FAIR ACRES DRIVING CLUB DISBANDS

AND WESTFIELD HORSE SHOW ASSOCIATION ORGANIZES.

Westfield to Be Widely Advertised By a Big Two-Day Horse Show Here in October. Many Regret Retirement of Driving Club.

Last Friday night the members of Fair Acres Driving Club held a meeting and voted to disband and in its place will be the new Westfield Horse Show Association. Many Westfielders will regret the passing of so popular an organization as the Driving Club, under whose auspices have been held so many attractive race meets at beautiful Fair Acres track. But from point of town advertising, doubtless the new Westfield Horse Show Association will do more even for Westfield than did the Driving Club. Its scope is much broader.

Plans are now being perfected to hold a big two-day horse show in Westfield Friday and Saturday, October 14th and 15th. The Executive Committee of the Association intends to make this one of the largest shows ever held in this vicinity, attracting to Westfield hundreds of people who are continually interested in horses and horse shows. All this is good advertising for Westfield. Considerable money will be spent in the town and it is to be hoped that the Westfield Horse Show Association will receive the hearty support of the citizens of the town.

The balance in the treasury of the Fair Acres Driving Club has been turned over to the Children's Country Home Association.

For information regarding the coming horse show address H. P. Condit, Secretary, 71 Broadway, New York, Room 910.

Westfield Club Does Not to be Increased.

The members of the Westfield club met in special meeting Monday evening and voted against an amendment raising the dues from $15.00 to $30.00 per year. The vote stood 35 against and 33 in favor of the change. It was necessary for a two-thirds vote to pass the amendment.

There was considerable argument for and against the proposed increase of dues, the bowling alley feature being the main point of argument for those who desired the change. The increase would give the club sufficient revenue to build two new and much needed alleys, but the "anti-increasers" carried the day and the old alleys will be repaired, and, doubtless, everything will run along smoothly the coming season.

Just now the tennis committee is making things lively for the club members, and it promises to be an exciting season in this department of the club.

Kindly Act Remembered.

The W. C. U. is the recipient of a beautifully framed photograph of the keeper and crew of the Life saving Station at Ocean City, N. J.

Under the direction of Mrs. George B. Dickerson, Supt. of "Work among Soldiers and Sailors," a Christmas box was prepared and sent to the station in December last.

The following extract is from the letter sent to Mrs. Dickerson, June 21st, by the keeper.

"The crew and myself wished to send some token of gratitude for the greeting and box sent us at Christmas time, but it seemed we could not get in shape, and were delayed by our photograph for a long time, in getting the picture enlarged. I shall express it to you today, hoping it may be of some interest. I have thought many times of your great work, and the great good being done by the W. C. T. U. We know very little of the great evils of drink in this city of ours by the sea, as spirituous liquors are forever prohibited from being sold, which gives us a quiet city. Wishing you great success in your work, I am, respectfully yours, J. MACKAY CORSON."

"The ladies are delighted with the token of appreciation. The photograph will be placed in W. C. T. U. Hall. At present it may be seen in the window of W. H. Trenchard's drug store at Prospect and Broad streets. Those who contributed to the make-up of the Christmas box will no doubt be particularly interested in the picture.

WESTFIELD-ALIS SERIES ON.

RANDOLPH PERKINS SUGGESTS PLAN TO SETTLE DISPUTE

Which Meets With Approval of Alis Club—Both Clubs Bound By Signed Agreement—Alis Must Play Ball and No Quitting.

After the negotiations between committees representing the Alis Club and the Westfield Baseball Association had been declared off owing to the insistence of the Alis Club that the disputed game should be played over and the inability of the Westfield management to concede the demands of the Alis committee in view of the baseball rules touching the subject of forfeited games, Randolph Perkins took up the matter of attempting to adjust the differences between the two clubs in order that the series might proceed and the championship of the county decided between the two clubs.

Mr. Perkins interviewed John J. Slevin, chairman of the baseball committee, and requested him to arrange a meeting between the President of the Alis Club, the baseball committee, and the general manager of the club. They agreed to have Mr. Perkins meet with them at the Alis Club Wednesday evening, July 1st, to discuss the differences. There were six representatives of the Alis Club and Mr. Perkins. Mr. Perkins suggested the method of settling the dispute by arbitration and after their baseball committee went into caucus they reported in accepting the arbitration plan provided Mr. Perkins would either act as the arbitrator for Westfield or select the man who would represent Westfield. They also insisted upon Mr. Perkins passing upon the question of the fairness of the schedule and the umpires for the remaining series. They wound up the meeting by giving the Westfield representative a dinner at the Club. It was 3 a. m. when Mr. Perkins arrived in Westfield.

Here is the agreement, now for a red hot series.

THE ALIS CLUB.

Plainfield, N. J., June 23, 1904.

We agree to continue the baseball series as heretofore arranged between Alis and Westfield Clubs under the following modifications.

The managers of the respective teams will arrange new dates for the balance of the games to be played, the guarantees to remain as heretofore agreed.

The disputed game played at Westfield, June 11th, 1904, will be referred to three arbitrators, one to be selected by the Alis Club and one by Randolph Perkins of Westfield, and the third arbitrator to be selected by the two as chosen. The sole question to be determined by the arbitrators is whether the disputed game shall be counted for Westfield as won, or be played over. The arbitrators shall decide this question on the facts to be presented by both teams and the rules of the game. The schedule and umpires for the balance of the games to be played when arranged by the respective managers shall be presented to Randolph Perkins for his approval and when approved by him shall stand as the agreement between the two aforesaid Clubs.

W. C. T. U. NOTES.

Mrs. W. I. Stearns will open her house for a social meeting of the W. C. T. U. on Saturday afternoon, July 9th, when Mrs. J. T. Ellis, Superintendent of the department of Legislation and Christian Citizenship, in the National W. C. T. U., will speak on the work of the organization.

