"BEE HIVE," New Jersey's Shopping Centre. NEWARK.

May Sale of Surplus Stock.

A sweeping reduction movement in which almost every section will participate. Highly sensational in nature, but positive in its economies. Every stock has been gone through and all surplus lines of Spring Merchandise will be placed on sale for immediate clearance at prices that none could reasonably expect so early in the season. While necessarily a clearance, we have added many special lines of goods secured through sundry trade circumstances, at prices so low that we would be doing customers an injustice did we not take advantage of the opportunities offered.

Busy days are ahead—we realize the fact and have prepared accordingly with extra salespeople; extra cashiers and extra parcel wrappers; in fact we have arranged everything possible to make shopping here this week more than usually profitable and pleasurable.

No Branch Stores. L. S. Plaut & Co. Mail Orders. 707 to 721 Broad St., Newark. Free Deliveries.

THE NEW COUNCIL CHAMBERS.

Town Machinery Getting in Running Order—New Chambers Have Business Appearance.

The new council chambers over the Bayard Pharmacy, Broad and Elm streets, really have a very business like appearance with the new individual desks for each member of the council, a large oak desk for councilman at large and a like one for the town clerk. The treasurer has also been remembered and will have a desk.

The only things that look out of place are the old chairs, which, it is understood, will be used.

FREE BED FOR CATS.

Endowed by a Servant Girl Who Died in Philadelphia Some Years Ago.

In an animal hospital in Philadelphia there is a free bed for cats, endowed by a servant, Ruth Darling, who died in that city some years ago. She had always liked animals, and the Philadelphia Record says that during her last illness she said to her employer:

"I have a little money saved, sir. I should like to do something with it for cats. Cats have a cruel, hard life. I'd like to found a bed in a hospital for them, so that when the miserable creatures are sick they can be taken care of."

"Well, Ruth, the idea is a good one," said the woman's employer, "but such a bed would cost money."

"I know it, sir, and I've got the money," she returned. "Look, sir," and the young woman took from under her pillow a bank-book.

The book showed to her credit a sum more than sufficient for the establishment of the bed. And accordingly there is now in the Maher Animal Hospital a commodious iron cage with the inscription, "The Ruth Darling Bed" on it in gold letters.

Like a popular club, this bed has always a waiting list, a long line of wretched and suffering cats waiting to be treated without charge. Last year 66 cats were cared for.

China's War Debt.

At the beginning of China's late war with Japan the Chinese government applied the screws and made a loan of wealthy merchants. After the first year interest was paid on this loan; then it ceased and now the lenders have been asked to accept mandarin buttons, peacock feathers and other decorations in exchange for the obligations.—N. Y. Post.

To Exterminate Mice.

Stop up the mouse holes with corks dipped into carbolic acid and scrub the floor and shelves with diluted carbolic acid in the proportion of a tablespoonful to a bucket of water, which should be hot. The acid should be stirred well into the water so that it may mix thoroughly. Carbolic acid is a powerful corrosive and great care should be taken in handling it.—American Queen.

Adventures of a Gunboat.

A curious and interesting bit of naval history ends with the sale of the old United States gunboat Monocacy, on the Asiatic station. The vessel, a side-wheel "double-end," was sent to eastern waters in 1865 because of her high draft. With her four big smoothbores and two rifled muzzle-loaders she did great service in the war on Korean pirates in 1871. The next year she stuck fast in the mud of the Yangtze river, and remained there 28 years. Then in 1900, during the Boxer outbreak, she was hauled out and refitted, and although an object of amusement to foreign naval officers, again proved her worth; for her light draft enabled her to do work impossible to the foreign fleet. Monocacy is a title which should not be forgotten. It ought to descend to a son, or rather, let us say, to a daughter, since the Sallio law does not apply in the navy.—Youth's Companion.

Honest But Tactful.

In a little New Hampshire town there is a fruit store the presiding genius of which has a gift of tactful and politic speech which would grace a court.

"Have you any good oranges this morning?" asked a customer. "Are these juicy?"

"Well, ma'am, as to that I couldn't say certainly," replied the little woman, with an engaging smile. "They're juicier than some I know, but I make no doubt they'll bear a little squeezing before you have the best of them."

"And these apples," said the customer, "how are these sweet?" Mrs. Molloy?

"Well, now, when you're speaking of those apples, ma'am," said the proprietress of the store with another disarming smile, "they're what I should call just enough sweet to be a pleasant tart, ma'am."—Youth's Companion.

Nations That Eat Meat.

