The Lauter Piano

If you wish an instrument that is as fine as it is possible to produce, we know you will purchase a Lauter Piano after investigation. We do not exaggerate at all when we say there is no piano now manufactured that is so uniformly excellent in every particular as the Lauter. This piano is not merely good in some one or two particulars, but it is superlatively fine in every respect.

The Lauter tone is of wonderful beauty. It is rich and full, and of liquid purity; it is also wonderfully powerful, as is attested by every musician who has examined it.

The scale of the Lauter Piano is as nearly perfect as we can make it. Each note is exquisitely balanced, and there is absolutely no "break" in the scale.

The Lauter Player Piano becomes more popular week by week. This is a magnificent instrument that is virtually two pianos in one. It can be played by hand in the ordinary way, and can also be played by any non-player with the aid of a player mechanism contained within the case itself.

The home that needs piano music, and where there is no performer, surely needs a Lauter Player Piano.

The Art Finish, which has become so popular, is furnished in any of our case styles. This is subdued and beautiful—and indestructible.

We are always glad to take an old instrument in part payment of a Lauter Piano. If you will tell us where to come, our representative will call at your house and make a valuation free of charge.

It often happens we can take an old instrument as a first payment, accepting the difference in small sums monthly.

We will mail you our Booklet about Pianos if you will drop us a postal card asking for it

SHORT COUNCIL SESSION.

BEIGIAN BLOCK CUTTER IMPROVEMENT ABANDONED BY RESOLUTION.

Downer Street Property Owners Protest Against New Sidewalk Improvement of Library Treasurer Filed. Harrison Avenue Grading Postponed. Deed of Park Property Accepted.

A stated session of the Town Council was held on Monday evening, and as it was the night before election the business of the meeting was disposed of promptly and an adjournment taken until next Tuesday evening. The proposed Belgian Block gutter improvement on Downer street came up for hearing. Dr. C. M. E. Eggen and George E. Condit withdrew their names from the original petition, and there were so many protests presented from other property owners that Councilman Alpers introduced a resolution abandoning the improvement entirely. The Council passed the resolution, and then took up the proposed new sidewalk improvement on Downer street. Chas. C. Dills submitted a protest from various property owners aggregating 2035 feet, and as that figure represents more than two thirds of the ownership the protestants asked that the petition for the walk be denied under the law. Councilman Ledley moved to refer the protest to the Sidewalk Committee, remarking that the legality of the signatures would be investigated. The matter was so referred after a little colloquy between Mr. Dills and Mr. Ledley.

The Council fixed the amount of the bond of the Treasurer of the Free Public Library at $2000. A request for permission to Louis Dughi to substitute the flag walk around his new property at Broad and Prospect streets with a cement walk was referred to the Sidewalk Committee. The engineer was instructed to give to C. M. Tromsine a sidewalk grade for his Westfield Avenue property, and the Superintendent of Sewers was directed to furnish to the engineer certain information wanted as to location of branches in various of the newly built sewers in town.

The deed from Emma L. Bridges and others for the Mountain Avenue Triangle Park property to the Town was received and accepted, and the Attorney directed to record it if approved by him. The Park Commissioners have not yet been appointed.

William H. Weldon submitted the only bid for grading the upper end of Harrison Avenue, and the Council decided to reject the bid and postpone the improvement until next Spring. The treasurer was authorized to issue an Improvement Certificate for $2134.05. Reports of various town officers were received and a large number of bills ordered paid.

John F. Dorvall wrote the Council complaining of the hillocks placed in the road known as Hillside Avenue from Lawrence Avenue to the Children's Country Home, and the Clerk was directed to notify Mr. Peckham to remove them.

The opinion of the town attorney upon the legality of certain bills presented by John M. Ledley and E. W. Chamberlain for sewer inspection work was read, and the matter was laid over until the adjourned meeting. The session was adjourned shortly after half past nine.

The December Designer.

The joyous spirit of Christmas strikes the key-note for stories, verse and several of the miscellaneous articles in The Designer for December, among the latter being "Dentist Spielwaren for Christmas," by Julia Darrov Cowles, who describes the interesting toys made for American youngsters by the little people of Germany; and "Holiday Sweetness," by Frances Peck, instructing how to make the most delightful dainties. "The Rise and Fall of the Christmas Tree" tells in pictures what the well-known fairy tale does in prose.

THANKSGIVING DAY.

President Roosevelt Names November 30—His Proclamation.

By the President of the United States of America—A Proclamation.

When, nearly three centuries ago, the first settlers came to the country which has now become this great Republic, they found not only hardship and privation, but terrible risk to their lives. In those grim years the custom grew of setting apart one day in each year for a special service of thanksgiving to the Almighty for preserving the people through the changing seasons. The custom has now become national and followed by innumerable usages. We live in easier and more plentiful times than our forefathers, the men who, with rugged strength, faced the rugged days, and yet the dangers to national life are quite as great now as at any previous time in our history. It is eminently fitting that once a year our people should set apart a day for praise and thanksgiving to the Giver of Good, and, at the same time, that they express their thankfulness for the abundant mercies received, should manfully acknowledge their shortcomings and pledge themselves solemnly and in good faith to strive to overcome them. During the last year we have been blessed with bountiful crops. Our business prosperity has been great. No other people has ever stood on as high a level of material well-being as ours now stands. We are not threatened by foes from without. The foes from whom we should pray to be delivered are our own passions, appetites and follies; and against these there is always need that we should war.

Therefore, I now set apart Thursday, the 30th day of this November, as a day of thanksgiving for the past and of prayer for the future, and on that day I ask that throughout the land the people gather in their homes and places of worship, and, in rendering thanks unto the Most High for the manifold blessings of the past year, consecrate themselves to a life of cleanliness, honor and wisdom, so that this nation may do its allotted work on the earth in a manner worthy of those who founded it and of those who preserved it.

In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

Done at the city of Washington, this second day of November, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and five, and of the independence of the United States the one hundred and thirtieth. THEODORE ROOSEVELT.

PRICKLY HEAT, HIVES, BOILS.

Many persons are much annoyed by eruptions of the skin, often attended by the most painful itching and burning, and sometimes becoming unsightly and obstinate sores. Curbulent people are especially subject to them.

Maddening Infections.

An efficient medicine which will purify the blood, cure a cure and prevent a recurrence of these eruptions. Such a medicine, and the only perfect one within reach of medical science, is Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy. Scrofula, Cancer and all other skin diseases arise from an impure state of the blood.

Dr. D. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy taken when these symptoms first appear, will prevent serious consequences. It strikes at the cause of these complicated troubles by gently opening the bowels, inducing the appetite, stimulating the kidneys and liver to do their important part in the work, and ending in setting up a healthy action of the system. In fact, it may, with perfect confidence, be

"MALAKA"

For refinishing furniture, hardwood floors, school desks or any varnished surface, Malaka has no equal.

It requires no brush or experience in its application. It is applied to the surface with a soft cloth, a thin coating is left which dries perfectly hard in four or five hours, leaving a beautiful finish which will not crack or show scratches.