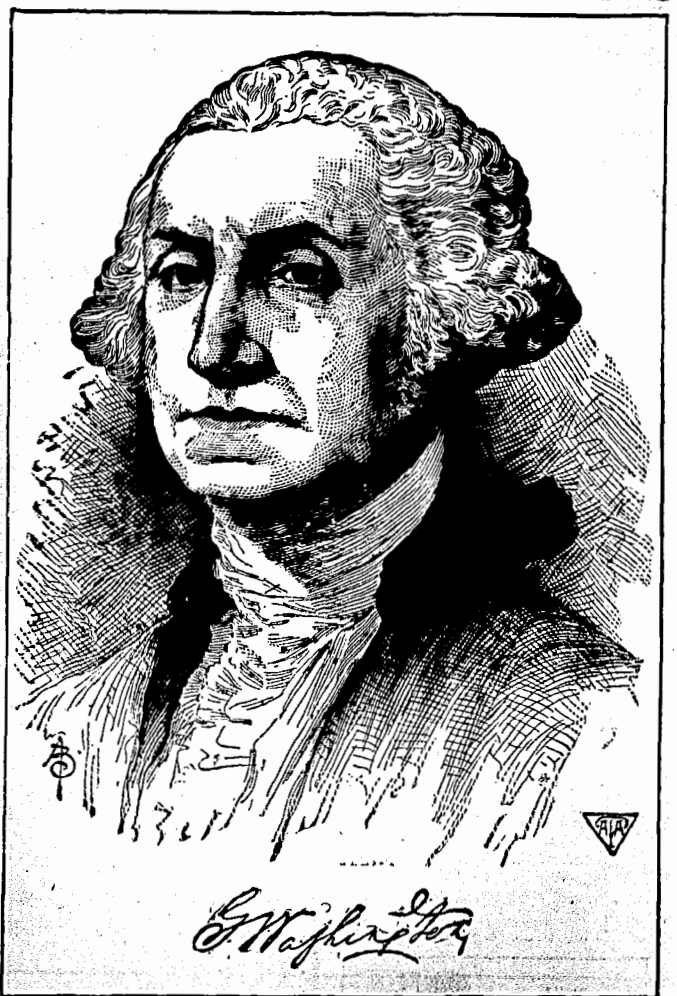

At the request of the W. C. T. U. the churches will unite in a service on Sunday evening, July 10th. There will be an address by Mrs. J. T. Ellis.

Adverse New Jersey Decision.

The Supreme Court of New Jersey, in an opinion by Justice Van Sickle, has set aside an Atlantic City ordinance which makes it unlawful to provide for the erection of billboards or advertisements, except under certain regulations. The court holds that a municipal ordinance which forbids the erection of signs upon private property, without regard to whether such signs may be dangerous to public safety, is invalid because it is the taking of private property without compensation.—Exchange.

GOLF.

E. R. Perkins Wins June Handicap at Westfield Golf Links.

The first of the monthly handicaps for this season was run off at the Westfield Golf Club last Saturday, when out of a list of twenty entries sixteen returned cards. E. R. Perkins won with a net score of 71, through playing consistent golf. The scores were as follows:

E. R. Perkins	80	18	71
F. B. Brundage	89	25	74
H. W. Gladwin	109	30	70
S. A. Trevett	91	10	81

Notes.

The Fourth of July will be a gala day at the Westfield Golf Club. The Handicap Committee have arranged for an all-day competition, a handicap medal play at 36 holes for net and gross score cups which have been presented by Mr. Harry E. Knight and Mr. E. D. Floyd. In the evening the members have been bidden by a most novel invitation to betake themselves unto the club, where there will be fireworks and entertainment galore.

Tomorrow the Westfield Golf Club team will go to Plainfield and play the Park Golf Club a match in the Central Jersey League. The teams will consist of eight men.

The standing of the clubs in the Central Jersey Golf League to date is given herewith:

Club	Won.	Lost.
Westfield	3	0
Cranford	2	1
Park	0	1
Colonial	0	2

George Low, the well-known professional, and J. H. Wharton, of the Baltusrol Golf Club, visited the Westfield Golf Club last Friday and played the course with David Patrick, the professional, and M. Whitlatch, of the home club. Low made the best score, a 36, and beat Patrick out a stroke.

In the morning play at the Westfield Golf Club on the Fourth of July the best two net scores will qualify for the "Governors' Cup," as against the date of July 9th, when the "Mixed Foursomes" will be held. In the latter event a minimum entry list of ten has been set.

Harken, Golfers, Harken!

Lo, it hath been said by them that were wise, even they that did sign the Declaration: "Truly ye Young and ye Olde who worketh away and spareth not time wherein to disport himself, becometh dull."

Therefore hath it become meet that ye should lay aside for a space, homelike things that ye may gather together to feast and make merry.

And that these things may come to pass, behold the 4th day of the seventh month, which is July, hath been set aside that ye may gather yourselves together as hath been written.

And ye shall one and all, both young (ye children) and old, insofar as it lieth in your power to do so, betake yourself unto the Terrace of the Golf Garden, even that place which is known unto the heathen and they that are unwashed as the Westfield Golf Club—which lieth on ye road of Jerusalem.

Ye even at eight of the clock of the evening shall ye gather together at the Garden of the Golf.

Then shalt thou truly say that thy senses art much pleased, even beyond thine own understanding shalt thou be satisfied.

Thou shalt see with thine eyes Works of Fire that delighteth the eye.

Thou shalt drink from the flagons, so that not one among you shall go away athirst.

And there shalt be song and sweet music, and Lo, the fairest maidens of the land shall discourse them.

And in that each may have what is due unto him or her, for food, and drink, and song, behold, a tax shall be levied among you in accordance with the means of all, the poor like unto the rich, and the sum of several pieces of silver which ye shall know by this sign ($$) shalt thou despatch unto him who is the chairman.—Hugh Talbot, J. Boyd Wilson; H. W. Gladwin, Chairman.

TENNIS.

Twenty-two entries have been received for the club handicap tennis tournament which will be started on the Westfield Courts tomorrow afternoon at one o'clock and continue all day Monday, July 4th. Cups will be given the winner and runner up.

J. P. Thomas of the Elizabethtown and Country Club and Samuel P. Westfall of the Bergen Point Tennis Club will meet in the final round for the championship of the East Jersey Tennis Association, tomorrow afternoon, on the courts of the Jersey City Golf Club.

A Modern Gunpowder Plot A FOURTH OF JULY STORY

By CAROLINE MILLS

PROFESSOR GRAY had a great many ideas and opinions; indeed, it was his business to have them, for he had been a teacher over 20 years. Many of his theories lay in the direction of training the youthful mind. He had three children and on them he worked out his pet schemes. One of his ideas was this: that children should be told the truth always.

"It is a bad course," he would say, "to let children read and hear so many fictitious stories. Why not give them historical stories which shall teach as well as amuse?"

So that was the plan he pursued with his family. Each year he took up the history of a different country, and all the stories the children read or heard that year must be of that particular nation.

Three years ago they were studying English history. One evening toward the end of June the family were seated on the front veranda enjoying the evening air.

"Father," said Clifford, the elder son, suddenly, "won't you tell us a story?"