Among modern nations the greatest eaters are the English, Germans, French and Americans—the ruling people of our civilization. The diet of the Spaniards and the Italians is notably less substantial than that of the English and Germans, just as their brains are less active and original. The Americans are, on the average, the greatest eaters in the world. Said Carlyle to Emerson: "The best thing I know of that country is, that in it a man can have meat for his labor."—Boston Journal.

A Gentle Hint.

He had taken the curtain lecture weekly, but at the conclusion he remarked, casually:

"Now, there's the case of that woman who was accidentally pushed under water while she was in bathing."

"What of her?" his wife demanded.

"Why, if she had learned to keep her mouth shut," he answered, brutally, "she wouldn't have drowned before help reached her."—Chicago Post.

First Needle in England.

The first needle used in England was made in Queen Mary's reign by a negro, who unfortunately died before imparting the secret to any one. In the reign of Queen Elizabeth, the art of needle making was rediscovered by a German, who imparted it to an Englishman.—Home Notes.

Fully Confirmed.

Braggsey—I tell you I'm overworking. I am turning out an awful lot of work just now.

Nocker—That's just exactly the word your employer used in describing your present work.—Baltimore American.

A Horn Marksmen.

Marksmen are born, not made, as Horace might have said. A man who had been in the navy only three weeks was a member of one of the crews manning a six-pound gun on a recent target-practice cruise of the Texas. He aimed the gun—the first time he had ever done such a thing, and hit the target at a thousand yards. Then, just to show that it was not luck, he hit the target nine times more in succession.—Youth's Companion.

Cutlasses Out of Fashion.

Cutlasses are to be allowed no longer in the French navy. In ordering those in the service to be sent ashore, the minister of marine explained that naval commanders had advised him that there is no need now for these weapons, which formerly were used chiefly for boarding purposes.—N. Y. Sun.

A Little Learning.

"How do you do, professor? I can assure you I have profited greatly by the things I learned from you at college."

"Have you, really? You evidently know how to make a very little go a great ways, then."—Chicago American.

RAISE GOOD TURKEYS.

Quality Controls the Market to a Greater Extent Than Most Poultrymen Suppose.

But few have any conception of the number of fowls consumed in a large city during Thanksgiving and Christmas weeks. For Thanksgiving week there were sold in New York city over 325,000 turkeys. In former years there has been sold a fourth more than this, and as many as 425,000 have been sold in one week, according to the New York Herald. This season turkeys have been scarce, not well finished and high in price. This is the explanation for the falling off in sales. Last year turkeys sold at from four to five cents per pound, lower in price than this year. The same is true of chickens, ducks and geese, and even quail sell higher than ever before. All this should prove of advantage to the grower.

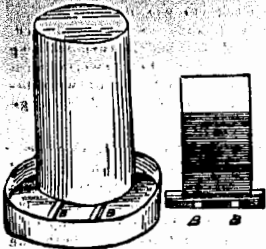

The day has about gone by for low prices for poultry and eggs. All that is needed now is for us to have good quality in our poultry and eggs for market, and they will sell well. Now is the time to begin to plan for living better than ever before. Pull away from old-time methods of poor quality market poultry and work to have the very best. For example, turkeys sold in the New York market all the way from 16 cents per pound to 28 and 30 cents per pound. Now it did not cost one more cent per pound to grow the higher priced ones than the cheaper ones. It is simply a question of care and feeding. Those who feed properly and well have the finer quality and the greater size or weight, while those who do not feed properly and well have the lesser weight and the lower price. Quality controls the market to a greater extent than is generally supposed.

It is all very well to allow the growing turkeys to hunt for bugs and grasshoppers so long as they are plentiful, but so soon as this kind of food dwindles, we must supply its place with other food as good, for two reasons—to give them a full food supply and to prevent them from walking the flesh from their bodies going about in an aimless way in search of food they will not find. Just as soon as the cool or cold nights begin to lessen the supply of wild food of all kinds then we must feed the stronger. Always see to it that they have all the good, wholesome food they will eat at all times. That is the way to grow turkeys. If there are not plenty of bugs, worms, grasshoppers, berries and nuts for them, give them all the corn they will eat every night and also a good, strong feed of it in the morning.

FOUNTAIN FOR CHICKS.

Handy Form of Drinking Arrangement Which May Also Be Used as a Feed Trough.

The illustration shows a very handy form of drinking fountain for young chicks. This may also be used as a feed trough, for which

POULTRY DRINKING FOUNTAIN.

It has no equal. In order to use it fill a small tin can with water or food, lay on it two pieces, B-B, one-half inch thick, and on these put a lid of a larger can. Invert the whole quickly and the lid will remain filled with water till the can is empty.—Richard Scheiderer, in Orange Judd Farmer.

Chicks Killed by Heat.