Surfaces treated in this manner, when signs of wear are observed, will be kept in perfect condition indefinitely. All germs on the desks or woodwork of schools, colleges, hospitals, cars and public buildings, can be destroyed by wiping them over with a soft cloth saturated with Malaka, which accomplishes a two-fold work, the destruction of germs and a renewal of the finish.

Ezra's Journey to Jerusalem

Sunday School Lesson for Nov. 12, 1905. Specially Prepared for This Paper.

LESSON TEXT.—Ezra 8:21-32. Memory verses, 21-23.

COLLEGE TEXT.—"The hand of our God is upon all them that seek Him."—Ezra 8:22.

TIME.—Ezra left Babylon with return of exile, March, 458 B. C.; arrived at Jerusalem four months later. This was 7 years after the first return, 36 years after the completion of the temple, and 15 years after Esther's heroic action.

PLACE.—The returning caravan assembled at the River Ahava, probably one of the canals of the Euphrates, near Babylon.

Comment and Suggestive Thought.

V. 21. "I," Ezra. "Proclaimed a fast." Fasting, as a religious service accompanying prayer, was much practiced by the Jews, and by Christians on earlier times. "Afflict ourselves before God." Better, "humble ourselves." With loving consecration, they humbly besought God to guide them through the trackless desert, protect them and their treasure. "A right way," Ezra relied upon God to guide them in the most direct road, and where they would be least exposed to attacks from robbers. "Substance." Goods of every sort.

V. 22. "Ashamed to require." A band of soldiers. Ezra had publicly spoken of his confidence in God and to ask for an armed guard, such as commonly accompanied caravans might cause these heathen friends to doubt God's ability to help his people or to question whether Ezra spoke truly when he told of reliance upon his God. "The enemy." Hordes of Bedouins infested the desert, and often robbed caravans. "The hand of our God," etc. Ezra always recognized that God's hand guides the affairs of men, working thereby all good for those who love Him and yield themselves to his guidance (Ezra 7:6, 9; 8:22, 31). "Against" forsake Him. The very wheel which bears onward that which commits itself to go with it, crushes what ever opposes or stands in its way; so one who goes with God comes into all good; one who goes against Him, into disaster and destruction.

V. 23. "He was intreated." Through their praying and fasting, God had brought them into such position that He could do His best for them.

V. 24. "Separated." Or, "Set apart." These men were chosen by name and consecrated to this particular service. It would not be amiss to-day to consecrate by special prayer all who have charge of church money. "Twelve" priests . . . brethren. This probably means that 12 priests and 11 Levites were appointed (See v. 30).

V. 25. "Weighed unto." Coinage money was used in that day, but the precious metal entrusted to Ezra was chiefly in bars or ingots. One cannot be too careful in caring for public funds. "The offering." Jews were highly esteemed by King Artaxerxes; he counted greatly upon their prayers offered on his behalf according to the injunctions of their prophet (Jer. 29:7) and he furthered their expedition by gifts for enriching the temple at Jerusalem (Ezra 7:15, 17). Ezra recognized the hand of God working also upon the king's heart (7:27).

V. 26. "Six hundred and fifty talents of silver." In value about $1,250,000, or, if the lighter standard of weight was used, about one-half that amount. "Gold, an hundred talents." Worth about $4,000,000 or $2,000,000.

V. 27. "Drams." Darics; Persian coins, worth each about five dollars. "Fine copper." Or "bright brass." Being rarely produced, this was very highly valued.

V. 28. "Holy!" The gift consecrated to God was entrusted to men specially set apart to God's service.

V. 29. "Watch ye." Vigilance and wakefulness would be required; possibly also they might have to protect their treasure by great exertion or personal sacrifice. "Until ye weigh them." Until you deliver them intact to the authorities at Jerusalem.

V. 30. "Took the priests and Levites." They accepted the trust imposed upon them, realizing its importance, reckoning themselves accountable for it to God, and fully aware of the dangers they might meet (v. 33).

V. 31. "Departed." They set out about the time of the Passover, our Easter, "the twelfth of the first month," and journeying slowly on account of the old and the little ones, and halting frequently for several days or rest, they reached Jerusalem on the first day of the fifth month (Ezra 7:9), having spent three months and a half since leaving Ahava.

V. 32. "Abode three days." Rested three days before delivering their treasure and explaining their mission.

Life a Business. Life is a business we are all apt to mismanage, either living recklessly from day to day or suffering ourselves to be gulled out of our moments by the inanities of custom. We should desire a man who gave as little activity and forethought to the conduct of any other business.—R. L. Stevenson.

Practical Points. V. 21. He finds the right way who walks with Jesus.—Ps. 5:8.

V. 22. Let us regard life as not so dear as the honor of our God.—1 Cor. 9:15.

V. 23. God works only good, and that continually, for those who lovingly trust Him.—Rom. 8:28.

V. 28. Let all we are and have, by a free-will offering, become holy unto God.—Rom. 12:1.

V. 32. None who walk lovingly and trustingly with Jesus shall fail of reaching the New Jerusalem.—1 Pet. 1:4, 5.

THE WORTH OF PRAISE.

Do Not Give Approval Grudgingly—Refrain from Repeating Unkind Remarks Made About One.

Never hesitate to praise. A well-chosen word of thanks or praise lightens labor and repays efforts, declares a writer in the Philadelphia Press.

If the employer would occasionally praise the employe, instead of accepting the work done as a matter of course, a cordiality would be established between them which would bring out far better service than ever before.

Never hesitate to tell your friends that they look nice, it makes them feel so comfortable.

There is no necessity to gush or be insincere, but a kindly word spoken in time, showing appreciative observation, helps.

If you are being eternally show that you are pleased and happy at the attentions shown you. There is nothing so discouraging to a host or hostess as to receive lukewarm thanks.

Always tell your friends the nice things said about them, but never, oh never, the unkind or ill-natured things you hear.

The persons who can repeat such things, must be thick-skinned and impervious to criticism themselves, and should be put down by law.

Think of others before yourself. Find out how to please them and what they like and you will be repaid by an ocean of love and popularity.

The Young Miss. It's really a difficult matter to suggest a way of hairdressing, since everything depends upon the contour of the face, the thickness of the hair and the matter of becomingness. A girl of 14 whose face is thin should certainly arrange her hair so that it is out all fluffy about her face; drawing it away tightly will only accentuate the emaciated lines. The hair at the sides of the face may be waved slightly by putting it up on bits of cloth at night. Part the hair in the middle, roll away from the ears in a sort of side pompadour, make two braids and draw these up at the neck in two bunches, which should be tied with big, perky bows of wide black ribbon. This effect will cover and hide the thin neck.

"Here's freedom to him that will read
Here's freedom to him that will write,
There's none ever feared that the truth
should be heard,
But them whom the truth was indite."
—Robert Burns.