"Oh, yes, do," urged Ruth, the only sister.

"Make it a Fourth of July story," Clarence put in enthusiastically.

"How can I?" said the professor, in doubt. "You know they don't celebrate the 'Glorious Fourth' in England."

"Oh, you can certainly get up something," Clifford insisted.

The professor sat thinking for a few moments, and then he said:

"Well, I'll tell you about the Gunpowder Plot. It has nothing to do with the Fourth of July, but it treats of explosives, so I suppose it will suit you just as well."

CLIFFORD, WHO WAS THE GUY FAWKES OF THE CONSPIRACY, TOUCHED A MATCH TO THE END OF THE ROPE.

The children settled themselves delightedly, and the professor began. He was a charming story-teller, and the children sat spellbound until he had finished. The tale made a great impression, and especially on Clifford. The next day when he and his playfellows were lying on the grass in the shade, too lazy to play on account of the heat, Clifford told the story to them, and concluded by saying:

"Boys, I've got a scheme. Let's us get up a 'gunpowder plot' for the Fourth. Only we won't have ours just like the story, for ours shall go off as it ought. We can have it on that vacant block across the street. We'll dig a cellar and then build a sort of a house on top for the parliament building."

"Yes, and make the house of tin cans and such things, so it will make a terrible noise when it goes off," said Frank Middlebury.

So it went on and soon the plans were all laid.

The next day they began operations, and worked desperately, as boys will for play, all morning. Day after day the work went on. Both boys and girls of the neighborhood were wild with curiosity to know what they were about, but never a word of information could they get from any of the workers. Even Ruth Gray did not know what they were doing until she accidentally overheard Clifford say something to Clarence about the "gunpowder plot." Then she was all interest and wanted to join the conspirators herself.

"There weren't any ladies in it," Clarence replied, scornfully, when she asked him about it.

"Oh, well, that doesn't make any difference and I want to go bad."

"Well, you ask Cliff."

And when she asked Clifford he put her off very contemptuously. Then Ruth began to cry and told him he was "real mean."

But no amount of teasing made any difference. Clifford was obstinate. Ruth was not admitted to the plot.

At last the morning of the Fourth arrived! The conspirators had agreed that "parliament" should be assembled and the gunpowder in the cellar "set off" at 12 exactly, as they would all have returned from the public exercises of the morning by that time.

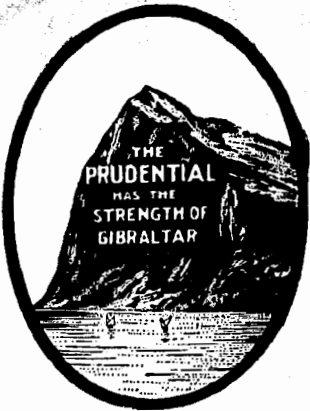

The day wore on. The usual popping and banging of a typical Fourth of July continued very steadily. It was nearing 12 o'clock and one by one five boys appeared on the scene near the "parliament building."

Issuing from one side of this "tin can" house was a rope which extended about ten feet out of the house. The end of this rope was to be lighted and then the boys were to run away and watch proceedings. The rope communicated with a quantity of firecrackers underneath the house. All the pocket money that five boys could save and earn for a week had been invested in explosives, and stored away there for the Fourth.

Finally the appointed moment arrived. Clifford, who was the Guy Fawkes of the conspiracy, touched a lighted match to the end of the rope. Then the five boys stepped back to a safe distance. Very eagerly they watched the progress of the tiny point of fire moving slowly along the rope. Closer and closer to its destination crept the spark.

"It's getting there, boys," said Frank Middlebury.

"Landy! won't it be great?" cried another.

"Watch it! It's nearly there!" Clifford exclaimed.

Sure enough the tiny flame had reached the boundary of the house. It was creeping inside. An instant—and all would be over. The building, and the members of parliament, supposed to be seated inside, would only be a memory. None of the five said a word and each held his breath in expectation of the terrific crash.

"It's coming now!" shouted Frank as they heard the report of one small firecracker.

But it didn't come as fast as they expected.

"It takes awful long," Clarence said in a discouraged tone.

Yes, it did take a very long time.

Five minutes passed, in fact, and still no greater sound had they heard than the one small cracker.

"What's the matter with the thing?" said one boy.

"Maybe the rope was tangled up inside," suggested Frank.

"No, it wasn't, either," answered another in disgust.

"You were here first, Cliff. Didn't you go in and look at things to see if they were all right?"

"I looked just before I started down to see the procession and I didn't have time to look again after I came back before you got here."

"Say, boys, somebody's been meddling," said Frank.

"Oh, pshaw! I don't think I'll go off yet," Clarence persisted.

"Well, I'm going to go and look," said Cliff.

The other boys were a little timid about approaching the "tin can" house, but Clifford, with the true Guy Fawkes spirit, went straight ahead and peeped in at the opening. The other confidently expected to see his head blown off, but nothing of the kind happened, nor was it likely to have taken place. For what do you suppose Clifford saw as he looked in?

Well, it was truly enough to make his blood boil. There was not a sign of a firecracker to be seen, and instead, there lay the end of the burn rope in a ball of water. Clifford stepped back and beckoned to the other boys. He was literally speechless. When all had taken a peep at the disappointing scene, the indignant conspirators of the "gunpowder plot" at once hurried over to the Gray's house. As it happened the professor was at home.

With loud voices and excited gestures, the boys told their story, interspersed now and then with wild conjectures as to the probable perpetrators of the trick. The professor heard them out, and just as he was beginning to speak in serious reproof of their daring scheme the door opened and Ruth came in. To the surprise of everyone her arms were piled high with firecrackers. She flung them impulsively on the floor at the boys' feet, and exclaimed in defiance: "There are your hateful old firecrackers!"

At first all present were amazed, then a look of contempt overspread the boys' faces such as would have been a study for a painter. The professor spoke gravely:

"Why, Ruth, you ought not to have taken the boys' crackers. If you knew that their plan was a dangerous one, you should have told me about it."

"I wouldn't be a tale-bearer," she raised her head proudly. "I did it because they wouldn't let me be in it."

The professor hardly knew what to say, for the scheme of the boys had been a dangerous one, and it was well that it had been interrupted; yet Ruth had done a wrong thing to take the crackers as she had. He explained to the boys what a serious thing they had planned, what harm it might have done, and added:

"Here are your crackers. Go, fire them in the time-honored way, and don't let me hear of any more such enterprises as this." Then he smiled.