A great many chicks die from being kept too warm during the night in brooders. They get so warm they fairly steam and when let out in the morning they get chilled and this brings on bowel troubles. We are certain this is true from several experiences of our own and this agrees with what others say. On the other hand, a brooder can be kept too cool. We believe very few take into account the temperature of a chick's blood. A bunch of chicks can keep comfortable where a man would feel cold. When the chicks spread out on the floor of the brooder to sleep they are in a temperature that is just suited to them. If too cold they bunch up, and if too warm they are restless.—Commercial Poultry.

The Selection of Breeds.

One of the first things a beginner desires to know is which is the best breed for him to handle. It would appear to him that this ought to be an easy question to answer, and yet it is one that can hardly be answered by even the veteran breeder. It is no nearer a solution now than it was a score of years ago. It probably never will be answered satisfactorily to all breeders. It is very readily seen that the breed that would be best for one person or one locality would be wholly unsuited for another. For this reason, the person, the environment, the climate and the market conditions must be factors in determining which is the best breed.—Commercial Poultry.

HERALD SQUARE.

The Herald-Square Theatre next Monday evening, and undoubtedly for many weeks to follow, will be the Mecca for all lovers of stage fun who live in New York, or who visit that city. Klaw & Erlanger will then present for the first time in New York the new American farce by George V. Hobart and Edward E. Rose, founded on the former's comic stories of "John Henry," in which Dan Daly plays the title role, supported by a large company of the most talented artists in farcical comedy on the American stage.

This production was first presented in New Haven, Conn., last Thursday, and last Monday evening began an engagement of the week at the Chestnut Street Opera House in Philadelphia. In both cities "John Henry" made a big hit. Mr. Daly, who has heretofore appeared only in musical comedy, scoring a marked personal success.

The story of "John Henry" is told in three acts with scenes representing the rotunda of one of the most fashionable hotels in New York, Dove's Nest Villa at Raraldene, a suburb of New York, and the railroad station at that place. It is unusually well developed in its humorous interest, the situations are very effective from the comic standpoint, the dialogue is bright and fairly teems with piquant originality of expression, especially in the lines of "John Henry," and it is told with a snap that makes it very entertaining.

Dove's Nest Villa in the second act plays a very important part in the story and is presented in a very novel scene which displays John Henry and "Bunch" Jefferson, his chum, an amateur cracksmen. The scene is so constructed that the audience follows every movement of the "burglars" from cellar to garret, apparently looking through the solid walls of the house. In this instance X-Ray is applied in effect to a scene on the stage.

Klaw & Erlanger have given this farce their usual elaborate mounting in scenery and costumes. The principal supporting characters, whom the readers of the "John Henry" books will readily recognize, are "Bunch" Jefferson, Clara J., Alice Gray, Uncle Peter and Aunt Martha Grant, Uncle William Gray, Salisbury Beaconsfield, John Henry's secretary, and Harmony Diggs, the Sherlock Holmes of Raraldene. These parts are played by Florence Rockwell, Julie Herne, George Backus, J. G. Marlow and Helen Wetherby, R. C. Herz, Algernon Tassin and John Keefe.

Indictment of Civilization.

Modern civilization is being forced more and more deeply on the defensive in the matter of suicide. Statistics finding publication in England show a great increase in the rate of self-destruction in European countries during the last 25 years. Thus in France the rate has increased from 157 to 224 per 1,000,000 of population, and in Germany it is nearly the same. The rate has increased during the same time by 30 per 1,000,000 people in Austria, 27 in Hungary, 18 in Scotland, 15 in England, and 6 in Ireland. It is not those of mature age alone who are afflicted. During the ten years from 1887 to 1897 over 400 persons under 15 years of age killed themselves, and 26 of these were girls. Russia alone shows no increase in the rate, and that is the most backward country of Europe. The civilization of the day is having some hard questions put to it, and this is one of them. Why so much self-murder?—Springfield (Mass.) Republican.

The Fata Morgana.

This beautiful atmospheric phenomenon, which takes its name from one of the fairies of medieval legend, and is especially prevalent at the Strait of Messina, between Italy and Sicily, has lately been critically studied by Dr. Boccara, of the technical college at Reggio. He has seen the apparitions under three different forms—airial, marine and multiple. In the first case, buildings on the Italian coast were seen projected on the Sicilian coast beyond. In the second case, arches on a railway above Messina were visible, magnified, and more brilliant than the real arches, standing below the skyline, with no apparent support. In the multiple Morgana, aerial and marine apparitions are visible simultaneously. All these appearances are ascribed to variations in atmospheric density, producing abnormal refraction.—Youth's Companion.