The elections held in different parts of the land on Tuesday tell pretty much the same story. People will permit the existence of party organizations and leaders up to a certain point only. Unprincipled bossism got a severe jolt from the voters in many and scattered sections of the country this week. It did not make much difference about the party name under which the evil was rampant. The figures of the Hearst candidacy in New York City are startling evidence of a terrible discontent with the present order of things. The size of his vote will have to be taken into serious consideration in the future calculations of the politicians of the greater city. Jerome's success seems to give general satisfaction, as, indeed, it should, although it remains true that he could have made his re-election much more certain and without the least compromise, had he avoided the unnecessary and untimely outbreaks which alienated the support of one party for a time and of another entirely. He was entitled to the support of every party that was willing to offer it unconditionally, and his duty of insuring to the people a competent and honest district attorney's office made it incumbent upon him not to spurn assistance from any quarter. However, the dramatic effect of having won under the peculiar circumstances will put him in greater prominence than ever before.

Locally the Republicans succeeded in electing three out of four councilmen. Alfred L. Russell, who defeated Frank Brunner in the third ward, will bring to his duties the value of former experience in the Council.

Walter R. Darby ran on the Republican ticket in the only really close ward in the town and ran against a resident of long standing and worthy character. Had Mr. Darby run in any other ward but the second he would have been easily elected, for there was not the slightest question of his personal qualifications and fitness. His defeat was political, not personal. Alfred Berner, the successful candidate, is well known, an extensive property holder, and a man of long business experience. He has retired from business, though only fifty-one years of age, and has expressed his intention of vindicating his election by thorough attention to his official duties without outside interference or influence. John W. Eskholme from the fourth ward is also a new hand in local official life, but his business record and known independence of character will doubtless enable him to take his part with credit to himself and satisfaction to the people. The first ward returns A. L. Alpers practically without opposition, a fact which carries its own endorsement of his previous course.

Now Summit is happy.

The election in Union County was characterized by light voting everywhere. The Republican candidate won easily in the county and the total majority of the party in both houses of the legislature is the greatest ever known.

The returns show most of the Prohibition votes to have been cast in the third ward, while the first ward has most of the Socialists.

Cred and Duty.

No man holds his life for himself alone, but holds its splendid gifts as trustee—a trustee who must come to an account some day, with the Most High.

Shall I be cast down because our efforts seem to result in so little? Shall I mope and fret because the world decides against us at the ballot-box?

Not unless history shows us that majorities are always right, and ballot boxes infallible.

The man who strives merely to run with the biggest crowd, is, at best, a sorry creature. The man who strives to be right, and to do right is, after all, the only citizen who can rest under the infinite comfort of an approving conscience.

As legatees of the patriots of the past and trustees of the present and the future, let us stand firm in the defense of the right.

Let us preach its gospel to whosoever will hear. And, as a mere matter of honesty and patriotic duty, let us speak as we believe, vote as we speak, and hold aloft, always, the higher and better ideals to which the human race must ever strive if it would move onward and upward.—Tom Watson in his Magazine.

Courtesy in Business.

A successful business man thus expresses himself regarding business courtesy, and emphasizes a truth which some people forget or ignore, to their own injury: "I make it a point to reply to every communication of a business nature addressed to me. It doesn't matter what it is about, provided only that it is couched in civil language. I do this because courtesy requires that I should; but aside from that I find also that it is good policy. Time and again in my life I have been reminded by newly secured customers that I was remembered through correspondence opened with me years before, and many orders have come through this passing and friendly acquaintance with people. On the other hand, I have known plenty of business men whose disrespectful treatment of correspondence has been bitterly remembered and paid with compound interest. Silence is the meanest and most contemptuous way of treating anybody who wishes to be heard or to hear, and resentment is its answer every time."

B. O. H. Dance.

The subscription dance given under the auspices of the B. O. H. in the Westfield Club hall on Friday evening last proved to be a pleasant event, and started the ball rolling for the social season.

The hall was prettily decorated with draperies, and the corners of the hall were converted into comfortable and artistic cosy corners. Prof. Harry Wetton of Elizabeth furnished the music for dancing and his selections were as usual excellent.

Mrs. Wm. Miller, Mrs. W. W. Doying, and Mrs. J. T. Wilcox were patronesses. The success of the event was largely due to the committee, F. Wallace Doying, Edward Hodges and C. Nelson Harrison.

Board of Health Meets.

The board of health held its regular monthly meeting last Friday night. Only one contagious disease was reported for October. No complaint of nuisances had been received. A complaint of the board's action in prohibiting the feeding of beer grains was made by Milkman Ira C. Lambert. Mr. Lambert called the milk ordinance "despicable." He claimed that the milk he is purchasing from a dairyman in Fanwood township stands as high as any. Evidently, Mr. Lambert considers it worse than beer grains. He does not know where to get a milk supply, if beer grains are excluded as food and threatens to bring suit against the board if he is damaged by the board's action. The communication was received and ordered filed.

A letter was read by Secretary Harden from the State board of health in which the secretary states that if beer grains are "in a state of putrefaction the law has been violated." The board discussed the question at some length, the prevailing sentiment seeming to be that it is practically impossible to transport the grains and keep them dry and sweet.

The question of a health inspector was discussed, the town being without a regularly appointed one, its secretary acting in the interim. There is no one fitted to pass the examination and the board is unable to assure any one of a salary sufficient to recompense him for the time and expense of fitting himself according to law. There seems to be no need of such an equipped officer as the law contemplates, in a small town like this. President Harrison suggested that the town has never suffered for the want of such an officer heretofore. In this the other members concurred. The secretary of the State board thinks the town can get a qualified man for the pay of a police officer and should have one.

The secretary was directed to have the brook cleaned from Mountain avenue to Walnut street.

The request of Mr. Delatour in behalf of St. Paul's church, for permission to fill in St. Paul's street with ashes during the winter, by the local ashmen, was granted, if done under the supervision of Mr. Delatour.

What Rate of Interest are you Paying?

Many persons consider the Building and Loan Association plan for owning your own home or improving vacant property expensive and the rate high, but a glance at the statement below will show that this is an error.

If you borrow, for eleven years, at an annual rate of 5 per cent the sum of..... $2000
The interest will amount to..... 1100
At the end of that time it will cost you to clear your property of debt..... $3100
If you borrow on ten shares of stock in The Westfield Building and Loan Association it will cost you $20.50 each month. In eleven years this will amount to..... 2706

Making a saving of..... $304
And further more it is not often that any one under ordinary conditions makes a very successful attempt to save enough money to cancel a mortgage in so short a time.

A new series of stock will be opened for subscriptions in December.

Alumni Entertainment.

The Alumni social and informal dance which was held on Monday evening at the Washington School, was an enjoyable, as well as a social event. The following programme was well rendered: Banjo Solo..... Master Frank Embleton Monologue..... A mid-night courtship Miss Mabel Dewey Vocal Solo..... Spring Song Miss Louise Monhouse Violin Solo..... Mr. David Watworth. The music for the dancing was furnished by Mrs. Irish, of Clark street.

All in the Family.

In a remote section of Meade county all of the people have moved out of a school district excepting one family. The father and two sons have elected themselves as directors and employed the mother, who holds a certificate, to teach. The only pupil is a little girl in the family. The directors have voted to hold school in the family home, and to give the teacher $40 a month in wages. The property of the district is taxed to pay the cost.—Kansas City Star.

Not on the Grindstone.