"And, boys, you must learn sooner or later that you cannot outwit a woman, be she little or big."

The boys, crestfallen at so commonplace a conclusion to their daring plot, fled out, the crackers in their arms. The professor was left alone with Ruth to point out to her the error of her ways.

Now, let me conclude with a little secret which must be kept just between ourselves. Come, let me whisper in your ear. Since then, Professor Gray himself has been a little more careful about the kind of historical incidents which he relates just before the Fourth of July.—Christian Work.

A Sophistry.

"Why do you shoot a lot of fireworks to show your patriotism, instead of learning the Declaration of Independence by heart?"

"For the reason," answered the man who is never at a loss for an answer, "that actions always speak louder than words."—Washington Star.

The screaming of the lusty old American Eagle will be heard in the land next Monday, when "Eighty millions will bless the sire and the sword of Bunker Hill."

May that blade never be drawn for Conquest; may it never remain unsheathed when American Liberty needs defence!

In loving others don't forget yourself too often.

We judge by the thermometer that the Summer Girl has arrived.

Our Only Dominant is the most exasperating cuss that we have to deal with.

Speak kindly of your mother-in-law—if you have one; if not, get one.

A Trust is contrived to stand between the grower and the consumer and plunder both.

What! A man arrested in Philadelphia for fast driving? Will wonders never cease?

We are not sure whether in offering a cold million to the Republican Campaign fund Mr. Carnegie has in mind past or future favors.

Look at the map of Union County and observe that Westfield is the Hub
for Plainfield, Elizabeth, Rahway and Springfield—and fine roads in all directions!

How would it do for the Administration to suggest to the Trusts to reduce the cost of living for a while —if only for campaign effect? (The people would doubtless be delighted,
if only for that much concession.)

From our years of Sulphur and Molasses to the present time we have often reflected upon the observation of the Old Squire to the effect that climbing up the Bunker Hill Monument wouldn't make a patriot of a natural born car.

Should the new "National Liberty Party" (colored) put Booker Washington up for the Presidency would it be safe to offer dollars to doughnuts that Mr. Roosevelt would feel that a grandstand play of his had become a frost? Yet that very thing is being talked about.

If you are a good citizen you will cut the weeds and grass out of the street in front of your property and not wait to be notified by the Town Council to do it. There is an ordinance on this subject, and covering the point thoroughly, but Westfield-ers are a proud lot and, of course, will keep the gutters and streets free
from weeds and grass.

While the Democratic "leaders" are showing a sorry lot of personal galls and sore spots to the voters of the country the latter may be wondering where they come in for a few real statemen instead of the politicians whose personal cross—purposes are giving anything but a dignified spectacle to the world in the way of American public life.

One of the pitiable sights in the downtown section of the big city is that of a line of poor peddlers, who try to make an honest living, each under arrest and in charge of a burly officer, enroute to the station house to be tried or imprisoned for impeding public travel.

It would conduce to the welfare of the public if the police force should rather turn their attention to some of the big merchants who habitually obstruct the sidewalks.

"School is out." The school room that the average boy and girl loves best is out in the fields, and under the forest trees, and anon, hunting for the four leaf clover hidden by the subbeams; or pushing aside the long vines that cling to the old bars with moss on them, or picking their way through the daisies that make the fields around look like the starry heavens, inverted. The lessons now are written on the trees, in the brooks, in the clouds. They hear no more the school bell and the voice of the teacher; it is the whispering of the leaves, now; and the noise of the babbling brook, the rippling stream,
the song of the birds, the tinkling cowbell. Their schoolmates are the birds and squirrels, the barnyard fowls and the cattle.

Lord, how we would just like to be a boy again; if it could be vacation time all the year—up on the farm!

There must be much said in the coming campaign as to the Trusts.
Mr. John Moody, in his book, "The Truth About the Trusts," with no effort to be theatrical or eloquent, goes into facts. A Trust, at present, is a combination formed "with the intent, power, or tendency to monopolize business, to restrain or interfere with competitive trade, or to fix, influence, or increase the price of commodities." According to Mr.
Moody, there are four hundred and forty trusts, with an aggregate floating capital of $20,379,162,511. Just get these figures fixed in your memory and at the same time remember that "floating" capital often means sunk capital. There are seven big industrial trusts: Sugar, steel, tobacco, smelting, coffee, oil and linseed oil. They have outstanding stocks and bonds to the tune of $2,652,752,000. All but the Sugar Trust have been born since 1898,
and all have been incorporated by New Jersey. These seven have absorbed 1,500 separate plants. Market value of their securities, $400,- 000,000 less than par value. The capitalization of the steam railroad trusts is $9,397,353,907. These have ninety-five per cent. of the railroad mileage of the United States,
eighty per cent. of its entire railroad capitalization; and they represent 2,040 railroad companies. The giant franchise trusts or consolidations of electric light, electric railway, gas,
telephone and telegraph companies,
stand for 1,386 original companies,
and are capitalized at $3,735,456,071.
Two hundred and ninety-eight
"lesser," but still good-sized, industrial trusts have gobbled up over three thousand four hundred plants,
and are capitalized at $4,055,029,433.
Thirteen industrial trusts, capitalized at more than half a billion, are in the doctor's hands, being "reorganized." Most trusts are less than six years old. Of the 318 industrial trusts, 170 are the off-spring of New Jersey.

P. S.—Don't expect to get rich by looking at these figures written in the Billions. You will have enough to do to work over-time to make them worth dividends.

STANDARD SPINNINGS.

"The utterance of Sage upon the vacation problem," said Uncle Bill Peaseley, "simply indicates his condition with the Sleft off his name."

Johnny Guff—"Walsie, it didn't cost me a cent to get into Dreamland the other night."

"How did you manage it?"
"Went to bed early."

The laudation by Perdicaris of his handicapper is very much on a parity with the statement of the missionary who found a redeeming quality in the cannibal chief because he was very fond of children.

"I knew there was something I had misaid," said the Hen. It was a soft-shell egg.

SAID BY WESTFIELD CHILDREN.
Fond mother—Don't eat so fast, you'll get indigestion.
Admonished youngster—What are my stomach teeth for, then?

"Mamma, don't you think that those white clouds are made of pretty Angels, ground up fine? I do."

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS.

RUBBER. A and B room together and each has an odd overshoe which, together,
make a perfect pair as to size, style, etc.
They agree to play three games pinocle
to determine the ownership of both.
Who wins?
You do not state the result of the games, but I should say that whoever won the rubber is entitled to the odd overshoe.

