamaha, which also sell a lot of bikes in Europe, where they compete head to head with BMW, also started offering them. But only as options.

Air conditioning still comes standard on every motorcycle. Something that's worth having that's still free!

I thought of that as I rode from the 100-degree heat of California's Coachella Valley to the 60-degree summit of the nearby Anza Mountains on the Stratoliner.