During a summer sojourn in the mountains a physician who is much interested in epilepsy in its different forms heard of a woman with that disease who had lived to the age of 75 years. Curious to know the details of so unusual a case, he interviewed the willower. Having inquired concerning different symptoms, he proceeded: "Did she grind her teeth much at night?" The old man considered for a minute and then replied: "Well, I dunno as she wore 'em at night."

Disastrous Politeness.

Politeness does not always pay. M. P. Wilson raised his hat to two women at the corner of Sutter and Kearney streets, San Francisco, and stepped back to give them plenty of room to pass, and fell over a garbage can. It cost him two lacerated wounds of the cheek, a bruised nose, a fractured skull, a back fare, two hours on the operating table at the receiving hospital, and probably several weeks in bed elsewhere.

THE MEDICAL SPHERE.

In the leprosy experiments at Manila, 26 cases have been treated by Roentgen rays, and six are reported actually cured, while the disease has been checked in several whose bodies are partially gone.

A Russian medical man has decided that electric light is least injurious to the eyes. He says that the oftener the lids are closed the greater the fatigue and consequent injury. By experiments he finds that the lids would close in candle light, 6.3 times per minute; gas, 2.8 times; sun, 2.2 times; electric light, 1.8 times.

Numerous successful trials in the hospitals have proved that Quina-Laroche is especially suitable for elderly persons and delicate children, and that it is most effective in cases of gastritis, dyspepsia, neuralgia, emaciation, depression of spirits, slow convalescence, illness after confinement, chlorosis and scrofula. It is an antipyretic in all cases of fever, pneumonia, rheumatism, influenza and other acute inflammatory conditions.

The exhilaration from ozone is misleading, it appears, and the gas is now classed with those that are poisonous and is to be used with due caution. Its depressing effects on the nervous system are especially felt by workers with electrical machines. Prof. E. Wiedemann, a German physicist, mentions having suffered somewhat severely from a nervous affection of the feet, lasting a year or two, and he always experiences discomfort after performing experiments in his lectures on Tesla discharges.

The hay-fever serum, or pollantine, of Dr. Dunbar of Hamburg, is shown to have proven very effective. Having first proven that hay-fever is due to the pollen poison from grasses, cereals and other plants, the investigator sought a preventive by repeated vaccination of animals with the pollen of pollen. The antitoxin thus produced in the blood serum neutralizes the poisonous effect of pollen in the eyes and nose. The serum is not injected under the skin, like others, but simply applied to nose and eyes.

—About sixty members and guests of the B. O. H. enjoyed the subscription dance at the Club Hall last Friday evening.

—Douglas C. Arnold of Yale and Kenneth Stern of Princeton spent Sunday at their respective homes in Westfield.

—Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Miller and daughter, of New York, spent Tuesday at the home of P. R. G. Sjostrom on Elm street.

—Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Stephenson of Brooklyn, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Parker of Clark street, on election day.

—Mrs. W. H. Morse of Westfield, and recorder of the Plainfield Sunday School Teachers' Union, has been attending the Connecticut S. S. Convention at the Theological Seminary in Hartford this week, as a delegate from the Union.

The selection of Thanksgiving gifts, or personal needs, may readily be satisfied by a glance at the attractive display of Dorrings Fine Glassware at 3 & 5 West 19th St., near Fifth Avenue, and 36 Murray St., New York.

—Mothers of little children living on the South side of town, will be glad to know of a delightful private kindergarten that is available. Mrs. Hart of 27 Park street has opened a morning class for the care and entertainment of the little ones and they make a pretty sight in the mornings as they gather eagerly at her home.

—Bishop Chas. H. Fowler, of the Methodist Episcopal church will give a lecture in the First Methodist Church, Rahway, Thursday evening, Nov. 16th, at 8 o'clock. Bishop Fowler is without question the greatest orator in the ranks of Methodism, and a number of Westfielders have signified their intention of being present.

—The Fair for which the ladies of the W. C. T. U. are preparing will be held on the afternoons and evenings of Thursday, Nov. 23rd and Friday, Nov. 24th. Fancy articles, useful and ornamental, home made cakes and candy and various other things will be offered for sale at their rooms on Prospect Street.

—Mrs. James Ross, of Chestnut street will attend the Harvest Fete for the benefit of the American Female Guardian Society and Home for the Friendless, to be held in the grand ball-room in the Waldorf-Astoria, Friday and Saturday, afternoon and evening, of next week. Special features will be the Japanese tea room, and an entertainment by the children of the Home.

—A large number of men attended at the Westfield club to hear Election news and witness the entertainment Tuesday night. The artists, who were New Yorkers, were Fred Hurl, comedian; Libbie Blondell, singing magicians; W. G. DeVaux, grotesque comedian; Mlle. Latina, Paul Burns, the Doherty sisters, dancers, and Fred Woolston, pianist. Geo. T. Cruttenenden is chairman of the entertainment committee.

—The committee of arrangements for the Music Lovers' Club entertainment to be given December 11th, expects to have an artistic programme quite equal to those of last season. There is no doubt that an audience appreciates a well printed programme and out of all that were distributed through the hall at last season's entertainment less than twenty were found in the seats after the performance. Doubtless many have been preserved as souvenirs of a pleasant evening's enjoyment.

AMUSEMENTS

PROCTOR'S.
Next week will mark the last week of William Russell's engagement at Proctor's 5th street theatre, at which time Miss Russell will wear some of her most elaborate gowns, also a string of pearls estimated to be worth more than one hundred thousand dollars.

On Monday evening of next week, Nov. 13th, the troupe of general and students of Dickens, in particular, are to be given a treat at Proctor's Fifth Avenue theatre, when the first American presentation will be made of Comyns Carr's version of "Oliver Twist" with a special cast.

The wonder of New York at present is the marvelous bills that Mr. F. F. Proctor is offering at his 23rd street house, and as the special attraction during the week of Nov. 13th, he has succeeded in securing Beale Clayton, late of the Lew Field Company. Miss Clayton will be seen in a novel singing specialty, which is bound to create a sensation. Not stopping at this stellar attraction, Mr. Proctor will also present Emmett Carrigan and Company, who will offer his latest hit, "The Card Party", which will undoubtedly cause much merriment.

For the week of Nov. 13th at his pretty playhouse in Newark, Mr. Proctor will present another truly great and well balanced bill headed by James T. Powers, the celebrated Broadway comedian, supported by a capable company in a novel idea entitled, "Dreaming".

BROADWAY THEATRE.
George Edwards' London company, under the direction of Klaw & Erlanger, opened its engagement in "Veronique" at the Broadway Theatre recently and made one of the most remarkable successes ever scored by a comic opera in New York. The piece is entirely different in its artistic distinctness from anything ever seen here and the company, in point of personnel and talent, was enthusiastically praised, both by the first night audience and the reviewers in the New York papers. Ruth Vincent sang the title role. She is a beautiful young woman with a superb voice and unusual dramatic talent.

KEITH'S.
"No-run-no-run-no-run-Ne-venier," to parody Thomas Hood—is a timely description of the most dismal month of the year; and when the week begins with the fatal number 13, it would seem that he hoodoo combination were complete. But Keith's defies all superstitions as well as weather conditions, and promises a bill guaranteed to bring back the smiles to the face of a man who has lost all his election bets. Heading the list of headliners are Mr. Keith's latest European importation, Les Auberts, up-to-date Parisian dancers, presenting a series of startlingly picturesque novelties. Then comes Belle Hathaway, the best woman trainer, with her troupe of baboons and monkeys, containing the original simian waiter, and the only plate-catching baboon in the world. Jack Norworth, known as "The College Boy," introduces his songs and witticisms in the form of a novel monologue.