D. H. THURSTON. "Highball" is an expression used in the baseball field.

ably have them re-mailed to me. What can I do to secure their retention?"
We know of no method more effective than the neglect to enclose stamps.

GLADYS. We do not think the size of BLACK & TANS FOR TWO GAMES.

Colored Giants Play Fast Ball and "Rooster" Kelley Will Have a Bunch of New Jokes.

The ball card for the holidays is of the select variety. Tomorrow Rahway will come along with their usual army of rooters and a team as usual, loaded to do business. It is understood that "cannon-ball" Dietz, who made his mark on the home team two seasons ago, will be their slab artist. On the "Glorious," Monday, there will be all kinds of fun. The New York Colored Giants are the real thing in gun metal shade and their two games here have set the fans talking. They are on for a double header, at 10 a. m. and 3.30 p.
m. No better holiday attraction could have been secured as the antics of "Rooster" Kelley and "Pop" Devoe alone are worth the price of admission.
This darkey outfit is in Class A and there is a bunch of fun ahead in these games. Saturday, the 9th, the team will go to Trenton for its third game with the Trenton Y. M. C. A. and for the try at the third straight. Arrangements are being made for special railroad rates which will be announced in the next issue.

OBITUARY.

Charles F. Oxley.

Charles F. Oxley died at 5.30 o'clock this morning, aged 68 years. Mr. Oxley has been a resident of Westfield for many years and was at one time engaged in the gas and electric light fixture business,
being a member of the firm of Oxley,
Enos & Co., of Fifth avenue, New York.
A few years ago he had a factory at Cranford, which was destroyed by fire.
Mr. Oxley has been ill about two years and confined to his home and bed for the past year. He is survived by one son, Charles E. Oxley, and a daughter, Mrs.
A. N. Rao, of Westfield avenue, with whom he made his home. Funeral services will be held on Sunday afternoon at 2.30 o'clock, at the Westfield Baptist church, and will be conducted by his pastor, Rev. C. J. Greenwood. Interment at Fairview.

GOLF CLUB ENTERTAINS.

The new addition to the club house of the Westfield Golf Club was thrown open to the members on Saturday evening last, when the club gave an informal dance, the music being furnished by Prof. Harry Westervelt, of Newark.
The addition is a decided farther attraction for the members of this popular organization, as the club is now enabled to give more attention to the social feature of club life, and that the members appreciate it was demonstrated on Saturday night to an extent that the golf club will undoubtedly be the centre of social life in this vicinity. The main room is finished in green and yellow, a shelf encircling, which, with the large,
open fire-place, wide seats and well hung pictures, make a most attractive appearance. The interior planning and decorating was under the direction of Harrison W. Gladwin, Chairman of the House Committee, who also, with the other members of that committee, J. Boyd Wilson and Hugh Talbot, arranged for the dance. Guests were present from New York, Brooklyn, Washington, Plainfield, Fanwood, Cranford and Roselle.

AMERICAN SINGER.

A pretty home wedding took place on Thursday evening at the home of Mrs.
Leager, 230 South avenue, when her daughter, Harriet E. Seager was married to Frank W. Ames, of Jersey City. The ceremony took place at 8.30 o'clock under a bower of roses and wild flowers in the front parlor. Rev. Dr. Wright, of the M. E. Church presided.

Miss Julia O'Brien was maid of honor and Mr. Fred Roeder, Jr., of Jersey
City, was best man.

Miss Edith Ekholm played the wedding march and Miss Nellie Chapple, of Kingston, N. Y., furnished selections on the piano.

Among those present were, Mr. Ames,
Mrs. Seager, Miss Alice Seager, Mr. and Mrs. John Davis, Mr. and Mrs. Charles
Ames, Mr. and Mrs. P. G. DuBois, Mrs.
J. Curbarry, Miss G. O'Brien, Mrs. P.
S. Tooker, Mr. and Mrs. F. Ervin, Mr.
and Mrs. M. T. Townley, Mr. and Mrs.
E. C. Winter, Mr. and Mrs. F. Roeder,
Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Mitchell, Miss Edith Ervin and W. Ervin.

Many pretty and costly presents were given to the young couple, who left on the 11.39 train to enjoy their honeymoon at Albany and Hoesick Falls. They will be at home in ten days.

Colored Baptists Clear Debt.

The services at the New York Avenue
Baptist church on Sunday last were of a very interesting character, and well attended. Two excellent sermons were preached by the Rev. Mrs. Florence Randolph of Jersey City. About $5.00 was raised, which will entirely free the church from debt.

Jury Fails to Convict Westfielders.

On Monday the grand jury failed to convict Tim McCarty, Jack McGilvray and F. D. Carrigg for connection in the Westfield depot robbery of several weeks ago. The prosecution had positively no evidence against the three men and there was nothing to do but to set them free.

GARWOOD.

The closing exercises of the Garwood school attracted a larger audience than the present school quarters could accommodate.

Those fortunate enough to gain admittance found the interior of the school house handsomely decorated with wild flowers and ferns. The exercises proved to be of a highly interesting order and were certainly very creditable to the scholars.

The program included songs by the school. Parts were contributed by B.
Koerner and H. Berkley, A. Henderson, Mary Miller, Annie Koerner, A. Lambert, H. Kurtzman, John Miller, A.
Wheeler, E. Eisenman, S. Sargent, Anna
Wiegand, Gussie Kearns, E. Probasco, Lulu Reeder and Louis Kelley. An interesting feature was a flag drill by Walter Stiles and Arthur Burnett.

Miss Alberta M. Smith and Miss Lillian R. Hannan, the teachers, received hearty and deserved congratulations for their work in training the children.

The Board of Education expressed themselves as very sorry that they could not seat all who wished to attend and promised that no time would be lost in completing the more commodious new school building on the North Side.

The successful Ladies' Aid Society festival, held recently, is still being pleasantly referred to as a success well worth repeating later in the Summer.
The young people were particularly well pleased that dancing was allowed.
The solos of Miss Sadie Rockliff are also pleasantly remembered.

Frank W. Morse, who returned a little while ago from Atlantic City, informs us that the question, "What are the Wild Waves Saying?" remains unanswered; although the waves were still talking when he left.

Mrs. Jane Crossingham and Mr. and Mrs. Bower, having returned to Elizabeth after a visit with their cousin, Mrs.
Phoebe C. Reeder, of Centre street, are still sounding Garwood's praises.

Miss Phoebe K. Dunham, Mrs. Reeder's
aunt, is likely to remain in Garwood
this Summer.