"Why, Jack, me boy, I'm members when I was in the old Grampus we was in a gale, and it did blow! Well, it blowed so hard, the skipper gave orders to put away the mast, and no sooner did the carpenter appear on deck than the wind blowed the teeth clean out of his jaw."

"That's nothing," said Jack. "Yesterday the wind happened to veer round and caught our guns end on," and it blowed the breeches clean out of all of 'em."

be interested to know that the town will come down on him for about three per cent. tax this year. A few years ago the valuations were increased so that our tax rate went down to about two thirty-five, but it has steadily advanced to the three per cent. standard.The tax payer who has a home may want some reason for this. As a solution—no would advise him to call on Luther M. Whitaker for a price on one of his lots on the Boulevard extension, then go to the assessor's books and find out the rate of assessment on that property. If the taxpayer wants another illustration—go and try to buy a lot on the Mill's estate—then examine the assessor's books for amount of assessment on that property.If this does not give a solution do the same with the estate of Oliver
M. Pearson, or the Clark estate on Clark street and Dudley avenue, or the Drake property. For further information look into prices charged for lots by James T. Pierson and his associates. If an examination in-to such cases as the above is made it will be apparent why the man who improves the town by building a home bears the burden of taxation,
while these lands practically go free
of taxation.The Standard, first, last and all the time stands for Justice. It is not fair that four or five men should be allowed to hold as much land surface as the rest of the town, covers and not pay one twentieth of the taxes. If an investigation is made the reason for a three per cent. tax will be apparent.

Letter to W. B. Toucey,

Dear Sir:—Two and two make four—
and always depend upon what "two and two" are.A wagonful of water and two gallons
of milk don't make four gallons of milk.
Neither does four gallons of paint
that's half lime, whitening, clay and kerosene oil, make four gallons of real paint.That's what we mean by saying "Fewer gallons; wears longer." It takes fewer gallons of Devco Lead and Zinc than of mixed paints to paint a house and it wears twice or three times as long as lead or oil, mixed by hand.Prowse & Pelton, Herkimer, N. Y., write:Mr. Chas. Avery, of Herkimer, bought 51 gallons of Devco Lead and Zinc to paint his dwellings his painter having figured that it would require at least that amount; 50 gallons
did the work and he returned 15 gallons.

TAX RATE TAKES A JUMP

OF 25 POINTS SKYWARD—2.91 THIS YEAR.Finance Committee Makes Report and Budget Fixed for the Year—Council
Very Busy.At Monday night's meeting of the Town Council it was shown that the sum needed to be raised by taxation
this year for running expenses of the town would be $23,200. An ordinance was introduced and passed on first reading to raise the money needed. The tax rate will jump to 2.91. The apportionment is as follows: For street lights,
$2,700; police, $2,700; fire department,
$1,500; streets, $2,500; poor, $300; fire
hydrants, $300; interest on debt, $1,200;
general and incidental expenses, $10,000;
total, $23,200.Last year the tax rate was 2.66 and the increase of .25 points this year is caused by the increased deficiency from the old town committee of $3472.75
which amount includes the cost of the small post cases which in itself was $1852.99 and $407.84 which covers expenses of township from Feb. 1st, close of fiscal year, to May 1st beginning of fiscal year for the new Town. In other words the town must raise enough
taxes to cover deficiency and also taxes to run the town for 15 months instead of for 12 months. Had it not been for this state of affairs the new Town of Westfield would start off the first year with a rate 14 points lower than that of last year, or $2.52.Officer Thomas O'Neill received the appointment as trust officer, his duties as such to commence immediately.The salaries of some of the town officials were increased to an amount audient for the payment of their bond premiums.Several bills were presented and referred to the committee on finance.

Are You Wasting Water?

The Union Water Co. is at a loss to account for the great increase in the consumption of water during the past two weeks. The increase amounts to over 1,500,000 gallons per day. The company has sent inspectors out to find where the water is being wasted. If your faucets are leaky or if you are using water for lawn sprinkling purposes at hours not in accordance with the companies rules, take warning or the supply will be cut off if you willfully waste water.Here is the companies rule on the subject:"Lawn sprinklers and hand hose must be used only between the hours of 6 and 9 a. m. and 4 and 7 p. m. from the 1st of April to the 15th of October, and if found out of order or leaking, or if converted into jets, or if used for the benefit of any person other than the one obtaining the permit, or suffered to run when not used, or if used at a time not stated above, the supply will be cut off without previous notice.All persons using a hose, either in front or rear of premises, from a hydrant or faucet connection, must first obtain a permit for use only at hours
permitted in the rules and regulations.
Permit to use lawn sprinklers does not include the use of water for street
sprinkling."