MADISON SQUARE.
Of the sixteen attractions that are presenting drama in the first class theatres in New York known as producing houses, only two are showing plays that are strictly comedies. One of these is "The Man on the Box" in which Henry E. Dixey is starring at the Madison Square Theatre and which is now in its sixth week. The public, therefore has no variety to choose from and is limited to those two plays of farcical tendencies for dramatic entertainment of the strictly humorous kind. Mr. Dixey has won greater success in "The Man on the Box" than in any he has been in for years.

JOE WEBER'S THEATRE.
Just now Walter N. Lawrence is wishing that Joe Weber would decide to continue on the road with his company of stars and not return to New York at all. "The Prince Chap" is drawing so well that Mr. Lawrence feels the play could remain in New York long after the time allotted to it at Joe Weber's Theatre, which time does not expire before the last week in December. "The Prince Chap" is one of the few popular successes of the season and the demand for seats is such that theatrical forecasters predict the play will remain in New York all season. Perhaps a theatre will be found for it. It would be unfortunate to interrupt the run of a play which appeals so strongly to those theatre-goers who prefer what is wholesome on the stage to the salaciousness of the "advanced" drama. Here is one play which a child may see and enjoy and to a better child for having seen the play.

AT A CHURCH WEDDING.

The Order of the Procession and the Form Generally Observed at the Church.

A bride should endeavor to be at the church door a few minutes before the hour named for the ceremony, and make her entrance in the church in the Philadelphia Press.

The groom and his best man should go to the church a little in advance of the bride party, and enter the building by the vestry door.

When the first carriage carrying members of the bride party reaches the church the head usher orders the closing of the inner vestibule doors, and at the same time the ribbon which is stretched across the aisle is removed by one of the ushers. If ribbons or ropes of flowers are to be stretched on either side of the aisle two of the ushers immediately put them in place. Notification is then sent to the groom and his best man that the bride and her maids have arrived.

When the bride procession is ready the doors are thrown open, the organist plays the wedding march and all of the guests rise. The clergyman enters the church at the same moment, followed by the groom and his best man, who stand facing the advancing procession, at the right of the entrance to the chancel.

The ushers, walking two by two, come first, followed by the bridesmaids in the same order. Care should be taken to walk in a dignified manner, having about six feet between each couple. At the same time it must be remembered that it does not look graceful or attractive to have the bride party walk too slowly, as it gives more the air of a funeral than a wedding, where the occasion, though a solemn one, is for rejoicing and festivity.

The maid of honor walks alone immediately in front of the bride, unless there are flower girls, in which case they should walk between the maid of honor and the bride. The bride comes last, leaning upon the right arm of her father or near male relative who is to give her away.

At the entrance to the chancel the procession divides, half going to the right and half to the left. The maid of honor goes to the left and takes her place directly alongside of the bride.

When within a few feet of the chancel the bride slips her hand from her father's arm, the groom advances to meet her and taking her right hand in his they advance to their places before the clergyman. At some weddings the betrothal is read at the foot of the chancel steps, after which the clergyman enters within the chancel rail and the bride and groom followed by the maid of honor and best man take their places immediately in front of the rail. The bridesmaids then advance up the chancel steps and stand in two lines, through which the happy couple pass after the ceremony is over. At the words: "Who giveth this woman to be married to this man?" the father of the bride steps forward and places her right hand in that of the clergyman, who, in turn, gives it into the right hand of the groom, after which the father takes his seat in the pew with the rest of his family.

Ancient Marine Insurance.
Marine insurance dates back to the time of the Caesars. Claudius Caesar having been the first to insure vessels. During a famine he issued a proclamation that all vessels engaged in the carriage of foodstuffs meeting with an accident would be replaced by the state, and by so doing largely increased the fleet of merchant vessels.

To Refill the Ocean.
It has been computed by geographers that if the sea were emptied of its waters, and all the rivers of the earth were to pour their present floods into the vacant space, allowing nothing for evaporation, 40,000 years would be required to bring the water of the ocean up to its present level.

A REGULAR CIRCUS

Trying to Give a Little Girl Cod Liver Oil.

An interesting incident was told in Frutchey & Hathaway's drug store the other evening.

A man came in and bought a bottle of Vinol and while waiting for change engaged the clerk in conversation. Said he: "We were told to give our little girl cod liver oil. I bought a bottle and took it home. We had a regular circus trying to get the child to take it. Then it did not agree with her at all, the oil upset her stomach. She did not get any better, so I told the doctor how we had failed, and he at once recommended your Vinol, saying that it contained all of the curative, healing and strengthening properties of cod liver oil without a drop of oil, and that child, n. n. all love its taste."

"I took home a bottle and we began to give it to our child right away. She said it was delicious and wanted more. Almost from the first dose we noticed a change, and she has gained flesh, strength and appetite and sleeps well every night."

"I don't believe any one should give a delicate child old-fashioned, nauseating cod liver oil or emulsions when Vinol is so delicious, and it will do so much more good than any other tonic. It is simply a wonderful medicine for weak, pany children, and I am recommending it to my friends."

"We guarantee Vinol will make weak, pany children strong, robust and rosy, strengthen and invigorate old people and build up the run down, tired and debilitated as nothing else can. If it fails we willingly return every dollar paid for it." Frutchey and Hathaway, Druggists.

Had a Close Call.
Ezra Thomas, a prospector, ran across a bear and two cubs in the mountain near Redding, Cal., the other day. The bear attacked him and Thomas sent a rifle bullet through her that killed one of the cubs. But she pursued him and climbed a tree after him. She had got her two front paws on the branch where he was, when he cut off the paws with a hatchet he fortunately had in his belt.

Deathbed Toast.
Gen. de Sonnaz, the leading member of the Italian senate, who died in Rome recently, was, at his desire, dressed in his general's uniform, with all his medals and decorations, just before he expired. He then called for a glass of champagne, and, with his relatives gathered around his bed, drank a toast: "To the king's health and the prosperity of Italy."

Painful Reminder.
Miss Scraper (amateur violinist)—Did you notice that old man crying while I was playing my sonata?
Friend—Yes, and I spoke to him. He said your playing reminded him of the old days when he was happy.
"Was he a violinist?"
"No; he was a piano tuner."—Stray Stories.

Unconsciously Smart.
"I suppose," said the landlady, scornfully, "you think you are smart to look up everything before you leave your room?"
"I had not thought anything about it," replied her lodger, "but now that you mention it, perhaps I was."—Stray Stories.

Barnstormers.
Comedian—I don't see how you have the nerve to go back to that town. Are you not afraid they will throw your past at you?
Tragedian—Past? Good heavens! I am satisfied if they don't throw eggs and flarions at me.—Chicago Daily News.