The social party of Union County will hold a family picnic at Paul Britz's hotel July 4th, when there will be shooting matches, running, jumping and foot races with appropriate prizes to the winners.

Every property owner is digging cesspools to comply with the order of the State Board of Sewerage.

It would be a blessing if the Street
Commissioners or the Board of Health of the Borough of Garwood would look after the condition of the streets and the drainage on the North Side.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Beckley and child leave town today for Lake George and the Adirondacks for the Summer. Mr.
A. D. Washburn's son, Edward, will accompany Mr. Beckley's family.

A moonlight reception and dinner was given by the ladies of the Park House
on North avenue, Wednesday evening.
Dancing on the lawn, in the soft moon light, was one of the pleasing events of the evening.

With songs and games, a midnight table d'hôte was served. There were guests from Cranford, Westfield, Elizabeth and New York.

Mrs. William Druehl is soon to start for New Haven to visit her son.

The children are preparing for the Fourth of July.

Mr. Dick Whatt has moved from the Lent building and is now housed on Willow avenue.

Miss Kittie Kime is enjoying her vacation in New York State.

Mrs. Wallace Kaylor met with a painful accident a few days ago, by spilling
a bowl of hot gravy over her right hand, burning it very badly, but she is now improving and will soon be able to use her hand again.

St. Paul's Lawn Party.

The Altar Guild, assisted by the St.
Margaret's Guild and some of the young ladies of St. Paul's church gave a very successful lawn party on the grounds of Gale's club house last Saturday afternoon and evening.

The grounds and club house were decorated with flags and tauting and in the evening Chinese lanterns gave light, ably assisted by the moon. Ice cream and cake were served, and there were besides a candy booth, one for the sale of lemonade, and a grabbag in the shape of a huge Jack Horner pie where the children found many plums.

During the evening William Gomes, violinist, accompanied by a pianist from Rahway, furnished music for those who desired to dance.

The success of the lawn party was increased by the efficient aid of a number of the men of the parish.

A good sum was realized which will probably be added to the Parish House fund.

Locust Grove Children's Day.

The Locust Grove Methodist Chapel
was filled to the doors on Sunday evening, on the occasion of the Children's Day services. Superintendent Huffman presided, and the recitations and singing were excellent. Addresses were made by Dr. W. H. Morse and B. W. Hand, the last-named having charge of the music, with Martin Snyder as cornetist
and Miss Huffman as organist.

Queen Quality

Imitators.

When every store is selling a so-called "Shoe for Women," it does not mean that they have a demand for such a shoe from their customer. It means simply that they realize the enormous success of the "Queen Quality" shoe.

and want to imitate that shoe and secure some of this trade.

But they cannot imitate it! If they could, do you want an imitation when you can have the original "Queen Quality" at no greater expense? It is a fact that shoe styles originate on "Queen Quality."

AN OLD-FASHIONED FOURTH OF JULY.

These new-fangled notions are giving the boys a queer kind of Fourth—one without any noise.

With speeches and picnics no patience have I. And I pine for the old-fashioned Fourth of July.

Then we rose with the dawn and the cannon came first—We packed it with powder till ready to burst—And nigh how the glass in the windows did When it started the echoes of Fourth of July.

We hitched up old Dobin, and all tumbled in The roomy old wagon—the fat and the thin—Even grandma was there, and as chipper and spry As any young maiden the Fourth of July.

We went to the barbecue—who cared for showers; When the feast was a flutter with banners and flowers; And if down came the rain in the midst of it, why It was part of an old-fashioned Fourth of July.

The rockets and pinwheels and firecrackers, too! At evening all joined in their hullabaloo, And Washington rode on his horse in the sky—A figure in flame on the Fourth of July.

The band marching out in their uniforms struck up by the light of the bonfire to sing—The Star-Spangled Banner and Sweet By and By—And so ended a glorious Fourth of July.

—Minnie Irving, in Woman's Home Companion.

—Rev. P. E. Reilly, of Holy Trinity church, is enjoying a vacation this week.

—Mrs. Henry Alpers, of Clark street, is at Elmira, New York.

—Little Miss Rose Davies has been visiting relatives in Bayonne this week.

—William H. Gomes and family, of Carleton Place, will summer at Sea Cliff.

—Lawrence Conneran, of Lakehurst, spent Sunday with his daughter, Mrs. C. C. Malsbury.

—H. L. Abrams and family have been spending the week at Bridgeport, Conn.

—Mrs. Fred N. Foster and son of White Plains, N. Y., are visiting at the home of H. R. Cline on Orchard street.

—Miss Maybelle Welch of Westfield avenue, is visiting friends in Brooklyn this week.

—As usual, Westfield will entertain many visitors in local homes over the Fourth.

—There are promised several fairly large private displays of fireworks in Westfield on the evening of the Fourth.

—G. B. Webb, of Dudley avenue, is watching Beavers by a dam site up in the Maine woods—at Round Mountain Lake Camp.

Fourth of July at Vailsburg.

A gala holiday card has been arranged for the Fourth of July meet at the Vailsburg Board Track, Newark. A Grand Circuit meet is scheduled and one of the star events on the card is the Half-mile Championship of the United States, a race in which Champion Kramer will meet two foreign stars, Fred Schels, the Australian and Rossini, one of Italy's fastest sprinters. Such crackerjack Americans as Floyd MacFarland, of San Jose, Cal.; W. S. Fenn, of Waterbury; the Bedell Brothers, of Long Island; E. F. Root and Tom Butler, of Boston; George Schreiber, of New York; J. P. Jacobson, of New Haven; Charles Hadfield and George Glascock, of Newark; Frank Caldwell, of Hartford; Floyd Krebs, the Flying Dutchman and Oliver Dorton, will also compete.

Mauch Chunk for July 4th.

There is no grander scenery anywhere than you will find on the journey to Mauch Chunk via the New Jersey Central.

Jersey is attractive especially in the northern section and the rolling country offers a variety of attractions the like of which no other section can boast. Pennsylvania and its mountains are too widely known to need elaboration, but Mauch Chunk and vicinity is a garden spot, if ever there was one. The Switchback Railroad is novel fun as much as no motive power is needed for operation. The inclines are gradual and in the fourteen-mile journey there are many interesting experiences and fascinating scenes are unfolded with a startling rapidity.