A Dog's Fidelity

The proverbial fidelity of the dog is illustrated in a story which comes from England. Among the daily crowd of early morning bathers in Queensmere
pond, Putney, London, was a boy accompanied by a faithful little Irish terrier. It was the custom of the dog, while his master took his dip, to sit on the edge of the lake and keep watch over his clothing. The little terrier was noticed long after the bathers had gone, patiently keeping guard. For more than five hours he lay there. The next day told the story of his solitary watch,
when the dead body of his young master was recovered from the lake. He had been seized with a fit, and his feeble cries for help were smothered by the myriad voices of the merry-making bathers.—Golden Days.

Semi-Final Round in Spring Tournament

Tournament was played at the Westfield
Golf Club last Saturday. For the Gluck Cup, J. A. Woodward beat A. D.
Tuttle 4 up and three to play, while J.
Sherman, Jr., beat E. D. Floyd 3 up and two to play. For the Floyd Cup R. J.
Townley beat John Platt 7 up and 6 to go, and E. R. Perkins beat W. E.
Knight 3 up and 2 to go. In addition to the above play the members generally competed in a "Kickers Handi-

the course of the Westfield Golf Club between J. L. Anson, of the Cranford Golf Club, St. Patrick of New York and David Honeyman of the home club, was won by the latter by a margin of 3 up and 2 to play over each of the others.
The match though impromptu, was followed by an appreciative gallery,
which witnessed the best driving ever seen on the course, though the scores were only fair. Patrick was handicapped by each of practice but gave evidence that he can hold his own with the best.
The medal scores were Honeyman, 80;
Anson 84 and Patrick 88.To-morrow's events at the Westfield

of the Spring Tournament and a mem-

by the committee in charge. The Handi-requesting the sending in of entries for

CHILDREN'S COUNTRY HOME NOTES.

The note of preparation for the season's work at the Home has been sounded and will be in readiness for the arrival of twenty children from the city on the 27th inst. and for the usual Decoration Day Festival on the 30th.Thanks to the interest taken, very largely by the young people of our town the play-house, a convenient and artistic structure, is now built. For the plan and supervision of the building
the Managers are indebted to Mr. Josiah Tabby and to its erection at a moderate cost to Mr. James Moffett. Indoors the kitchen has been enlarged by making it one with the outside laundry and with the new wash-tray, plumbing, etc., it is now suitably arranged for the work of the large household.The Decoration Day Festival will be held on the afternoon of Saturday, 30th inst. from 2 to 6 o'clock. The arrangements and attractions will be about as usual, the house will be open for inspection and all interested in the Home, or desiring to know of its work. All wishing to see a beautiful sight in a children's happy gathering at an outdoor festival, will surely take this occasion to visit the Home.

No New Fan Left.

The Sunday-school teacher had brought in a new pupil from the street,
and she was as proud of him as a hen

never has heard the expression, 'origi-

good definition of it. I'll try him.
Jimmy, what is original sin?""Please, ma'am," replied Jimmy,
shaking his head sadly, "there ain't no

A young woman recently received instruction in the art of Indian bakery, and had made several copies of Indian baskets of which she was very proud. A friend, who had been living in Arizona, called upon the young woman who showed her the baskets with considerable pride."They are really very well done," commented the visitor. "But of course
they are not the real Indian baskets."
"Why, Mrs. Sawyer," indignantly exclaimed the maker, "how can you say that, when I just told you that I made them myself?"—Youth's Companion.

Groomsman Wedding Gift

The penalty among the Hotentots for widows who marry again is a some-

these people that, before so marrying,
a widow must cut off the joint of a

COULDN'T LIVE WITHOUT DOGS.

A. J. Collins Would Rather Stay in Jail
Than Shoot His Dogs.

For some time past C. M. Hawkins, game warden, has had complaints made to him that dogs that were allowed to run at large were killing rabbits on the mountain. Mr. Hawkins, Friday afternoon, took with him his deputy game warden, G. B. Lester, of Newark, and together they visited the fields and woods near the home of Andrew J.
Collins of Mountainside. Their visit was soon rewarded by hearing the bay of hounds. In a minute or two a rabbit shot across the field and into a wood pile followed by six or seven dogs.

Mr. Hawkins and Mr. Lester corraled
the dogs and visited the home of Mr.
Collins. The latter was asked if the dogs belonged to him. Receiving a reply that they did the gentleman was promptly placed under arrest and taken to Recorder Toucey's office. The evidence of allowing his dogs to run at large during the closed season was so plain the Recorder had but one course to pursue, that of placing a fine according to law. Collins was fined $10 and costs. He told game warden Hawkins to take him to jail as he would rather stay in confinement within prison walls
than be compelled to shoot his dogs.
Mr. Hawkins and Mr. Lester started off with their prisoner but when Broad street was reached Collins weakened and came to the conclusion that he would pay his fine. The fine was paid and the prisoner was released.

ploy 8,000 hands. Work will be commenced on the new buildings at once.