Taught by Phonograph.
In some of the English schools French is now taught by means of a phonograph. The machine delivers select specimens of French oratory and songs, and is extremely popular with the children, whose accent is said to make rapid progress. Government inspectors approve of it.

Family Secrets.
"I hope you'll grow up to be a good and intelligent man like your father," said the patronizing relative.
"That's easy," answered the painfully precocious youngster. "Mother says I've got him beat already."—Washington Star.

HANDY LIFTING DEVICE.

How Two Hooks and Two Common Pulleys May Be Arranged to Do Much Work.

When a heavy body is to be raised and one has not got the somewhat expensive "tackle and fall" blocks, the simple plan here illustrated, says the Prairie Farmer, can be adopted. Two hooks are inserted in a beam and two pulleys are arranged as shown in the sketch. With this device a man can lift twice his own weight, barring the loss occasioned by friction. The expense of such a rig is trifling.

While there are not a great many places on a farm where such a tackle can be used, there are cases where this device would likely be invaluable. For instance, take the wagon house. Often a farmer loads some heavy implement in town from a platform. When he arrives at home he finds that he has no platform that will answer, so the implement must be moved by sheer physical strength. Often two or three men are required. With a properly adjusted tackle like the one illustrated herewith it is possible for one man to raise the weight sufficiently to draw the wagon from beneath it, and then gradually lower it to the ground. Perhaps a turn or two of the rope around some convenient post will add assistance and safety to the lowering of the load.

Cut Up the Silage.

I have had a silo for eight years. For seven years I put the silage in the silo whole. Last year I bought a gasoline engine and a cutter with a blower and filled my silo with less expense than in former years. I was much pleased with the way it kept. I think the silage was worth almost double what it was when put in whole. I raise yellow corn for the silo; when glazed pick off the best ears, and cut off the rest into the silo. This is all the grain my stock get and they winter well.—Farm and Home.

He Could Hardly Get Up.

P. H. Duffy of Ashley, Ill., writes, "This is to certify that I have taken two bottles of Foley's Kidney Cure and it has helped me more than any other medicine. I tried many advertised remedies, but none of them gave me any relief. My druggist recommended Foley's Kidney Cure and it has cured me. Before commencing its use I was in such a shape that I could hardly get up when once down." Sold by Frutchey & Hathaway.

AEOLIAN HALL

The most important Piano and musical instrument center in the world

A center of assembly for Used Pianos in exceptional condition

The world's only center for Pianos with the Pianola inside

A creative center of musical art and progress

SIMPLY as a retail piano center Aeolian Hall offers to intending purchasers advantages not equalled anywhere else in the world. Anyone contemplating the selection of a piano may here examine under one roof, free from the confusion and annoyance of competitive arguments:

Four famous Pianos controlled and manufactured by the Aeolian Company and sold direct under the manufacturers' own guarantee—The Weber Piano, The Steck Piano, The Wheelock Piano and The Stryvenant Piano;

A large, varied, constantly changing assembly of Used Pianos of every make, style and price, accepted in the Exchange Department in payment for the Pianola Piano—in nearly every instance instruments that would not otherwise have come into the market at all;

A collection of Pianola Pianos sold direct by the manufacturer, piano and playing mechanism being made by the same house and combined on true artistic lines—The Weber Pianola Piano, The Steck Pianola Piano, The Wheelock Pianola Piano, The Stryvenant Pianola Piano, etc.

Apart from other advantages, it means much to every piano purchaser that Aeolian Hall is something more than a retail center. For nearly twenty years The Aeolian Company has been a pioneer in true musical progress, ever advancing along new lines of musical thought and endeavor.

It has given the Pianola an unquestioned standing in the musical world, added to it the Metrostyle, which enables any person to play with scholarly finish and real musical intelligence, and has recently introduced the Pianola Piano, the first complete piano, combining the complete Metrostyle Pianola with pianos made in the company's own factories, in a wide range of styles and prices.

As a Musical Center Aeolian Hall offers opportunities for intelligent choice of a piano not possible to any purely commercial organization, while behind its progressive musical organization, is a thoroughly modern retailing system of known, unvarying prices, cash or time payments and strict commercial fairness.

It is important, therefore, that any person wishing to select a pianoforte intelligently, upon musical quality alone, pay the first visit to Aeolian Hall.

FOR FACIAL MASSAGE.

An Professionally Administered It Is Expensive—Home Apparatus
Has Been Provided.

Beauty may be only skin deep, as the circles tell us, but it is the desired possession of every woman. According to the professional beautifiers, massage is a most valuable aid to a successful beauty hunt and the crown of the bloom of youth when the days of youth have flown. Massage treatment professionally administered is expensive and not always satisfactory when attempted by amateurs. For a recent invention, however, the claim is made that it is a boon to the woman who wants to massage her face and neck herself, says the Brooklyn Eagle. The apparatus, as pictured, consists of a little piece of rubber tubing with a mouthpiece at one end and a tiny cup at the other, and the method of operation is simple and harmless. After the face has been washed well with good soap and warm water and some facial cream applied, the cup is pressed gently on the face and the mouthpiece inserted between the lips, the massaging being accomplished by means of suction, as light or as heavy as may be desired. The cup is moved from the center of the face outward and upward while sucking.

An improved sort of bath spray which permits of massage treatment during the bath is also shown in the above illustration.

APPROVED BRIDAL DRESS.

Dressmakers Now Must Not Over-
Elaborate This Gown and Should Make It for Other Use.

Fashion is emancipating brides from the dressmaker who over-elaborates her wedding gown, and now decrees that it shall be made so that it will do duty at any time after for an evening or dinner gown. This means that it will be cut short, which means more than walking length, but without a decided train, and in the intermediate length, which is known in pattern parlance as "round length."

Affluence, or the lack of it, has nothing to do with this sensible fashion, which has taken with all classes, and at nearly all the prettiest weddings that have been solemnized this summer, as well as in the arrangements for all the prospective ones, the wedding gown is upon the same lines and of the same material that any pretty white evening dress might be. The idea is especially followed out in the material chosen. For instance, at one of the most fashionable of the late marriages the bride's gown was of white chiffon, the material in both skirt and bodice being done in the sun-ray plaits. The bodice was draped picture fashion with lace, while the collar and the turn-back cuffs on the elbow sleeves were also of lace, embroidered in small Roman pearls. White Brussels net forms the pretty and by no means expensive material of a wedding gown which may be made over white tulle, and which is lovely when trimmed in Chantilly lace. Lace will be greatly in evidence on all the white wedding frocks, even if the bride is not so fortunate as to possess any of the costly and heirloom variety, and the elaborateness with which all laces are "worked" up makes even the cheaper machine-made laces of the better kind into things of loveliness.

Hang of the Skirt.

The skirt that hangs straight or falls limply about the feet is hopelessly lacking in style, and as the ordinary walking skirt has no lining especial care must be given to its own lines and to the petticoat which is to be worn under it. If but one really good well-shaped petticoat with plentiful bottom flare and flouncing can be afforded let that petticoat be sacred to the short skirt costume. The long skirt will come nearer accomplishing its own salvation than the short skirt can, for contact with the floor will hold it out to some extent even if the petticoat worn beneath it is not all that could be desired in fullness and frilliness.

Vogue of Purple.