For a day's outing there is no place more thoroughly enjoyable than Mauch Chunk, and when the small cost of a day's trip is considered there is little left to be said. The New Jersey Central will run one of its popular one-day excursions to Mauch Chunk on the Fourth of July by special train which will leave Westfield at 9.12 a. m., arriving at Mauch Chunk before noon. The returning train does not leave the mountain resort until 5.30 p. m., hence there is ample time for journeying over the Switchback, visiting Flag Staff and Glen Onoka.

Notice.

The following resolutions were unanimously adopted: That it is to the interest of the Town of Westfield that sidewalks of Boardwalk, three feet wide, be built and constructed on and along the streets and sections of streets in said town hereinafter named, to wit: on and along the easterly side of Downer Street in front of the property of Max Snyder, fifty feet from the westerly line of Charles Cox, and on and along the easterly side of Downer Street in front of the property of John Gibney one hundred feet from the westerly line of John Cox, etc.

Resolved: That it is to the best interest of the Town of Westfield that a lateral sewer eight inches in diameter be built and constructed on and along New York Avenue from point where New York Avenue intersects First Street to a point where New York Avenue intersects Park Street, and that the house service connections be constructed up to the curb line and at the same time as part of the said lateral sewer, as per ordinance, and that the proper assessment be made against the abutting property for this sewer, etc. etc.

Resolved: That it is to the best interest of the Town of Westfield that a lateral sewer eight inches in diameter be built and constructed on and along New York Avenue from point where Dudley Avenue intersects Lawrence Avenue to a point where Dudley Avenue intersects Highland Avenue, and that the house service connections be constructed up to the curb line and at the same time as part of the said lateral sewer, as per ordinance, and that the proper assessment be made against the abutting property for this sewer, etc. etc.

Resolved: That it is to the best interest of the Town of Westfield that a lateral sewer eight inches in diameter be built and constructed on and along New York Avenue from point where Dudley Avenue intersects Lawrence Avenue to a point where Dudley Avenue intersects Highland Avenue, and that the house service connections be constructed up to the curb line and at the same time as part of the said lateral sewer, as per ordinance, and that the proper assessment be made against the abutting property for this sewer, etc. etc.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN THAT the above are extracts from resolutions adopted by the Board of the Town of Westfield, in the County of Union, at a meeting held June 20th, 1904, and that the Council will meet to consider the proposed improvements above mentioned at the Town Clerk's office, at or before the time of said meeting.

KEITH'S THEATRE.

If there is one place on earth that one can forget about the heat and at the same time be entertained that place is Keith's. Always noted for the comforts afforded its patrons, the same is never more true than during this summer. Cooled by the most expensive plant of its kind in New York, the Union Square Theatre affords a haven of rest where the temperature is always kept at the comfortable point, and thus amid alluring surroundings one is always sure to find the very best vaudeville show that it is possible to place on the stage.

PROCTOR'S.

With the temperature 15 degrees below that of the outside atmosphere, Proctor's One Hundred and Twenty-Fifth Street theatre is a popular place of resort these days. Next week will be offered one of the best attractions in the melo-dramatic line seen here this season: the first production in Harlem of E. E. Rose's melo-dramatic story of Southern American life "Fighting Bob" in which S. Miller Kent scored a distinct success at the Fifth Avenue theatre three weeks ago.

Rosa Coglian, assisted by Lynn Pratt, in "The Ace of Trumps," a stirring melo-dramatic sketch, is the leading attraction at Proctor's Newark theatre next week, heading a programme of universal excellence. The Stein-Eretto family form the second feature with their remarkable feats of hand to hand balancing, including the Living Bridge, one of the most sensational acrobatic tricks presented in several seasons.

Most appropriate to the season is the leading attraction at Proctor's Twenty-third Street theatre commencing July 4th, when Kronau's military scene spectacle "Our Boys in Blue" incorporates the Zouave drill, and in addition to this feature which has hitherto been considered sufficient the drill is made part of a pantomime in which numerous electrical and mechanical effects are introduced, including a six-foot battle ship fully equipped and capable of discharging its big guns and batteries by electrical devices in addition to showing signal lights and similar effects.

"My Friend from India," one of the smartest modern farces, will be the dramatic offering at the Fifth Avenue theatre next week. It will be interpreted by an excellent cast selected from among the members of the permanent stock company, and will include the re-appearance of Mr. Malcolm Williams, (who has been on a vacation for the past few weeks), Clarence Haulsides, William Hawley, Loretta Healy, Lotta Linthicum, and Margaret Kirker.

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN.

Popular music will be the order hereafter on Tuesday evenings at Beautiful Venice, Madison Square Garden, where Duss and his orchestra are giving most delightful concerts nightly. Side by side with popular night comes Wagner night. Each Thursday will be devoted to Wagner. This Wagner night has been arranged in response to many hundreds of letters sent to the management.

The Animal King at Coney Island.

Frank C. Bostock, the Animal King, arrived at Coney Island Saturday, direct from his Paris hippodrome. With Mr. Bostock came Prof. Miller with his group of seventeen wild Bengal tigers; Joe, the famous monkey who is jealous of man's attention to woman and one of the Paris sensations last winter; Mde. Morelli, Herman Weedon and a dozen European acts never before seen in this country.

Bostock's success in Paris was phenomenal. According to the French law all shows must print weekly their gross receipts. During the six months Bostock was at the hippodrome his gross receipts were 1,200,000 francs as against 1,000,000 francs of the Barnum & Bailey Circus.

The entire show is now being exhibited at Bostock's, Coney Island.

A Sunday Outing.

To get away from the hot and uncomfortable city for a Sunday is the aim of every city man, and when the surroundings are like those of Lake Hopatcong and the rate but One Dollar for the trip, but little else is to be desired.

Lake Hopatcong is one of the beauty spots of New Jersey. The lake is nine miles long, but the trip by steamer in and about the coves and islands makes the journey about 31 miles in length. At the excursion grounds there is every feature for enjoyment, including boating, fishing, bathing and out-door sports of all kinds.

On Sunday, July 3, 1904, the Jersey Central will run one of its popular excursions to Lake Hopatcong, the rate to be One Dollar for the round trip, and by special train, which will leave Westfield at 9.12 a. m. The returning train will not leave the Lake until 5.15 p. m., arriving in New York three hours later, stopping at intermediate points. This trip is one of the best out of New York, the rate the cheapest, and for a good time take it in.

The Fischer Pianos

The New Small Grand

is the latest art product of our manufacture. Competent judges pronounce it The Most Remarkable Grand Piano of its Size Ever Made. It occupies but a trifle more space than the upright and supplies a need where economy of room-space must be considered, and at the same time practically possesses all the Tone-power, Sweetness, Purity and Breadth of Melodic Expression that marks the FULL GRAND.