IT TOOK TEN INNINGS

TO PUT A QUIETUS ON THE MADISON'S

And Every Telling Word of the Half-Raising Kind—The Westfield Boys Playing on the Improvement Order.

If you attended Saturday's game at Recreation Park and did not get your money's worth, something must be radically wrong with your liver.

Certain faithful Westfield rooters have asked the Westfield Management for improvements in the team. Saturday's team was greatly strengthened at second by Burch and at first by Robinson. Almost everyone admitted that Burch was a worker with results and the way he covered his territory was a caution. Robinson did equally well at first and jumped into public favor at once.

Little Barry way over at third, took everything that came his way and in the ninth played the inning almost alone.

The team worked well together, far better than they did when they received their medicine at the hands of the Plains players, and their batting was on the improvement order.

Montross pitched a fair game, even though the game went ten innings. In the 4th and 7th the visitors found him and altogether they banged out nine hits.

The Westfield boys found Minahan, the Manhattan College pet twirler, for five hits and in the tenth poor "Min" went up in the air, filled all the bags by bases on balls and then forced in the winning run with another four balls.

Altogether it was a great game with plenty of ginger work from start to finish and sprinkled here and there with just enough gentlemanly argument to make it all the more interesting. Here is the story of the game:

MADISON A. C. VS. WESTFIELD.

1st inning—Goodman started the game well for Madison with a single to center. Barry forwarded Kavanagh's grounder for an out at 1st. Stahlings walked but was caught attempting to steal 2nd. Bradley caught Richardson's fly.—No runs.

Goldberg flied out to Henderson. Mallen walked but was forced at 2nd by Burch. Kavanagh to Fisher. Carey out on strikes.—No runs.

2nd inning—Barry hauled down Henriques' fly. Fisher bunted but Burke got the ball to 1st in time to retire the runner. Richardson singled to left. Baker's line fly stopped in Burch's hands.—No runs.

9th inning—Baker out. Jones to 1st. Minahan doubled to left. Goodman flied out to Goldberg. Kavanagh out. Burch to 1st.—No runs.

Summary:—Barry runs Madison (4); Westfield (1); Two base hits, Richardson and Minahan; First on balls, off Minahan (7); by Montross (2); struck out by Minahan (7); by Montross (2); left on bases, Madison (6); Westfield (19). Double play: Barry and Bradley. Passed ball: Goodman (2). First base on error: Madison (4); Westfield (5). Hit by pitcher: Burch, Mallen (3). Time of game: 2 hours and 6 min. Umpire, Mr. Rydard.

Barry should make a good swimmer. He certainly is a good diver—for bases.

Burke's throwing to second showed noticeable improvement.

Burch, the new second baseman, made a great one-hand catch of a high one in the second inning and followed up his fine work a little later by making a remarkable running catch.

In the ninth Barry was the whole team and by quick work retired the side. Barry is generally able to give a pretty good account of himself.

The general impression of the patrons of Saturday's game was that the Madison team could fairly eat ball and they were as gentlemanly a lot of ball tossers as have visited Westfield in many a day.

My, how Mr. Umpire did everlasting, ly even up things Saturday! An umpire's life is an unenviable one to say the least.

The Westfield Base Ball Association has scheduled games as follows:

May 23d, Milburn-Springfield Consolidated.

May 30th, A. M., Alls, Plainfield.

May 30th, P. M., College of the City of New York.

Saturday games called at 4 P. M.

On Saturday the Asollian ponies backed up against the Jersey Cubans from Passanic and made runs so fast they had to stop the game in the fifth inning to give the scorer time to jot 'em down. The Piano players made 26 runs and never allowed one of their dusky rivals to cross the plate.

Word has been received by way of

Mountain side and the Springfield road

that the towns of Milburn and Springfield are to be depopulated to-morrow

afternoon when their combined towns ball teams enter the ring at the "big show." Their team is a cracker jack.

Supporting a Dead Woman.

The city of Christiania long ago

An Unfortunate Remark.

One pleasant day last fall, so the story goes, Prof. Hadley, of Yale, was strolling through the beautiful campus of Dartmouth college with his wife on his arm. They were admiring the beautiful buildings which dot the campus, several of them having been erected by wealthy alumni. Presently they came to an especially noble hall, built of stone, and occupying a commanding site. Over the main entrance was a marble tablet which announced that the hall had been erected by "John C. Blank as a memorial to his Beloved Wife."

President Hadley stood and looked at the noble pile for a moment. Then he heaved a sigh that was almost envious.