It will be almost impossible to get away from any of the shades of purple this winter. We are to be overrun with plum, dahlia, magenta, violet, lavender and heliotrope.

Smooth Cloths.

The rough hairy surface of two years ago is in oblivion.

FOR THE BEAUTY BATH.

Faucet Water Should Be Softened
and the Soap and Perfume Be of Good Quality.

Would you like to know how to take a beauty bath? This is presuming that you understand the secrets of the ordinary bath and that the mysteries of the Turkish bath are not unknown to you. The beauty bath is for those who have a hobby for taking baths but who have not, as yet, indulged in the one real and only bath—the bath which gives beauty.

The real bath is the one which is taken daily and to which the woman of beauty or who desires beauty is willing to devote an hour or more each day. The best time is at night, when one is not hurried. But the morning will do, or any other time.

Those who like the cold bath can draw the water the night before and let it stand in the tub over night. In the morning it will be just the temperature of the room, and there will be no shock in taking it. This is for the cold bath, or for those who are beginning to learn the cold dip. Draw the tub quite full at night. Let it stand in the warm bathroom until morning. Then it will be just right for ordinary bathing purposes.

After you have drawn your bath—whether it be hot or cold—there must be the softening of the water. All faucet water is too hard for beauty bathing, and she who would have a milky skin must soften the water in one way or another. The favorite method is by dropping a teaspoonful of powdered borax in the bath. When this is dissolved there can be added a handful of bran. If bran is not at hand, then powdered oatmeal will do, and many who have tried it prefer it to bran. The oatmeal should be kept in a dry covered box, and a generous handful added to the bath.

In the beauty bath establishments they pour in a little orange flower water, and, if the establishment be of a very high priced one they add a dash of cologne. This makes the bath fragrant.

The soap for the beauty bath should be a very good soap. Never try to cheapen in the matter of soap. A good soap is as important as a good loaf of bread. Low priced soaps may be good and the price is no criterion of merit. So, in selecting a soap for permanent use, it is a very good thing to experiment a little and try this kind of soap and that. Keep on trying until you have a soap which suits your skin. Then, when you have found a good soap, stick to it. It will be your best friend.

GOOD ROADS MOVEMENT.

A Word of Explanation as to What the Bills in Congress Propose to Do

The purpose of the promoters of national and good roads is not to anticipate any local movement anywhere. The bill introduced by Representative Brownlow, republican from Tennessee, and the one offered later in the senate by Hon. A. C. Latimer, democrat of South Carolina, are almost identical in every provision, and a bill which is going to be passed sooner or later will be made up of the two bills referred to; that is, by reconciling the little difference in the bills. Neither bill proposes any interference in state or county plans for road improvement, neither proposes to force national aid on any state or county; both provide that no state or subdivision of a state can have any part of the aid contemplated without that state or subdivision first agreeing to furnish a sum equal to the sum apportioned by the government in the specific case. The purpose of neither of the bills can by any stretch be construed to take road-making and road improvement out of the hands of the states or counties; they provide simply for cooperation of the government with the states and counties where the states and counties wish to take advantage of the law and ask for that cooperation. The purpose of both bills is to aid in and encourage the establishment of something like a uniform system of scientifically constructed roads in the country. The movement does not contemplate any sort of interference in state or county plans. Under the proposed bills the states and counties can have help if they want it; if they don't want it, they don't have to take it. The proposition is not a new one. Government aid to highway improvement had its origin under Thomas Jefferson. President Madison endorsed it in one of his later messages to congress. Henry Clay introduced for it in a speech in congress in 1818. John C. Calhoun, while secretary of war, in 1819, strongly endorsed it in a report to congress on roads and canals. The great Webster declared for it in a speech in the United States senate in 1830. At St. Louis in 1903 President Roosevelt declared that the people had a right to demand this help from the general government, and on the same occasion, from the same platform, William Jennings Bryan declared that it was justifiable on a half dozen or more safe grounds, which he stated. These were and are all great and eminent men. Moreover, in January last the senate committee made a favorable report on the measure and it would have passed but for want of time.

Again, the Brownlow-Latimer bills appropriate $24,000,000 to be used at the rate of $3,000,000 a year for three years. No suggestion of bonds about it, but the money is to come directly out of the treasury. The revenues of the government are largely raised by duties on consumption, to which all the people contribute. It is believed that, to the extent of the appropriation, this proposition would equally distribute the burden of road improvement. We all know that the very well-to-do do not always pay a fair share of taxes; they have a way, in instances, of concealing certain things from assessment. Everything taxable in the hands of the common people is always in sight, and in this way those least able to bear it are made to pay more than a fair share of the burdens of local government—road working, as well as other things.

ROAD VENOM.

The idea that the toad is poisonous has a foundation in fact. The skin secretes an acid fluid, and just behind the head are two sacs, which, when pressed, eject a fluid that burns and stings the skin.

The Newsbag.

There is always some one in a neighborhood upon whom falls all the disagreeable tasks, such as breaking bad news, etc., and she isn't usually a society leader, either.—Atholton (John).

Named for Roosevelt.

The public square of the canton of Ninove, in Belgium, has been named Place Roosevelt by order of the canton's legislative body, in admiration of Mr. Roosevelt's share in concluding peace between Russia and Japan.

Not Worth Helping.

"Some men," said Uncle Eben, "are hard to fix so much fun out o' tellin' hard luck stories dat it don't seem like it was doin' 'em any favor to help 'em along in life."—Washington Star.

FOR ENTERTAINMENTS

SOME SUGGESTIONS TO HELP OUT TROUBLED HOSTESSES

A Silhouette Party Amusing—Timely Autumn Tea—For Club or Church Society—Jack-o'-Lantern Night.

A Silhouette Party given for a hostess was declared by the guests to be one of the most delightful and amusing affairs they had attended. Each guest was given a small square of black paper (purchased at a "candy" or picture frame) and a pair of scissors, with instructions to cut a silhouette of the bride-elect, performing some household duty. The subjects were: "Her First Baking Day," "Saturday She Scrubbed," "Monday at the Tub," "Tuesday She Ironed," "Wednesday Is Washing Day," "Friday She Dusted." One of the girls posed for the amateur artists, sitting or standing as she was requested. Of course everyone protested that she would cut out anything resembling a silhouette, but the results proved the contrary. After the figures were cut out, they were pasted on white mats, given the titles they were supposed to represent, signed by the artist, and all given to the bride-elect as a souvenir of a most delightful afternoon. When refreshments were served, the table was decorated with a baking pan which was filled with flowers, a scrubbing brush bore the guest of honor's place card, a small flatiron held her napkin down, while a miniature broom and a half dozen cheese cloth dusters were on her chair. This was a very practical bridal shower and was much appreciated.

A Sun-Flower Tea.