It is unique in design and satisfies the aesthetic sense of the most exacting. It must be seen and heard to be appreciated.

The Week's End at the Shore.

Everyone is planning for a trip for the Fourth, and many interesting places are to be chosen, but what section is there more attractive than the Jersey shore? First of all, to reach any section of the northern coast is a picturesque trip to Sandy Hook via the famous Sandy Hook boats, in which there are none more fleet or staunch. This part of the trip occupies a little over an hour, following which is a railroad journey of short duration to either Atlantic Highlands, Stone Orchard, Seabright, Normandy, Long Branch, Elberon, Allenhurst, Deal, Asbury Park, Ocean Grove, Belmar, Spring Lake and Point Pleasant. At each place there are untold features of excellence, including boating, fishing, bathing, driving, golf and similar sports, while at the New Asbury Park there are casinos, arcades, board walks and numerous attractions, including the best musical and variety entertainments, provided by the municipal government. You are surely going somewhere over the Fourth, and if you want good hotel accommodations and a genuine holiday you should visit the North Jersey coast resorts. The New Jersey Central reaches every resort of prominence in Jersey, and the new book, entitled "Sea Shore and Mountains," issued by the General Passenger Department, at 143 Liberty street, New York, is replete with valuable data and interesting pictures. It is sent to any address upon receipt of six cents in stamps. A hotel book is sent free upon application.

The St. Louis Fair.

Those who have visited the great Exposition at St. Louis, are loud in their praise of its vastness and beauty. Each department is complete, and no matter what branch you may visit one finds there everything to the minutest detail. The grounds are magnificent in their floral decorations and the "Pike" is by far the most elaborate entertainment of its kind ever exhibited. The New Jersey Central will run low rate coach excursions to St. Louis on July 7, 14, 21 and 28, and very liberal stop-over privileges are allowed at the interesting points enroute. Write to W. C. Walsh, Jr., District Passenger agent of the New Jersey Central at Newark, for circular of rates and other information.

POLLY'S FOURTH OF JULY.

Even a Parrot Can Cry, "Hurrah for George Washington" at the Proper Time.

Polly was a middle-aged parrot, whose early days had been spent in the green forests of Yucatan in Central America. I had long tried to teach Polly to speak, and had taught her to say a few short sentences. About eight weeks before the Fourth of July I tried to teach Polly to say "Hurrah for George Washington." But she would not repeat it after me. Then I thought it might be too long to say it all at once—that she probably could not remember it all, so I tried to teach her to say it word for word. But no; she wouldn't say a word of it. Yet she listened attentively when I repeated it. Then I got disgusted and gave it up till a week or so before the Fourth, then I tried to make her say it, but she would not listen to me now. So, when the morning of the Fourth came, I went out to Polly. She said, "Hello." I answered, "Hello, Polly; can't you say 'Hurrah for George Washington' for me?" Then she became furious and flew to the other side of her cage and would not look at me, so I finished feeding her. I went into my room and got my firecrackers, went outside, and was shooting my fireworks away when mother called to come in for luncheon. After luncheon I had to stay in the yard, so I went and got Polly and hung her up on the veranda, put up the hammock and was reading St. Nicholas, when along the street comes the street band playing "Star-Spangled Banner." Then all of a sudden Polly became restless and cries as loud as she can, "Hurrah for George Washington!" This is the story of Polly's Fourth—St. Nicholas.

Effigies in Westminster.
It was formerly the custom at the funeral of a great man to dress up an effigy representing him while in life, and then to carry it before his hearse to the grave, says the Century. After the burial it was set up in the church, sometimes under a temporary monument, to which a laudatory poem or an epitaph was affixed. The royal effigies in the abbey can be traced back to the fourteenth century, but the oldest original one is that of Charles II.

The Abalone Fad.
In California there is a fad for eating abalone, a large mussel, which furnishes the beautiful shells used for ornamental purposes. The Chinese have eaten them for years, but until recently Americans scorned them as food. Now abalone chowder, soup, and even abalone steaks are considered great delicacies in San Francisco. Doubtless the new fish will find its way to eastern markets before long.

Wheat in Canada.
The possibilities of wheat raising are much greater in the Canadian provinces and territories than in the United States. The area suitable for wheat culture is much larger and the yield to the acre is 25 bushels, while in the United States it is only 14½ bushels. In Athabasca and Mackenzie spring wheat matures in 101 to 108 days, owing to the length of the summer day in that latitude.

Justice for the Negro.
All the negro asks is that the door which rewards industry, thrift, intelligence and character be left as wide open to him as for the foreigner who constantly comes to this country. More than this, he has no right to request. Less than this, a republic has no right to vouchsafe.—Booker T. Washington.

Farming in Japan.
The ingenuity of farming in Japan may be inferred from the fact that the 45,000,000 inhabitants live almost entirely on the productions of a cultivated area about one-third the size of Illinois.

Bohemian Lacemakers.
In the small forest villages of Bohemia there are some 1,500 poor lacemakers, who work chiefly in the winter, father, mother and children being thus all so employed.

Camp Wolfe Opened.
Camp Wolfe opened today for the summer. About one hundred and thirty mothers and children arrived from New York. The opening religious service will be held on Sunday afternoon next, at 4 o'clock, and will be devoted to special prayer for the season's work. Miss Shaw will be in charge of the camp this year, and Mrs. Gertrude Diehl, the former matron, will be Field Secretary. The other services of the week will be Wednesday evening in charge of the Epworth League of the First M. E. church of Cranford, and Friday evening conducted by the Christian Endeavor of the First Baptist church of Roselle. The public is invited to all of these services.

Madison Defeats Summit 1-0.
Over in Madison the Summit team played a rattling strong game and were defeated by one run, the final score being 1-0, with Madison the possessor of the 1. It was a pitcher's battle from start to finish.

The Eye of Genius.
All men of genius are said to have eyes clear, slow moving and bright. This is the eye which indicates mental ability of some kind, it does not matter what.—Phrenological Journal.

Mitchell-Matthews.
The wedding of Miss Lena Matthews to David Mitchell (both colored), took place on Wednesday evening, at 8 p. m., at the residence of Mrs. C. Gaffney, a sister of the bride, 180 Broad street. The bridesmaids were Miss C. Matthews and Miss S. Adams. The groomsmen were L. Jackson and J. Bryant. Rev. P. W. Ross performed the ceremony. A reception followed and at 11:30 the newly wedded pair left for a short trip. They received many handsome presents. They will reside in New York.