"Ah," he said, "that is what I should like to do for my college."

And to this day, the boys declare, President Hadley cannot understand why his wife should have looked so horrified.—St. Louis Mirror.

Science Guards Antiquity.

In consequence of the construction of the great Assouan dam on the Nile, 600 miles above Cairo, the famous temples on the island of Philae are partially submerged when the reservoir is full of water. But the civilized world would not willingly see these magnificent relics of antiquity destroyed, and accordingly an elaborate system of underpinning the buildings was adopted. Some of the colonnades and temples were found to be resting on fractured stone beams, broken by subsidence of the soil. Heavy steel girders, inclosed with rubble masonry and mortar, which protect them from corrosion, were placed under the broken foundations, and the masonry was carried down to bed rock beneath. The work was done in the face of considerable danger, but without accident.—Youth's Companion.

Most Deadly Disease.

Pneumonia (lung fever) having become of late years the most deadly disease at all ages, general intelligence in regard to its cause and what may be done to avoid it is desirable. The disease depends upon a specific vegetable organism, which, being at all times present in thickly populated districts, grows rapidly in the air passages of the individual if his vitality is suddenly depressed. In these particulars the bacillus of pneumonia resembles that of consumption, but its multiplication is much more rapid and the poisoning from its excretions much more acute. The danger of pneumonia may be lessened by keeping the air passages clear of mucus, by avoiding chill and fatigue, by good ventilation and absence from crowded and overheated rooms.—Medical Journal.

Parson's Joke.

"De older er man gits," says the colored parson, "de halder it amter pull de wool ober his eyes."

"How does yo' all account fob dat, parson?" asked Deacon Plattfoot.

"Ah accounts fob it on de groun' dat de older er man gits de less wool he have," answered the parson with a grin that would have frightened a chicken out of its wits.—Chicago Daily News.

The Head Was Here.

"Yes, he proposed," Miss Passay continued, blushing, "and when papa came into the room he found me in Mr. Huggins' arms."

"Ah, now I see," exclaimed Miss Speltz. "I wondered what your father meant to-day when I heard him telling my father that Mr. Huggins had an old head on young shoulders."—Philadelphia Press.

An Approving Voice.

They were eloping and the stern parent was supposed to be in pursuit. But he wasn't.

On the contrary a telegram awaited them at the next town.

"Is it forgiveness?" asked the agitated youth as he handed it to the angelic one.

She read it through and burst into tears.

Then the startled youth took it and read it aloud:

"Your mother and I offer congratulations. Your hasty action meets with our approval. We cannot carry out a plan that we have long contemplated, and that was delayed only because we had you with us. In other words, we are about to break up housekeeping and go into a flat!"—Cleveland Plaindealer.

Baptist Young People Union of New York.

Through Mr. Geo. B. Croscup, transportation leader, has selected the Southern Railway as the official route and will leave New York on July 8th for Atlanta, Ga. This route is far famed not only for its magnificent appointed train service, but also for the beautiful and historic section of the South through which the train passes—Washington, the capital of the nation, Alexandria, the battlefield of Manassas, Bull Run, Culpepper, etc. Along this line is seen the growth of the great cotton industries of the South. The altitude of Atlanta affords the purest air and a delightful summer temperature. The rate for this occasion will be one fare for the round trip plus $1.00. Tickets will be sold July 8th to 9th, good to return until July 15th. By deposit of ticket by original purchaser with special agent at Atlanta not later than July 15th and payment of fee of fifty (50) cents an extension of final return limit may be obtained until August 15th, 1903. Danger in Mountain Climbing.

Danger is by no means an attraction to the true mountaineer. Some people may so affirm, but scarcely ever does an expert place himself in a dangerous situation, and if he does it is not from choice, and he does not like it. Sometimes he may take a risk, but seldom unless all the chances are in favor of the climbing party and the possibility of accident exceedingly remote. What he does love is to eliminate by experience and skill all danger from a climb, which, to a novice, a clumsy worker or a party unprovided with or neglecting to use proper equipment for mountaineering, would be hazardous or quite impossible.—Leslie's Monthly.

Sticks and Sticks.

"Man is a peculiar animal," began Mrs. Parant, as she squatted herself in one of the easy chairs that stood about the heavily carpeted assembly room of the Woman's Husband Reform Association of America.

"What's the trouble now?" asked Mrs. Preisse.

"Why," replied Mrs. P., "before I was married my husband would carry my golf sticks for me willingly miles and miles."

"Yes."

"And now he grumbles unmercifully when I ask him to go into the cellar and carry a few sticks of firewood upstairs for me."—N. Y. Times.

Making Soft Wood Hard.