This is the season of the year when sunflowers, goldenrod and the glorious golden glow are in their prime. Nothing could be more gorgeous than these decorations for an afternoon tea, a luncheon or even for a reception. Fill jars, wall pockets and all available receptacles with these brilliant flowers; the great bunches of them to the porch pillars and bank the fireplace. Place the punch bowl inside a large tin bread pan which has been covered with green paper; inside the circle, between the bowl and pan, place sunflowers, thus making a wreath of glory beautiful to behold. Have a fruit lemonade or Roman punch in the bowl and serve "sun-flowers," which are made by using the ordinary recipe for white cookies, cutting the dough with a small round cutter, then pressing blanched almonds around the edge to represent the petals. In the center put a dab of chocolate colored dough. When baked carefully they are pleasing to look at and good to taste. The invitations, if sent by a messenger, should have a small sunflower fastened to the envelope. After the guests have arrived, past cards with the inscription, "I'm as happy as a big sun-flower," in one corner with the date. If one is skillful with the brush, it takes only a short time to do a big sun-flower in watercolors instead of writing the word. On this card have "Sewing Intricacies" written with the words "Thread," "Tape-measure," "Scissors," "Thimble," "Needles," "Iron," "Twine," "Sewing-silk," "Linen," "Cotton," "Embroidery," "Wool," "Perfume," "Still-life," "Button," "Feather-bone," "Silk-stitch," "Cantripe," all transposed into such words as "Bimeth," which, with the letters properly placed, becomes "Thimble." "Tonnet" is "Cotton," etc. This will afford occupation for some time.

For prizes give a pair of embroidery scissors in a case of Mexican leather—it is quite yellow in color—and a work bag made of yellow and black ribbon. If a third prize is desired, give a needle case in the shape of a sun-flower. The refreshments consist of iced cream served in tiny flower-pots, covered with a real sun-flower, which when removed reveals the cream in a waxed paper case. Yellow draperies of cheese cloth may be used with good effect in door-ways and windows. The hostess should wear a yellow gown, with belt and stock of black, and a sun-flower in her hair.

An International Tea.

This is a delightful affair to be given by a club or church society. Decorate the rooms with the flags from all nations; these may be purchased in the department stores in all sizes. Young ladies dressed in costumes to represent "America," "Italy," "Scotland," "France," "England," "Germany," "Japan," "Manila," etc., form the reception committee and serve the refreshments.

National songs, such as "America," "La Marseillaise," "God Save the Queen," "The Watch on the Rhine," "Blue Bells of Scotland," "Beautiful Venice," the "Bride of the Sea," are sung or played during the evening. When refreshments are served, the guests are asked to choose at which table they will sit. "America" will serve an abundance of baked beans, doughnuts and pie. "Scotland" will have porridge, oat cakes, scones with cheese and haggis. "Italy" presides over vermicelli soup, macaroni, grapes and figs. Sausage, pretzels and rye bread will be found at "Germany's" table, while the "French" table will have dainty rolls, salads and omelet. "England" will be represented by roast beef and plum pudding. "Japan" will be gay with chrysanthemums, cherry blossoms, tea with delicate sweetmeats, rice and wafers.

"Manila" will serve bananas, pomelo and oranges.

A Rallow E'en Party.

Each year entertaining on Rallow E'en, which comes on October 31, becomes more and more popular. The dinner described below was given for ten guests, who were most enthusiastic over the novelty of the affair. Jack-o'-lanterns and candles made the only lights and the effect was wonderful. The "Jacks" stood on top of china cabinets, serving table, and tablecloths placed in the corners of the rooms. Interspersed were candles in sticks made from carrots, turnips and potatoes.

The table centerpiece was a jack-o'-lantern with a face cut on all four sides so the light was evenly distributed over the table. Around this candles were placed in holders made from carrots, turnips and potatoes. Beautiful autumn leaves were laid on the tablecloth, interspersed with dainty vases. Small "Brownie" figures bore the name card on which was written "This season of the year is to the Brownie's hear most dear."

The unique menu cards were made by the hostess, each being different in decoration. Cards of white ten inches long, five inches wide, were used. On one of these at irregular intervals were pumpkins, which had been cut out and pasted on. Another had autumn leaves, bryones formed another arrangement and cabbage graced one card. (In older times Rallow E'en was called "Cabbage night"). Bunches of grapes made a very effective card. The hostess said she had collected most of the material for these cards from seed catalogues and advertisements. Here is the menu that was written on them in black ink with a stub pen.

Soup—A Bovine Appendage (Ox Tail).

Fish—Collected on Delivery (C. O. D.).

Meat—An intimate friend of Mary (Lamb).

Vegetables—A kind of toes never found on man or beast (Potatoes—Tomatoes).

What is desired in time of War (Pasta).

Pudding—The Beautiful (Snow).

Pie—Related to a Well—(Pumpkin).

Fruit—A kind of ammunition (Grapes).

Drinks—An illness and what a physician asks. Coffee (cough-fee).

How does Bernhard take her medicine? (In Chilli).

Gathered from many lands (Nuts).

The guests were asked to divine what each course was before it was served. After dinner ghost stories were in order, nuts were roasted in the grate fire, and fortunes told with apples. Bannons were passed in a hollowed-out cabbage lined with waxed paper. The invitations to this dinner were sent by a messenger who wore a grotesque mask and carried a huge jack-o'-lantern on the end of a stick.

Here is a game which sounds very simple, but never fails to create amusement. It is called the "King of Hunky Bunkies." Select two persons, place them at opposite sides of the room, the farther apart the better. Give each a lighted candle and tell them they must not laugh or even smile. They are to advance very slowly, looking each other directly in the eye. When they meet in the center of the room, with hands uplifted in great sorrow, one says: "The King of Hunky-Bunkies is dead and dead." The other responds: "Alas, alas, how died he?" The first person with increased solemnity says: "Just so—just so—just so," then comes the response: "How sad—how sad—how sad." The couple rarely ever get beyond announcing that the "King is dead" before they are off in gales of laughter. A little prize may be awarded the couple who completely finish the "message," something that may be divided, like a box of candy or bunch of flowers.

If You Would Be Beautiful.

Too much stress cannot be laid upon the tremendous need of simple, substantial food and sufficient rest. The average young woman of to-day is as busy as a bee. Beauty is only another name for health, and to overtax the system is like putting $99 in the bank and drawing out $100; you never get ahead that way. Few women get what is best for them. They nibble on sweets and pastries, keeping the stomach in a continual state of strife and turmoil. Instead of bonbons and cakes, eat fresh fruit and drink mineral waters. A daily bath is a great aid to beauty. Rub the body well with moistened salt, jump into the tub and turn on a tepid spray, chilling gradually. Rub down well with a coarse towel and you will feel as fine as a fiddle.

Oatmeal for the Face.

Oatmeal has very cleansing properties, as you may see by mixing some with water, tying it in a bag and letting the water be impregnated with it, and then washing the dirtiest embroderies, lace or fine muslins in the decoction they become quite clean, as with bran. It draws out the dirt equally well from the face. A good plan is to have some oatmeal powder on the washing-stand and mix a tablespoonful with the lukewarm water in which you wash the face. It is very improving to the complexion. The water should be tepid, about a tablespoonful to a quart is about the proportion, dry with a soft cloth and rub the face till quite warm.

Cure of the Feet.

When you start out to walk, cover the feet with a thick layer of soap suds, which should dry on the feet. This will prevent blisters. When you come back soak your feet in hot water and rub a little vaseline into them. You will be surprised at the ease which this will give you.