A Liverpool merchant is said to have discovered a process of hardening and toughening soft woods so that they can be used in place of naturally hard woods. The treatment consists in saturating the timber with a solution of sugar at the boiling point. The water is afterward evaporated out, leaving the pores and interstices of the wood filled with solid matter, which is not brittle and shows no tendency to split or crack. The process also preserves wood and renders it remarkably impervious to water. Even hard woods are said to be benefited by it.—Scientific American.

Before and After.

Citizen—When you were running for the place you were full of promises of what you would do for the public, now you don't seem to care a penny for the public.

Legislator—When I said I was ready to do anything the public wanted I thought my election was what the public desired. They've got that, and now they want a lot of other things. It looks as though the public would never be satisfied.—Boston Transcript.

FROM MR. CADMUS.

Yes, Billy is alone to-night: The saddest of his life.
To-day they laid away to rest his faithful patient Wife.
For years she toiled and struggled on, and tried to do her part,
And tried to hide for Billy's sake her sad and aching heart.

Yes, He is all alone to-night, and will realize at last
Just what his Wife has been to him in all the years that past.
Perhaps, he will realize that now; when all regrets are vain,
Her work and sacrifice are done! She will not return again.

Ah! Well do I remember! In the happy long ago,
The time he courted Maggie, how he loved and told her so.
How he wooed her and he won her from a home of tender care,
And their lives became united full of sunshine everywhere.

She had been her parents' darling, He a petted only child,
She from every evil guarded, He impetuous and wild.
Friends had warned him, but he heeded her, it would be his aim in life
To support, protect and comfort, her his own cherished Wife.

Fortune seemed to smile with favor, future years looked bright and clear,
With no shadow of an evil that was drawing very near.
Little dreamed that night could enter that would mar their peace and joy,
That a so-called harmless habit would in time their home destroy.

Genial, kind and tender hearted, ever ready to extend Kindly hand and cordial greeting, he was everybody's friend.
But his warm, free hearted nature, and his open hand to all,
Was the means of his undoing, aiding in his early fall.

Carless habit oft indulged in may become beyond control,
And in time become the master, wrecking body, brain and soul.
Dragging down from sturdy manhood to the verge of ruin's brink,
Helpless, hopeless and despairing through the common curse of drink.

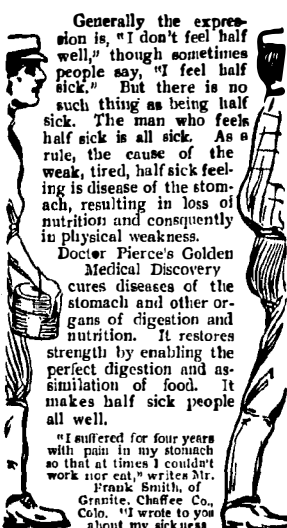

So they gradually bar-room that he passed along the way,
With the tempter ever waiting like a spider for its prey.
Thoughtless friends, untrue to manhood helped to rivet fast the chain,
And to wreck what God created for a noble active brain.

Little ones had come to bless them and demand a parent's care,
But poor Billy sadly failed them in the part that he should bear.
No complaint was heard from Maggie, tho' her heart was sad and sore;
Life was now a daily struggle for the Wolf was at the door.

Friendly efforts unavailing, Father's protest, Mother's prayer,
Wife and children's earnest pleading 'gainst a ruin they must share.
Home, position, wealth, ambition, hope in life and heaven to come,
Sacrificed through love of liquor and the appetite for rum.

Alone to night! Indeed he is! Perchance he will recall,
A Christmas eve some years ago when his children were small.
He had been so very steady, at his work from day to day,
And he hoped it would continue, that reform had come to stay.

HALF SICK

Generally the expression is, "I don't feel half well," though sometimes people say, "I feel half sick." But there is no such thing as being half sick. The man who feels half sick is all sick. As a rule, the cause of the weak, tired, half sick feeling is disease of the stomach, resulting in loss of nutrition and consequently in physical weakness.

Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. It restores strength by enabling the perfect digestion and assimilation of food. It makes half sick people all well.

"I suffered for four years with pain in my stomach so that at times I couldn't work nor eat," writes Mr. Frank Smith, of Granite, Chester Co., Colo. "I wrote to you about my sickness and was told to use your medicine, which I did with good results."

"Golden Medical Discovery" contains no alcohol and is entirely free from opium, cocaine and all other narcotics. It is strictly a temperance medicine.

Accept no substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery." There is nothing "just as good" for diseases of the stomach.

The "Common Sense Medical Advice" one thousand and eight large pages, paper covers, is sent free on receipt of twenty-one one-cent stamps, to pay expense of mailing only. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.
